ROOSEVELT AT GRAVES

President Visited Arlington Cemetery Where He Decorated Plots of Sheridan and Spanish War Veterans With Flowers.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)

Washington, May 30.—The president spent the morning at Arlington cemetery, decorating the graves of Sheridan, Spanish war veterans and the unknown dead, and in the afternoon postponed his usual outing in the country, as congress was threatening to adjourn at any time.

It was expected by the president at 5 p. m. that congress would adjourn at 9 p. m., but later news indicated that the adjournment would not be had until 11 p. m.

The senate took a recess until 8:30 p. m., and at that time the concurrent resolution to adjourn had not been offered. On the notification from the house and senate that it will adjourn at a certain hour the president will proceed to the senate to sign bills and be present at the final dissolution.

LAUDED CHURCH FOR ITS EFFORTS

Senator Beveridge Addressed Conference of the Methodist Church.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)

Baltimore, May 30.—Memorial services occupied the afternoon session of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. The services consisted of singing and praying and an address by Senator Beveridge of Indiana, who lauded the church for its efforts toward the suppression of great national evils and concluded with an appeal to the members of the conference to devote their influence to stamping out the evil of child labor.

At the morning session the following elections were announced: Dr. A. B. Leonard, corresponding secretary of the board of foreign missions; Thomas Nicholson, corresponding secretary of the board of education; Patrick Mavtey and M. C. B. Mason (Negro), corresponding secretaries of the Freedmen's Aid bureau.

Charges of maladministration filed by Rev. George A. Cooke against several of the bishops, were reported as without foundation by the judiciary committee tonight.

Tomorrow will be devoted to services in connection with consecration of the new bishops. The conference will come to a close with Monday night's session.

WARDROBE THIEF GETS TWO TRUNKS

C. C. Madsen Victim of Fake Baggage Smasher and Loses Clothing.

C. C. Madsen's wardrobe was summarily curtailed yesterday and the police are now searching for two trunks and two suitcases. Mr. Madsen has been residing at 221 Thirteenth street. He decided to move to 475 Shaver street and yesterday called an expressman to remove his effects. It was early in the morning when the "smasher" removed them. At 9 o'clock last night Mr. Madsen had not heard of them.

He was not able to give a clear description of the man. He accosted him on the street and, after giving the two addresses, thought no more of the matter until he found last night that the suitcases and trunks had not been delivered. He places the total value of the missing property at $200.

CHAMBERLAIN MONEY PUT UP BUT TAKERS DO NOT GRAB IT

Cold feet in the betting line, owing to the uncertainty of the election tomorrow, has resulted in the quietest election gamble that Portland has known for years.

When the betting places closed last night there was on hand several thousand dollars of Chamberlain money to bet even and without takers. For several days there has been more Chamberlain coin in sight and much of which has gone without being taken.

All told it is estimated that not more than $10,000 has been placed on the election of the different candidates. Last year at one cigar store something like $50,000 was in the safe the night before the election. Today being Sunday, it is figured that practically no large bets will be made and that the figures given out last night may be totaled as the final.

The bets on sheriff are 2 to 1 in Stevens' favor. Last night there was $1,800 Stevens money for a 2 to 1 bet that had not been placed.

Bets on the district attorneyship are being made and in almost every instance they are even. Manning is slightly the favorite, and last evening when the places of betting closed $2,000 was locked up in the safe without having been placed.

Few bets, with the exception of those on Chamberlain, Manning and Stevens, have been made. An unusual combination bet was made yesterday when one man put up $50 to $25 on the election of Chamberlain, Manning and O'Day. If any one of the three loses the man who gave the odds will lose. This was the only combination bet of any consequence that was made.

About $4,000 of the total bets were made yesterday, the others having been placed during the week.

One of the largest bets and practically the only large one at odds on the race for senator was made last night when a well-known real estate man placed $1,000 to $900 on Chamberlain.

LOOK FOR "MADE IN U. S. A." ON BORDER OF YOUR PERSIAN RUG

Genuine Persian and Turkish rugs, which have long been owned only by the rich and have been the envy of the poor with fastidious tastes, have met their Waterloo at last—ingenious Americans have discovered how to manufacture these exquisite things for the feet and put them on sale at a much less cost than the original.

Furthermore, the Americans have the oriental designs down to the dot, and according to Walter E. Bauman, a San Francisco carpet man at the Hotel Portland, the rugs now being made in this country cannot be detected from the genuine except by the eyes and the nifty touch of the expert.

The imitation rugs—they are sold to the wholesaler and to the public as imitations only—are known as the Ardahan. One of the best known Persian rugs is the antique Bokhara, which usually sells all the way from $100 to $3,000, according to the size. An American rug, antique Bokhara, can now be had for a week's wages of the ordinary workmen.

The manufacturers of these imitations get the latest original designs each year, copy the ideas, and then begin turning out the copies.

So if anyone shows you his new Persian or Turkish rug in the future look at the ends, on the under side, and see if you can find Bridgeport, Connecticut, U. S. A. If you find these letters the rug was made in the United States. If the lettering is not there it may have been taken out by the buyer. Or such a thing is possible that the rug is genuine.

CORNELL HONORS FOR OREGONIANS

Many Portlanders Among Those to Receive Degrees in July.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Ithaca, N. Y., May 30.—Among students who will receive degrees at Cornell university commencement, June 17, are the following Oregonians:

Lawrence Russell Allen, B. S. of C. E., Portland, civil engineer's degree; Thomas Wallace Baker, John Corner Burkhardt, Marion Walter Fisk, William Maxwell and M. Wood, Portland, all mechanical engineers; Charles Elmer Cleveland, B. S., Astoria, mechanical engineer.

NEW DISCOVERY IN X-RAY'S USE

Dr. J. H. Carpenter of Francis Willard Hospital Reduces Exposure Time.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.)

Chicago, May 30.—A new discovery in the use of X-Rays by which photographs of the human frame may be made on exposures of one or two seconds is the achievement of Dr. J. H. Carpenter of the Francis Willard hospital.

By increasing the volume of current in the primary coil of his electrical transformer, which develops the amazing voltage necessary for ordinary X-Ray work, the Chicago investigator has been successful in reducing the time required in making a photograph.

The value of this discovery to medical science is two-fold. By reducing the time the patient must be exposed it is said the risk occasioned is entirely removed.

WORD GATHERS MUCH STRENGTH

Hot Contest Expected Between Candidates for the Shrievalty.

As the campaign in this county has drawn to a close it has become more and more apparent that Tom Word stands a strong chance of being the next sheriff. He has made a close canvass of the entire county, and he and his friends are much encouraged at the favorable reports that are coming in from every section. Word's good record as sheriff will be favorably recalled tomorrow by hundreds of voters who look to merit alone in a candidate for office.

Word will run strong on the east side and in the country precincts. He has always been extremely popular on the east side of the river, and it is asserted that he will carry nearly every one of the 31 city precincts in that district, as well as most of the country precincts east of the Willamette. The prohibition fight on the east side will undoubtedly help Word, as he has always been in sympathy with the law and order element.

The main fight will come in the west side precincts, where Sheriff Stevens has made a close, hard canvass, and where he expects to get the major part of his support. However, Word has a large number of sincere political friends on the west side of the river who will see that he gets his share of the votes at the polls tomorrow.

The stand that Word has taken in the matter of feeding the county prisoners has won him many votes. He is in thorough sympathy with the position taken by the county court that the prisoners should be in charge of and fed by the county, thereby saving to the county about $5,000 a year. Word maintains that the sheriff should be satisfied with the salary allowed him by law, and should not attempt to increase his compensation at the expense of the taxpayers by making a profit from running the jail and feeding the prisoners.

LAFFERTY DECLARES DISBARMENT A JOKE

Lawyer States His Side of Case, Denying Any Complicity.

A. W. Lafferty, against whom disbarment proceedings were filed by the commissioner of the general land office at Washington because of alleged irregular practices before the local land office, takes some exception to the publication of the fact that the proceedings were begun. He asks that the following statement be printed as coming from him, in explanation of the matter:

"On arriving from a two weeks' absence in southeastern Oregon this morning I was surprised to read the account in Wednesday's Journal of the so-called charges against me in the land office. These charges were made and answered weeks ago, and are a standing joke among those familiar with the facts.

"You also state that I had something to do with the publication of the articles in the Evening Telegram concerning Governor Chamberlain's administration of the state land office. This is absolutely untrue. I never heard of the Telegram's articles until after they were published. I am familiar with but a very few of the records referred to by the Telegram, and gained knowledge of those only by the trial of a private case which I have never discussed publicly. The purported interview with me published by the Telegram never took place and they had no authority to use my name. Nor did any one communicate with me at Klamath Falls by telephone May 25, as published in the Telegram. I was in Lakeview that date, 110 miles east of Klamath Falls, trying a case, and the alleged telephone interview was a fake pure and simple.

"As to the alleged charges against me, I wish to say that the federal grand jury is now in session, and I challenge any one high or low who seriously thinks I have violated any public land law to present their evidence to that body, or hereafter hold their peace.

"I further challenge any person high or low who has any evidence that I ever acted unprofessionally as a lawyer to present their evidence to the Oregon Bar association and have me disbarred. The patriots who made these charges will be truant to their duty to a grateful public if they fail to take this course. But they will not take it because they have no evidence."

No Change.

EAST PORTLAND QUARTER SOLD

W. H. Gifford Pays $16,000 for Unimproved Property on East Third.

Transfers of realty filed for record yesterday totaled $74,893. The total for the week was in excess of $300,000, or an average of $60,000 a day. While these figures are slightly below those of a few weeks ago, they are looked upon as indicating a satisfactory condition of the market, considering the fact that a strenuous political campaign is drawing to a close which has occupied to a considerable extent the attention of the people during the past few days.

The largest sale reported in the past few days was the quarter block at the northwest corner of East Salmon and East Third streets. This is an unimproved corner and was purchased by W. H. Gifford from J. Marion Smith for $16,000.

E. L. Smith has recently purchased two valuable holdings in Albina. The property at the northwest corner of Borthwick and Knott streets was sold by Olive V. St. Helen to Mr. Smith for $8,000, and that at the southwest corner of Kerby and Monroe streets was purchased by him from Joseph M. Wilson for $5,000.

An unimproved lot on East Seventh street, between East Couch and East Davis streets has been sold by Mrs. Eliza Walker to Clarinda Black for $5,000.

Mrs. Mary Heiple has sold to Peter Anderson a 50x100-foot lot at the northeast corner of East Glisan street and Union avenue for a consideration of $4,000.

A triangular shaped fraction of block 15, Tibbetts' addition, located at the intersection of East Twelfth and Clinton streets, has been purchased by H. A. Hine from Minna Clausen for $4,650.

A house and lot on Knott street, between Gantenbein and Vancouver avenues, has been purchased by A. F. Alexander from George Rupprecht, consideration $4,000.

Two improved lots in Park View addition have been purchased by George W. Carpenter from Andrew von Bergen for $3,500.

C. H. Farrington has purchased from the Irvington Investment company a quarter block at the southwest corner of Thompson and East Twenty-fourth streets, consideration $3,500.

Mrs. Minerva F. Mann has purchased a house and lot in Glencoe Park from James M. Level for $3,000.

A house and lot on East Ninth street, near Thompson street, has been purchased by Matilda C. John from John A. Patton, consideration $3,000.

ASKS QUESTIONS OF CHAPLAIN ST. PIERRE

Former Superintendent of Penitentiary Speaks of Prison Methods.

Portland, May 29.—To the Editor of The Journal—In the interest of fair play will you kindly permit me to ask Chaplain St. Pierre, through your columns, a few questions? He can do as he pleases about answering them.

Is it not true that after Governor Chamberlain had publicly declared that flogging had been abolished that Victor Hugo Albricht, an escaped trusty, and some others were punished by flogging?

Is it not true that during the last six months of my administration not a prisoner was flogged, also that in the last year corporal punishment was rarely resorted to?

Is it not true that when we had typhoid fever at the prison, it was prevalent in the city and that the physicians gave it as their belief that it was caused by infection of the waters of Mill creek, up which stream there was a great number of cases?

Is it not true that I installed the new kitchen and made many sanitary improvements?

Is it not also true that I purchased the ware for the new dining-room, made the tables, and practically had everything prepared but did not install it because of the lowness of the ceiling; that I explained to the state board and the legislative committee on ways and means the necessity of raising the ceiling, which, when done, the installing of the community dining was a matter of very small effort?

Was not Tracy a most desperate criminal before he came to our prison, having killed several men and escaped from other prisons, and that we kept him longer than he had been kept anywhere else, and that the only punishments that he received was the wearing of an Oregon boot for a time and the four times he was chained to his cell door, notwithstanding he had conspired against my life and that of others?

Allow me to say parenthetically that it was leniency that allowed him to escape. I suggested to Warden James that an Oregon boot be placed upon him at the beginning of good weather, but he thought that would be rather severe, as he seemed to be doing better.

Allow me to say further that I have not taken the stump against the governor on account of his management of the penitentiary and only in a few instances have I alluded to his assumption of improvements which were really not due him. Only once have I alluded to his abuse of the pardoning power. There are too many other important matters for discussion. I am charitable enough to believe that your interview was edited and changed. In no other way can I reconcile it with the statement that you made to me personally within the last four months that you would be greatly pleased to see me superintendent again.

I have before me a letter from Warden Janes emphatically denying the assertion that you make of cruel flogging.

If space would permit I would like to compare expenses, management and progressive methods under my administration with those of the present regime.

J. D. LEE.

FOLLOWS WOMAN; THOUGHT INSANE

Charles Helmas in City Jail Pending Trial in Municipal Court.

Charles Helmas, a recent arrival from Germany, now lies in jail pending his hearing on a charge of insanity as the result of his assiduous attention to Mrs. A. E. Whitesides, 680 Quimby street. Helmas was arrested last night after his second attempt to gain entrance to the Whitesides' residence.

Mrs. Whitesides first noticed the man early in the week when he followed her to her home one night. As he did not accost her at that time she thought he was merely an ordinary masher. Last night, however, he followed her home, and then knocked at the front door.

Her husband not being home, Mrs. Whitesides was frightened, and telephoned the police. Meantime Helmas departed. Shortly after he returned. This time Mr. Whitesides was home, and when the man departed after knocking at the door, he followed him in the hopes of passing an officer. After a short walk Helmas again retraced his steps to the Whitesides' home. No officer had been found, and when Helmas again rapped at the door the husband slipped through the house and let him in. The German was then engaged in conversation until the arrival of an officer. He will appear before Judge Cameron Tuesday.

It is presumed that Helmas became infatuated with Mrs. Whitesides at the mission meetings, in which she and her husband are active workers, as he has frequently attended them.

COMPLETE COMEDY COMPANY AT OAKS

Allen-Curtis Organization Includes Many Clever Fun-Makers.

The Allen Curtis Musical Comedy engagement at the Oaks last night, was a big surprise to the large audience that attended. The company comes here direct from Chicago. The play, "Jakey, Mikey & Ikey," is one of Weber & Fields' big New York successes and was one continuous scream of laughter from the very moment the curtain went up to the grand final. Manager Freeman could not have picked a better organization for the purpose.

The company are a merry lot of comedians, singers and dancers, with a chorus of girls handsomely costumed that stand second to none in their work, not even with the $2 musical productions.

The comedians Allen Curtis, Arthur Clamage, Herbert Lindley, Albert Leonard and Charles Figg are a clever lot and are real and original laugh creators. Miss Marguerite La Ponte, who carries the prima donna role, made an exceptional hit in her number "I Would Like to Marry You." Miss Winifred Greene, the soubrette, is a cute bundle, youthful, almost childlike, in rosy-cheeked beauty. She rendered her "Bessie and Her Little Brown Bear" song in a winning way. She was equally good in her other parts.

In an exceptional vaudeville turn, Albert Leonard did some excellent clog work and impersonative dancing. This piece will run all this week and commencing next week the bill will be a musical extravaganza, "The Girl."
