This Is "Nemo" Week

Famous Nemo "Self-Reducing" Corsets
NEW MODELS HAVE "FLATNING-BACK"

The Nemo Self-Reducing Corset was the original "reducing" corset. It remains the best. It has never had a rival. There is no substitute for it—not even a good imitation. That is why we sell it and recommend it.

The new models for 1908, with "Flatning-Back," reduce both the hips and the abdomen, giving the "slim figure," with flat back and slender hips. This is something that no other corset can do. These are popular styles:
312—For tall stout figures
313—Same, "Flatning-Back"
314—For short stout figures
315—Same, "Flatning-Back"
516—For tall stout figures
517—Same, "Flatning-Back"
518—For short stout figures
519—With bust supporters
Nos. 312 to 315 are of batiste or coutil, in white or drab. Nos. 516 and 517 are of fine imported French coutil, in white. Nos. 518 and 519 are of mercerized broadened white coutil. All are in sizes 20 to 36.
Every Nemo Corset has the patented "Triple-Strip Re-enforcement"—bones and steel can't cut through. That's one reason why Nemo Corsets outwear all others.

Tattooing in the Navy.
The hideous and barbaric practice of tattooing has been prohibited in the German navy, and very properly," said H. I. Mason of San Francisco, a former lieutenant in the United States navy. "The tattooing needle is dangerous in that it might become the agent for the transmission of disease, and no doubt that was one of the reasons of the action of Germany. I should like to see our government take similar action, as it is high time the foolish youngsters who in their green days of sea service think tattooing smart, should be protected against themselves. In the early days of our navy tattooing was employed as a punishment. A man who deserted and was caught had the letters "D" put in his forehead with the needle, and there it remained for life. Before that the same disgraceful initials were seared into the flesh with a red-hot iron. In this more humane era deserters from the navy are not being visited with such cruelty, their eyes being expunged with a term in jail.
