TOTEM POLES FIESTA FEATURE

Seattle to Have Novel Representation in the Rose Carnival Pageant. Sixteen human totem poles marching through the leading streets of Portland's business district will be one of the novel spectacles afforded by the forthcoming Rose Festival. This double-act of parades will act as an escort for the 15,000 decorated floats which will carry the city to Seattle for the exposition of commerce and the A-Y-P Exposition management, combined, will enter in the grand pageant. The Spirit of the Golden West, on Tuesday evening, June 2. These totem poles are to be exact reproductions of those which are found in the great Indian burying grounds in Alaska, and similar to those which were carried by the division of the numerous day and night parades. It is 25, 50 or 100 men are sent to Portland arrayed in neat and uniform costumes bearing the same symbol. The community they represent, they will present a most attractive feature of any parade in Eugene is going to be represented by a brigade of 100 men, all dressed in white duck suits and carrying in official colors. Each of them adorned with a letter and in the maneuvers which will be gone through with the division of the parade will spell the words, "Eugene, Lane County, Oregon." The University town boosters figured that this would be just as valuable a scheme of advertising as to send in a magnificent float and will not be so expensive. The alternative of allowing marching bodies to enter has been devised so that no city or town, even to the very smallest in the state, may feel that it cannot come in and participate in the festival and find a ready welcome, and with just as good a chance of shouting its name abroad as any of those which are preparing to spend big sums of money. From present estimates, the "Spirit of the Golden West" pageant will be the most expensive and elaborate cavalcade that ever moved through the streets of any city on the coast. Other cities outside of Portland have raised

MILLS AND GEORGE TO DEBATE SINGLE TAX

Issue of Campaign Will Be Threshed Out at Montavilla Next Friday. Joint debate of the present campaign will be held at L. O. O. F. hall, at Montavilla, Friday, May 8, when ex-Congressman M. C. George will debate with Walter Thomas Mills, the well-known political economist, on the proposed taxation amendment to the state constitution. Mr. George will oppose and Mr. Mills uphold the proposed amendment, which exempts from taxation all personal property, residences, manufacturing plants, used exclusively for manufacturing, live stock, etc. This measure is an advanced step in the direction of the single tax, sometimes called the Henry George theory, who advocated breaking up land monopoly by placing all taxes upon land. As both Mr. George and Mr. Mills are able men and well informed on the subject to be discussed an interesting meeting is assured.

JAPANESE ASK ENGLAND'S AID

Boycott Begins to Hurt Little Brown Merchants and They Complain. (United Press Leased Wire.) Shanghai, May 2.—Japan has finally asked Great Britain to help her "persuade" or compel China to call off the anti-Japanese boycott. Though it is said the request has been made through regular diplomatic channels, no formal announcement has been given out. The Japanese foreign office hopes the minkado will not have to openly figure in the matter. British commercial interests are quietly doing their best to influence their government against interference. It is conceded that the boycott is a weapon to fear. Europeans in the east have suffered so much from Japanese business methods, however, that they favor risking future trouble for themselves in order to see Japan humbled. Meanwhile the Japanese commercial arm is literally rotting at the wharf and pounding on the rocks. Japan is terribly cramped for money, and the boycott is putting the finishing touch to the empire's acute distress. There is no doubt that the emperor would resort to force were it not for the certainty that it would do no good. The Chinese government does not like the boycott itself, but it cannot stop it. It is simply a popular movement of the people, and neither the Japanese nor the Chinese government can put a finger upon the right spot to check it.
