TEN CENTS AN ACRE FOR LAND

Benson Paid Clerk Fee for Rushing His Claims Through Land Office.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Washington, April 21.—Further evidence to show that John A. Benson paid attaches of the general land office to rush his claims through that department was introduced today at the Benson-Hyde land fraud trial. William Ivank, formerly employed as a clerk in the general land office, testified that Benson gave him 10 cents per acre for putting land claims through the office. Woodford Harlan, who testified yesterday, said on the stand today that his conscience hurt him after he realized that he had been used as a tool by Benson, and that is why he "peached." Attorney Campbell, acting for the defense, finally made Harlan admit that he told an untruth to get Benson into trouble. Harlan said he had no objection to make out a case for the government, "thinking that anything I did for the prosecution was a high and legitimate—so I told an untruth concerning Benson. "And you are doing the same now, aren't you?" queried Campbell. Your mind has had paid much attention to "No, sir; only as regards the truth will I continue to assist the government, as I think it is my duty," said Harlan.

GENERAL DEPOSIT

he said he had been reading the Portland dailies pretty closely and had formed an opinion. Each juror was asked if he had any acquaintance with E. N. Keady, Harvey Moreland or Harvey Scott of Portland. Each one was asked to help call attention to the newspaper accounts and a preference was given these men who had not read the newspapers. E. D. Knigge was accepted because he had not read any of the Portland dailies. Charles Hein was accepted by the jury because he had read nothing but the headlines in The Journal. Several were excused by the defense because they had looked at editorials in the Oregonian. One man was excused by the court because of illness. In opening the case for the state, Judge Martin J. Pipes presented in a concise and clear manner the points which he said the state hoped to substantiate with their evidence. It was pointed out that when that time came in the history of the Title Guarantee & Trust company when it had paid out all its own money, the bank had paid out the money held by it which constituted the educational fund of the state of Oregon, deposited with the bank by State Treasurer Steel. For this act said Judge Pipes J. Thorburn Ross, the defendant in this trial, as well as T. T. Burkhardt, John E. Alchison and George Hill, is directly responsible and criminally liable. But this point was disputed at once by Wallace McCamant who opened the case for the defense. He said it could not be shown that his client was at any
