

SECOND SYMPHONY CON-CERT HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

Genevieve Clark Wilson, Soprano.

By G. I. W.
The second concert of the Chicago Symphony orchestra was, if possible, even better than the first. Last night a larger crowd attended than Friday evening and enthusiasm marked the whole performance. "Der Freischutz" overture (Weber) opened the program and was played with good volume effects.

The numbers from Tchaikowsky's "Nut Cracker Suite" were played with a charming lilting. A pleasant march, a delicious little Chinese dance with the "unmelodious melody" carried by the piccolos and the accompaniment with picked strings, and a Russian dance of the folk-song type comprised this suite and the second had to be repeated. A Norwegian rhapsody by Lalo was excellently done, and a melancholy sustained note passage running through the entire composition alternating between the French horn and the cello lent distinction. The encore played to the first number was the "Fly Minuet" by Czibulka.

Franc Wagner pleased his audience instantly with a Beethoven number on the cello. The theme was beautiful and the variations were worked out skillfully with the orchestra giving good support. As encore he played Saint-Saens' beautiful "Swan Song" which is a favorite piano number. "Swan and Skylark" (A. Goring Thomas) completed the program and was even a more successful effort on the part of the chorus than last night's performance. They followed well the director's baton, and the soprano section did itself proud on its high notes. It flitted around with B natural and high C with an ease almost surprising. Mrs. Genevieve Clark Wilson's work showed her in better form tonight, for there was much high work for her to do and in this she excels. Her high C's, and there were several, rang out clear and true above the chorus and orchestra.

Mrs. Rose Lutziger Gannon, alto, was introduced last night and her voice is of a rich, round quality especially suited to her "Farewell" solo. This was one of the most effective numbers, and as the chorus and orchestra joined in with the piccolo carrying the single mournful note of the dying swan throughout, the effect was truly beautiful. The tenor, John Miller, had beautiful work in the swan's song and his solo was of a pleasing lyric quality with a pretty plaintive tone in it. The baritone, Arthur Middleton, pleased again with his splendid dramatic voice, singing the part of the poet who was impressed with the wonder of nature as shown in the blending of the swan's death song and the skylark's song of triumph. The cantata is a beautiful work with exquisite music for soloists, chorus and orchestra alike representing the triumph of joy and life over death.

After the concert Judge Harry Hogue and E. L. Bayley presented, in behalf of the chorus, a loving cup to W. H. Boyer, the local director, who has done such excellent work with the singers. Tomorrow afternoon "Messiah" will be given and in the evening there will be a grand orchestral concert with solos.

The afternoon audience was composed largely of women and children, but the program was well received. Mrs. Rose Gannon and Mr. Miller were the soloists. The former with her full, sweet voice, scored a decided triumph and responded to an encore with a wistful song of peculiar charm. Mr. Miller pleased the audience greatly with his first number and also responded to an encore, but the orchestration was a trifle heavy for the voice and the effect was lost. The first orchestral number, "Overture from Di Bello" (Sullivan) was done with exquisite shading, and was encored. In response, Mr. Rosenbecker gave a dirge "Minuet" (Czibulka), in which the subtle phrasing was a delight. Two Grieg numbers followed, which were most ably rendered, and the two Hungarian dances were given with splendid verve and color. Greater contrast could not be found than between the two McDowell numbers, the first a love song of plaintive melody and haunting sweetness, and the second a war dance, full of semi-barbaric warmth and of moving spirit. These were encored and were responded to with Rubenstein's "Melody in F," of which the first familiar strains

PLAN SPLENDID CHARITY BALL

Knights Templar Make Elaborate Preparations for Benefit Dance.

Snappy two-steps and dreamy waltzes for those who dance and catchy, fascinating musical numbers of the latest arrangement for the entertainment of those who do not care to dance are among the preparations that those in charge are making for the Knights Templar grand charity ball April 30, for the benefit of the Stagy home. J. G. Mack has charge of the decorations, which will be both elaborate and beautiful. A large electric Maltese cross, the principal emblem of the order, will be placed in the east end of the ballroom of the new Masonic temple building.

George H. Hill has made extensive arrangements to have an abundance of dainty and appetizing refreshments for the commandery's guests. These will be served after 10 p. m. The Portland Symphony orchestra and Military band, numbering 30 pieces under the management of F. W. Prapp, will supply the dance music.

EASTBROOK MAY BECOME COLLECTOR

Senator Bourne Said to Favor Him for Federal Appointment.

Probably another contest over federal patronage will result among Oregon's delegation at the national capital as to who shall name the collector of customs for the Port of Columbia, with headquarters at Astoria, to succeed the late Clark W. Carrahan. Senator Fulton and Congressman Ellis have agreed upon William McGregor of Astoria. W. J. Eastbrook, however, claims to have Senator Bourne's support, and says that he will make a fight for the job.

W. J. VAN DAMME'S
Kidney Cure Tea

NEW TESTIMONIAL.
In the autumn of 1906 I was taken with a serious form of kidney trouble, passing both gall stones and bladder stones, had also a floating kidney. The doctors told me that I could not live without an operation. It was impossible for me to ride and I walked with the greatest pain. Mr. Van Damme urged me to try his kidney cure tea, telling me it saved his life. I tried it quite a trial, will convince the most skeptical. Health is of more value than money. I am now in good health. Prof. W. L. Strangue, 55 North Sixth St., Portland, Oregon.

FLOWER GROWING CONTEST CONDUCTED BY GIRLS

Upper row—Miss Hazel McKay, Miss Sylvia Stout, Miss Edna Broadhurst, Miss Amy Broadhurst. Lower row—Miss Nellie Rhomberg, Miss Edna Lawler, Miss Myrtle Brown, Miss Maud Hillion.

The Sacajawea and Busy Bee clubs of Peninsula celebrated their first anniversary last week by inaugurating a flower growing contest. Not only are the club members themselves engaged in this contest, but they have extended an invitation to all the young people of the district to join them. Seeds have been provided and prizes offered by a local seed house with a view of making this contest a demonstration of what may be accomplished through the efforts of a group of earnest young people toward improving and beautifying a suburb.

The membership of the Sacajawea club is composed of young girls in their teens, and a committee of Portland men and women will inspect the display and award the prizes, which are offered by H. A. Cushing, manager of the C. H. Lilly company, who donated the seeds. Much of the interest and enthusiasm shown in the present flower growing contest must be accredited to County Superintendent of Schools R. M. Robinson, who accepted the invitation of the Sacajawea club to speak on this subject at Carter's hall about two weeks ago. Superintendent Robinson not only thoroughly understands flower growing but also possesses that rare quality which enables him to arouse the interest and hold the attention of his audience. He showed the value to the community of the impetus imparted by the working out of the ideals of the single individual or the small group. He then called attention to the great awakening every where over the earth to the workers themselves from contact with the earth and the fruits thereof. Mr. Robinson impressed upon his listeners the importance of getting good

DIDN'T KNOW

That Coffee Was Causing Her Trouble.
So common is the use of coffee as a beverage, many do not know that it is the cause of many obscure ailments which are often attributed to other things. The easiest way to find out for oneself is to quit the coffee for a while, at least, and note results. A Virginia lady found out in this way, and also learned of a new beverage that is wholesome as well as pleasant to drink. She writes: "I am 40 years old and all my life, up to a year ago, I had been a coffee drinker. About 10 years ago, I had dyspepsia so bad that often the coffee I drank would burn on my stomach and I could not retain it. "Severe headaches and heart weakness made me feel sometimes as though I was about to die. After drinking a cup or two of hot coffee, not knowing it was harmful, my heart would go like a clock without a pendulum. At other times it would almost stop and I was so nervous I did not like to be alone. "If I took a walk for exercise, as soon as I was out of sight of the house I'd feel as if I was sinking and this would frighten me terribly. My limbs would usually tremble to support me, and the night before I would wake up and find that coffee was causing the trouble. "Standing in the squares that many persons were relieved of such ailments by leaving off coffee and drinking Postum. I got my husband to bring me a package. We made it according to directions and I liked the first cup. Its rich snappy flavor was delicious. "I have been using Postum about 14 months and to my great joy, digestion is good, my nerves and heart are all right, in fact, I am a well woman once more, thanks to Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Send me a trial to Mrs. M. J. Bead, 1000 Road to Millville, N. C.

WILL ARREST WOMEN
GIVING BRIDGE PRIZES

Franklin, Pa., April 9.—Franklin women who award prizes at card parties are in danger of a year's imprisonment and a fine of $1,000, Constable Joseph Bell having today issued a public letter that all such affairs will be considered private lotteries under the law and will be prosecuted. He said the report that the giving of prizes by women whose husbands could not pay their rent was a factor in determining his course. Constable Bell said: "Whenever I read in the society column of the local newspapers that a woman has given prizes and been awarded prizes, I shall investigate the case, getting the names of those persons present. These I shall serve with a subpoena to appear before the grand jury and give their testimony. The action may seem severe, but I was elected by the people to enforce the law and I intend to do it." Constable Bell's declaration has caused quite a stir in society circles, this city having a bridge club for every day in the week, except Sunday, and all of them award prizes.
