

JURY CAN'T PICK THE TRUE STORY

Gallantly Declines to Return Any Verdict at All in Goode-Roper Case.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal, 357 State Street.)

Salem, Or., May 6.—After having been out two hours yesterday afternoon the jury disagreed in the case in which Lulu Goode is charged with assault upon Mrs. Leona Roper, wife of the Free Methodist pastor here. The trial is one of those that grew out of the horsewhipping administered to Rev. W. N. Coffee at Portland after the pastor's service at the Free Methodist church in North Salem several weeks ago.

Mrs. Roper declared that as she was standing in the door of the church just after the horsewhipping Lulu Goode, who wielded the braided strap that was the substitute for the horsewhip, sprang up the steps to the door and gave Mrs. Roper a right underout and landed on her right jaw. Other witnesses were introduced to substantiate this testimony.

Miss Goode, when she took the stand, said this statement was not true; that she had not seen Mrs. Roper during the general melee. Witnesses were put on the stand to support her testimony. The jury could not pick the true story. Three other charges have developed from this church fight, started because the elder J. F. Goode was expelled from the church. He had voted in the city council in favor of licensing saloons, so they cast him out of the synagogue. Jack Goode, a son, is charged with perjury and assault by Rev. W. N. Coffee, and of assault by Rev. W. N. Coffee.

TRAINS OBSTRUCT ROAD TO SCHOOL

W. J. Hammond of Lane County Appeals to Railroad Commission.

(Salem Bureau of The Journal, 357 State Street.)

Salem, Or., May 6.—Near Creswell, in Lane county, the freight trains have a habit of stopping across the roads for an hour or two at a time, preventing farmers from going to town to do their trading, to serve on juries and attend other important appointments. The practice has become so annoying of late that one of the citizens of that county, W. J. Hammond, has taken it upon himself to relieve the situation by calling upon the state railroad commission.

"My two daughters are driving to school every morning," writes Mr. Hammond, "or almost every morning, that freight train is standing on the siding waiting for the through passenger. The trainmen will not break the train to allow my daughters to pass through, so that they are frequently late for school from 30 minutes to an hour. Through the courtesy of the teacher they are not counted late, though they do not pay them for the time they miss away from their classes. I should like very much to have that train 'moved on'."

PROHIBITION READING OF SILVERTON'S SIGNS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Silverton, Or., May 6.—The good government ticket, which was successful at the city election Monday, was nominated at a primary held more than two weeks ago, and the following platform was adopted and printed on the tickets:

"If elected we pledge our best efforts to give the city of Silverton a fair, impartial and economical administration. We will oppose all forms of graft and useless litigation, will insist upon strict enforcement of the law, and will at all times work for the best interests of the people and improvement of Silverton."

Two days before the election the saloonmen made up a ticket called the taxpayers' ticket, and L. H. Fischer was placed at the head, with Bowers, L. F. Mascher and J. M. Wolfard for councilmen, and A. Whitlock for recorder. Every effort was made on the part of the saloonmen to win. Men who had lived in the city only a few weeks swore in their votes for the sake of this ticket, but with no success.

The present police officer, who is elected by the council, will vacate his office immediately upon the new council's taking possession of city affairs, and there is likely to be a change made in an office of street commissioner.

People of Silverton are inclined to look upon this election as a criterion by which to judge the result of the local option vote in this vicinity June 1. Scott's Mill has been united with the Silverton and North Silverton precincts, and it is popularly considered almost certain saloons will be abandoned next month.

A Chicago Woman's Observation While Visiting in Baltimore

(From Chicago Tribune.)

While visiting recently in Baltimore, Maryland, I discovered something which I know will be appreciated by western women. Baltimore women, you know, have a national reputation for beautiful complexions and soon after my arrival there I was eager to learn what they used in treatment of the skin, and I went to considerable pains to ascertain.

The society women whom I met had no trace of powder or rouge upon their faces, but at the same time had most beautiful, soft, velvety complexions. Well, they use no powder or rouge, but a wash which is always prepared at home in the following manner, and is used universally by the most beautiful women there. It certainly works wonders with even the poorest skin:

Obtain at a drug store, Rose water, 2 ounces; Cologne spirits, 1 ounce; Epsom salts (skin food), 4 ounces.

Take these ingredients home. Dissolve the Epsom salts in a pint of hot water, and after dissolved strain through a fine cloth and let cool. Then add the Rose Water and Cologne Spirits. You now have the finest thing for the complexion that money can buy, at very small cost.

AFTER SCALP OF UNCLE JOE

Probable Cannon Will Not Be Speaker of Next House of Representatives.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, May 6.—It can be set down as certain that if the Republicans control the next house of representatives there will be a determined fight against the reelection of Speaker Cannon. More than this, there is good reason for the statement that a fight will be made against the speaker's reelection in his home district in Illinois. The American Forestry association, which has been active throughout the session working its publicity bureau vigorously in the effort to develop public sentiment against the speaker, the American Federation of Labor, which has long been fighting Cannon openly, the various organizations of railroad employees who are no longer friendly to the speaker, the tariff revisionists and various influences are getting very active in developing opposition to Cannon.

The charge is made by the forestry association that the speaker is directly responsible for killing the forest reserve bill through his control of the judiciary committee, by the labor organization people, that through the same committee he has smothered all measures intended to benefit labor; and by the advocates of removal of the tariff on pulp print paper, that his sending of this question to a political committee was a mere subterfuge to prevent action.

HISTORIC MANSION AT LAFAYETTE BURNED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Lafayette, Or., May 6.—The residence of A. P. Fletcher, in the outskirts of Lafayette, was burned to the ground Saturday morning. It cost $8,000 to build it, in 1876. There was $1,500 insurance. The fire started from a defective fuse. The volunteer fire department was speedily on the ground, but could do nothing because the house well was under the rear porch, which was blazing and the only other well was at the barn, so far away that the department's hose could not reach it. Only the household goods on the first floor were saved.

The house was built by A. R. Burbank, who died without heirs and will his estate, the house and 80 acres of land, to the state of Oregon. Fletcher purchased it of the state somewhat more than a year ago.

MRS. DAVID ANDREWS OF LEBANON DEAD

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Lebanon, Or., May 6.—Mrs. David Andrews died very suddenly of heart trouble at her home about three miles north of Lebanon Sunday at 5 o'clock at the age of 53 years. Her illness was of only five hours' duration. She was born at Reedburg, Wisconsin, August 13, 1855, and with her parents came to Oregon in 1876. In 1877 she was married to David Andrews. The family has since lived in or near Lebanon. She was the mother of eight children, five daughters and three sons. Besides her children, she leaves her aged mother, a brother and her husband. The funeral service was conducted at the family residence, by Rev. T. W. Wardle, after which interment was made in the Masonic cemetery.

LIE TWICE PASSED IN REFERENDUM DEBATE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Brownsville, Or., May 6.—The last meeting of the Linn county council at Shedd was rather exciting. Messrs. Eton and Alderman from the state university were present, and met Walker and Palmer, the Linn county council committee, in debate. All delivered able addresses, a fierce verbal altercation was carried on between Messrs. Alderman and Palmer. The lie was passed several times. Each demanded an apology of the other.

It was the judgment of those present that neither side had gained an advantage. Senator Bacon made a very favorable impression.

The next council will meet near Albany. One new grange has been organized with a charter membership of $5. Many granges have increased their membership.

Organ Recital at Albany.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Albany, Or., May 6.—Professor Frederick W. Goodrich of Portland is to be heard in recital in Albany, Friday evening under the auspices of the choir of the United Presbyterian church. A lecture recital on the pipe organ will constitute the first portion of the evening's entertainment. This will be followed by the presentation of Oliver W. Benson's oratorio, the "Ninety-first Psalm," to be sung by a chorus of 25 voices selected from the best musical talent in this city. A feature will be the piano and pipe organ accompaniment. The chorus is under the direction of Professor Carroll H. Palmer of the Albany College Conservatory of Music.

Did It Ever Happen to You?

To go into a shoe store and after an awkward wait of several minutes, to be approached by an indifferent salesman as if your visit were an intrusion? In SUCH a store were you ever served as if it were a favor to you and you COULD NOT trade elsewhere? Was the salesman surly because you insisted on a good fit or wished to deliberate as to style you wanted? Were you subtly informed that you did not know what you wanted and that the salesman's judgment should be your guide? Were you handed your package and change as bread is handed to a man in a charity "soup" line? Didn't make you feel very kindly towards that store—did it?

At the Crawford Shoe Store it's different; you are served right. We cannot exist in business without the public; the public could worry along some way without us. We impress this fact on every salesman we employ—and we are particular to select men who have intelligence enough to know what it means. We insist that our salesmen be competent shoemen—but unless the competence is linked with courtesy—we cannot use it. Our customers are our guests and we aim to make their visits both pleasant and profitable.

"Crawford" Shoes are made on a sound business basis. From the buying of raw materials to their actual purchase by the consumer "Crawfords" enjoy every advantage of tremendous output. Take for instance "Crawford" designs. They have more individuality, style distinction and class than the output of any other six makers combined. They are ordinary only in one thing—and that is price. We invite your inspection.
