LAMBETH CONFERENCE

Mass Meeting in Trinity.

Following is the full program of the general mass meeting in Trinity church, Wednesday evening, May 20, at 8 o'clock: Chairman, the Rt. Rev. Charles Scadding, D. D., bishop of Oregon; address of welcome, Rev. A. A. Morrison, Ph. D., rector; "What is This Church Doing for the Evangelization of the World?" Rev. Arthur B. Lloyd, D. D., general secretary; "What is the Church of England Doing for the Evangelization of the World?" Ven. Archdeacon Pentreath of British Columbia; "Missions the Measure of Christian Vitality," the Rt. Rev. Franklin S. Spalding, D. D., bishop of Salt Lake. These addresses will be rigidly limited to 20 minutes at the outside.

Formal Session in June.

When the 20th annual convention of the diocese of Oregon of the Episcopal church met yesterday morning it was discovered that legally no convention could be held until June. At the suggestion of Bishop Charles Scadding, the members present formed a committee of the whole and proceeded to transact business as usual, but wholly informally. Bishop Scadding has issued a new call for a convention June 25, which will merely be a "dummy" convention to report on the present convention and thus make all things within the law. Most of the time yesterday was taken up discussing money and how to get it for the many purposes of the church. Bishop Scadding's salary will probably be raised from $3,000 to $3,500. The sum of $7,500 has been paid out for missions and $7,900 collected for this purpose. A warm discussion followed over the objections entered by James Laidlaw, law member from Trinity of the convention, but that it has no more voice in the proceedings than the meekest church that paid almost nothing. A committee of equalization was appointed at the suggestion of Dr. A. A. Morrison, to make this right.

Hospital Not Self-Supporting.

The Good Samaritan hospital and St. Helen's hall are costing $400 a month above their income to maintain, and a hard effort will be made to get funds for this really worthy cause.

Last night church was held the annual meeting of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, consisting of seven chapters.

Reports financial and other otherwise were read and considered.

Tonight the International Clerics will meet in St. Stephen's church, when about 40 delegates will be present.

Bishop Scadding, as chairman, appointed the following committees:

Finance—Rev. H. D. Chambers, James S. Laidlaw.

Constitution and canons—Rev. J. E. H. Simpson, Frank Spittle, Rev. J. E. Joseph, Rev. H. D. Chambers, Rev. S. E. Joseph.

Missions—Rev. William Horstall, Rev. M. Brown, Mr. Purse.

Episcopal officers—Rev. C. Hammond, Dr. Morrison, H. D. Ramadell.

Good Samaritan hospital—Rev. F. C. Williams, J. E. Forsythe, Mr. Amos.

St. Helen's hall—Rev. H. D. Ramadell, Rev. F. O. Jones, C. A. Freeland.

Christmas fund—Rev. George B. Van Waters, J. E. Forsythe, Rev. J. E. Joseph, Rev. H. D. Ramadell, Rev. F. C. Williams, Rev. H. M. Ramsey, R. W. Hastings, Rev. B. G. Lee and Rev. F. C. Williams.

Bishop's Annual Address.

After giving some statistics from his official journal, Bishop Scadding said in part:

"The general convention assembled in Richmond accepted our plea asking that all that portion of Oregon lying east of the Cascades be added to the general board of domestic and foreign missions to become the missionary district of eastern Oregon. I desire to state at the very outset how sincere is my regard in parting with the people of eastern Oregon, from whom I have received no many kindnesses and such loyal sympathy. Gladly would I have continued my ministrations among them and believed that the work of the church could have been better promoted by preserving the integrity of the diocese.

"The parishes and missions in eastern Oregon are our brothers; we were raised together by the same good father in God. Eminent as the action of the general convention was not to separate us in our efforts for the upbuilding of the kingdom, but rather to strengthen both. Local arrangements are now being made regarding title to property. Property and trust funds are now being segregated so that a proper distribution may be made. With Joseph N. Teal representing the Bishop Morrissey, George C. Gilling representing the bishop of Oregon, William Ramsey of La Grande representing the bishop of Eastern Oregon, and the fact that the parishes and missions in legal matters, all matters referring to title to property, trust funds, etc., will soon be legally and happily adjusted.

"The $3,500 paid Bishop Paddock in salary and traveling expenses by the general board is equal to an Episcopal endowment fund of $70,000 at 5 per cent interest so long as eastern Oregon remains a missionary district, and the fact that the parishes and missions there will now be relieved of the burden of the assessments for the bishop's salary forms a great encouragement.

Church Institutions in the Diocese.

"While full reports of our church institutions will be printed in the journal of the diocese, I desire here to express my appreciation of the splendid condition of both the Good Samaritan hospital and St. Helen's hall, and the excellent work done by both.

"The Good Samaritan hospital—Looking over the work of the hospital for a period of 15 years, we find that the growth almost phenomenal. For the year ending May 31, 1892, the number of patients treated was 980. For the year ending May 31, 1907, the number treated was 3,188. Through the bequest of the late Miss Rachel Morris of $5,000, and the generous gifts of $10,000 from Mrs. Lewis of $10,000 from the Gillis family, and $5,000 from the Misses Felling, and other gifts acknowledged in the hospital report, the trustees are enabled to build the central building at once.

St. Helen's hall—Our diocesan school for girls is holding up its excellent reputation. The certificate of college preparatory work at St. Helen's hall is accepted at Wellesley college, and the state universities of Washington and Oregon. But it is not only scholarship that is aimed at, for here the young daughters of the church are surrounded by all the influences of a gentle, refined and cultured Christian home.

The Episcopal endowment fund—

Owing to the inadequate endowment of the Episcopal assessments have still to be made for the bishop's salary. If we were a missionary district this salary and traveling expenses would not be made for the bishop, but we are on the ground and cry over our bump. We must get up and strengthen our Episcopal endowment and as soon as possible pay our whole weight on it. We can do it if we will, and the way to do it is to set about it along the line of some definite plan.

Our policy—

Since the last convention I have visited in company with the Rev. William Horstall every mission in the Coos bay country, and all the organized missions and parishes in other parts of the diocese twice. The individual reports from these places will tell their own story. On the whole the situation while often perplexing is promising. Our best efforts are for more clergymen and more income from which to pay them living stipends. It now costs $600 per month to pay the missionaries already in the field. To meet this we receive $2,000 per annum from the domestic and foreign missionary societies, and the balance from the interest on funds invested by the bishop.

Our policy is not to see how widely the funds can be scattered, or how many men can be appointed, but rather to put men who know how to bring things to pass on fields where something can be brought to pass.

Church the Guardian of Faith.

"Those who look beyond the absorbing problems of our own parishes and diocese may be interested in the present unrest in the church at large with regard to faith and morals. It may be that we cannot trust the bishops, and we cannot trust conventions. We can trust the church, for she is Christ's bride, and he has promised to be with her to the end. She is the guardian of the faith once delivered to the saints," and may be trusted to see to it that in the hazy church of the future she shall not be one jot nor tittle of the precious deposit shall be affected. She dreads with all her loving heart lest the faith which she has received should be lost, and she knows with all the accumulated wisdom of 2,000 years the worthlessness and the transitory nature of many of the nostrums of religion, short cuts to Christian unity, and superficial gospels of "sweetness and light."

"The new may sometimes be good, and after careful testing she absorbs that good, but she knows with the wisdom of experience of the aged that the old is better. It is this feature of the church which provokes the natural man, and often excites the scorn of her adversaries, but which is, nevertheless, among her most precious characteristics. The church is the guardian of the faith, and it is her business to see that it be not mutilated nor diminished.

Secret of Attendance at Public Worship.

"The question is often debated, 'Why do not men go to church?' Various answers are given, all with many grains of truth in them no doubt, but the real answer lies far behind all the various excuses. They do not go to church because they do not love God. If they really loved God, however inadequate the accommodation, they would flock to their heavenly Father's house. The cheapening of religion, the sensational advertisements of popular preaching, people's forums—these and a thousand other expedients may be tried, but at best their success can be but temporary. For why do men not love God except that they have failed to discover that he is lovable? And if they have so failed, may it not be that the fault rests with those who bear the name of God, who are communicants and members of the church? Rightly or wrongly Christ is judged of by his professing followers. The love of the All-Father reflected in the tender kindness of his elect, always wins. Communicants of this church know, as none else can know, the revelation of the Father's love.

The collect for this week is singularly appropriate.

"O Almighty God, who alone can order the unruly wills and affections of sinful men, grant unto thy people, that they may love the thing which thou commandest, and desire that which thou dost promise; that so, among the sundry and manifold changes of the world, our hearts may surely there be fixed, where thou art to be found; through Jesus Christ, our Lord.—Amen."

CALLING OF CONVENTION.

Irregularity to Be Corrected at Later Date.

Before the opening of the convention yesterday forenoon the bishop made the following statement:

"The bishop called the attention of all present to the resolution unanimously passed at the last annual convention and recorded on page 44 of the last journal of convention.

"Resolved, That unanimous consent be given to the bishop to call the next annual convention at such time during the month of May as he shall determine."

"A. A. MORRISON,
S. E. JOSEPH,
H. D. RAMADALL,
Committee."

"After being duly presented by this special committee this resolution was unanimously adopted, and accordingly the bishop called the convention to assemble on this date, May 18.

"The reasons for this change were practical, and had the indorsement of common sense. We desired to have our diocesan convention precede the national clerics, and the primary council of the Eighth department so that our delegates might be present at all three functions without having to make an additional trip to Portland, and also that the bishops of the Eighth department, who were to attend the Pan-Angelican congress, and the Lambeth conference might also be at the Portland convention, and be able to participate in May but impossible if held in June.

"After calling the convention for May 18 and 19 it was discovered, too late to change the date, that this resolution was unconstitutional, for article III says that 'there shall be a convention of this church in this diocese, to be held some time during the month of June, as the bishop may appoint'; the only exception being in the case of 'the prevalence of an epidemic disease, when the bishop shall have power to change the time or place, or both, of said meeting.' Therefore, if any delegate, clerical or lay, so requests, he will call the twentieth annual convention to meet in Portland in the end of June, the constitutional time of meeting, the place and date to be announced by the secretary and a month's notice will be given.

TIME BY WIRELESS WOULD AID MARINERS

Paris, May 18.—A new use for wireless telegraphy has been suggested by Professor Bouquet de la Brye at the Academy of Science. He proposed that the wireless system should be utilized for enabling vessels at sea to find their longitude.

The Eiffel tower in Paris can at present send radio-telegrams to points within a radius of 1,200 miles, which comprises the Mediterranean and a portion of the Atlantic. If a standard time were signaled from the tower all vessels fitted with Marconi apparatus within the radius could fix their longitude by comparing Paris time with their own chronometers, and thus avoid the complicated calculations which are now necessary. The professor also suggested that if a Marconi station were established on the peak of Tenerife, in the Canary islands, which is about 1,600 feet high, all points of the globe might be reached by the wireless time signals and navigation be thus much simplified.

The house has been warned by Chairman Tawney of the house committee that the surplus now in the treasury will be wiped out by June 30, 1909, as at the end of the fiscal year there will be a deficit of nearly $65,000,000.

ARMOUR PINCHED IN CORN BATTLE

Drops Million Dollars When James A. Patten Squeezes the Market.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Chicago, May 19.—In a spectacular battle in the corn pit of the Chicago board of trade J. Ogden Armour is said to have lost millions of dollars when James A. Patten squeezed the big packers, forcing the yellow cereal up to 16 cents.

Armour went down to defeat in his attempt to cover his losses by breaking the Patten corner. It is reported that J. Brandt Walker, the daring young speculator, who recently made a vast fortune in Wall street, jumped into Mousley's fray and dropped a great sum of money. Then followed a scramble by the shorts to find enough corn to make up their delinquencies. Because of the lack of grain the trading was limited, and the shorts could not buy on account of Patten refusing to sell.

Why Overheat Yourself?

Much of your summer pleasure depends upon having a cool and comfortable kitchen. Why not be prepared for hot days before they come?

CONGRESS DOES NOT SPARE COIN

Vast Appropriations Will Cause Large Deficit in National Treasury.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, May 19.—Congress will have appropriated the enormous sum of $1,025,000,000 before the present session ends, thereby earning the title of "billion dollar congress."

There is every indication, too, that one result of this will be a deficit of between $125,000,000 and $175,000,000. Never before has any congress voted such heavy appropriations as a single session. This money is for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1908. Although it is too early to make predictions as to the definite amount of the revenues during that period, some of the members of the appropriation committee declare in their opinion, they will vote the $200,000,000 and no higher.
