At the art museum yesterday afternoon Miss Jessie B. Jones of Cleveland gave an interesting talk concerning the Birdcliff colony in the Catskills, telling of the work done there, the ambitions of the residents and the delightful spirit of the whole. Miss Roma McKnight followed with a talk on design, and the work of the Minneapolis Handicraft society. She commended the sincere and earnest work done in the classes conducted under the Arts and Crafts society there, and illustrated with some of the articles on exhibition the principles of design which are insisted upon. Friday afternoon Frank Vincent DuMond will give a talk on some subject connected with the art and craft work. Mr. DuMond is a director of the New York society and an artist of international reputation. The art museum will be open from 2 to 5 next Sunday, which is the last day of the exhibition.

Roger Sinnot, counsel for Leong So, a Chinese girl, said to be a slave, held here by the federal authorities, appeared before Governor Chamberlain yesterday and requested that the deportation order of the United States court be carried out. The governor refused to interfere. Several days ago the department of justice ordered that the girl be returned to California to stand trial for larceny. Last month the court ordered that Leong So be deported. The California authorities claim that the girl is native born and in addition had stolen several hundred dollars.

B. D. Townsend, special assistant to the attorney general of the United States, who is to be associated with Tracy C. Becker, who holds a similar position, in the suit to be brought by the government to compel the Oregon & California Railroad company to dispose of certain land grants under the recent act of congress, is expected to arrive today. Mr. Townsend has been working on the case for months. He will remain here several weeks. It will probably be two weeks before the suits will be filed in the federal court.

Among the Medford people at the Hotel Portland who are attending the Rose Festival, are Edgar Hafer, manager of the Crater Lake Lumber company, and Mrs. Hafer; W. S. Brooke, manager of Mrs. Potter Palmer's ranch; Judge Withington, city attorney; Mrs. J. D. Heard and daughter Gladys of the Sterling mine, and Mrs. F. H. Hopkins of Snowy Butte.

Walter H. Evans, assistant United States attorney, appeared before Judge Wolverton in the federal court this morning and asked that $500 bail of Andy Peters, alias Steve Bowner, arrested in Spokane on a charge of having sent obscene matter through the mail, indicted in Portland by a grand jury April 2, be forfeited. Peters was supposed to have appeared in court May 28.

Business men and visitors to the Rose Fiesta can save time and money by eating lunch at the Woman's Exchange, 133 Tenth street, just south of Washington. Good wholesome food, served hot, 11:30 until 2. Refreshments served all afternoon. Homemade cakes, pies, bread, etc., fresh daily, and comprise our chief attraction—come!

D. H. Hawkins has published three poems in pamphlet form, entitled "Where Lie the Oregons," "Hail Portland" and "The Lost Airship," as souvenirs of the Portland Rose Festival. They contain many curious words and phrases that to many will probably appear highly poetical. They are on sale at Meier & Frank's store.

King Oregonus and Queen Flora will review all parades from the monster grandstand, located on Pennoyer block, Tenth and Morrison streets. Reserved seats are on sale at Rowe & Martin's drug store, 323 Washington street. Single tickets $1. Season tickets, five parades, $4. Mail orders will have full attention.

Two more violations of the speed limit ordinance have been reported in Montavilla on the Base Line road. The offenders this time are automobiles Nos. 506 and 926. From stop-watches their speed, when running through Montavilla, is judged at about 30 miles an hour.

Water through hose for sprinkling yards or sidewalks or washing porches or windows must be paid for in advance and used only between the hours of 6 and 8 a. m. and 5 and 9 p. m. It must not be used for sprinkling streets. If used contrary to these rules or wastefully it will be shut off.

Suits have been filed in the United States court by W. V. McAboy to compel the Oregon & California Railroad company to transfer to him 160 acres of land in Columbia county. The suit was brought under the act of congress with reference to land grants.

Sentiment at police headquarters this morning was unanimous that yesterday will go down on record as one of the most orderly and quiet election days in the city's history. Not one case of disorderly conduct was reported by the policemen detailed yesterday to cover the 108 precincts in Portland. The only ripple to break the day's monotony came in the arrest of P. D. Healy, proprietor of a saloon at 361 Morrison street. He was found by officers dispensing liquor to all comers. This morning he was given a fine of $25 in Judge Cameron's court.

East side residents are wrought up keenly over the promiscuous dumping of garbage and refuse near one of the most prominent streets in that vicinity. The citizens have held indignation meetings and the East Side Business Men's club, on their behalf, has written a letter to Chief of Police Gritzmacher asking that stringent measures be adopted by the police. In spite of an ordinance prohibiting, garbage men have been using the grounds near Grand avenue and Sixth street, and other places.

MILLIONS IN PLACER GOLD

Portlanders May Participate in the Harvest of Riches by Uniting With These Leading Citizens Who Have Invested in the Mines.

There are no quartz mines in Alaska to figure in the output of gold from that rich territory, and the placers can be worked only about three to four months per year, yet the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, "after receiving reports from all points in the north, estimates the gold output for the coming season in Alaska at $26,000,000." This tremendous sum of money indicates the enormous profits of placer mining, the most productive industry of the world. The Florence Placer Mining company of Portland owns 540 acres of placer ground in the Florence, Idaho, district, that will discount any similar area ever discovered in Alaskan territory, and it may be worked from eight to nine months each season. The company procured these 27 claims last fall from William Crandall of Grangeville, Idaho, who had government title to them. Mr. Crandall, a man of 63 years, had spent most of his life in the mountains, never caring much for his health, and was so decrepit at the time that he saw his end was near. For this reason he parted with this property which he had steadfastly declined to sell, and in March of the present year his life came to an end. The Florence company is now engaged in installing water pipe and machinery, without which the property could not be mined, and within a few months will be taking from its rich holdings the large deposits of placer gold it has been positively ascertained is contained beneath its surface. The ground was thoroughly tested by the company before the deal was closed with Mr. Crandall, by sinking shafts down to bedrock and washing the gravel taken therefrom. This was found so rich that the corporation has been freely advertising its belief that it would be enabled to pay annual interest of 200 per cent on all its stock subscriptions, and there are those well acquainted with the proposition who declare that it is not at all improbable that the profits of the mines will double that amount. To help equip the property the company put 120,000 shares of its stock upon the market at 25 cents per share, par value 50 cents, and the greater part of this has been disposed of, and it is expected that this month will end its sale entirely. The company's officers and directors are: Hon. John B. Cleland, judge of the state circuit court, president; George L. Peaslee of Peaslee Bros. company, vice-president; Richard C. Hart, superintendent United States light house service, vice-president; H. B. Perks, M. A. I. M. E., mining engineer, and W. W. Peaslee, J. F. Boone and W. A. Cleland. The personnel of the company is ample guarantee that all its affairs will be honestly conducted, and that the gentlemen did not invest their own money before investigating and determining the value of the ground. More than $100,000,000 has been taken from the Florence district, but not a yard of this ground, absolutely proven to be the richest of it all, ever has been mined, because it could not be without machinery such as is being introduced by its present owners. In fact, this has been the dumping ground of the immensely rich gold gulches that have poured their wealth into these creek channels for hundreds of years, and now for the first time appliances have been purchased that will gather the treasure from its seclusion, where it has reposed all these centuries.

The company's office is at room 220 Commercial club building, Fifth and Oak streets, and its telephone is Main 985.

MANUAL TRAINING TEACHERS NEEDED

Demand on Ashland Normal Exceeds Supply—The Summer School.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Ashland, Or., June 2.—The call for manual training teachers has already been greater this year at the normal than can be supplied. The department of manual training, which includes woodwork, cardboard sloyd and raffia, was but recently established by the board of regents, the object being to train teachers along these lines as they are rapidly gaining in favor and are being introduced into the public schools. The work is extended through the training department, where it is under the direction of a competent teacher and a supervisor. Excellent results are being accomplished and the work is giving unusual satisfaction. Many students are making this a major subject and are already partly self-supporting from the sale of manufactured articles. The department is under the direction of Professor H. H. Wardrip of the San Jose, California, state normal.

Summer Normal Course.

The normal school will conduct the usual summer course, beginning June 18 and ending July 31. With a larger number of teachers the outlook for a large attendance is better than ever before. The course includes primary methods under direction of Mrs. Katherine E. Sloan; advanced methods, Miss Armeda Kaiser of Seattle; high school methods and school management and supervision, by Professor A. L. Briggs, president of the Drain normal; regular normal subjects and reviews, under direction of the president of the school and Professor W. T. Van Scoy, Professor A. C. Joy, Miss Kaiser and Professor Briggs.

Professor H. T. Sutton, who for the past year has been head of the department of literature and oral expression at the state normal school, has accepted a position in the Eugene Divinity school. He will visit the education centers of the northwest as a lecturer and field worker in the interest of the school. Professor Sutton was connected with the Cottner university of Nebraska for 10 years and is an able lecturer and writer.

RAT SCALP BOUNTY ABOLISHED BY CITY

Bubonic Plague No Longer Endangers Coast, So Recall Is Sounded.

No longer will the city health board pay a bounty of 5 cents on each rat brought to the city crematory. The rodent so long chased by the youth of the city and hunted to his lair will be given a respite after a hunt that has lasted since last fall. This was decided upon by the health board this morning because of the report made by City Health Officer Dr. Esther C. Pohl, who stated that there has not been a case of bubonic plague reported on the coast since last January.

The city no longer makes bacteriological examinations of the rats returned, and at no time was a single case of plague found among the rats.

All fear of an infection of the dread plague in Portland is dispelled, but the same vigilance will be maintained in regard to vessels and trains by the city health authorities.

Has Lease All O. K.

A telegram has been received from the Florence Goldfield Mining company of Nevada which states that the Florence Central lease is bounded by the Goldfield Chead, Florence Aurelia, Little Florence, Hall Florence and Florence Annex. The EFFECT of SALT in BEER Ever Try It?

A little table salt dropped in a glass of beer will descend to the bottom. Little bubbles begin to rise to the surface, growing in number and ascending rapidly. Diffusing over the surface of the beer, they form a creamy, amber-colored bead. Lots and lots of people use salt in their beer, but few of them know why. A chemical action takes place, in which the molecules are broken, allowing the gas to escape. Beer, with a little salt, reduces the tendency to biliousness.

Pale Bohemian Beer

However, has less biliousness in it than most other beers. It is, therefore, more healthy to drink and safer for those who are convalescent and inclined to sickness. Many physicians prescribe PALE BOHEMIAN for their patients as a tonic.

We recommend that salt be not used in PALE BOHEMIAN, as the aeration has given just the sufficient touch.

—one way out of it

As long as you live you will have to wear clothes. The style the other fellow sets will govern the style that you wear. Inasmuch as you have to wear clothes and wish to keep within hailing distance of the proper style, isn't it the best plan to have a tailor make your clothes whose ideas are up-to-date and whose stock is a year ahead of the other tailors? The only solution of the problem is to go to the shop where the goods are new, the styles proper, the workmen skilled, the price satisfactory and the suit above reproach. One-third of Portland believes that we make the best clothes. That third is right.
