

SEVEN RECORDS ARE DEWRITTEN

Fine Work at Pullman, Despite Vile Weather—Team for Seattle Meet.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Pullman, Wash., May 9.—Though the weather indications last night were for fine weather, there came rain this morning and a slow drizzle continued all day, cutting down the crowd at the track meet. However the trials went forward. Seven new records were established in the northwestern intercollegiate. Despite the cold and the misty track much sensational work was done. The new records established are: Harry Conover, Watsburg, hammer throw; Knapp, Oakesdale, discus; Eckert, Lewiston, 120-yard hurdles; Johnson, Wenatchee, mile run; Eckert, 230-yard hurdle; Spokane relay team, relay race; the hammer record was broken by one foot; the 240-yard dash was beaten one fifth of a second; the 120-yard hurdle three fifths of a second; the 230-yard hurdle four fifths of a second; the mile run one and two fifths seconds; the half mile relay seven tenths of a second; the discus record was exceeded two inches. Knapp of Oakesdale won the individual prize with 13 points, thus making him captain of the eastern Washington team that will go to Seattle May 22. Englehorn of Spokane and Eckert of Lewiston were second with 14 points each. The winners of first places who will form the team to go to Seattle to meet the team composed of first-pointers of the west side teams for the championship of the state, is composed of Knapp, Oakesdale, captain, Conover of Watsburg, Englehorn of Spokane, L. EDMUNDSON WINS FERRIS A. GLARNER

Idaho Half-Miller Beats the World's Champion in Tryouts—Smithson Stars.

(Heart News by Longest Leased Wire.) San Francisco, May 9.—Competitors were not numerous at the tryouts held at Stanford University cinder path today, when the Pacific coast athletes compared for a chance to get on the American team to go to London in July, but the performances were good and majority of the events were exciting enough. A genuine surprise was sprung in the first event when Edmundson of the shot team, who had been regarded as the Olympic club in the 800-meter race, the Olympic club runner turned the tables in the 400-meter race when he responded to the quarter mile, by beating Edmundson out at the finish by a couple of yards. The best performance of the day was Foster Smithson's race in the 110-meter hurdle race, which is practically the same as the regular 120-yard hurdle. Smithson hurdled in great style and finished an easy winner over Edwards of the University of California by the fast time of 15 3-5 seconds. This beats the record for the race, but as Smithson knocked over one of the hurdles it will not be accepted as official. The Multnomah runner also won the 100-meter race in 11 seconds, beating Gerhardt of the Olympic club and McAllister of the University of Utah. Smithson's showing should easily win him a place on the national team. Ralph Rose, the Heidelberg giant, took three first places. He put the hammer through the regular 120-yard hurdle and the discus with a throw of 120 feet 10 inches. Rose is certain to be invited for the team, as his showing is worth a place in any athletic team. Glarner won the 400-meter low hurdle race, making the distance over 10 flights of hurdles in 59 1-5 seconds. The pole vault was won by Bellah, who has been vaulting well all spring and today took the event with a vault of 12 feet. The 15-mile Marathon race was won by "Soldier" King, winner of the Mount Wilson climb two weeks ago. Harle of Stanford was second a half mile behind King, with Woodstocker of the Olympic club third, far in the rear.

GREEN BOWLS BACK OF ROSES

President of the Rose Festival Makes Suggestions for Decorations.

"Have you noticed, while out for a car ride towards the end of some suburban line on Sunday afternoon, what an abundance of evergreens, all the way from the fir and cedar branches, now at their very greenest and protected from the bright foliage of wild currant creepers, and a dozen different varieties of ferns, there are to be seen in all directions? How about that basket you took along, with the little sharp knife from the kitchen cabinet drawer, and the dainty green things you brought home in it, for the decking up of your rooms through the week? These are the sort of questions President Whitmore of the Rose Festival wants to ask the people of Portland. He says the innate love of spring-time decoration is just now manifesting itself throughout the city, and through the wishes to appeal to every man, woman and child in Portland for personal help in the work of getting the city dressed for the carnival which will begin on June 1, just three weeks from tomorrow. "Three weeks is none too long," said Mr. Whitmore, "to perfect decorative designs and to make one's arrangements for the schemes in the city. It is a time to get busy, and we ought all to start in giving heed to that little card of three words we are changing around where down town the 'Now' sign is now. Last year we did not start soon enough, and for the reason that no one in the town had an extra quantity of bunting in the carnival colors there was none to be had when we did start in to deck out the town. This year we will have plenty of bunting, the committee has seen to that, and I think nature will see to it that the bower of beauty and abundance. All we need to do is get everyone interested in planning his personal share of decorations, and this cannot be done too soon."

Green Things Needed.

"Don't let us stop at roses," urges President Whitmore, "roses, of course, will be the main feature of the decorations, but a lavish back ground of green things will heighten the beauty of the roses, and with the great abundance of evergreens in the fields and on the hills surrounding Portland, we ought to be able to make the city, and particularly the line of parade, a perfect bower of beauty. The merchants and business men are going to postpone their plans for decorative too long to get effective results, unless they are coming up with splendid plans, and are out after the prizes strong. "Manager Bowers of the Hotel Portland, who carried off the first prize last year, tells me he is going after it again this year, and that his plan is going to make some of the others sit up and take notice when it comes to decorative schemes. Bowers has already got the carnival spirit seriously, too, and he is full of some mysterious plan to make his folks out on Washington street hit his decorations. I think the hotels are going to take particular interest in the decorations this year, and there will be thousands of visitors thronging in from all directions, and the hotels will reap their share of harvest from the carnival. "We want to wake up everybody generally," concluded President Whitmore, as he bowed the Journal man out. "These next three weeks are important, and what we do towards planning the dressing up of the city for carnival week is going to count for success or failure of the festival as an annual institution. Tell everyone you know to get busy."
