PHOTOGRAPHY WILL BE REVOLUTIONIZED

Next Is the Lensless Camera—Description of Wonderful New Photographic Plate.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) London, April 30.—Photographers will soon be able to dispense with cameras. As a result of a wonderful invention of Professor Lippmann, it will be possible after merely exposing a plate before the object to be photographed to obtain on developing it a more lifelike representation than can possibly be produced by present-day methods.

For many years Professor Lippmann, who is already famous as the inventor of the only direct process of color photography which gives perfect results, has been at work on his new invention at the research laboratory of the Paris university in the Sorbonne. Great difficulty has been and is still experienced in the manufacture of the wonderful plates, which are at present largely made by hand. The plate is in reality an immense honeycomb with tiny holes, about 15,000 microscopic lenses being packed in each square inch of it.

Each lens, separated from the surrounding one by a black or opaque substance, produces its own little photograph on the portion of sensitive film immediately behind it.

The photographer of the future will carry his plates in little boxes, and placing them in front of anything he wishes to take, remove the lens or shutter from the box and then develop them in the ordinary way.

TAKE STEPS TO FIGHT FILL ON EAST SIXTH

Shepherd Says Lumber Company Will Evade All Costs of Street Improvement.

Lawyer George S. Shepherd, representing the Inman-Poulsen Lumber company, was at the city hall this morning securing data relative to the East Sixth street fill, and stated that his company would either commence suit before the fill is made to enjoin the city from executing the contract or would wait until the fill is completed and then refuse to pay the improvement. Shepherd estimates the cost of the improvement at about $42,000, although the engineer's estimated cost is about $21,000. Since the action of the council last week in refusing to pass an ordinance rescinding the contract much speculation has been indulged in as to what action the lumber company would take in regard to the fill. The company owns almost all of the abutting property and would have to stand practically all of the expense of the improvement. Shepherd claimed today that the city erred in a dozen places in providing for the fill and that any one of these would be sufficient to throw the expense of the improvement upon the city. He claims that whatever action is taken the company will win its fight and will not have to pay for the improvement.
