RAILROAD COMMISSIONER MAKES CLEAR STATEMENT OF HIS CONNECTION WITH TRUST COMPANY AND LEGISLATION BEFORE THE OREGON LAW-MAKERS.

Clyde B. Aitchison, candidate for re-nomination as railroad commissioner, issued today the following reply to attacks that have been made upon him:

"For the past three years I have been more or less engaged in service of the state of Oregon. For 13 months I was secretary of the commission to revise the tax laws of the state. For about 14 months I have been active in the discharge of my duties as railroad commissioner. The manner in which I have performed these duties is known to all. It is very significant that my official acts have not been assailed by any of my rivals, and that my honesty, competency and diligence in the discharge of my duties are thereby attested by necessary inference commended even by my opponents.

"Because they could not attack my official life, they have resorted to the only thing they could present—that I was connected at one time with the Title Guarantee & Trust company as one of its attorneys. That in connection with that company was severed many months before its failure is common knowledge. They do not charge that I did or omitted to do anything I should have done while one of the company's attorneys, but merely that I was 'connected' with the company.

"Coupled with this is the claim that I was a 'secret' lobbyist (whatever that may mean) of the company, and that my appointment was the result of a political deal of some sort between Mr. Steel, the state treasurer, and the company. This is not true. That my appointment was not due to the influence of any officer of the Title company has been sufficiently established by the contradictory statement of Henry Hahn, Herman Wittenberg and A. H. Devers, published some months ago in the Oregonian. That I did not connect with any member of the legislature that I was in the employ of the Title company can be learned by inquiry.
