WRESTLER FIGHTS WITH LUNATIC IN DARKNESS

"Strangler" Smith Has Encounter With Ex-Circus Performer, Who Sinks Steely Fingers in Throat and Struggles—Moulckton Adjudged Insane.

Battling with a violent lunatic in the moonlight in a wood near Tremont was the experience of Charles "Strangler" Smith, a well known local wrestler, last Friday night.

But for Smith's superior knowledge of the wrestling game his crazed opponent would probably have killed the "strangler," as the men fought silently in the lone woods some distance from the hearing of any other person. The man was later arrested and sent to the asylum. His name is John Moulckton, who was for a long time a circus performer.

Smith saw Moulckton hiding in the brush near Smith's house. Calling to the man to inquire the reason of the night visit, Smith received no reply and went up to the crazed man. Failing to receive a satisfactory explanation to his queries, Smith grabbed Moulckton's arm in a hammerlock hold. With his man thus firmly secured, Smith started him toward the car line, 10 blocks distant.

Sinks Fingers in Throat.

While following the narrow trail through the lonely woods, Moulckton suddenly wrenched himself free and seized Smith by the throat. Strong and powerful from his athletic feats as a tumbler and trapeze performer, Moulckton sank his fingers into Smith's throat and threw him to the ground. With demoniacal force Moulckton held his opponent in a grip of iron. At the same time Moulckton endeavored to tear out Smith's eyes with his free hand.

Watching his opportunity, Smith finally managed after five minutes of desperate wrestling on the ground to free himself and get on top of his desperate opponent. Lifting him from the ground Smith once more started on his way with Moulckton as his prisoner. Before reaching the houses which border on the terminals of the carline Moulckton once more wrenched himself free. This time Smith took no chances with the crazy man but seizing Moulckton before the man realized what Smith was doing, the wrestler lifted him bodily above his head and slammed him to the ground.

Mother Appears.

Smith then picked up the man and again started toward the carline. Moulckton began at this time to shout imprecations at Smith and threatened to kill him. Just as they reached a little house near the car tracks the man halted and said that it was his home and threatened to kill Smith if he carried him away from it.

As Smith started onward with the man, Moulckton started calling, "Mother, mother," and a little gray-haired lady came out and begged Smith to leave the man alone. She said that he was her son and at times was unaccountable for what he did. Moulckton had a change of temper at this time and knelt in the roadway begging Smith's forgiveness and asked to be allowed to stay with his mother.

Sent to Asylum.

Remembering the terrible encounter which he had just had with the crazed man in the dim woods and of the danger the man was to the community, Smith was loathe to allow the man to be at large. Smith later, however, allowed Moulckton to stay with his mother and father and the next day swore out a complaint for his arrest. Moulckton was tried before the county court and adjudged insane. He was later removed to the asylum.

Moulckton is the son of a war veteran and lived with his father and mother on their place near Tremont. Moulckton aided his father in tilling their little farm, but the father said that at times he was afraid to cross his son for fear of being killed. Moulckton was an expert trapeze performer and wire walker and traveled with various circuses until a few years ago. He never relaxed his athletic exercises and had a small gymnasium rigged up on his father's premises. Moulckton is about 30 years of age and terrorized the women of the neighborhood by prowling about the lonely district at night.

BROKER'S WIRE OPERATOR SPOTS BUNKO MESSAGE, BUT TOO LATE

George Diehl, who mysteriously vanished yesterday after passing an alleged worthless check for $2,500 on R. P. Effinger, president of the Downing-Hopkins company, grain brokers in the Couch building, is being made the object of a diligent search by the police and detectives. Chief Gritzmacher last night sent telegraphic descriptions of the man to the police of all the cities within a radius of 75 miles, and it is almost a certainty htat he will be apprehended.

Diehl has been in Portland for over two months. He claimed to be in search of an investment and had the prosperous air of a substantial capitalist. Had it not been for the telegraph operator in the Downing-Hopkins office, Mr. Effinger says his suspicions would not have been aroused.

From the beginning of Diehl's acquaintance with Mr. Effinger he has frequently spoken of investing in bonds which the Downing-Hopkins company handles. Saturday about noon he came in and said he had decided to make the purchase. He presented a check for $2,500, Mr. Effinger giving him in return a check on the United States National bank for $1,700, the difference of $800 being the price paid by Diehl for the bonds. Meanwhile Diehl had handed him a telegram purporting to be from the Los Angeles First National bank attesting his financial reputation. After Diehl had departed Mr. Effinger's telegraph operator looked at the telegram and pronounced it a fake. A visit to the Western Union Telegraph company confirmed his assertion.

Diehl had already gone to the United States National bank and had secured the indorsement of the cashier.

When the detectives visited his rooms they discovered that he had packed his belongings some few days ago and had taken them away yesterday morning. Telegrams have been sent to the Los Angeles authorities to ascertain Diehl's status in that city.

CANDIDATE DESECRATED FLAG, SAYS DIVORCE-SEEKING WIFE

A man who, according to his wife, painted the American flag with red paint to carry in a Socialist demonstration in favor of Haywood, and who told her that "he carried enough stuff in his pocket to blow up the city of Portland," is a candidate on the Socialist ticket for county clerk.

The man is Orrin F. Palmerton, who a few months ago figured in a sensational divorce suit brought by his wife, Eva Palmerton. It was in the course of this trial that Mrs. Palmerton told of her husband's decoration of the flag. She said he had been reading about the Haywood trial and he warned her not to open her mail, because one of his letters from Idaho had explosives in it.

Palmerton, on the witness-stand, denied his wife's version of the dynamite story, saying that if he ever made such a remark it was only a joke. He was excused from answering any questions concerning the smearing of the flag, Judge Bronaugh ruling that this had nothing to do with the suit for divorce.

Palmerton served as a soldier in the Philippines, and in passing on the case Judge Bronaugh commented on this fact, saying that if he was guilty of desecrating the flag his offense was much greater in view of the fact that he had once fought under it.

Palmerton is Mr. Fields' only opponent in the race for county clerk, the Democratic nominee having declined to make the race. Mr. Fields apparently is not apprehensive of defeat.

DIPLOMATS MUST HAVE FORTUNES

United States Does Not Pay Representatives Enough to Cover Their Expenses.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)

New York, May 16.—"If a member of a foreign embassy should go before our president in his shirt sleeves the American people would resent it. The kaiser of Germany requires a certain amount of form—maybe more than other countries of Europe. It is also unfortunate, but true, that a man who enters the diplomatic circles should have money. The salary of our ambassadors will not pay the rent."

This was the announcement of Spencer Eddy, recently secretary of the American embassy at Berlin, who arrived in New York today on his way to Argentine republic, where he will take up the duties of United States minister. Mr. Eddy talked of the decision about Dr. Hill, who was recently appointed ambassador to Germany, with frankness. The fact that Dr. Hill is not a wealthy man will work against him in any court, Mr. Eddy fears. He insists that this is an unfortunate condition.

Brilliant Man.

"Dr. Hill is a very brilliant man," Mr. Eddy continued. "Our government will not give an ambassador enough to hold up the honor of his country, and unless he has private means the United States makes a very sorrowful impression.

"I have spent 12 years in diplomatic circles, part of this time in London, St. Petersburg and Berlin. The expenses are about the same in each center; if there is any difference Berlin is more expensive. The fact that other countries maintain regular castles puts the representative of Americans in an uncomfortable position if he cannot do as others are doing. Germany expects the representatives of other countries to maintain dignified and fitting embassies.

Salary Pays Rent.

"When one stops to consider the salary paid by the government it is easy to understand that only about enough is received to pay the rent of proper quarters. This means that the representative must have private means.

"Congressman Longworth is certainly right in his effort to raise the salary of our representatives.

"I am more than pleased with my appointment to Argentine. I understand the climate is good and I think an experience in the Latin countries cannot but be of benefit to me."

Mr. Eddy, accompanied by his wife, a French valet and maid, 18 trunks and a score of dress suit cases, reached New York today on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria. Mr. Eddy expects to remain in New York three or four days, or long enough to find some of his trunks a local transfer company lost.

LEGATION AT LISBON.

Scene of Brilliant Entertainments Given by Minister Bryan.

The official legation of the United States government in the Portugal capital, Lisbon, is on the main avenue of the city, the Avenida da Liberdade. The entrance hall with its handsome stairway is one of the finest in any private palace in Europe.

The staircase is of pink marble with a bronze and steel railing, says a correspondent of Town and Country; the ceiling, supported by white marble columns, is a replica of the one at Chantilly on a larger scale.

There are 16 windows facing on the avenue from a succession of salons; the ballroom is furnished in the Louis XV style and is very elaborately decorated; the main reception-room is in the Louis XVI style and furnished in the same period by the present minister, Charles Page Bryan.

The building is an old palace recently restored in the most elaborate and tasteful French architecture. Minister Bryan has probably entertained on a larger scale than any one in recent years in Lisbon, and his receptions have become famous.

The entire Portuguese royal family have attended a ball at the American legation which both politically and socially was considered a remarkable occasion. It was the first time in sixteen years that Queen Maria Pia, the queen dowager, had attended any social function outside of the royal palace. Among the guests were 100 officers and three bands from the American warships in the harbor and about a thousand of Lisbon's aristocracy.

KILL IVY ONLY, MRS. BELL SAYS

Wife of Physician Declares That Her Only Purpose in Pouring Acid.

Mrs. Dr. James Bell, who doesn't look as though she were an acid thrower but who is accused of having tried to ruin the rose bushes of her next door neighbor, Mrs. Edmond Gaze, by pouring carbolic acid over them, took the stand in Justice Reid's court yesterday afternoon and gave her side of the acid-throwing case.

Mrs. Bell is slight and retiring, wears eye-glasses, and dresses quietly. She said that she had poured carbolic acid out of her upper story window to kill the branches of an ivy vine that had grown through the wall between her place and that of Mrs. Gaze and that some of the acid had accidentally spattered upon the rose bush. She denied that she had the slightest intention of injuring the roses, her object being only to kill the projecting ends of the ivy vine. She admitted that she had never adopted the carbolic acid remedy until after Mrs. Gaze moved into the house, at 770 Irving street, adjoining Dr. Bell's home.

With the testimony of Mrs. Bell the case was adjourned until next Saturday morning when there will be more witnesses. Yesterday morning Mrs. Gaze, Mr. Gaze and various rose experts took the stand. The Bells contended that about 75 cents worth of damage had been done the bush in question. There are other points to settle, however, besides the damage to the rose bush.

Two fences now grace the lawn between the Gaze and the Bell houses. The city engineer has made several trips up there trying to satisfy both parties as to the ground owned by each.

Mrs. Gaze and President E. B. McFarland of the Rose society, had a little spat over things Mrs. Gaze said Mr. McFarland had said and that Mr. McFarland didn't think he said. Mrs. Gaze, it seems, called up Mrs. Bell, representing that she was a newspaper reporter, and in that way found out who had thrown the acid.

DENTAL CLASS WILL GRADUATE THURSDAY

North Pacific College of Dentistry Makes Strong Showing This Year.

With a graduating class of 39 young men from all parts of the northwest and many states of the union, the annual commencement exercises of the North Pacific College of Dentistry will be held at the Heilig theatre, Thursday, May 21, at 8 o'clock. Judge M. C. George will deliver the annual address, Dr. Joseph A. Pettit will confer the degrees, and Dr. Robert C. Coffey will deliver the charge to the graduates. A very pleasing musical program will be rendered.

This year's large class marks Portland as the greatest dental educational center west of Chicago, and the college authorities are gratified at the showing made by the college. Only four of the members of the class are from Portland, while the membership is composed of young men from Missouri, Tennessee, Nebraska and other middle western and eastern states, while the northwestern states and British Columbia are represented.

The class is composed of the following members:

POINTERS FOR FIRST CHURCH ALTERATIONS

Dr. Foulkes and J. F. Ewing, Assembly Delegates, Will Study Eastern Edifices.

The Portland delegates to the Presbyterian general assembly, who leave tomorrow morning for Kansas City, are Rev. J. V. Milligan, Rev. A. J. Montgomery, Elders P. A. Spence and James F. Ewing. With them will be Dr. William Hiram Foulkes and Mrs. Foulkes, the former attending the assembly and continuing his journey as far as New York, the latter, with the children, remaining near Kansas City to visit her mother.

Rev. Tracy B. Griswold, formerly of Albany, will also be of the party. He is a delegate from Willamette Presbytery, of which he is still a member. The delegates are planning to speak a good word for Oregon wherever they go and are carrying with them offerings from the Commercial club, "sufficient," as one of them says, "to stock two or three cities."

Rev. A. J. Montgomery, who is going as far as Pittsburg, has reluctantly relinquished the idea of taking with him a number of lantern slides of the mountains to exhibit. On account of the short time which he will have to spend in each city he found it impracticable to take them.

Dr. Foulkes and Mr. Ewing are sent by the building committee of the First Presbyterian church, and will make it their special object to study church architecture in Chicago, Cleveland and New York, with the purpose of reporting on the best features, especially for the accommodation of the Sunday schools. The character of the additions to be made to the First church will largely depend on their report. Mr. Ewing also plans to attend the International Sunday school convention at Louisville.

Dr. Foulkes will probably preach in Chicago, but has not made plans for public addresses, as the visit is to be made as brief as possible. He will be back in three weeks.

PERSONAL.

Hon. Charles Besserer of Oakland, California, has just returned home after visiting his daughter, Mrs. H. O. Peck. He was editor of the Walla Walla Watchman and Journal in 1890.

J. Whyte Evans, who has been on a business trip to New York and other points east, returned to Portland last evening. He is optimistic as to the business situation, and thinks the Pacific coast one of the most prosperous sections of the country.

Famous Expert Tells

How Fat May Be Removed Rapidly by a Simple Home Remedy Without Causing Wrinkles, Disturbing the Diet or Necessity For Exercise.

"Fat is nothing but unused energy," says a prominent physician, and the man or woman who is burdened with it can easily get rid of it if they wish. All they need is 1-2 ounce of Marmola, 1-2 ounce of Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 2 1-2 ounces of Syrup Simplex; all of which they can get at any good drug store for a few cents. Then let them take one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime until they are down to the weight they want to be.

This simple home receipt is far and away better than any or all the patent or secret medicines, for it reduces the fat safely and harmlessly. The ingredients are in fact beneficial to the system, having both tonic and purifying qualities, and so help rather than distress the stomach. The remedy does not cause wrinkles for it reduces one gradually and naturally, preserving a good outline, and, best of all, needs neither physical exercise to help it do the work, nor does it require any change in diet—one can get results and still take things easy—eating meanwhile just what, when and how he or she pleases. Be sure and get the Marmola in a sealed package, so that you get Marmola and not a substitute.

UNIFORMS COME FROM CHICAGO

Clothing Merchants of Portland Protest Against the Action of Company.

Portland merchants who have been carrying streetcar uniforms have for the past two months found that class of merchandise dead stock. The reason is ascribed to the action of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company's management in giving the uniform business to a Chicago firm. Between $4,000 and $5,000 worth of uniforms are said to be on hand in local stores.

The Merchants' association has taken up the matter and about three days ago a committee waited on F. F. Barber, assistant to B. S. Josselyn, president of the company. A prominent official of the Merchants' association said yesterday that the merchants did not care for the loss of the business as the margin of profit is very small.

"However," he said, "we believe that the company should have given us an opportunity to dispose of our stock. We had no intimation of its intention until the men suddenly quit buying uniforms. Naturally this left all merchants carrying that stock of merchandise without opportunity to dispose of it."

H. C. Wortman of Olds, Wortman & King, while talking of the action of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, said: "These people ought to remember that all their 5-cent fares come from residents of Portland. The Chicago concern does not contribute one cent to the revenue of the Portland street railway company. Where conditions are anywhere near equal the Portland merchants ought to have this business.

"I believe that the streetcar management could have made arrangements with two or more local clothing merchants to furnish uniforms for the company's employes for but little more than the Chicago concern charges.

"In our business we always patronize home industries where possible, even though we have to pay a little more for the article than we could buy it for in the east."

Mr. Barber, President Josselyn's assistant, said that it was his intention to adjust the matter to the satisfaction of the Portland merchants.

COUNTIES TO EXHIBIT AT THE ALASKA FAIR

Oregon Commission Asks Active Cooperation of Every County.

County judges and commissioners of all the counties of Oregon as well as all the commercial organizations of the state have been sent a letter by the Oregon-Alaska-Yukon-Pacific commission in which the commissioners ask for cooperation in making Oregon's exhibit at the Seattle show the greatest state exhibition at next year's big exposition.

The commissioners set forth that Oregon will have the most complete state building at the fair and that the cooperation of the officials in securing thorough and attractive exhibits of Oregon's resources will be imperative. The letter which has been sent by the commission through President Wehrung is in part as follows:

"The expense to your county in collecting such an exhibit will not be large. Get a live man to take hold of the work and push it, bearing in mind that it is quality not quantity that is wanted. After you have gathered your exhibit we will transport it to Seattle, install and maintain it without further expense to your county; we will also place an attendant in charge and will keep in close touch with you during the fair, so that your county will get all the benefit possible in the way of advertising, etc.

"The commission is also having printed a 96-page booklet on the resources of Oregon which will be distributed during the exposition. Two pages of this booklet will be devoted to each county. We also intend to show by moving pictures the farms, orchards, livestock, timber, mountains, streams and everything of interest in each county.

"We must have your help and cooperation in the gathering of your exhibit. If we were compelled to buy these exhibits the state would have to double its present appropriation, but with your assistance we hope to carry out our present plans without asking for any further appropriation."

NAUGHTY ASSOCIATES; POLICE LECTURE WILLIE

Sobbing as though his young heart would break, 11-year-old Willie Glenn was brought into police headquarters last night by his father who said the child was being led beyond his control by boys of loose morals. As the father told Captain Slover of his son's companionship with youthful criminals the little chap's sobs and moans were pitiful.

The juvenile officer was in the station and the lad was turned over to him. From the father he learned that the boy has been motherless for three years and is left the greater part of the time to his own resources. The officer gave the little fellow some fatherly advice and he was taken home after promising to do better in the future.

The ground is 300x600 feet in size, has a ledge 6 to 8 feet wide and is in perfect condition for immediate development and early production.

WHY IT WAS SOLD

The Nighthawk was sold to us for this ABSOLUTELY TRUTHFUL REASON: The leasers had every dollar they owned in the suspended Goldfield bank and had nothing coming in as have those mines which sell stock on installments payable so much per month. Hoping the bank would resume the men held on to their property until now, but litigation having dissipated the last chance of the bank, the Nighthawk was left stranded for funds, though without debt. We have therefore bought the lease and all appurtenances and

EVERY SHARE OF FLORENCE CENTRAL STOCK, SOLD OR UNSOLD, COVERS THIS PROPERTY, TOO.

This gives the Florence Central a lease on the Florence, richest mine in the world, this magnificent property, a claim adjoining the Butte Boys, one at Hart, with a most promising future, and two at Silver Peak, positively proven—six properties, FOUR of known excellence and TWO, the Florence Central and Nighthawk,

WITHOUT A PARALLEL FOR RICHNESS!

Were we seeking only dollars for ourselves we would have kept the Nighthawk a separate mine, BUT WE ARE DETERMINED TO MAKE THIS FLORENCE CENTRAL THE BEST AND BIGGEST DIVIDEND PAYER IN WHICH PORTLAND AND OREGON PEOPLE EVER INVESTED A PENNY, or know the reason why. We know other Goldfield properties bound to pay Portland and Oregon people big profits, but for extravagant results

OAKS FOLKS PRAY FOR FAIR WEATHER FOR FIRST SUNDAY

In spite of the rain and inclement weather yesterday afternoon, the Oaks opened according to scheduled announcement. The gates of the big amusement park were opened at noon, and though it was raining until well into the middle of the afternoon, a large number of patrons braved the elements to go out and see what the park had to offer for the coming season. No admission charge was made because of the surly weather, and the fact that it prevented the opening program being carried out.

If the rain does not spoil things again today the entire program will be carried out as scheduled. The Tyroleans will make their opening appearance and will give two concerts during the afternoon and evening. Owing to an accident with the top of the airdome the big canvass covering was not in place yesterday afternoon, which prevented the singers making their initial appearance. The covering will be up today, however, and the concert will take place.

Harry Breton will make his sensational ride and automobile leap during the afternoon if the aeriel incline down which he drives his automobile to the 25-foot leap through the air is dry enough to make it possible for him to take the risk.

The fireworks which had been prepared for the opening night will be set off Monday night. It is expected that this exhibition will be on a par if not the best ever shown in Portland. Many new pieces have been secured which have never before been produced in the west.

All along the amusement way new specialties have been put in, and the patrons of the place this summer will have some very entertaining amusements with which to while away their vacation times. Judging from the interest taken by the people in the opening yesterday, in spite of the rain, the Oaks will have a firmer hold on the Portland amusement-loving people during the coming summer than at any time during its existence.
