WEATHER REPORT

The depression noted over Utah Saturday morning has merged with another depression that made its appearance yesterday morning over British Columbia. Together they form an extensive low area that covers the entire country from the Sierras on the south and the Rocky mountains on the northeastward to the Mississippi valley, with center about Kansas City, Missouri. It is very energetic and general rains have fallen during the last 12 hours over the entire Pacific slope, middle and northern plateau and British Columbia. Light to moderate rains have also fallen over the upper Mississippi valley, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. A high area overlies the southeastern portion of the country this morning and clear skies prevail in consequence over the eastern portion of the country.

The indications point to a continuation of the present cloudy weather over this forecast district tonight and Tuesday, with probably showers. It will be warmer over southwestern Idaho tonight.
