

RESCUES HER BABY, THE CEAS

Mrs. W. J. Warren Carries Child From Burning Residence This Morning, Then Reenters Smoke-Filled House for Jewels.

Spring House-Cleaning Had Been Completed Only a Few Hours When Serious Fire Damage Sets Things All Awry.

His morning nap disturbed by a fire in the home of his parents, which for a time threatened to destroy the dwelling and contents, little 13-month-old Girard Warren was carried to safety in his mother's arms while the blaze continued to eat its way through the roof of the house at 733 Johnson street, occupied by W. J. Warren, city salesman of the Pacific Coast Syrup company. The fire was discovered in the attic over the kitchen about 10:30 o'clock by Mrs. Warren.

Only early this morning Mrs. Warren completed the task of her regular spring house-cleaning. So early in the day she went to the kitchen, the roof of which was ablaze and the room filled with smoke. The mother's first thoughts, naturally, were for her baby boy. She rushed to the sleeping-room, where the youngster was sleeping peacefully in his tiny cradle.

Child First, Jewels Second. Forgetting everything else, including her jewelry, Mrs. Warren took the child in her arms and rushed through the smoke-filled hall to the front door. A few minutes afterward Girard was resting comfortably at the home of a neighbor and wondering what all the excitement was about.

After seeing the baby in safe hands and while the neighbors were at work removing the furniture and household effects and firemen on the roof, Mrs. Warren suddenly thought of her diamonds and other jewelry, which she had laid out on the bureau in the room she had just left.

Diamonds Finally Rescued. Against the protests of those around her, and even contrary to the efforts of those who tried to prevent her return, Mrs. Warren, who is a little woman and rather frail, reentered the burning house and a few minutes later came out again with the precious stones and other valuables, which were found only after a search in the room so filled with smoke that to see was almost an impossibility.

A piano, several of the carpets, and much of the other household furniture was saved from the fire by the hands of willing neighbors who rushed to the assistance as soon as the alarm was given. The fire was confined to the upper part of the story and a half frame dwelling. The household effects were not insured. The damage to the house itself and to the furniture will amount to perhaps $1,000.

for him to participate in all of the events. After being shown over the flagship and spending an hour as the guest of the admiral, the committee was carried back to the dock by the cruiser's launch. Those who accompanied Mayor Lane and the officials on board the Charleston were: W. Wynn Johnson, chairman of the reception committee; Chester A. Whitmore of the festival association; General Charles Feebe, chairman of the hall committee; Captain J. C. Letter, R. A. Tucker and Ben Selling.

THUNDEROUS SHOUTS GREET KING, REX ON LINE OF MARCH

As the last gun of the Charleston's thunderous salute was fired and while the echoes were still waiting shorewards the royal dispatch boat El Kader dove into the view of the thousands of loyal subjects who had gathered at the foot of Stark street to witness the embarkation of the royal party. King Rex, clad in resplendent robes of white and gold preceded by the royal trumpeters and equestrians stepped on the bows of the El Kader and was greeted by a storm of acclamations which could be plainly heard above the din of hundreds of steam whistles and sirens which were sending the air of the riverfront far blocks and blocks.

The merry monarch and his escort were met at the landing by Brown's Military band, the Hunt club and Junior Hunt club and the grand marshal and his aids, whence they were conducted through the ranks of the cadet battalion from Hill's Military academy under the command of Cadet Major Edward Holmes. This smartly drilled body of young soldiers fell in behind the royal cavalcade and marched as a guard of honor for the king.

The sidewalks, the fire escapes and the windows of the buildings along the line of march were lined with a curious mass of humanity eager to catch a glimpse of the inaugural procession of the Rose Festival's ruler and to give him hearty greeting as he smilingly bowed to his admiring subjects. From the foot of Stark street to the city hall there was hardly a square foot of space on either side of the street unoccupied by a spectator, and thousands overflowed on the plaza in front of the courthouse or gathered under the trees near the city hall to see Mayor Lane present King Rex with the keys of the city.

BATTLESHIPS BEING PREPARED FOR TRIP AROUND THE WORLD

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, June 1.—Five warships of the Atlantic fleet are now at anchor in the harbor, making preparation for their trip around the world. The vessels that arrived from the north are the flagship Connecticut, with Admiral Sperry in command; the Kansas, Vermont, Minnesota, and Admiral Emory's flagship, the Louisiana. Orders have been sent to Admiral Sperry from Washington that the men of the fleet are to take part in no more festivities before starting on the round-the-world cruise, and the officers of the ships are busy preparing for their long voyage. The Atlantic fleet will assemble here July 3 for the trip to the far east. All that have not been docked since their arrival on the coast will go into drydock before that time. The fleet will start for New York via Honolulu, Australia, Japan, Philippines and the South Sea islands. The Maine and Alabama will depart for New York a week from today.

STRANDED ACTRESS STARTS TO WALK 600 MILES TO BABE

(United Press Leased Wire.) New Westminster, June 1.—Homesick and pining for a sight of her baby daughter, which she had left behind her in Vancouver, while starting out on a theatrical tour of western Canada, Belle Waller, a vaudeville actress attached to a company which went broke in Calgary a few days ago, attempted to walk from that city to Vancouver, a distance of about 600 miles. She had no money for railroad fare, and as she was a stranger in Calgary, she could not borrow any. Two days after starting out on her arduous journey she was picked up at Cochrane in an exhausted condition. Her story aroused the sympathy of the residents of that city, a number of whom advanced her the price of a ticket to Vancouver, which city she has reached.

CLEVELAND IS RESTING WELL FRISCO BANKER NEARING TRIAL

(United Press Leased Wire.) Princeton, N. J., June 1.—It is announced at the Cleveland residence here that former President Cleveland is resting well today and that he is none the worse for his automobile trip from Lakewood last evening.

Former President None the Worse for Automobile Trip From Lakewood. After his long illness at Lakewood, concerning the nature of which has been a mystery, the decision to transfer the patient to his home is looked upon as indicative of great improvement. The residence of his physicians, however, is the same here as at Lakewood, and it was impossible to get any detailed statement of his illness or his condition. No plans have been made, it is said, for the usual trip of the family to their summer home at Tamworth, New Hampshire.

EAST SIDERS' GOLA DAY

Thursday Night Will Be Climax of Rose Festival on That Side of the Willamette—Cars to Halt for the Great Street Dance.

No part of the Rose City has caught the festival spirit as has the east side. The paved streets on the other side of the river present the gay air of an Italian boulevard on a fête day. Thousands of flags and banners of all colors cover the buildings and dance merrily in the breezes from the lines suspended across the streets. At a distance East Morrison, East Burnside street and Grand avenue have the appearance of a festive archway, so thickly placed are the flags and banners.

Thursday the Big Night. East side spirit is responsible for the display and the business men are determined to make the Rose Festival week the most memorable occasion in the history of the city. The east side is especially bent on making next Thursday evening the big night of the festival. The festival committee has extended a hearty welcome to the enlisted men of the fleet and a special invitation to the sailor boys to participate in the grand masked street dance Thursday evening. This will begin at 9 o'clock after which time the streetcars will not run. The pavements will be cleaned thoroughly and used as a huge dancing pavilion. Thousands of gay masks are expected to join in the big dance which will last until 11 o'clock.

Two Bands Engaged. Two bands will furnish music for the dancers. One of the large costume-furnishing firms will move over to the east side and open up a shop for the benefit of those who wish to take part in the open air terpsichorean event. President Bigelow of the East Side Business Men's club has asked the cadet battalion of the Oregon Agricultural college to take part in the east side parade Thursday evening which inauguration will, it is expected, be accepted. This will add another very attractive feature to the east side celebration.

Steamer Reported Aground in No Trouble—Two Collisions in Channel. (United Press Leased Wire.) London, June 1.—The Red Star steamer Vaderland, which was reported aground on Goodwin sands last night, is safe at Antwerp today, according to a message received here. She sailed Saturday with 1,000 on board but put about. One report says that a break in her machinery caused her to turn back and that she anchored in the Scheldt pending repairs. A later dispatch, however, says the Vaderland has cleared Antwerp again today and unless blocked by fog probably will reach Dover this afternoon. The Red Star agents here deny the story of a break in the machinery and attribute the heavy fog to the fog in the channel during the last 24 hours.

Two collisions are known to have occurred in the fog. The British steamer Queenswood, was badly damaged in striking the Spanish steamer Bernice. The latter was bound for London from Hamburg for West Africa, which arrived off Dover last evening, reported a collision with an unknown vessel. The latter was damaged and is believed to be seriously damaged.

CHEAP COLLEGES DIPLOMA MILLS

Such Will Be Report Made at American Medical Association Meeting. (United Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, June 1.—Cheap medical colleges are termed "diploma mills" in the report that the committee on education will make to the American Medical association, in session here, today or tomorrow.

The committee recommends that the association begin a warfare against colleges which are turning out physicians so rapidly all over the country. It is alleged that medical students are passed with examinations not nearly as rigid as they should be and that the welfare of the public is endangered by permitting them to practice. The report says that "cheap colleges" are turning out hundreds of "inferior practitioners" every year and that the honor of the profession in America is at stake. The members of the committee say they have made a thorough investigation of the conditions and they spare no words in arraignment the systems now operative in many of the smaller medical schools.

NOT NEARLY LAND ENOUGH FOR ALL

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Boise, Ida., June 1.—When the registration books closed at Twin Falls at midnight last night for today's drawing for land under the Twin Falls-Salmon River irrigation project, 4,050 applications had been made for acreage ranging from 40 to 150 acres. Application has been made for 500,000 acres of land and there is but 80,000 acres available at this time. Twin Falls is entertaining the greatest crowd of on-lookers that ever attended the opening of a Carey Act project. Governor Gooding represented the state and announced that the act of congress in giving Idaho another million acres of land under the Carey Act meant that other vast irrigation enterprises would be undertaken and that those disappointed today would soon be able to obtain farms.

DOUGH TAKEN FROM BAKERY CASH TILL

For the second time in a week the cash register of the Butternut bread bakery, corner Second and Columbia streets, was looted Saturday night. The thieves gained entrance through the front door by use of a pass key, the same method by which they effected their first entrance. The contents of the cash register, $7, were taken. The police believe a gang of pass-key experts is operating in the city. Midnight Saturday night a futile attempt was made to unlock the door of Eilers Piano House, corner Park and Washington streets. Unable to open the door's lock, the thieves climbed through the transom. As they failed to find any money, they departed without taking anything.

CONTESTS WILL DISRUPT PLANS CHINA IS AWAKENING

Leaders of Republican Convention Bothered Over Seating Delegates. (United Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, June 1.—It became apparent at Republican headquarters today that the great number of contests over the seating of delegates in the Republican national convention will disrupt the plans of the leaders and may cause a long delay in the convention.

Preliminary arrangements and the prayer by Bishop Muldoon will take up most of the first day of the convention, June 16. After the prayer the committee will be named and then an adjournment will be taken until the committee on credentials is ready to report. The chief fights of the convention will be conducted before the credentials committee, and the membership of that committee is looked upon as being of the utmost importance. There has been much talk of the possibility of the Roosevelt interests dominating the convention to such a degree as to seat contesting Taft delegations from the south, where ramp conventions were held in behalf of the secretary of war. It is believed here today that the credentials committee will be in session at least two days.
