

HELP ELECT THESE MEN

Pledged to Statement No. 1, They Deserve the Vote of Every Good Citizen—Keep This List to Use at Monday Election.

Every voter in Multnomah county who believes in clean politics and who is opposed to legislative corruption and the use of money and bribes to effect the election of a United States senator—a condition which has ruled the Oregon legislature—should cut out the following list of legislative candidates and vote for them Monday. They are the men who have pledged themselves to Statement No. 1 and should be elected:

- For Joint Representatives.
41. Wilson, A. King.
- For State Senators.
42. Albee, H. R.
 43. Kellner, Dan
 44. Nottingham, C. W.
 45. Selling, Ben.
 46. Farnham, Walter C.
- For Representatives.
47. Abbott, James D.

PORTLANDER WINS IN BAGPIPE CONTEST

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.) San Francisco, May 30.—The forty-second annual games of the Caledonian club, held at Shell Mound park today were voted a high success by the 10,000 people who attended. Chief James J. Macdonald, George W. Miller, first chieftain, and Secretary Charles Macdonald were congratulated upon the result of their efforts in arranging for the entertainment shown, chiefly in the athletic games. Many of the well known athletes in this vicinity were entered, and all the events were bitterly contested. Walter M. Christie, trainer at the University of California, was the star of the day, winning three first prizes and one third. In the competition for bagpipe playing James Lerner, winner of the McGilvray medal last year, again took first prize. H. McDonald of Portland was second and Adam Ross third.

BOYCOTT FOR COURT

King Frederick of Denmark and Entire Danish Press Reach Deadlock Because His Majesty Refuses to Give Out Full Reports.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.) Copenhagen, May 30.—King Frederick of Denmark and the whole Danish press have reached a deadlock on account of his majesty's refusal to continue King Christian's policy of giving full reports of the court affairs to the newspapers. The Institute of Journalists has taken up the matter and when King Frederick returns from his trip to the south the president and secretary will visit him and demand that the old rights be restored. If Frederick refuses, every Copenhagen newspaper will boycott the court and will not publish a line of news about the forthcoming visit of the king of Sweden.

KEEN'S COLIN WON IN A WALK

Great Three-Year-Old Annexed Belmont Stakes as Added Starter.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.) New York, May 30.—Colin is still Colin. The great 3-year-old son of Commando-Pastorella, wearing the colors of James R. Keene, was an added starter in the $25,000 Belmont stakes at one mile and three sixteenths at Belmont Park today and won in his usual impressive style by a head from Fair Play.

This makes the fourteenth consecutive victory of Colin. He won 12 races as a 2-year-old and this is his second victory in the 3-year-old division. With the $21,000 purse of the Belmont, his earnings have now reached $165,000.

Pendleton Observes on Sunday. Pendleton, Or., May 30.—Colonel James Jackson, U. S. A., retired, will deliver the Decoration day address at the cemetery Sunday forenoon. He was invited by the local G. A. R. post. Decoration day exercises will be held in Pendleton on Sunday this year.

CHINA'S PLANNING BATTLESHIP FLOTILLA OF BIG SEA FIGHTERS

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, May 30.—Huang Sha, the imperial commissioner of commerce from China, who arrived yesterday on the Manchuria with the story of China's plans for a 14 to 20-battleship navy, announced his intention to make a careful investigation of industrial conditions in California and other states. He believes that the American trade with China can be materially increased by a better mutual understanding of conditions in the two countries. After investigating the coast he will visit the cities in the interior of the country and later will go east. Huang Yun tells of the growing apprehension of Chinese patriots concerning Japan's menacing attitude towards their country, and tells of their weakness in case of a conflict with the modern island nation. The leading Chinese, as well as the common people, are beginning to realize, he says, the imperative necessity of a powerful army and navy, and especially the latter.

FIGHTING BOB SUSTAINS MANY OF HENRY REUTERDAHL'S CHARGES

(United Press Leased Wire.) Washington, May 30.—In a report issued as a senate document, Rear Admiral Evans sustains many of the charges made against the United States navy by Henry Reuterdahl in a recent magazine article. The former commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet frankly agrees with the author-artist, for instance, that the height of the deck should be increased and the views of the main armor-plates are nearly the same. On this vital question, Admiral Evans says if these belts had been placed about six inches or one foot higher better protection might have been afforded. Reuterdahl's statement that the ships are inadequately protected from attack by torpedo boats is also upheld by the admiral.

ERUPTION SHOWS SOMETHING NEW DEATH CLAIMS SOCIAL LEADER

Roar of Volcano Brings Spectators to Hills and Housetops. Mother of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. Passes Away of Heart Trouble.

(Hearst News by Longest Leased Wire.) New York, May 30.—Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., and for many years a notable figure in the social life of this city and Newport, died tonight at her home, 511 Fifth avenue, after a short illness. For nearly an hour before her death Dr. Austin Flint Jr., the family physician, assisted by some of the most famous pathologists of New York, tried to fight to the end, even attempting to force oxygen into the lungs of the dying woman. Mrs. Wilson had been in poor health for a long time, but it was only four days ago that the heart trouble from which she suffered developed a bad turn. Young Mrs. Vanderbilt, who had been at her mother's bedside almost night and day for four days, became hysterical when told her mother was dead.

As the mother of five children—two sons and three daughters—all of whom have lived in good hands, Mrs. Wilson occupied a unique position in New York society and from which no one however envious could dislodge her. She was formerly Miss Melissa Johnson of Georgia. Both she and her husband lived in the south until their advent in New York in the early '70s, when they purchased the old Tweed mansion at 511 Fifth avenue, where Mrs. Wilson died tonight. Mr. Wilson, who had been a cotton speculator, was then credited with a fortune of $10,000,000 although it is said to have depleted to $5,000,000 by the summer of 1884.

The eldest daughter was the first to marry. She became the wife of Orden Goelet, who died on his yacht at sea in 1897, leaving two children, a son and a daughter. The daughter, Miss Mary Goelet, became the Duchess of Roxburgh. It was not long after the marriage of Miss Mary Wilson to Orden Goelet that she inherited a fortune of $25,000,000 on the death of her father, Peter Goelet. Then in 1884 Orden Wilson married Caroline Astor, an heiress to millions, and through these two brilliant marriages the colors of the Wilsons steadily ascended. Miss Belle Wilson, the second daughter, in 1898, after two London seasons, married the Hon. Michael Henry Herbert, who was afterwards British ambassador to this country. It was some years after this when Miss Grace Wilson, the youngest daughter, became the wife of Cornelius Vanderbilt, against the wishes of her father, who she took the bulk of his great fortune to his second son, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, in consequence.

W. M. CAKE NEAR INVESTIGATION

George Sorenson Says Land Fraud Net Close to Chamberlain's Accuser.

George Sorenson, whose name has been mentioned in connection with Cake's attack on Governor Chamberlain for the unremitting efforts the governor made to refund to innocent taxpayers the money out of which they had been mulcted, questions the grounds upon which Cake has made his charges against the state's executive. "The records of the state land board show that W. M. Cake himself narrowly missed investigation with the Hyde-Berenson-Dimond, Schneider ring now on trial in Washington for the frauds perpetrated in this state," said Sorenson yesterday. "The state records show that certificates 8581 and 8582, issued to Belle Griffin and Max Griffin, involving lands in Washington, all the state's land, were deeded to Schneider in 1898. These two women signed their applications for school land, swearing that they had visited the land, were not taking it up for speculative purposes, but for their own use, and immediately after signing and swearing to the application they assigned their claims to Schneider. W. M. Cake, who took their oaths as notary public, paid them $5 each for swearing away their rights."

"I have never satisfied myself why Mr. Cake has never been summoned as a witness in the present conspiracy trial in Washington, all the state's lands who took acknowledgments, both fraudulent and bona-fide ones, were subpoenaed as witnesses in the trial." Sorenson says Governor Chamberlain's refund of moneys which had been taken under Geer's administration by State Land Agent Cecil for lands which

STRONG SOUTHERN OREGON PUBLICITY

"How to get to Medford, Oregon," and "How to Get to Grants Pass, Oregon," are titles of two remarkable booklets that have just been issued by the Sunset publicity bureau for the two cities named. The cover pages are unique, and the printing is exquisite. No better color work is seen coming from the great printing houses of the east.

The Medford booklet has a cover page showing a bough laden with big yellow Newtown pippins. The inside pages are filled with strong advertising matter, and illustrations showing the great resources of the Rogue river valley. The Grants Pass booklet has matter and pictures along the same lines, and in addition it gives prominence to Josephine county's mining resources. A unique feature in each booklet is a railroad map, showing the Harrison lines leading to Medford and Grants Pass. In each booklet the map is marked with a large star at the respective terminal points.

FOR SHERIFF R. L. STEVENS REPUBLICAN

"The Record Is the Best Evidence"

Each two-year term beginning July 1 gives the sheriff one entire calendar year in office. Mr. Word's full year was 1905, Mr. Stevens' full year was 1907. During those years, neither official had any "leavings" from his predecessor to look after. Here is the result:

Year.	Sheriff.	Tax Books.	Amt. Roll.	Expense Tax Dept.	Cost Per Dollar for Collecting.	Delinq't Roll.	Per Cent Delinq't.
1907—Stevens	18	$2,804,481.34	$13,159.01	$0.00435	$34,980.90	$0.0123
1905—Word	13	2,161,667.81	11,419.37	.00525	40,973.86	.0185

These figures taken from the official records show that the cost per dollar of tax collecting under Mr. Word's administration to have been 21.4 per cent higher than under Mr. Stevens' administration, although employees' salaries have been higher since the last legislature advanced them, and under the new law two deputies formerly used in the tax department are now kept busy in the assessor's office making divisions.

REGARDING LAW ENFORCEMENT

Two years ago I was elected on a platform, pledging the enforcement of all laws without fear or favor, and I have lived up to my pledge. Early in my term I served notice in all quarters where there had been law breaking in the past, that nothing unlawful would be tolerated so long as I was sheriff. I also told these parties on whom suspicion rested that I meant what I said and that I did not care to go down with a big noise and a corps of reporters and make a spectacular raid every few days in order to keep the public eye, but that the laws must be obeyed. There has been less gambling and less trouble with the liquor traffic during my administration than ever before and this has left my force free to round up horse thieves, burglars, and other dangerous criminals. As evidence that my work has been satisfactory, I submit the following verbatim copy of an unsolicited letter received by me soon after I began enforcing the Sunday closing law:

Portland Municipal Association

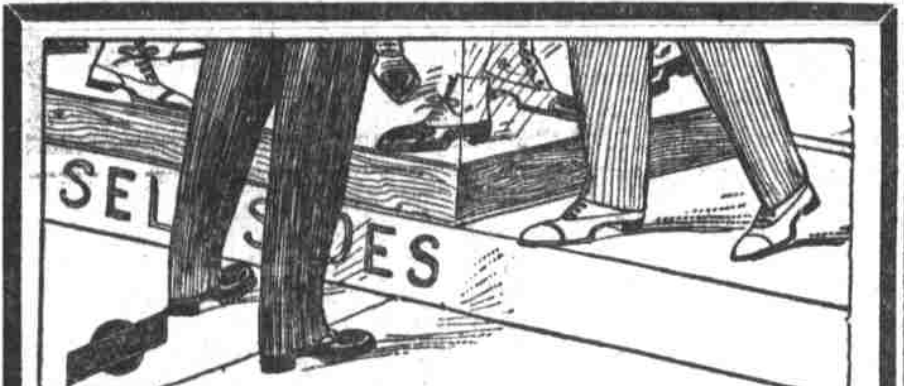

Portland, Oregon, June 20, 1907.

R. L. Stevens, Esq., Sheriff, City.

Dear Sir: At the monthly meeting of the Executive Board of this Association, held on the 18th inst., I was directed to write you expressing our hearty appreciation of your prompt and effective action in the gambling case at Woodstock, and of the share which you have taken in enforcing Sunday closing of saloons.

Thanking you on behalf of the Board, I remain, Yours faithfully, (Signed) JOHN BAIN, Secretary.

For the maintenance of good order and respect of the law, I am not entitled to special commendation as I was only fulfilling my obligation to the people who elected me in the belief that I would enforce the laws as I found them. If reelected, I will continue to enforce them and so long as public sentiment, which was responsible for the original closing of gambling and restricting of other evils, is with me, I will experience no difficulty and will require no noisy notoriety or spectacular raids to assist me. Soliciting the support of all voters who are favorable to a clean, economical business administration, devoid of hysterics, spectacular bluffs and "grand-stand plays," I am, Yours respectfully, ROBT. L. STEVENS.
