WEATHER REPORT

A portion of the north Pacific high pressure area has moved east to Wyoming and the portion remaining over the north Pacific states is losing strength. A new low pressure area has made its appearance over Alberta and a storm of decided character is central over the lower lake region. The barometer continues relatively low over the southern Rocky mountain states. Light snow has fallen in eastern Montana, Wyoming, eastern Colorado, the Dakotas, Minnesota, eastern Nebraska, and Iowa, and heavy snow has fallen in upper Michigan. Moderately heavy rains have fallen in Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, the Ohio valley, and the lower lake region. Light to heavy frosts occurred generally in this district, except near the immediate coast. It is much warmer in the Canadian northwest and correspondingly cooler in Kansas and the adjoining states.

The indications are for showers Thursday in western Oregon, Washington, and northern Idaho, and for fair weather in eastern Oregon and southern Idaho. Frosts are probable again tonight in extreme eastern Oregon and southern Idaho.
