

IS MERCY IS JUSTICE

Governor Chamberlain Shows That His Pardon List Represents Not Laxity but True Reconstructive Philanthropy.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Medford, Or., May 19.—Medford's opera-house was completely filled with the enthusiastic audience that greeted Governor Chamberlain at Medford Monday afternoon. Despite the inconvenience of the weather and the inconvenience of the hour, more people could not have been jammed into the hall.

The governor's remarks were well received and he was frequently interrupted with applause. He was introduced by District Attorney A. E. Rhames.

"The governor's defense of his pardon list struck a responsive chord in the audience."

"I have been accused," said the governor, "of gross abuse of the pardoning power. I am accused of having granted 287 pardons during my term of office as chief executive."

"This statement is only partially true. When first elected governor I began a thorough study of the penal system and as a result I stopped the custom of publishing to the world the names of released convicts, whose terms had expired. I did this so that they might have a chance to secure work and begin life anew without being branded as criminals."

"I abolished the system of flogging and other physical punishments inflicted upon prisoners."

"Finally, I abolished the striped suit, as causing unnecessary humiliation."

"Tenders for those pardons are the objects of imprisonment are to punish the criminal, to protect society and to care for the moral welfare of the criminal. If those ends are served, the ends of justice have been met. For that large class of criminals, not hardened offenders, but men ranging from 15 to 25, serving special parole or pardon, which is granted only on the promise of the prisoner and his friends that he behave, report once a month to the prison authorities, and agree to drink no liquor of any kind during his parole."

"While I have signed many pardons, it does not mean that I freed all the pardoned convicts from prison. In many cases men had left the penitentiary many years ago and were granted pardons simply to restore them to the rights of citizenship. Many of the pardons that I have signed were issued to this class of men, who had already served their prison terms and were discharged long before I became governor."

"Many Were Stunned Against."

"Many of the younger prisoners I find have been victims of circumstances, railroaded to jail by the authorities. They were not vicious at heart, nor wicked, and should not be stamped as such and denied a chance at reformation."

"It may be that I have been too lenient with some of these classes, but I would rather help save a dozen such young men and help them on the road to a better life, than to see a score of them rot in prison."

"I have made some mistakes in issuing pardons, perhaps, but the pardon has always been based upon the recommendation of those who prosecuted the prisoner, and it is best to err on the side of mercy."

Sent to No Place for Cakes.

"The publication of the names of those pardoned men will cause many a man striving to lead an honest life, to be discharged, merely because he has been a convict, and turn many a man backward with discouragement to the old life. Is such publication just or right, merely to secure a few votes for a political office by it? If it is, I want no votes secured by such methods."

Chamberlain pictured Calk's complete flop on Statement No. 1, and his present reputation of the principles upon which he secured his nomination, described the handicap Calk would be laboring under in Washington with a party openly antagonistic to its president and predicted his own election as senator in June.

GOVERNOR AT ASHLAND.

There Also He Shows His Mercy Was But Simplest Justice.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Ashland, Or., May 19.—Governor Chamberlain was well received last night at the Chautauqua building by a large audience of local orchestra players and a number of selections. Senator L. L. Mull introduced the speaker. The governor's address was along the lines of his well known views on state and national issues. His audience took kindly to his speech in general.

A feature of his speech was his explanation of his use of the pardoning power and the conduct of the state

LARGER NAVY TO BE PARTY PLANK

Roosevelt Will Try to Force His Policy Down Throat of Republicans.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, May 19.—Adequate military and naval protection for the Pacific coast. This will be one of the planks of the next Republican national platform if Theodore Roosevelt has anything to say about it. And those who have been watching the trend of events are pretty sure that Roosevelt will get into that platform just about what he wants.

The president is more than merely in sympathy with the demand of the far west that the facilities for defense be afforded the Pacific seaboard. He is insistent upon the matter, as a national policy. He believes that just as much consideration should be given to the proper protection of the Pacific coast as the Atlantic. He regards the bays of California, Oregon and Washington as emphatically the interests of the whole union, just as much as are those of Maine and New York.

He would like to see every square on the Pacific made impregnable. He would like to have the western coast as well as the eastern coast, with its docking facilities for our big warships. So long as he is president he will keep plugging away at the progress for legislation in this direction.

More than that he hopes that eventually the United States will have a navy large enough to be able to operate either on both coasts from attack by a hostile fleet. Considering the present state of the navy it would have to operate as a unit against a formidable foe. Were it on the Atlantic when an attack should be made on the Pacific coast, great damage would be wrought before the fleet could reach the scene—unless congress by that time should have carried out his recommendations as to adequate fortifications. With a navy enlarged to the size he wishes, a route could be kept on each coast for such an emergency.

Until the day of the greater American navy, it is the belief of the president that the fleet should be shifted between the two oceans every year or two, and be kept at the highest point of efficiency for any emergency.

These sentiments, the president feels should be incorporated in the Chicago platform for the coming year. He has the enthusiastic support of the delegations from the far west, whether they be pro-Roosevelt or anti-Roosevelt, pro-Taft or anti-Taft.

Moreover, the president will endeavor to pledge the party to the promise made by the senate in the naval appropriation bill was under discussion recently. He had insisted on a program of four battleships this year. The house balked, and so did the senate. The president fought harder than he has ever done for any of his pet policies. He not only sent a special message but he wrote letters to the big men in congress. He summoned them to the White House and they came. The result was that victory for apparent defeat. He really had not expected more than two battleships to be provided for this year. He got the appropriations for these, and the promise that congress would provide for two more each year for the Pacific to Pelican Bay, for Mr. Harriman's use.

Mr. Day is there making preliminary arrangements for the coming of Mr. Harriman and family, and a party of eastern capitalists, who are expected at Pelican Bay shortly after July 1.

It is understood that Mr. Harriman will remain here but two weeks, but his family and party of friends will spend a part of the summer at The Lodge at the hotel at Pelican Bay has always been called.

Some of the improvements are being made at the bay this year. The Harriman party will live in the Lodge, which is a two-story rustic structure, and in the numerous little cabins on the grounds. However, every comfort will be provided.

HARRIMAN COMING TO PELICAN BAY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Klamath Falls, Or., May 19.—C. T. Day, chief electrician of the Southern Pacific, with headquarters at San Francisco, is in this city looking over the private telegraph line built last summer from the main line of the Southern Pacific to Pelican Bay, for Mr. Harriman's use.

penitentiary and the reforms that have been brought about since he took the office of governor. This was called forth by the publication of a full list of those pardoned in a Portland paper.

When the governor finished his explanation the applause plainly showed the effect of his remarks. Many of the delegates to the next Republican platform reached, and that the audience sympathized with the humanitarian and yet practical ideas that moved the governor in the discharge of this part of his official duties.

Governor Chamberlain made many friends by his speech in Jackson county, at Gold Hill tomorrow.

BUSINESS BOOMS AT NEW BUREAU

John Barrett Has Large Staff Furnishing Information to the World.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, May 19.—There is a boom in the business of the international bureau of American republics in sending in queries every day.

Attracted by the ceremonies of the cornerstone laying, in which President Roosevelt, Secretary Root, the representatives of 21 American republics and many others took part, manufacturers all over the western hemisphere are sending in queries every day.

Director John Barrett has announced that if there is anything you want to know about anything in the way of the 21 countries, write and ask. There is a big library and a staff of 25 persons at your service. There is no restriction on questions. They may range from the fodder of the llama to the kind of vaudeville performed down in Argentina or the trade in breakfast food in Chihuahua.

Everything can be construed as commerce in one or another relation, and the bureau is the biggest commercial house west of the Atlantic ocean. It represents a business of $5,000,000 a year. The Latin-American countries' share of this is $2,000,000,000, the portion belonging to the United States last year was $600,000,000.

In the end it is believed that all this makes for peace. For the time being the bureau is the biggest commercial house west of the Atlantic ocean. It represents a business of $5,000,000 a year. The Latin-American countries' share of this is $2,000,000,000, the portion belonging to the United States last year was $600,000,000.

KILLED WHILE PROTECTING GIRL

Chicago Man Resents Insult to Young Woman by Greek and Is Stabbed.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Chicago, May 19.—Frank Knight is dead today, the victim of an assassin because he volunteered to protect a woman from the insults of a band of Greek ruffians.

Knight was walking on a south side street with a party of friends, of which a young woman was a member. As they approached a street corner they passed a crowd of Greeks, one of whom insulted the woman. Knight struck the offender a stinging blow, knocking him down, and then ran under a viaduct to escape the ruffians. He was boarding a car when the man he felled with his fist thrust the point of a dagger into his breast. As Knight all over bleeding and dying, the Greeks took to their heels and have not been captured. The woman witnessed the tragedy.

RETURNS POINT TO DEFEAT OF DUBOIS

Result Is Pivoted on Figures From Idaho's Big Interior County.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Boise, Ida., May 19.—Yesterday's Democratic primaries indicate the defeat of the Dubois faction of the party generally over the state. In Ada county anti-Dubois tickets were elected in 20 out of 21 precincts, including every precinct in Boise. Nez Perce, Elmore and Boise counties were carried by the anti-Dubois faction and Dubois carried Washington county. The result in Idaho county, on which the control of the Twin Falls convention depends, is still in doubt. Idaho county, the largest in the state, includes the wildest portion of the interior and its greatest settlements. Returns will be delayed consequently.

THE TRUTH ABOUT KIDNEY TROUBLE

Kidney trouble is inflammation of the kidneys due to excess in eating and drinking, etc.

Backache is seldom an evidence of inflammation of the kidneys. Smokiness or sediment that can be seen with the naked eye are not usual evidences of a very serious stage of inflammation. Both often show in people otherwise well and commonly disappear with the ordinary care and live carefully and the ordinary care of kidney trouble will disappear the first few weeks.

If it persists, or there should be continued evidence of disordered kidneys, it should demand the attention of the patient in view of the position taken by the writer in his book, "The Kidney Trouble," which shows that in a month the inflamed condition becomes chronic and incurable.

It will be seen through all the above that the real trouble is inflammation of the kidneys. While there are many kidney stimulants they have been abandoned by physicians, for they now know that none of them carry repair to inflamed kidneys.

The late John J. Fulton was the first man in the world to discover an emollient that reaches the kidneys. It reverses the old treatment. Instead of irritating the inflamed kidneys with stimulants, the effect is the gradual reduction of the inflammation and for the first time kidney disease, both in the first and second stages, is amenable to treatment. Fulton's Remedy compounds abating the inflammation in about 87 per cent of all cases.

DENTAL WAR IS OVER!

And we are at liberty to say to the public that our challenge has not been accepted as yet by any of our professional friends. However, our offer of $1,000 to any Dentists, barring none, who will compete with us in painless operations of the mouth is still good. We are thorough experts in every branch of the Dental profession and now stand ready to comply with the above. The Dental profession is constantly proclaiming we cannot and do not do what we say.

The fact that we are purchasing more Dental chairs and adding more room to our already large quarters fully demonstrates that there is merit in our workman-ship. We extend an earnest request to all our former patients to kindly call and have their work, done by us, looked over, and if there is anything wrong will gladly be done over without charge.

We want to say to every man, woman and child in Portland and vicinity that we have been in the practice of Dentistry for over 17 years in some of the leading cities of the East, and we have not an office where there is so much professional jealousy as exists in this city.

To substantiate our ability and knowledge of the Dental profession, again we extend the above challenge to all Dentists.

All of our offices are of the high class, having installed all of the latest appliances and formulas for hygienic and antiseptic purposes, and therefore we invite the public to call at any one of our offices and investigate and find out for themselves whether we are financially, morally and professionally qualified to carry out any assertion we may make.

It is a well-known fact that whenever a thorough expert enters a new field in any line his professional friends will knock at his door.

We wish to add that we stand ready to testify and prove to the public that we have never met with one misfortune among the tens of thousands of our patients. Our phenomenal success is due to honest and high-class work at most reasonable prices. Thus, the reason jealousy exists.

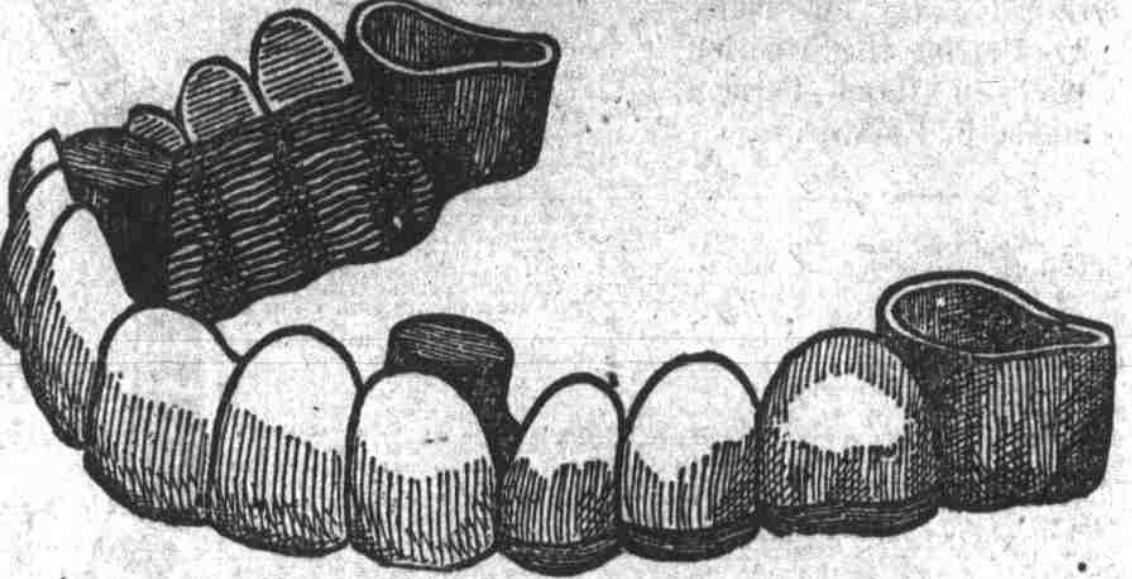

All our work is backed up by a protective guarantee. Nervous people and those afflicted with heart weakness can have their teeth extracted, filled and bridges applied without any pain or bad results by our improved methods.
