WEATHER REPORT

The disturbance noted over northern Arizona yesterday morning has moved northeastward and, with center about Denver, Colorado, now overspreads the entire eastern slope of the Rocky mountains. General rains have fallen over eastern Washington, eastern Oregon, Idaho and northern Nevada during the last 12 hours, while in the lower Mississippi valley and the gulf states moderate to heavy general rains also occurred. Temperatures were somewhat higher over Nevada and decidedly lower over Arizona and western Colorado.

Cloudy weather is indicated over northeastern Oregon and western Washington tonight and Friday, while over southern Oregon fair weather is probable. Showers are also indicated east of the mountains.

The stage of the river at Portland will remain practically stationary for the next two days.
