

THE BALL IS GRY OF EVERY FAN

Next Tuesday Colonel McCracken Will Pitch First Ball and Judge George H. Williams Will Try to Catch It.

City Prepares for Opening of the Season—Some Forecasts of the Reception to the Portland Team Players.

Features of opening day:

Colonel Henry McCracken will pitch the first ball.

Judge George H. Williams will try to catch it.

Indian Pinnace will probably pitch the opening game.

The Beavers may win the first home game in a decade.

Portland and San Francisco teams head automobile parade.

Probably biggest crowd in history if Beavers win Seal series this week.

Never in the history of professional baseball in Portland has there been so much interest manifest as this year and so many preparations made to receive the team and give it an ovation as it trots out upon the ball field next Tuesday afternoon.

Judge W. W. McCredie has been beside himself with plans for the reception of the Beavers and while he has not had much time to be over from his Vancouver home he has kept the telephone wires hot with instructions to Secretary Shepherd.

He has also kept the postal department working over time handling letters to Walter down in California.

The judge is as excited as a school boy and when he is finished Portland will know that there is a ball team in this town.

Autos in Line.

While the plans have not been fully made it is about decided upon to have the parade start at 10 o'clock as possible.

There will be some 40 or 50 automobiles in line carrying the baseball team, the city and county officials and other dignitaries and these will be followed by chug wagons with fans and rosters.

The parade will cover the principal streets of the city and will last about half an hour.

Pinnace is popular in California and while he has never been seen here, his happy smile has, and he is bound to take well with the crowd.

As far back as the judge can remember, Portland has never won the opening game on the home grounds.

Judge McCredie has written a letter urging Walter to pitch Pinnace, the Indian, in the first game in Portland and Walter will probably accede to his request.
