SEIZE BAD COIN OUTFIT

Secret Service Agents Locate Counterfeiting Plant in Vancouver—Spurious Dollars Also Found Under Building on East Side.

Part of the outfit which has been used by the gang of counterfeiters, three of whom are now in jail, was seized by the United States authorities this morning in Vancouver, Washington, and in addition 10 spurious dollars were found on the east side, where they had been thrown by Steve Ramsey just before he was captured by Policeman Blackman.

The money was found under the building of the Valvoline Oil company, Second and East Washington streets, by Stephen A. Connel of Portland and Thomas B. Foster of Seattle, secret service agents. The coins were in a tobacco sack.

They Aways Bad Money. Ramsey was arrested Friday. He had passed some of the money of his own make on Henry Meyer, a saloonkeeper.

at 113 Grand avenue. Soon afterward he discovered that the money was counterfeit. Meyer reported the matter to Policeman Blackman, and after a chase of several blocks Ramsey was caught. During the chase he managed to get rid of the 10 bad dollars, all he had in his possession.

Louis Turner, alias Frank Burns and Fred Horton, was arrested at San Diego several years ago for counterfeiting, the government authorities allege. He was sentenced to serve two years at San Quentin. James Rafferty, who was with Turner when the raid was made in a Vancouver lodging house, is also being held. These two men will probably be tried in the United States court at Tacoma, while Ramsey, also a member of the gang, will have his hearing before Judge Wolvorton in the federal court at Portland. The government agents also claim that Ramsey is a former convict.

Operated Several Months. From the evidence at hand it seems that these men have been operating in this part of the country for several months. Between $300 and $400 in counterfeit dollars have been passed in Portland and Vancouver during the last few months, and it is claimed that Turner and Ramsey have been making all of them. Before coming here, it seems the men operated in Seattle. Turner was arrested there in March, but for lack of evidence was released. Then he came to Portland, and from the number of counterfeit coins which have been found here has been busy ever since.

Turner, according to the federal agents, was the leader of the gang. Ramsey assisted him and passed many of the coins. Rafferty, also alleged to have been one of the assistants. Ramsey will have a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Bladen tomorrow morning.

The arrest of these three men puts an end to a well organized gang of counterfeiters which has been operating in the northwest all winter, say the secret service men, and now that the leaders are in jail there will be a let-up of the great numbers of imitation dollars which have been scattered broadcast on the unsuspecting public.

TRACY'S CAPTOR ON DEATH BED

Man Who Arrested Outlaw, Who Later Terrorized the Northwest, Ill at Denver.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Denver, April 28.—One of the bravest of the old-time officers of the west, E. A. Farnham of Steamboat Springs, is dying at St. Luke's hospital. His condition is so serious that a telegram has been sent to his wife asking her to make all haste to Denver.

It was Mr. Farnham more than anyone else who succeeded finally in routing Brown's Park of its gang of outlaws. Before coming here, it seems the outlaw Harry Tracy after Tracy had murdered Valentine Hoy. Tracy afterward escaped from prison, and in his efforts to avoid arrest killed seven or eight men of the posse who followed him in a perilous hunt through Oregon and Washington.

Farnham has lived in Routt county for a quarter of a century, and his name has been a terror to "bad men." Brown's Park, which is the extreme northwestern corner of Colorado and adjoins the "hole in the wall" country, where "Butch" Cassidy and his gang so long made their headquarters, was the scene of many of Farnham's exploits. He had no fear, and Cassidy never attempted to cross the line into this state as long as Farnham was the peace officer of Routt county.

Many stories could be told of Farnham's bravery. He was a man of few words and slow to anger, but of great determination. The Hoy's, who were among the oldest settlers in the county and of great respectability, were among his closest friends. Valentine Hoy was killed by Harry Tracy, who was then a member of the gang. Tracy, who was a waiter in the "hole in the wall" country, feared that Hoy would cause his arrest. Farnham took up the chase at once and did not stop until Tracy's capture. J. C. Hoy, the brother, still lives on the Routt county ranch.

READS PAPAL BENEDICTION
President Roosevelt Sends His Congratulations to New York Catholics.

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, April 28.—Following the centenary anniversary of the New York diocese today, the papal benediction sent through Archbishop Farley was read by Monsignor DiDome Falconio, apostolic delegate to the United States. Congratulations were read from President Roosevelt.

Cardinal Gibbons preached a sermon and referred to the close relations of the church and its leaders in the contest for American independence. The celebration will end Saturday with a parade, in which, it is evident, many thousands of Catholics will participate.

The celebration will end Saturday with a parade, in which, it is evident, many thousands of Catholics will participate. The New York diocese has now been divided into nine dioceses, with 1,500,000 members. New York City has 230 churches.
