

THE JOURNAL

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

Published every evening (except Sunday) and every Sunday morning at the Journal Building, 225 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Subscription Terms by mail to any address in the United States, Canada or Mexico.

Foreign Advertising Representatives: The Journal Building, 225 Fifth Avenue, New York.

It is not right, therefore, to return an injury, or to do evil to any man, however one may have suffered from him.

EVOLUTION OF THE VOTER.

THE Oregonian is largely correct in its contention that there is a general drift in Oregon toward abandonment or disregard of party lines.

A REASONABLE RESOLUTION.

BLUE MOUNTAIN grange, of Union county while approving of the initiative and referendum as a reserve power to be used with discretion.

NEW PARTY MANAGEMENT NEEDED.

REPUBLICAN newspaper, of Louisville Post, under the title: "The Party of the Future."

TRIVIAL GROUNDS FOR DIVORCE

SOME excuses assigned for asking for a decree of divorce these days—and they seem to be usually sufficient—are superficially ludicrous, but on a little deeper consideration of the subject they are evidences of a great and growing social evil.

THE time till the Rose Fiesta is short. Much in the way of preparation is to be done.

"Vote 'er straight," says the Salem Statesman. That is, don't think, don't exercise any intelligence, be mere dumb, driven cattle.

1893—Robert C. Winthrop, orator, born in Boston. Died there November 16, 1884.

1850—Henry Cabot Lodge, United States senator from Massachusetts, born in Boston.

1851—Joseph K. Toole, ex-governor of Montana, born in Savannah, Miss.

1850—Sir Charles Barry, architect of the British house of parliament, died in London.

1872—Body of Chief Justice Chase in state in the capitol at Washington.

1870—Women admitted to bar at the University of Pennsylvania.

1893—Governor Pennypacker of Pennsylvania, signed the "press-muzzling" bill.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

that in many cases these are wholly or mostly inventions, or gross exaggerations.

The divorce laws, if not too liberal, are too liberally construed in favor of plaintiffs, who have but some trivial ground for complaint.

Mr. T. T. Geer, who was a candidate for representative in the primaries, coming out third in the race.

A noteworthy useful organization of this city, one that is quietly doing an incalculable amount of good, is the Council of Jewish Women.

Ex-Senator Gearin speaks from personal observation, experience and knowledge when he says that a senator's politics cuts no figure in the matter of getting appropriations.

Rabbi Wise, formerly of Portland, now of New York, declared recently in an address that the influence of the press exceeds that of school or church.

Still the days of May pass, and the time when congress will adjourn draws near, and yet it makes no movement, or but some slight, indecisive motion.

Correspondent Walter Wellman has discovered that the people of this country are eagerly and almost unanimously in favor of an asset currency.

"Vote 'er straight," says the Salem Statesman. That is, don't think, don't exercise any intelligence, be mere dumb, driven cattle.

1893—Robert C. Winthrop, orator, born in Boston. Died there November 16, 1884.

1850—Henry Cabot Lodge, United States senator from Massachusetts, born in Boston.

1851—Joseph K. Toole, ex-governor of Montana, born in Savannah, Miss.

1850—Sir Charles Barry, architect of the British house of parliament, died in London.

1872—Body of Chief Justice Chase in state in the capitol at Washington.

1870—Women admitted to bar at the University of Pennsylvania.

1893—Governor Pennypacker of Pennsylvania, signed the "press-muzzling" bill.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

ment of the many, will have to depend more and more in future on the votes of the few and not of the many, hence must cease to exist or go out of power for awhile.

There is needed, therefore, as the Louisville paper says, "a class of men who will take the party organization and shape it to popular control, free it from the malignant influences of the men who have no conception of the rights of the opposition, who have no respect for a minority, and little more respect for a majority; men who seek to make the party a machine of their own purposes instead of making it an instrument in the hands of the people."

Mr. T. T. Geer, who was a candidate for representative in the primaries, coming out third in the race.

A noteworthy useful organization of this city, one that is quietly doing an incalculable amount of good, is the Council of Jewish Women.

Ex-Senator Gearin speaks from personal observation, experience and knowledge when he says that a senator's politics cuts no figure in the matter of getting appropriations.

Rabbi Wise, formerly of Portland, now of New York, declared recently in an address that the influence of the press exceeds that of school or church.

Still the days of May pass, and the time when congress will adjourn draws near, and yet it makes no movement, or but some slight, indecisive motion.

Correspondent Walter Wellman has discovered that the people of this country are eagerly and almost unanimously in favor of an asset currency.

"Vote 'er straight," says the Salem Statesman. That is, don't think, don't exercise any intelligence, be mere dumb, driven cattle.

1893—Robert C. Winthrop, orator, born in Boston. Died there November 16, 1884.

1850—Henry Cabot Lodge, United States senator from Massachusetts, born in Boston.

1851—Joseph K. Toole, ex-governor of Montana, born in Savannah, Miss.

1850—Sir Charles Barry, architect of the British house of parliament, died in London.

1872—Body of Chief Justice Chase in state in the capitol at Washington.

1870—Women admitted to bar at the University of Pennsylvania.

1893—Governor Pennypacker of Pennsylvania, signed the "press-muzzling" bill.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

1893—The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

Letters From the People

Don't Knock High Wages.

Portland, May 10.—To the Editor of The Journal.—In a recent issue of The Journal there appeared an article by D. E. Budd, employment agent in which he predicted the continuation of business depression and declares that the laborers' and harvesters' wages during the coming summer and fall will be decreased.

Budd, being an employment agent, supposedly makes his living and profits out of the laboring class, yet he is somewhat ungracious tone denounces the laboring classes, and more especially the farmers, for their high wages.

Such men as he make their living out of the laboring class, yet he is somewhat ungracious tone denounces the laboring classes, and more especially the farmers, for their high wages.

Twenty years after that treaty went into effect Hawaii became frightened and she applied to the United States for annexation.

The treaty of 1875 was made before there was any beet sugar interests in the United States.

It is interesting to take a retrospective glance at the industrial history of Hawaii to show what King sugar, with an American flag market, has done for the islands.

The irrigation plants now in use on Hawaiian sugar plantations cost over $1,000,000.

This kind of agriculture requires capital. The sugar plantations of Hawaii have a combined capitalization of something over $70,000,000.

Capital Required.

Against Prohibition.

Portland, Or., May 5.—To the Editor of The Journal.—In your issue of May 1 "Auntie Booze" attempts to prove that prohibition is a crime.

William Alden Smith's Birthday.

William Alden Smith, United States senator from Michigan, died in Detroit, Michigan, May 12, 1889.

On "market day" in Athens, 83 barrels of a certain brand of flour were sold.

John Day valley, such prospects are discouraging; too much frost.

On "market day" in Athens, 83 barrels of a certain brand of flour were sold.

The Salem Journal says Portland is a great city that is destroying his flock.

If all the people build houses in town this summer they say they are going to have a boom.

Farms in our county continue to sell at very good prices.

Brownsville, situated at the junction of the Calapooyan and the Willamette, says the Democrat.

For several years Albany has used the designation of the Hub of the Willamette, says the Democrat.

The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

KING SUGAR IN HAWAII

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Honolulu, T. H., April 28.—Sugar is king. To Hawaii he is a most indulgent monarch, for he has brought this little group of islands to the point where it is the greatest exporting country of its population on earth.

Hawaii has been growing sugar for nearly a century. By 1875 the production had increased until the annual crop was 12,500 tons.

As half a dozen firms and a dozen or so men control the sugar business, they control the business of Hawaii.

Twenty years after that treaty went into effect Hawaii became frightened and she applied to the United States for annexation.

The treaty of 1875 was made before there was any beet sugar interests in the United States.

It is interesting to take a retrospective glance at the industrial history of Hawaii to show what King sugar, with an American flag market, has done for the islands.

The irrigation plants now in use on Hawaiian sugar plantations cost over $1,000,000.

This kind of agriculture requires capital. The sugar plantations of Hawaii have a combined capitalization of something over $70,000,000.

Capital Required.

Against Prohibition.

Portland, Or., May 5.—To the Editor of The Journal.—In your issue of May 1 "Auntie Booze" attempts to prove that prohibition is a crime.

William Alden Smith's Birthday.

William Alden Smith, United States senator from Michigan, died in Detroit, Michigan, May 12, 1889.

On "market day" in Athens, 83 barrels of a certain brand of flour were sold.

John Day valley, such prospects are discouraging; too much frost.

On "market day" in Athens, 83 barrels of a certain brand of flour were sold.

The Salem Journal says Portland is a great city that is destroying his flock.

If all the people build houses in town this summer they say they are going to have a boom.

Farms in our county continue to sell at very good prices.

Brownsville, situated at the junction of the Calapooyan and the Willamette, says the Democrat.

For several years Albany has used the designation of the Hub of the Willamette, says the Democrat.

The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

The Realm of the FEMINE

When She Dances.

MAUD ALLEN'S dancing, which has set all London agog, is described as a series of rhythmical movements, not a violent exercise as we commonly accept the term.

This form of dancing, together with the art of mimicry, gives to the eye a thought of the music of the composer, for he is thinking of the music as he creates it.

When I usually only vaguely feel when watching a mimic, I am trying, through movement and mimicry, to express clearly and deeply—the thought which is to be conveyed to the wings of the melody.

"I am continually being asked how my dancing has pleased these days. This new art, born of a great and passionate love for the beautiful, came very gradually while I was a student at the Royal Academy of Music.

When I came to London I was known only to a few who had heard of my dancing. My majesty at Marlborough House, London, was the golden gates of all the earth are open to me.

THE housewife is hunting some substitute for potatoes these days. When the old potatoes are too small and the new ones too new.

But it will not be long before our own potatoes and our own strawberries are ready for general use.

Problems of Planters.

Small Change.

How to Make Fudge.

The Daily Menu.

The Retort Intoxicated.

The Salem Journal says Portland is a great city that is destroying his flock.

If all the people build houses in town this summer they say they are going to have a boom.

Farms in our county continue to sell at very good prices.

Brownsville, situated at the junction of the Calapooyan and the Willamette, says the Democrat.

For several years Albany has used the designation of the Hub of the Willamette, says the Democrat.

The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.

The once ridiculed water wagon is becoming a great affair.