SOCIETY

SOOCIETY has been kept busy at the golf links the past week. The tournament opened Wednesday and the clubhouse has been a popular place since then. There have been several luncheon and taking tea there every day. Last night closed the tournament with a good deal of safety and there were several parties dining at the club and dancing later. The out-of-town guests who came from Seattle were well entertained.

Other interest was centered in the fleet festivities at Seattle, and Portland was bravely represented at the sound. The reception and ball brought out many guests and were smart affairs.

Society events chronicled in the daily issues included a bridge party given Monday by Mrs. Helen Cardwell and a large bridge party Wednesday and five hundred party Thursday given by Mrs. George W. Bates and Mrs. A. E. Butterfield at the former's home. The baby home tea was well attended and many prominent society matrons left their aid in welcoming the guests.

The Rose Festival activities this week are occupying the chief attention and there will be little entertaining of any magnitude aside from these public and semi-public affairs. Of course the ball Friday night will be the smartest affair of the week.

There is a good deal of curiosity shown in the identity of the Rex Oregon who will not unmask until the night of the ball. The choice of the queen was a pretty compliment to the chief executive of the state and Miss Carrie Lee Chamberlain will make a charming little queen. Miss Chamberlain is the third daughter of the Governor and Mrs. Chamberlain. The two other ones are married. She is a pretty blonde. She has selected as her maids of honor four girl friends from Irvington: Miss Jeannette Scott, Miss Freda Kirkland, Miss Mildred Morgan and Miss Nellie Franzen. Two little tots, Adelaide Richardson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Richardson and Irene Barnes, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Barnes will be the train bearers. The rest of her escort is furnished by the carnival management. The festivities will begin tomorrow with the arrival of Rex Oregon and his escort at high noon, and their procession through the decorated streets and the arches of welcome. In the evening there will be the feast of lanterns. Tuesday will be children's day and the opening of the rose exhibit at the Oriental building, with the illuminated parade "Spirit of the Golden West" at night. Wednesday morning the floral automobile parade will take place and in the evening will be the huge floral parade for decorated vehicles. Friday evening will be the allegorical and historical parade of electric floats and following, the grand ball at the Armory. Saturday the Woodmen of the world will have a big parade and in the evening there will be fireworks and a grand fireworks to the King. Incidentally society will be interested in the New York Symphony concerts Wednesday and Thursday at the Armory. There are additional attractions of races and the like.

The ball in the evening is in general charge of C. P. Beebe, S. G. Reed and James McI. Wood. The officers of the visiting men of war will be honored guests at the festivities and there will no doubt be a good deal of incidental entertaining for them.

The patronesses for the ball are: Mrs. A. E. Rockey, Mrs. S. G. Reed, Mrs. J. N. Teal, Mrs. Kenneth A. J. Mackenzie, Mrs. Herbert Holman, Mrs. John E. Young, Mrs. Charles F. Adams, Mrs. Julius L. Meier, Mrs. J. C. Alsworth, Mrs. F. J. Mann, Mrs. T. B. Wilcox, Mrs. Richard Nixon, Mrs. Julia E. Hoffman, Mrs. F. A. Knapp, Mrs. J. W. Mink, Mrs. Cyrus A. Dolph, Mrs. Ernest F. Tucker, Mrs. W. H. Lewis, Mrs. Albert Feldensheimer, Mrs. William Macmaster, Mrs. H. C. Eckenberger, Mrs. F. I. Fuller, Mrs. Helen Ladd Corbett, Mrs. W. W. Cotton, Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. C. S. Jackson, Mrs. James Laddlaw, Mrs. Benton Kileen, Mrs. W. J. VanSchuyver, Mrs. A. L. Maxwell, Mrs. C. J. Reed, Mrs. Frederick H. Fares, Mrs. James McI. Wood, Mrs. A. D. Charlton, Mrs. Sigmund Frank, Mrs. Marcus Fleischner, Mrs. Frederick Eggen, Mrs. Zera Snow, Mrs. J. A. Shaden, Mrs. Andrew C. Panton, Mrs. E. S. Josselyn, Mrs. Walter V. Smith, Mrs. S. M. Mears, Mrs. Edward Cookingham, Mrs. Rose Hoyt, Mrs. Dolph Wolfe, Mrs. Isador Lang, Mrs. L. W. Sliton, Mrs. Winifred E. Ayrer, Mrs. Henry McCracken, Mrs. Walter M. Cook, Mrs. T. M. Anderson, Mrs. Charles F. Beebe, Mrs. Thomas N. Strong, Mrs. Henry W. Corbett, Mrs. A. L. Mills, Mrs. Walter F. Burrell.

An engagement that has caused a good deal of interest is announced this week by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bradford of Irvington, whose daughter, Miss Frances C. Bradford will be married to Richard Wilder, September 8. Miss Bradford is one of the prettiest and most charming of Irvington's young people and has many friends. Mr. Wilder is a brother of Frank Wilder and of Mrs. Percy Egan, who is spending the year in England at her old home.

Miss Matcel Howe entertained Thursday at luncheon for Miss Grace Nicholson whose maid of honor she will be at her wedding to Laurence Herbert Holman June 10. It was a pretty yellow luncheon, with covers for 10. The guests were Miss Nicholson, Miss Helen Brigham, Miss Grace Dalrymple, Mrs. James C. Carrington, Mrs. Henry B. Dixon, Mrs. Guy G. Willis, Mrs. George D. Peters, Mrs. Martin Schacht and Miss Leo Kiesterman.

Friday afternoon she entertained again, for Miss Nicholson and Miss Helen Brigham whose wedding will take place a week later. A fortune teller furnished the entertainment. The guests were Miss Brigham, Miss Nicholson, Miss Dalrymple, Mrs. Carrington, Mrs. Kirk Sargent, Miss Maud Howell, Miss Myrtle Schaefer, Miss Wentworth, Miss Anne Ditchburn, Miss Elinor Rothermel, Mrs. G. E. Bruere, Mrs. Lyle Pence, Mrs. Francis J. Bailey, Mrs. George W. Hazen, Mrs. Tom Richardson, Miss Anna Shea, Miss Irene Higgins and Miss Lou King. Mrs. Hazen and Mrs. Richardson served at the table, and were assisted by Miss Josephine Richardson and Miss Edith Gray.

The table was pretty with yellow roses and the doilies were exquisite linen embroidered in gold, which Miss Howe had procured in India.

The commencement hop at Hill Military academy was given Friday evening, and as are all their dances, was attended by a large crowd both of the younger and older sets. The Armory was beautifully decorated with flags and pennants and woodland greens. Electric emblems of class and school added to the brilliant effect. Punch was served in the study room which was converted into a pretty retiring room with cozy corners, divans, rugs, plants and easy chairs. Late in the evening an elaborate supper was served downstairs in the attractive dining hall. Roses ornamented the tables. The patronesses were Mrs. George Lunda Campbell, Mrs. Anne Rebecca Hill, Mrs. Joseph Wood Hill, Mrs. E. Rutherford Johnston, Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, Mrs. John K. Kollock, Mrs. Herbert Holman, Mrs. Alpha Eugene Rockey and Charles C. Smith.

Emil Enna entertained at supper at the Portland hotel Thursday evening after the recital in honor of Miss Harriet Wise of Astoria after he had presided her in recital. The table decorations were red Duke of Richmond roses with heavy red streamers wafting over the cloth. The guests were Mrs. Harriet Wise, Miss Louise Wise, Simon Wise, Mrs. Francis W. Fields, Miss Nona Lawler, Miss Eva Graves, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Eilers, Hy Eilers, Guy Dobson and Orrin Backus.

A quiet wedding in which many Portlanders were interested was celebrated last Saturday at high noon when Miss Mabel Fouch was married to Clarence Reed Davis of San Francisco at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Fouch. Rev. E. Nelson Allen read the ceremony and there were only few relatives in attendance. A wedding breakfast was served before Mr. and Mrs. Reed left for the sound. They will visit first in British Columbia and then will go to Yellowstone Park and on east for a stay, returning in the fall to make their home in San Francisco.

Mrs. Reed has been absent from Portland for the greater part of five years, first studying in New York and then remaining in Chicago where she opened a studio. She is a very clever artist, with water colors and miniatures as her specialty. Mr. Reed is from an eastern family but has established himself in California. Many good wishes attend them for the bride is a member of one of Portland's old families and is well known here.

Miss Ruth Danenhow, who is Miss Frances Wilson's guest, is being charmingly entertained. Tuesday Miss Olive Falling gave a pink luncheon for her, and her guests were Miss Danenhow, Miss Frances Wilson, Miss Ruth Honeyman, Miss Malda Hart, Miss Carolyn Burns, Miss Rhoda, Felling, Miss Josephine Smith, Miss Helen Barber, Miss Effie Houghton, Miss Latta and Miss Beckie Biddart.

Mrs. Stewart B. Linthcum entertained informally for her at bridge Wednesday afternoon, and Thursday evening Scott Brooke gave a bridge and dancing party for her at the golf links. There were about 100 guests. Miss Danenhow wore a pale blue muslin with a touch of silver, and Miss Frances Wilson wore a pretty chiffon frock in a pale shell-pink shade. Both carried pink bouquets.

The Misses Houghton will entertain for her tomorrow at bridge.

The B. S. Josselyn returned Thursday from St. Louis, where Mrs. Josselyn has been staying with her daughters, who were in school while Mr. Josselyn went farther east on a trip. They are now at Alexandria court, but expect soon to move into the John Eben Young home on King's Heights, a fine and charming estate with a little daughter Elsie are east. Miss Dorothy Josselyn, who has just finished school in St. Louis, was most popular there, and held many honors. At the annual May day festivities this year she was crowned queen, one of the prettiest courtesies extended to the popular girls there. She was also president of the senior class. Miss Mildred, her sister, is an under-graduate in the same school.

A pretty children's party was given Saturday afternoon, a week ago, by Waldo and Clara Hirschberger, at the residence of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hirschberger. Those present were: Jessie Colgate, Susan Churnery, Margaret Mackenzie, Helen Adams, Mary Stuart Smith, Louise Leiter, Alice and Catherine Mackenzie, Stella Wolfe, Almie Hansen, Winifred Smith, Josephine Richardson, Mary Hansen, Ursula Goldsmith, Frances Davidson, Dorothy Goldsmith, Mary Warrack, David Loring, Fowler Cardwell, Harriet Sanford, Wayne Cox, Charles Burns, Earl Coe, Gordon Stuart and Charles Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brigham have sent out cards for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Helen Katherine Brigham, to Norris B. Gregg, Wednesday evening, June 17, at 8:30, at the First Presbyterian church. Miss Irene Higgins will be the maid-of-honor, and Miss Lou King and Miss Maud Howell the bridesmaids. Gilbert Durham is to be best man, and the ushers will be Fred Chapman, Howard Roberts of New York, Lester Hodson and Walter Smith.

Miss Anne Ditchburn is planning to go abroad in the early fall for study. She had expected to go in June, but has now decided to spend the summer at home. She will be away for three years. Miss Ditchburn has a pretty voice that gives good promise and with it she has the additional asset of a pleasing and rather striking personality which should go far toward winning her success in the music world.

Mrs. Josephine Ladd of Malden, Massachusetts, arrived here yesterday, and will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. James Steel, who is making her home with her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Ewing, at 810 Spring street. They will be at home Fridays during June.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Chamberlain and their daughter, Miss Ethel, have returned from Seattle, where they were extensively entertained during their visit to see the fleet. A particularly delightful affair was a luncheon given
