NO CORPORATION INFLUENCE CAN STEM TIDE IN FAVOR OF GEO. E. CHAMBERLAIN

PEOPLE'S CANDIDATE DOESN'T FEAR ENEMY

Tomorrow Will Decide Whether Oregon Is With Former Standard Oil Attorney For United States Senator or Our Loyal Governor.

Voters of Oregon will declare tomorrow their choice for United States senator. All indications point to the conclusion that George E. Chamberlain will receive a decisive majority of the people's votes.

Chamberlain's record is as nearly flawless as it is possible for records to be. Men are only mortal and must err; but impartial observers acknowledge that in his official life Governor Chamberlain has traveled as nearly on the level and has squared his acts as closely by the plummet as mere men can do these things.

No Republican who has voted for Chamberlain in the past has had occasion to regret it. None will regret it who votes for him tomorrow. The man who has made a good governor will make a good senator. His unblemished integrity, his acknowledged ability, the firmness and fidelity of his stand for the rights of the people, indicate the possession of the qualities which would win him distinction in the United States senate.

H. M. Cake, on the other hand, has no public record save that which he has made in his two campaigns for senator. Within two years he has flopped four times in his attitude toward Statement No. 1, the most important issue, as he himself admits, which has ever confronted the people of Oregon. While he advocated that principle before the recent primaries, he abandoned it afterward. He now professes to be in favor of Statement No. 1, yet does not insist upon the election of a Statement No. 1 legislature. In a word, he faces both ways.

This is the whole of Mr. Cake's public record. It is the record of a straddler and a weakling. It bespeaks vacillation, lack of conviction and willingness to sacrifice a great principle in order to gain his own ends.

If Cake should be elected he would be dominated and controlled by Senator Bourne. Cake would be simply the tail to the Bourne kite. Who then would care for Oregon's interests at Washington?

The United States senate is no place for a weak man. Oregon needs a senator who will be strong, alert, dependable, loyal at all times to the interests of the state.

Such a man is George E. Chamberlain and that is why he will be elected.

W. M. CAKE'S ESTIMATE REALLY FORECASTS GOVERNOR'S VICTORY

That the Republican vote for Chamberlain for senator will approach the proportions of a landslide is practically admitted by W. M. Cake, chairman of the Republican State Central committee. While still claiming his brother's election, W. M. Cake's outside estimate of his majority is only 10,000, notwithstanding the fact that the normal Republican majority in Oregon in past campaigns has been from 30,000 to 40,000.

It is a well-known fact that three fourths of the voters who have come into the state since the last election are Republicans, so that the party majority should be even greater than it was in 1906. Nevertheless Chairman Cake claims victory for his brother by only 10,000, thereby admitting that at least 20,000 Republicans will vote for Chamberlain. This admission is to all intents and purposes an admission of defeat.

Private Estimate Differs.

In private conversation W. M. Cake admits that his public estimate is far beyond his expectations. Coupled with this is the fact that in order to reach the estimate which he caused to be published it was necessary for him to claim a majority in those counties which two years ago gave Chamberlain a heavy balance of votes. In addition he has laid claim to other counties which everyone, even the most radical Cake supporters, do not hesitate to place in the Chamberlain column.

For instance Baker county gave Chamberlain two years ago a majority of 690. Linn county was also in Chamberlain's favor in nearly an equal sum. State Chairman Cake claims the first of these counties this year by 250 and the latter by 350. Nearly everyone concedes Clatsop to Chamberlain by 200 at the least. Cake places his estimate there in favor of his brother at 200.

In addition, W. M. Cake lays claim to Multnomah by 2,500. It was a Chamberlain county two years ago by over 200. There are numerous other counties in the state where the Republican chairman's figures are as distressingly out of proportion.

Sweek's Figures Conservative.

On the other hand, the estimate of 5,300 majority made by Chairman Sweek for Governor Chamberlain has been computed from the most conservative figures obtainable from every district in the state. No preposterous claims have been made, the estimate being based on figures taken from a careful study of the sentiment expressed in favor of either one or the other of the two senatorial candidates.

Notwithstanding Chairman Cake's claims for his brother both in Multnomah county and the state at large, Chamberlain money both on the result in this county and in the state is going begging. Even money on Chamberlain has been offered with no takers.

Cake Men Demand Odds.

At a down-town cigar store last night $350 was necessary to place on Chamberlain's chances to be elected to induce a bet of $200 from a Cake adherent. A prominent real estate dealer of Portland wagered $1,000 on Chamberlain, but was forced to place it against $900 in order to close the bet.

In addition to the sums mentioned there was an abundance of Chamberlain money which found no takers. Even Chairman Cake's estimate of 2,500 majority in Multnomah county was not inducement enough to the Cake followers to bet even money that Chamberlain would not carry the county.

Pay Attention to Your Ticket

If you wish to make George E. Chamberlain United States senator, vote only for those legislative candidates who are pledged to Statement No. 1. Legislators who have taken this pledge will be bound to carry out the will of the people and will vote for the people's choice for senator.

Elsewhere in this issue is a list of the legislative candidates of both parties, showing how each one of them stands. Cut out the list and take it with you to the polls. It will show you how to vote.

Remember that if you want Chamberlain for senator, you must vote for Statement No. 1 legislative candidates. Unless the legislature is pledged to Statement No. 1, the bosses, not the people, will choose the senator.

CONFERENCE REPORT IS VICTORIOUS

La Follette Filibustering Ends and Congress Adjourns Shortly Before Midnight—Bourne Against Currency Bill.

Fairbanks Recognizes Aldrich in Spite of La Follette's Objections—Hale's Motion Carries by Large Majority.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)

Washington, D. C. May 30.—Senator La Follette, champion, on Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill, 18 hours, 20 minutes.

Senator William Vincent Allen, of Nebraska, on repeal of the silver purchase clause of Sherman law, 14 hours.

Senator Thomas H. Carter, of Montana, on river and harbor bill by a filibuster of several hours on the last day of the session, killed the measure.

Senator Carmack, of Tennessee, with the aid of senate Democrats, killed the ship subsidy bill.

Senator Gorman, of Maryland, led senate Democrats in a filibuster that killed the Force bill.

Washington, May 30.—Both house and senate this afternoon adopted a resolution to adjourn sine die at 11:50 o'clock tonight.

Washington, May 30.—The conference report on the Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill was adopted by the senate a few minutes before 5 p. m. today and the La Follette filibuster was ended. The vote was 43 in the affirmative and 22 in the negative. All of the Democrats and the following Republicans voted against the bill:

Borah and Heyburn of Idaho, Bourne of Oregon and Brown of Nebraska.

The closing moments of the debate were exciting in the extreme. Senator Gore, the blind senator from Oklahoma was holding the floor until Senator Stone of Missouri could get a rest. Mr. Gore stopped speaking and took his seat 4:25 p. m., thinking Mr. Stone was in the chamber. The Missourian, however, did not expect him to conclude so soon, and was not there, nor was Senator La Follette present. He expected to try to get recognition later in the evening after Mr. Stone had yielded the floor again.

Immediately Senator Aldrich demanded the report of the committee pending a motion to adopt the report, but before the secretary called the first name Senator Heyburn endeavored to secure recognition.

Proceeding under an order adopted in the heat of the debate, the secretary had already begun to call the roll and Vice-President Fairbanks ruled Mr. Heyburn out of order.

Heyburn Angry.

This made the Idaho senator angry and when Mr. Aldrich demanded the regular order, the former shouted: "Don't raise such a row until you hear what I have to say."

The roll call proceeded. In the mean-

THE QUEEN AND HER ATTENDANTS

KING REX AND QUEEN FLORA WILL RULE ROSE CITY DURING FESTIVAL THAT CONTINUES ALL THIS WEEK

Hurrah! Portland's in the lead.

Tomorrow spells the first of the Rose Festival. Los Angeles held her celebration; San Francisco welcomed the fleet; Seattle and Tacoma had their day of jollifications, but none of them had the resources to hold her own week of gaiety on her own resources.

Portland is going to show them how to do it tomorrow and Tuesday and the next day and so throughout the week.

She hasn't depended on the fleet or on conventions or on any other one thing. But she has banked on the finest roses in the world and on the public spiritedness of her people and the pride of the people of Oregon.

She knows that Portland has the goods. And she is going to show the people of the northwest the best six days fun they ever had—fun and sport and pleasure and—roses.

That's why the whistles will all blow at high noon tomorrow and why the bells will ring a welcome to Rex Oregonus, king of the carnival. It is to be a week devoted to beauty and prosperity. Did you think the northwest suffered from that little panic last fall? Come to Portland and see. It's going to be worth your while.

Squadron of Warships.

Ships? A whole squadron of them including the newest, fastest and largest of the protected cruisers—Rear-Admiral Swinburne's flagship the Charleston.

Are your eyes hungry for the sight of a blue jacket? There'll be 1,500 of them in Portland all the week.

Parades? Yes, automobile, carriage, flower, electric, more parades than you ever dreamed of before.

And roses? Great bushes of them, covering the houses with the pink and white and yellow and red flowers and blooming in all the parks and on the lawns and boulevards like dandelions in the May sunshine.

The Yorktown and Charleston of the fleet will arrive in Portland harbor at about 9:30 this morning.

"ROLL OF HONOR CORNER."

The Portland Admen's league is going to see that the executive officers of the cruisers Charleston and Yorktown and the torpedo flotilla are made to know that Portland welcomes them. The admen will have places of honor for the commanding officers at their banquet Monday night.

No formal entertainment of the naval officers will be made today, but the Commercial club at Fifth and Oak has offered the freedom of its handsome new rooms and building to the officers and there will be many private entertainments in their honor.

The torpedo boat destroyers Preble and Perry and the torpedo boats Farragut, Fox and Davis are believed to be off the Columbia river bar and will reach Portland tonight or early tomorrow morning.

Tomorrow Rex Oregonus and his retinue will be taken to either the Yorktown or the Charleston and will be brought to the city at high noon amid the blowing of whistles and ringing of bells. He will be escorted to the city hall, where Mayor Lane will turn over the keys of the city and will assure the king of his complete ascendency over the dominion of Portland for this week. From the city hall the parade, which will include three companies of cadets from the Hill Military academy, the Hunt club and Junior Hunt club and other organizations, will pass the reviewing stand and disband at the Cornelius hotel, where the king will have his royal suite.

The identity of the king is being kept a profound secret and will not be revealed until the grand ball at the Armory Friday night.

Queen of the Festival.

The queen of the festival is to be Miss Carrie Lee Chamberlain, daughter of Governor George E. Chamberlain, and the second lady of the state, socially. Miss Chamberlain is a very charming young woman, with much of the tact and the grace of manner of her father, the governor, and as Queen Flora she will rule over her flowery kingdom with a wand of roses.

As maids of honor to the queen the Misses Jeanette Scott, Freda Kirkland, Mellie Franzen and Mildred Morgan will attend Flora and will ride with her in her state chariot in the various parades in which she will appear. They will also attend her in her loge on the reviewing stand and at the grand ball Friday night.

Tuesday morning will see the first day of the competitive exhibition of roses under the direction of the Rose society in the Oriental building at the Lewis and Clark exposition grounds. From this morning on members of the society will be in the building and will care for all roses and flowers that are sent there. It is especially desired that the flowers be sent to the Oriental building or to the members of the collecting committees before 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, so that everything may be in readiness for the opening of the exhibition.

Gatherers of Roses.

The committee for rose gathering for the Rose society is as follows:

Mrs. John Minto, chairman; Mrs. Jerry Bronaugh, Willamette Heights; Mrs. A. C. Panton, Portland Heights; Mrs. Walter Cook, Irvington and Holladay Park addition; Mrs. I. Van Duyn, Twenty-second to Cornell road, Glisan to Northrup; Mrs. E. A. Baldwin, Nineteenth to Twenty-second, Glisan to Lovejoy; Mrs. C. R. Stout, Albina and Holladay addition; Mrs. Killingsworth, Killingsworth addition and Piedmont; Miss Matthews, at St. Helen's hall, King's Heights to Washington.

First Parade Tuesday Night.

Tuesday evening will come the first large parade of the festival—that known as "The Spirit of the Golden West," including 20 floats representing many of the wealthiest communities in the northwest, the industries of various sections of the country and some of the historical events of Oregon. This parade alone represents an expenditure of $20,000. It will be brilliantly illuminated with electric lights and torches. The route to be followed by it is:

The starting point will be at the Atkinson school and from there will proceed on Thirteenth street to Stark, on Stark to Twelfth, on Twelfth to Morrison, on Morrison to Seventh, on Seventh to Alder, on Alder to Sixth, on Sixth to Yamhill, on Yamhill to Fifth, on Fifth to Morrison, on Morrison to Third, on Third to Couch, on Couch to Sixth, on Sixth to Ankeny, on Ankeny to Seventh, on Seventh to Stark, on Stark to Sixth, on Sixth to Oak, on Oak to Fourth, on Fourth to Washington, on Washington to Seventh, to Morrison, on Morrison west to the reviewing stand on the Pennoyer block, out to Twelfth, and there disband.

WILL SPEND $1,200,000 ON NEW CARLINES IN CITY

More than $1,200,000 in improvements and extensions will be added this year to the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company's investment in Portland, in addition to the usual expenditures for maintenance and operation. Detailed plans for all this work were completed in conference with the New York and Philadelphia owners of the property during President B. E. Josselyn's visit in the east, and he returned with the budget in his pocket, but not until yesterday afternoon did he find time to outline the facts for The Journal.

It is said no greater compliment could be paid a city at this time by eastern capitalists. The steady growth of Portland and its substantial improvements made in the last two or three years, continued unceasingly throughout the period of the late financial stringency, have placed it in the forefront of the country's prosperity centers.

Eastern capitalists regard this city most favorably for investment, and President Josselyn on his trip east was able to show the owners of Portland's streetcar and electric light properties that they could safely place a large investment here, regardless of the results of political conventions or elections.

Many City Extensions.

The Portland railway division gets $477,500 out of the total appropriation. With this money a large number of short extensions of the streetcar lines in the city are to be made, two new clubhouses for the conductors and motormen are to be built, new fenders will be placed on all cars, air brakes will be put on 60 of the streetcars now in service, 20 new closed cars will be added to the equipment, feed-wire extensions will be made and a large amount of track-building will be done.

An addition to the Piedmont barn will be built to accommodate largely increased equipment. The Grand avenue bridge will be built. Tracks will be raised on East Burnside street, and passing tracks will be put in on the Rose City Park line.

New Vancouver Ferry.

There will be a new ferry boat built for the Vancouver line. It will be a modern craft and will obviate the present necessity of laying off the service on this line at regular intervals to permit of inspection and overhauling. The Vancouver trestle will be riprapped.

The various extensions of streetcar tracks on the Portland railway division for this year will aggregate about five miles. Some of these extensions are already under way. There will be an extension of about two miles built for the Swift packing plant. This line will leave the Killingsworth avenue line at Patton avenue and extend to Columbia boulevard. The extension awaits the granting of a franchise on the necessary streets. It is said there will be a county road put in between Columbia boulevard and the killing plant on the Columbia river bottoms.

Other city extensions now under way or to be started will be made up as follows:

Extend Lines in City.

East Glisan from Twenty-eighth street eastward; on Williams avenue from Alberta to Killingsworth; on Chapman from Spring to Elizabeth; East Morrison from Union to Seventh; on Williams from McMillan to block 59; on Jefferson from Fifth to Chapman; on Third from Main to Hall; on Elizabeth from Chapman to Twentieth; on Killingsworth avenue from Union to Patton; on Northrup from Twenty-fourth to Twenty-fifth.

The Grand avenue line will be reconstructed from Stark to Everett, and the new intersection at East Morrison and Grand avenue will be completed. East Morrison street will be filled from Seventh to Ninth streets, in connection with the new bridge to be built there. An extension will be made on Goldsmith near Montgomery. Extensions will be made on Alberta street,

LABOR ON TRAIL OF UNCLE JOE

American Federation of Labor Through Samuel Gompers Sounds War Cry and Looks for Scalp of the Dictator of the House.

Must Try to Defeat This Type of "Brutal Autocrats" Is Cry of Leader of American Federation of Labor.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)

New York, May 30.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor issued the following appeal to the 4,000,000 organized workingmen and farmers of the country to unite on the political field to prevent the reelection of Speaker Cannon of the house of representatives:

"No member of congress can complain that he is in ignorance of the desires of his constituents, or that he has failed to receive warning that labor and its friends intend to elect only those who have promoted and voted for the legislation demanded.

"Many congressmen plead that under the domination of our genial Uncle Joe Cannon it is impossible to get these bills before the house. They assert that Speaker Cannon holds the house in an iron grip; that he will not allow a bill to come to a vote if he does not wish to do so; that no matter how sincere their desire to pass these bills, Uncle Joe will not give them a chance.

"The workers and their friends will insist in the coming campaign that candidates pledge themselves to vote for certain measures regardless of party affiliations. If we had 25 or 50 members who would not obey the party whip, but would stand fearless and independent, obeying the wishes of their constituents—then we might hope to defeat the Uncle Joe type of brutal autocrats and secure a speaker who would perform his duty to the people and serve their interests by permitting full freedom of debate and full opportunity for passage of legislation.

"Candidates who receive the support of the workers will have to pledge themselves to secure new rules in the house, which will permit the business of the people to be transacted.

LONESOME DAY FOR CLEVELAND

Ex-President Passed Memorial Day in Society of Specialist and Nurse.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)

Lakewood, N. J., May 30.—Grover Cleveland, the only living ex-president of the United States, passed a lonesome Decoration day. A fierce downpour of rain continued all day. Mr. Cleveland was attended only by Dr. Lockwood, the stomach specialist, and the trained nurses. Mrs. Cleveland is still at Tamworth, New Hampshire, where she spent yesterday with her children and her mother. She is expected back tomorrow.

It is rumored in Lakewood that if the weather permits an effort will be made to take Mr. Cleveland to New Hampshire next week.

This rumor is current despite the fact that the ex-president has shown little or no improvement this week. It is thought that the change from New Jersey climate to that of the north may afford temporarily at least, some benefit.

Easterday Resigns.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Olympia, Wash., May 30.—J. H. Easterday, a member of the state tax commission, has presented his formal resignation to Governor Mead, to take effect as soon as his successor can be appointed and qualify. Mr. Easterday retires to become a candidate for attorney-general, although inability to agree with the two other members of the board upon important matters of taxation also influenced his decision.
