LAST REPUBLICAN RALLY ON EAST SIDE

Judge Webster, Stapleton and Cole Speak in Burkhard Hall.

Republicans closed their east side campaign last night with a rally at Burkhard hall at which James Cole and George W. Stapleton were the principal speakers.

There was a large audience gathered to hear the speakers who spoke for support of the straight ticket from United States senator down to constable. Mr. Cole urged the voters to cast the ballot for Cole for senator, making the old party argument that no other man could go to Washington and gain anything for the state.

Mr. Cole spent the most of his time, however, in talking of the election of E. L. Stevens for sheriff. He contended that Stevens was not entitled to any great deal of honor or laudation for having done his duty in regard to closing the dens of the city and county.

Fishwheels Not Destructive Says David Starr Jordan

President of Leland Stanford Junior University Investigated Columbia River in 1880. What He Wrote on the Salmon Crisis.

Leland Standard Junior University

Mr. H. D. McGuire, Portland, Or.

Dear Sir: In response to your questions of March 29, permit me to say that it is now fifteen years since Dr. Gilbert and I studied the salmon problem for the United States Fish Commission.

Regarding the young fish, I have changed my former opinion, since I discovered, through the researches of Dr. Gilbert, that there are no female fish among them.

I do not know that wheels or traps are any more destructive than any other agency which destroys the fish in equal numbers.

The problem in fish protection is simply to devise some means to limit the number of fish caught. This could be done by forbidding use of wheels or traps of all kinds, or seines, by limiting fishing season, by preventing fishing on certain days, or in several other ways now under discussion.

I do not know of any reason, however, why the wheel is any worse than any other contrivance catching the same number of fish.

Very truly yours, DAVID S. JORDAN, President.

Gillnets catch 65 per cent of all salmon. Fishwheels, 5 per cent. Unprejudiced legislation would regulate the most destructive—GILLNETS.
