Decree of Congregation of Council Will Be Read in All Churches on Easter Morning — Priests Must Remain Within Their Own Parishes.

House Kills Financial Measure Alleged to Have Been Framed for Sole Benefit of Wall Street and Moneyed Interests.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, April 17.—The Aldrich financial bill, passed by the senate on March 27, was practically killed today as far as the house of representatives is concerned.
The measure, which has been more savagely attacked by both branches of congress than any other piece of legislation that has been introduced recently, was laid on the table today by the house committee on banking. There it will be members of both branches of congress resolution directing that it be brought out of the committee.
The act of laying it on the table at the conclusion of the hearing before the committee followed a vicious attack made against it by Alfred O. Crozier, a student of financial conditions, who made the charge that members of the American Banking association after opposing the measure had been won over to the side of Wall Street and moneyed interests. It was apparent from the start that the house committee on banking would not act favorably on the bill, which, it has been charged by several members of both branches of congress in ringing speeches, was framed for the sole benefit of the Wall street money ring.

CANDIDATES ARE HARD AT WORK

to bring every available vote out to the polls which is known to be favorable to their cause. Special workers have been stationed by the organization at each polling place under the general management and direction of Ferdinand K. Reed, to keep track of the votes as they are cast, check up the voters and see to it that all those who are listed as machine voters are rounded up and brought to the polls. It is expected by this method that every voter in the county favorable to the Woodburn slate will be brought in and voted before 7 o'clock.
The Cakes and Fulton camps are also busy rounding up the supporters of each candidate and getting them to the polls. Between them all it will be hard for any voter in the county to escape casting his ballot should he have any such desire, for the candidates are keeping an eagle eye on the course of the voting and are after the largest number of votes possible.
If persuasion can get the vote out Multnomah county will cast a heavy vote by the time the polls are closed.

CAKE CONFIDENT HE WILL WIN IN PRIMARIES

H. M. Cake is optimistic, and has no complaint to make at the way in which the nominating campaign just closing has been conducted. He promises his support to Senator Fulton in case of his defeat, and voices the expectation of receiving the support of Senator Fulton and his friends in the event that he is successful in securing the nomination. He predicts that the rain which has fallen throughout the valley will result in an increase of nearly 5,000 votes from the rural sections, the majority of which he expects to receive.
"I do not wish to be too optimistic," said the senator in discussing the outlook this morning. "I believe, however, that I will receive the nomination throughout the state. The campaign between Senator Fulton and myself has been conducted in a clean and honest manner, and I have no complaint to make. I wish to say that in the event I should be defeated at the polls today I will pledge to Senator Fulton my earnest support after the primaries. In the case of my nomination I will expect his support and the support of his friends in my campaign ending in June."
"In my belief the rain that is now falling will mean an increase in the vote throughout the rural districts of the state of from 5,000 to 10,000, of which I expect to secure the majority. The great trouble that has been behind their work, and with good weather the vote would have been light. At least that was the estimate. With the rain falling and work in the fields necessarily interrupted, the result should be different, and farmers will have the time to visit their polling places and cast their votes."
"The rural districts are all strong Statement No. 1 sections, and from there I expect to receive my heaviest vote. A large vote there is to my advantage therefore."
"What the result will be is hard to determine, because it is probable that the bad weather will cut down the vote in the cities. I believe, however, that the weather will work to my advantage."

RESERVE PROJECT MEETS WITH DEFEAT

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, April 17.—A proposed project of the government that would require an outlay of more than $1,000,000,000 received what is considered a fatal blow today when the house judiciary committee reported adversely on the proposition to purchase great sections of mountains all the way from New England to Florida for forest reserves. Chairman Jenkins of the committee is author of the report, which says that the federal government has no constitutional right to make such purchases for the establishment of reserves. He was upheld in his contention by the other members of the committee.

"There's a Reason"
Read, "The Road to Wellville," in pgs.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, April 17.—In all the Catholic churches of the world will be read on Easter morning the decree of the congregation of the council affecting the marriage laws. The decree, which was issued by orders of the pope, is especially aimed at "secret marriages," and "secret espousals." In this matter of secret espousals the decree says:
"Experience has sufficiently shown the many dangers of such espousals in that they are an incitement to sin and the cause of misleading inexperienced girls, besides involving subsequent dissensions and endless disputes."
That portion of the decree relating to marriages is as follows:
"Every priest having faculties can validly assist at marriage within the limits of his own parish or mission, and can validly marry, within the limits of his own parish or mission, not only his own parishioners, but also people from other parishes and other dioceses provided there be no diriment impediment."
A marriage, even of his own subjects, performed by a priest (without proper delegation) outside the limits of his own parish is null and void.
Have Full Power.
"To forestall doubts or difficulties as to the validity of the marriage ceremony all assistant priests, administrators and substitutes, who shall be appointed by the ordinary (archbishop or vicar general) shall be vested with full and absolute power and authority to assist at the valid celebration of marriage within the limits of the parishes or missions to which they shall be assigned."
"No marriage is valid unless there are at least two witnesses besides the officiating priest. A minor who has reached the years of discretion, or a non-Catholic, may be a witness."
"There are two exceptional cases, in which the presence of ordinary, or pastor, or delegated priest, is not required: (A) When there is danger of death, and the parties desire, for peace or conscience, to contract marriage, provided that neither the ordinary nor the pastor nor a duly delegated priest can be had in time, the marriage can be validly and lawfully contracted in the presence of any priest and two witnesses."

(B) If in any place during an entire month the parties cannot procure the presence of the ordinary or the pastor or a duly delegated priest, a marriage can be validly and lawfully contracted by the parties declaring their mutual consent before any two witnesses.
"A marriage is unlawful if celebrated in a place where neither of the parties has a domicile—nor has resided for one month. There is, however, an exception to this rule, via, a case of necessity. When in the judgment of the ordinary or pastor the necessity is considered grave the marriage is valid."
Wife's Power to Officiate.
"A general rule, not to be deviated from unless for just cause, requires the marriage to take place before the pastor of the bride."
"When there is no domicile of either of the parties, nor any place where they have resided for at least a month, the pastor to whom the parties apply must, except in cases of necessity, obtain permission from the ordinary to marry them."
"The decree prescribes regulations for the proper registration of marriages. These are to be entered not only in the marriage register of the parish where the marriage is celebrated, but also in the baptismal registers of the parishes where the parties were baptized."
"No Catholic can be married either lawfully or validly except by a duly authorized priest and before at least two witnesses. Marriage of a Catholic before a minister or civil magistrate is null and void."
"The Catholic canon law, as a general rule, is lawfully carried out by the pastor of the bride (whether she be a Catholic or not) person desiring for good reasons to be married by any other priest or in any other parish or place should first see to it that the pastor's permission and authorization have been granted."

PORTLANDER SCOOPING GOLD FROM ARID RAWHIDE HILLS

Tom Jackson, an old-time and well-known resident of Portland, who went to Rawhide a few weeks ago, writes back to friends that he has made good and is in a fair way to return with a poke of dust that will make returning Klondikers of 10 years ago look like a tenderfoot. Mr. Jackson has leased a tract of 200 acres in the Rawhide hills, a depth of 80 feet, and is getting richer all the time. He has also invested largely in Rawhide mining stocks.

NEW VALLEY ELECTRIC LINE

Will Connect With the Oregon Electric Road at West Woodburn.

A standard gauge electric railroad will be built by the Valley Railway company from West Woodburn to Woodburn, three miles, and thence through Monitor to Scott's Mills, and on up into the foothills to Willott springs, a famous health resort in the Cascades. A branch will be extended from Monitor to Silverton. Construction work will be commenced May 15.
The steel ties, copper wire and overhead structural materials are now on the ground, the surveys are completed, right of way deeds have been filed for the initial section between Woodburn and West Woodburn and a 30-year franchise has been secured from the city of Woodburn.
The western terminus of the road at West Woodburn is a station on the main line of the Oregon Electric Railway company. A traffic agreement signed by the Oregon Electric and Valley Railway companies provides for the running of two through trains daily each way without stops between Woodburn and Portland, and the exclusive service of the new Woodburn line's patrons.
The Valley Railway company has filed articles of incorporation with a preliminary capital of $100,000. The incorporators are Frank Robertson, Charles H. Carey and William S. Turner, all of Portland. Mr. Robertson is the original promoter of the Oregon Electric, and Mr. Turner is the resident member of W. S. Barstow & Co., the contracting firm that constructed the latter road for the New York owners. The Valley Railway company is financed by Mr. Robertson, its first president, and Barstow & Co. Mr. Carey acting as secretary and legal adviser, has no considerable financial interest in the project.
Network of Roads Planned.
"The Valley Railway company is but one of a number of similar electric extensions that will be taken up by our concern. Within five years the Willamette valley will be a network of electric railroads," said Mr. Robertson.
"This line to Woodburn will operate two daily through trains to Portland and back, over the Oregon Electric. It will also run cars to connect at West Woodburn with every one of the 14 daily trains now operated by the Oregon Electric. It will be ready to commence construction by May 15. The contract work will be done by Barstow & Co. The rails will be first-class electric, 70-pound steel rails, and the most substantial construction."
It is expected to develop a large traffic in coal from Scott's Mills, lumber from the heavily timbered region back of Monitor and also build up a popular summer resort at Willott Springs.

A clash has occurred over right of way at the proposed West Woodburn junction of the Valley Railway, on lands owned by John McCormick. A five-acre tract, known as the Western, incorporated by R. L. Donald, Wallace McCormick and C. N. Arthur, claims possession of the rights of way for a mile through the McCormick farm, and also terminal grounds at the connecting point on the Oregon Electric. Mr. Donald was formerly chief engineer of the Oregon Electric, and recently withdrew from that company and established an independent business. The other two incorporators of the Woodburn Western are attorneys for the Pacific Railway & Navigation company, a Southern Pacific extension company, Hillsboro to Tillamook, on which construction was started but suspended last fall.

Coming Home From Europe.
(Washington Bureau of The Journal.)
Washington, April 17.—The wife and daughter of Dr. C. J. Smith of Pendleton, Oregon, are en route home. They have been six months in Europe.

Writing to Harry Young of the N. P. Steamship company, Jackson says that within a year, Rawhide will be the best mining camp in the world; that the hills around the town are full of gold, so rich that it is being sacked and taken into the bay as fast as it is brought to the surface.
Jackson went to Alaska in 1898, returning several years later with a comfortable fortune which he invested in Portland real estate. His friends here predict that he will come out of Nevada with another handsome fortune.

Statement No. 1 candidates for the legislature in Multnomah county are working at the polls this afternoon, trying to bring out all of the vote possible to the Statement No. 1 principle. Each candidate has been assigned to a different ward throughout the city and has charge of the work at the polls in that ward. With each candidate is a number of workers who have volunteered their services and who are working to see that the Statement No. 1 votes are cast before the polls close at 7 o'clock.
Between the different candidates for office it would appear that the vote today should be a heavy one for the city will be combed for the elusive voter. Counts Fields, however, after taking a look at the sky, is viewing his past experience with elections in Multnomah county, estimates that there will not be more than 15,000 votes cast in the county.

BIG BANKS PREPARE FOR CONSOLIDATION

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, April 17.—Among banking men of prominence the chief topic of conversation today was the report of the contemplated purchase of the National Bank of Commerce by the National City Bank. Possible consolidation of the two mammoth institutions, each with a capital stock issue of $25,000,000, the combined capital and surplus being $89,848,200, and the aggregate deposits of $1,471,200, was sufficient to make banking interests gasp. The acquisition of the National Bank of Commerce by the National City Bank had been rumored in inner down town banking circles late yesterday and it is the belief of those best informed that the deal is practically certain to be consummated.

Her husband, Thomas Hendricks, died about three years ago. Mrs. Hendricks leaves several children, one being Mrs. H. H. Swofford, wife of County Clerk Swofford. Mrs. Hendricks' funeral was held yesterday with interment at Mossyrock.

MINISTERS LOSE FEET QUARREL

Committee's Project for Naval Parade on Easter Sunday Is Upheld.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Los Angeles, April 17.—The fight that has been waged with vigor and the exchange of red-hot criticism between the local fleet committee and the ministerial union over the proposition to have the battleship fleet engage on a parade on Easter Sunday has been definitely settled by the department secretary by a telegram received here today from Senator Flint.
The contentions of the fleet committee that the people be given an opportunity to view the fleet as a whole on Sunday and to witness the projected illumination in San Pedro harbor tomorrow night, has been sustained by Secretary Metcalf, who today instructed Admiral Thomas, in command of the fleet, to cater to the original program and not disperse in squadrons until early Sunday morning.
When it was made known that a parade was contemplated for Easter Sunday the ministerial union protested against what it termed the desecration of the Sabbath and secured from Admiral Evans a promise that only "necessity movements" would be permitted on that day. The fleet committee then gave up the parade idea, but such pressure was brought at Washington that the original plan was restored.

Washington, April 17.—It is now more than likely that the battleship fleet will proceed into San Francisco Bay on the morning of May 6 instead of the afternoon. The original program provided for the entrance into the bay in the afternoon because high tide will prevail at that time, but it has apparently been shown to the satisfaction of the bureau of navigation that even at low tide the Golden Gate and Bay are safely navigable.
Paso Robles, Cal., April 17.—Rear Admiral Evans is feeling better today than at any time since his arrival here. He is taking the regular treatment prescribed for him and the rheumatic pains have almost entirely disappeared. His physicians are confident that, unless he suffers a relapse, he will be in condition to resume command of the fleet at Monterey.

Ferguson, the expert accountant employed by the state to expert the books of the Title Guarantee & Trust company, arrived in Salem yesterday for the purpose of going through the books in State Treasurer Steel's office. Mr. Ross wants R. S. Howard Jr., receiver, and Douglas Lawson subpoenaed as witnesses for the defense. He also wants balance books, sheets from the ledger, tellers' blotters, the register of checks and accounts, the daily cash reports for each day a business during 1907 and the deposit slips showing deposits made by State Treasurer Steel, all of which are in the possession of Receiver Howard.

CALIFORNIA CANNERS MAKE BIG PROFITS

(United Press Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, April 17.—More prosperity was enjoyed during the past year by the fruit canners of California than in any other period in the history of that industry. In spite of the money stringency, which diminished the demand since last October, the aggregate sales amounted to nearly $10,000,000, the largest reported since the California Canners' association was organized. These facts developed yesterday at a meeting of the association held to elect officers and receive the reports of business.
Up to October the shipments had been heaviest on record, and the earnings equal the dividends for three years. The association has disbursed in the dividends since the organization, $1,578,815. President William Fries was reelected president.
