BANK EMBEZZLER'S TASTES WERE HIGH

Owned Finest House in Carlisle and Entertained Lavishly.

Carlisle, Pa., April 24.—Although the utmost confidence is shown by Carlisle depositors in the Merchants National bank here, looted by Teller John V. Harris, considerable speculation is rife as to what Harris did with the stolen funds, now estimated at about $50,000.

For the last few years the bank clerk has been spending, however, as one item $1,500 annually to carry $30,000 life insurance.

It appears that Harris had some eccentricities which were notable in an $1,100 bank clerk. In addition to building the most magnificent residence in Carlisle, a town noted for its sumptuous homes, he indulged in a $1,200 chicken coop. He entertained lavishly.

As an illustration of the tenacity with which he held the reins on the bank's affairs, although a subordinate, it is said that for nearly 12 years he never missed a day at the bank, never left to lunch and did the work ordinarily accomplished by three men, keeping his many books as models.

Harris sent word to his wife that he could not bear to see her, even in prison, until it was all over.

SPANKS HUSBAND TO END DISPUTE

New Brunswick, N. J., April 24.—Otto Pfeil, 81 years old, had his wife, Augusta, aged 65 years, arrested for assault, and she has been held for the grand jury. The two got into a dispute over money matters and she endeavored to adjust matters by spanking him, he says.

The couple were brought together recently by a matrimonial advertisement in one of the Hoboken papers. Since their marriage the bride has come to the conclusion that her husband married her for her money. She had $900 when they were made one. Most of this money has been spent and the woman says her husband spent most of it. The remainder of the money was in one of the local banks.

Yesterday it was drawn out against Mrs. Pfeil's protest and trouble ensued.

ADMITS HE LIED ABOUT THE NAVY

Pittsburg Man in Kearsarge's Crew Ostracized by His Mates.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 24.—A Pittsburger on board of the United States ship Kearsarge, with the Pacific fleet, has been ostracized by the entire crew, according to advices received and published here from two yeoman of the crew.

The Pittsburger, whose name is concealed, wrote home from Callao, Peru, that the enlisted men were shamefully treated by their officers; their food was unfit to eat, and 200 men would desert as soon as the fleet reached an American port. The letter was published in a Pittsburg paper, on March 27, by the sailor's parents.

When copies of the paper reached Magdalena bay the men on board the Kearsarge held an indignation meeting and demanded of the sailor that he confess he lied. The Pittsburger's name had not been used in the printed story, but he confessed.

Yeoman A. X. Holst wrote a letter to the Pittsburg publication giving an account of the indignation of the members of the crew, and said a retraction had been posted on the ship's bulletin as follows: "I admit having written the letter recently published in a Pittsburg paper criticising the food on board the United States steamship Kearsarge, and now admit that the statements in the letter were wholly untrue, and do the ship a great injustice.

"The statement was made with a view to keeping my younger brother from entering the service, and I lied about the conditions aboard ship in the hope that he would not enlist if he thought that I was being mistreated."

Chief Yeoman Charles Turner of the Kearsarge also writes a protest, as do 16 other members of the crew.
