

WHITNEY'S PLEA TO THE PEOPLE

First District Democratic Candidate Defines Position on Issues.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Albany, Or., May 28.—J. J. Whitney, Democratic candidate for congress in the First district, is making an active campaign, and expects to poll a heavy vote in the June election. The political career of Judge Whitney has been long and honorable. A man of much sagacity and political intelligence, he has been honored time and again by being elected to various county offices, four times to the state legislature. He has served two terms as district attorney and one term as judge of the county court. Judge Whitney's position on the issues of the day is set forth in a recent address, which was in part as follows:

Representatives Arraigned.
"The time was in this state when our representatives in congress secured the necessary aid to improve our harbors, which for years have been totally neglected. Appropriations for Yaquina, Tillamook and Coos bays and other points were made by congress, and the money was used for improving and deepening the waters at the entrance of the bays. You will not be able to secure the appropriations you so much desire, so long as you vote for men whose interests are adverse to yours. This is a business transaction, and your politics ought not to conflict with your best interests."
"At the last session of the legislature there was appropriated $300,000, on condition that congress would appropriate a like amount."
"I have been informed that our representative in congress was present when the legislature had the question before it, and that he promised to look after a like appropriation in congress. Nothing has been done by him except to write a letter to some gentlemen in Portland to furnish him some data, and saying there would be a bill prepared to be introduced in congress at the next session asking for said appropriation. How is it, and why is it, that it takes so much time to get ready to prepare a bill to ask for this very much needed appropriation? That should have been done as soon as that order of business had been reached after our worthy member had been sworn into office."
Interstate Commerce Commission.
"The laws of congress should be amended so as to give greater powers to the interstate commerce commission. The railroads have been discriminating against the people living inland and at points on the lines of the railroads. They have charged for carrying freight to the city of Portland and then back on the same road to the point of destination. The laws should be so framed that this commission could be organized with powers to regulate the charges of the railroads, so far as the long and short hauls of the roads are concerned, giving said commission the power to fix what the railroads shall charge and no more for the carrying of passengers and freight."
"The soldiers should receive from the government sufficient aid to provide for them in a liberal way during their declining years."
"The election laws of this state have been materially changed in the last few years. The initiative and referendum amendments were adopted in 1902, and at that time, supported those amendments for the reason that I believed they would give more power to the people. In 1904 the primary election law was enacted. In 1905 the act was passed called Statement No. 1. This act attempted to put in force the doctrine of both of the old

FIRST MEETING IN GEM STATE

Episcopal Diocese of Idaho Will Meet at Boise Next Week.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Boise, Idaho, May 28.—On next Tuesday the Episcopal diocese of Idaho will open its annual convocation in this city. It is expected a large number of people will be in attendance and a highly interesting program, has been prepared for the occasion. At the last convocation of the general assembly the diocese of Idaho was created and this will be the first meeting under the new order of things. Seven clergymen of national prominence in the church will be present and take part in the program. The convocation will be held in the beautiful Bishop Tuttle churchhouse recently erected in honor of the famous missionary after whom the structure was named. Bishop Funtsten is laying extensive plans for the coming convocation and the success of the meeting is assured.

political parties, the direct election of a United States senator by the vote of the people. This, I think, is a good law and it should be obeyed."
The Question of Party.
"It is not true that a man must belong to the majority party in order to secure the legislation desired by the people. I have been a member of the Oregon legislature four different times, and at each time I belonged to the minority party. I never saw a time that could not be made respectable by having nor that members of the majority party voted against my measures because I belonged to the minority party. A man of character and standing who has been elected to congress will receive that kind of reception from his fellow members that is due to his position, having no regard to politics."
The Tariff.
"My opponent, the Hon. W. C. Hawley, advises his constituents to 'stand fast' on the subject of the laws of protection. The Democratic party stands for a revision and a lowering of the tariff to the point of revenue only. The Republican party has decided on the question of the revision and the lowering of the tariff."
"A Republican, Mr. McCleary, has figured out the amount per capita that each and every man, woman and child pays for the benefits of the laws of protection as they now stand upon our statute book. The amount is $3.11. This is a bonus. If you will multiply that by the number of inhabitants of the entire United States you will find that the people of this country, including the unprotected industries, pay tribute to the protected industries in round numbers about $250,000,000."
"I warn you that you will not get any relief until you take this matter in your own hands and correct this evil by electing men to congress who will represent your cause honestly and faithfully and who will not be advising people against their interests for the purpose of having a stand-in with the corporations for the purpose of securing a portion of the spoils to use in carrying elections."
"The question for the voters to determine is will you stand by the trusts or will you vote for equal rights under the law."

Voters Attention!
Do you believe in education? Do you want a state university? If so, vote "Yes" No. 314 on the official ballot on election day. The passage of this bill will increase your taxes a little more than two cents if you pay on $1,000 worth of property. All progressive citizens should support the bill.
