THE WEEK has been a busy one filled with public functions. The Rose Festival activities have precluded much private entertaining, though there have been several small luncheons given entertaining the officers of the ships in the harbor.

The Damrosch concerts Wednesday and Thursday were exceptionally brilliant events and Miss Steers and Miss Coman have received many congratulations on the manner in which they handled the big crowd and the general artistic success of the series. Thursday night saw one of the most fashionable crowds gathered in many months in Portland. Madame Nordica had exquisite flowers sent her by admiring people and was given all the attention due her.

The daily papers gave notice to most of the social events of the week. The rose cotillion given Monday night by Mrs. Blanche Irbe Kofoed was reviewed. A pretty card affair of Monday was that given by Miss Effie and Miss Claire Houghton and the guests' names were published Tuesday. The particulars of the Greenwald-Rheinstrom wedding were also published Tuesday.

The date set for the annual charity ball game of the flower mission at Multnomah field between the lawyers and doctors and the bakers, has been set for June 20. The patroness list includes some prominent women and will be given next week.

The marriage of Miss Gretchen Hoyt to Henry Ladd Corbett Wednesday in New York has been spoken of abundantly. It was an elaborate affair that created some stir in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Corbett have gone abroad for the summer.

The Rose Festival ball at the Armory Friday evening was an elaborate affair. There was a representative crowd in attendance and many of the most prominent society people in town gave tone to the affair. Most of the patronesses were in the grand march, though many left shortly after. W. D. Wheelwright, Dr. K. A. J. Mackenzie, L. Allen Lewis and Richard Nixon formed the escort for the royal party as it entered the hall. Miss Carrie Lee Chamberlain in her robes of white silk wore a heavy string of pearls and a jewel studded girdle. Her court train was of purple velvet with ermine lining and she wore a golden coronet. Her maids of honor wore white frocks and carried pink roses. The king wore a crimson court train with ermine. The officers from the fleet and barracks were popular guests in full dress uniform.

Immediately following the royal party in the grand march were Admiral Swinburne and Mrs. C. F. Beebe with the other navy and army officers following. Mrs. Beebe was charming and distinguished in black chiffon velvet with a touch of white duchesse lace.

There were many handsome gowns worn. Mrs. T. B. Wilcox made a handsome figure in a gown of white lace over satin with a heavy band of white and pink pompadour silk finishing the skirt and a belt sash of the same. Mrs. K. A. J. Mackenzie was charming in a white lace gown shot with steel beads. Mrs. Richard Koehler wore black lace over white satin. Mrs. George E. Chamberlain was in pink chiffon with insets of Valenciennes lace. Her sister, Mrs. Carrie Renner, was in gray mousseline de soie with touches of white lace. Mrs. A. E. Rockey wore white satin. Mrs. William MacMaster wore a handsome gown of white Irish lace over satin. Mrs. J. McI. Wood was pretty in black lace over black silk with a touch of white duchesse lace. Mrs. Henry McCraken was beautiful in heavy white silk. Mrs. W. C. Alvord wore yellow brocade satin with a touch of spangled chiffon in trimming. Miss Lewis wore white satin and lace. Mrs. A. C. Panton wore a beautiful French gown of white chiffon over chiffon embroidered in pastel shades. Mrs. William Warren wore white lace. Mrs. W. Wynn Johnson was in gray chiffon with pink roses. Mrs. Sanford Whiting attracted a great deal of attention in a gown of gray satin cut on long simple lines and with her hair dressed in a simple Grecian knot. Dr. Katherine C. Manion, too, presented a striking appearance in gray messaline and rose point the tone of her hair. Mrs. Jerry Bronaugh wore blue messaline with inserted bands of lace. Mrs. Charles McDonnell wore a handsome gown of alternating bands of satin and lace.

Among the younger people who attracted attention were Miss Frances Wilson, who was charming in a simple frock of turquoise blue chiffon with a necklace of pearls. Miss Ruth Danenhower, her guest, wore an empire gown of pale pink chiffon over a deeper shade of pink with little touches of white lace. Miss Caroline Burns wore an elaborate gown of net of a deep sky blue shade, cut empire with a train. Miss Effie Houghton wore white net trimmed with bands of satin and a bertha of handsome princess lace. Miss Claire Houghton wore light blue chiffon cut empire with ribbon ends and sleeves and semi-bodice of white net. Miss Dorothy Morrison was handsome in pink chiffon trimmed with satin bands and white lace, cut empire with train. Miss Dorothy Holbrook wore white net trimmed with lace. Miss Maida Hart was in a simple frock of pink figured dimity with pink ribbon sash. Miss Susie Stott wore white net and lace. Miss Laura Miller, daughter of the consul at Yokohama, who is visiting Mrs. A. H. Tanner, wore a gown of white jussi cloth with a satin stripe of white and a suggestion of pink.

A pleasant affair next Wednesday evening will be a concert and social at the Westminster Presbyterian church for which Mrs. Blaine R. Smith is arranging. Mr. Butterworth and Mr. Bowman, two splendid bassos who have recently retired from operatic work to take up business life, will sing. Miss Sara Glance, whose rich contralto has won her so many admirers, will be the other soloist. Mrs. Sylvia McGuire will give readings. A social time will follow the program.

Mr. and Mrs. David Linn, Mrs. Densmore and her daughter, Mrs. Alvin Hampton, were among the prominent Eugene people who came down for the Damrosch concerts. Mrs. Densmore and Mrs. Hampton have gone to Seattle to visit Mrs. Densmore's son, Harvey, who is an instructor in the University of Washington.

A wedding was celebrated quietly Wednesday evening at the pretty Portland Heights home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bealey when Miss Frieda Rothfuse of New York was married to Alfred Frauendorf. The bride recently came out from New York and has been visiting at the Bealey home. She is a relative of Walter and Frank Damrosch and Herman Van Prag, the leading 'cello player of the Damrosch orchestra which was here last week, is married to her sister Pauline. She has a large circle of acquaintances among musical people in New York. Mr. Frauenberg is a native of Berlin and has bought a place at Rose City Park where they expect to make their home. The wedding ceremony was pronounced by Rev. H. M. Ramsey.

★ ★

Mrs. Edward Cookingham was hostess at the only large affair of the week. Friday she gave a tea to about 200 guests in compliment to Mrs. Cunningham and her daughter, Mrs. James Canby, who have recently come here to make their home. In the dining-room Mrs. J. Wesley Ladd, Mrs. Morton H. Insley, Mrs. Ernest F. Tucker and Mrs. Frank E. Hart poured tea and served ices, and Miss Gladys Weidler and Mrs. George A. Marshall assisted. Miss Sally Lewis and Mrs. Frank Vincent DuMond served punch, and Miss Frances Wilson assisted them. Mrs. W. C. Alvord, Mrs. Stewart B. Linthicum, Mrs. William H. Warrens and Mrs. John Shepard "floated" about the reception-rooms.

WEDDINGS

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at the First Methodist church Wednesday evening, May 27, when Frank Van Winkle, son of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Van Winkle, pioneers of Linn county, now of Salem, and Miss Elsoa A. Steinmetz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Steinmetz, were married by Rev. Benjamin F. Young. The church was decorated with Oregon grape, Solomon seal and ivy, under the direction of Miss Frances Powell. Mrs. Miller of the Taylor Street church choir sang "Springtime" before the ceremony. As Mrs. Warren Thomas played the "Lohengrin" wedding music, the bride, accompanied by her father and preceded by the ushers, bridesmaids, maid of honor and flower girls, marched up the aisle and was met at the altar by the groom and best man, Charles Van Winkle.

The bride carried a bouquet of Bride roses, and presented a pretty picture in her flowing veil and dress of white silk trimmed with Venetian bands. The ushers were Roy Searl, Chester Gault, Charles Cornwall and Mr. Matthews.

Miss Helena Pearl, maid of honor, wore a dress of pale blue, and the four bridesmaids, Miss Myrtle Chamberlain, Miss Ethel Tressler, Miss Agnes Boyce and Miss Ethel Knott, wore pale pink. The flower girls, Emily Summers and Georgia Jacobs, were daintily frocked in white and carried baskets of roses.

After the ceremony a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents, 466 East Oak street, which was beautifully decorated. Miss Frances Powell received the guests.

Noticeable among the guests was Mrs. Patterson, wife of Dr. J. G. Patterson of Merrill, Oregon.

A pretty wedding was celebrated at the home of W. W. H. Samson, Oregon City, Wednesday evening, when Robert H. C. Wood and Elva A. Miller were married by Rev. E. S. Bollinger of the Portland Highland Congregational church. The guests were a limited number of the nearest friends and relatives. The bride has a wide acquaintance in Clackamas county. Mr. Wood is from Roseburg, where he is a leader in fraternal circles among Odd Fellows and Masons. Immediately after the ceremony and congratulations Mr. and Mrs. Wood came to Portland to spend several days at the festivities of the week, after which they will enjoy a honeymoon of several weeks in the sound country and British Columbia, where the groom is well known. They will reside in Roseburg.

★ ★

O. P. Yoder and Miss Bernadotte Reed were united in marriage June 3 at their home, 7 East Thirteenth street. Rev. Henry A. Barden officiated. The parlor was decorated for the occasion with choice roses. The bride was handsomely gowned. She was recently one of Michigan's popular teachers. The bridegroom is well known in Portland. His father, J. S. Yoder; a sister, Miss Yoder, and Miss Lottie B. Schwartz were among the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Yoder will spend their honeymoon attending the Portland Rose Festival, and they will be at home at 7 East Thirteenth street in a few days to their friends.
