LAST ROUNDUP OF COUNTIES IN ELECTION

Details of Votes Counted in Various Sections of State Showing How Various Candidates Weathered the Political Storm.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

La Grande, Or., June 6.—The full returns from the election brought surprises for several candidates in Union county. For instance, Turner Oliver, Democratic candidate for state senator from the district of Union and Wallowa counties, was almost ready to concede the election to his Republican opponent, Ed Rumble, when the Union county vote was practically in. But notwithstanding the fact that Oliver's own county gave Rumble a majority of 168, Oliver was elected by Wallowa county votes.

Union county is strongly Republican, but E. E. Bragg, a Democrat, who has held the office of county superintendent of schools for the last 10 years, was reelected by a majority of nearly 900.

Frank P. Childers, Democratic nominee for sheriff, received 1,938 votes out of a total of 3,411. E. W. Davis, until lately register in the land office here, received less than 1,000. Below are full returns for the entire county:

CROOK'S DRY VOTE A SURPRISE TO ALL

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Prineville, Or., June 6.—The returns from the election are complete with the exception of 34 votes from Camp Creek precinct, the result of which will not be known until the official count is held.

The result for the county officers are as follows: County judge—Ellis 935; Horney 142, Robinson 625, Wright 158; sheriff—Congleton 593, Elkins 1,197; clerk—Brown 1,187, Wilhoit 146; treasurer—W. F. King 1,001, W. R. McFarland 631; assessor—Dayton 701, J. D. Lafollette 950; school superintendent—W. R. Cook 724, R. A. Ford 862; county commissioner—James Rice, by almost unanimous vote; county surveyor—Fred A. Rice 829, W. H. Houston 528.

In the local option contest more interest was manifest if possible than in the sheriff contest, which otherwise easily took first place, even above the senatorial fight. It was generally conceded that the county would vote dry by a small majority but many of the precincts in the county were counted as wet with Prineville at the top of the list. The count here showed Prineville with 109 votes against prohibition and 112 votes for it. Before the count was finished, at about sunrise Tuesday, many of the smaller precincts were in and the result showed Crook county was on a landslide for prohibition. The only precinct in the county that showed wet majority was Howard, where the result was 3 dry and 5 wet. The county stands 2 to 1 dry, with 100 votes to spare. The victory was greater than the Law and Order league had expected, although more than $1,000 had been spent in the campaign for printing, postage stamps and other essential expenses.

A movement was started Tuesday for a momoth Fourth of July celebration. July is the date for prohibition to take effect. It has been said that Prineville could not have a celebration without something to drink, but a canvass of two hours Wednesday morning resulted in a fund of $517 for a grand celebration, and not a saloon man was asked to contribute.

Plans had been made by the saloon organization to fight the prohibition law in the courts, but as the majority has been so great that will not be attempted.

Grants Pass, Or., June 6.—The official count for Josephine does not alter results very materially. Chamberlain leads over Cake by 77 votes. The final count is as follows:

United States senator—Amos 55, Cake 932, Chamberlain 1,007, Cooper 185; justice of the supreme court—Bean 1,041, Bright 167, Brix 334; dairy and food commissioner—Bailey 1,071, Emery 539, Hoskins 190; representative in congress—Hawley 991, Staver 76, Whitney 471.

State senator—Jewell 700, Norton 1,100, Sturgeon 221; state representative—DeArmond 764, Robbins 330, Smith 887. H. D. Norton, who won for senator, ran on the independent-Democratic ticket and is a Statement No. 1 man; J. C. Smith, who won for representative, is a Republican and opposed to Statement No. 1.

Joseph Russell, Democrat, was elected sheriff. Aside from this, the Republicans elected all other county officers.

The prohibition proposition carried in the county by a majority of 550. Woman suffrage failed to carry in Josephine. A large majority was polled in favor of the recall measure, and also in favor of instructing the legislature to elect the candidate for United States senator who receives the largest vote of the people. The results prove that the people of the county are in favor of holding the state elections in November; they are not willing to increase the pay of members of the legislature, and they do not believe that all public institutions should be located at Salem.

CHAMBERLAIN GAINS JACKSON BY 480

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Medford, Or., June 6.—The official count for Jackson county shows Chamberlain carried the county by the plurality of 480, the total vote being 2,182 for Chamberlain and 1,702 for Cake. The result is the more remarkable when it is considered that Chamberlain failed to carry the county in both of his gubernatorial campaigns.

Jones, Democrat, is elected sheriff by 536, and Nell, Democrat, county judge by 175.

The count on representatives confirms the election of two Statement No. 1 Democrats. The list is: Purdin, Democrat, 1,838; Miller, Democrat, 1,837; Hammersley, Republican, 1,779; Kubli, Republican, 1,530.

The balance of the Republican ticket received majorities ranging from 600 up.

KLAMATH COUNT IS AS GOOD AS FINAL

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Klamath Falls, Or., June 6.—The election in Klamath county resulted in the choice of both Democrats and Republicans for county offices. Party lines were not drawn closely.

The following Republicans were elected: C. R. De Lat, county clerk; J. G. Swan, school superintendent; M. D. Williams, county surveyor, and W. B. Barnes, sheriff.

The Democrats elected were: C. H. Daggett, treasurer; J. P. Lee, assessor, and S. T. Summers, commissioner.

There were 761 votes polled in Linkville precinct, and these figures are the result with all but 263 ballots counted. The count on these, however, is not likely to change the general result.

D. V. Kuykendall defeats W. J. Moore for prosecuting attorney by a majority of probably 275.

One of the most enthusiastic citizens of this Oregon country is Dr. P. L. Austin. He is enthusiastic because of what he attributes the most fortunate circumstance of his long and useful career.

When in Idaho he got hold of a mine, the assays of which show a rich gold mine. It is located 16 miles from Wallace and near the little mining town of Murray. "Our mine is immensely rich in both gold and galena," said Dr. Austin yesterday. "It's worth is established beyond all question. This has been demonstrated over and over, in the nine tunnels we have driven, some of them 300 to 400 feet in length. In these we have cut many rich veins of ore, and now we are to begin cross-cutting on these veins, and as sure as the sun shines from the sky above before many months our 220 acres of ground will be turning out gold at a rate that will pay tremendous dividends to every stockholder. This is the history of the district. It is enormously rich in the precious metals, and none ever had better prospects than this very property. We have one dike that is 60 feet in width, and this crosses one vein great enough to pay immense dividends if we never should find another in the entire tract. But we have other well-defined veins—in fact and in truth.

"As we say in our display announcement, which appears in another column of today's paper: 'And as an evidence of our confidence in what we have got, if any stockholder should at any time become skeptical and desire to see for himself precisely what we have, if he will pay a personal visit to our property, inspect it for himself, and find that we have in even the smallest detail misrepresented it, we will cheerfully refund him all moneys paid for shares and pay his expenses of the trip as well. The Coeur d'Alene mining district is one of the richest in the world. It is not much heard of of late in Portland, simply because all its mines, with the exception of our own and two or three others, are already heavy producers, and the moment any mine arrives at that stage its management becomes silent, for the reason that the majority of its stockholders desire that the amount of their income be not made public.'"

IRONICAL PEN MADE NO WOUND

Jury Says Rev. Green C. Love Was Not Hurt $2,000 Worth.

In just 10 minutes a jury in Judge Gantenbein's department of the circuit court yesterday afternoon decided that A. W. Miller did not libel Rev. Green C. Love when he wrote a letter in the Mount Scott News calling the minister a "holy drone," a a "parasite" and other unlovely terms. And thereby the anti-annexation element of the Mount Scott district scored another victory, for the suit grew out of a warm discussion between Miller and Love over "Greater Portland," in which Miller sought to stand off the annexation arguments of the spiritist minister.

Besides being a minister, Love is a wealthy landowner, who inherited many broad acres from the Love estate and became a resident of Nashville, in the Mount Scott section at comparatively recent date. Miller is one of the old timers, much less wealthy in the world's goods, and he sarcastically resented the minister's annexation fervor. Verbal broadsides in the Mount Scott newspaper resulted, in the course of which Miller dipped his pen deeply in the well of irony and used terms to which the Rev. Mr. Love objected.

Among other things that the jury declined to believe was libelous was a statement that the minister was suffering from "enlargement of the ego, causing ossification of the cranial cavity, resulting in St. Vitus' dance of the jawbone." Another statement passed on by the jury was a mock apology by Miller, excusing himself for ever having referred to Mr. Love as a "gentleman."

Miller's defense was a general denial that the publication was libelous. He asserted that all he said was fair criticism, and that the minister had to take his chances in a newspaper controversy when he jumped into the annexation fight.

Love asserted that his fair name had been damaged among his neighbors, and that he was entitled to protection from the sarcastic pen of the versatile Miller. The jury took only one ballot, refusing to give Love the $2,000 that he asked as balm for his wounded sensibilities.

REV. W. P. WHITE FORCEFUL LEADER

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Albany, Or., June 6. — Rev. W. P. White of this city, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, has become one of the most prominent men of western Oregon on account of his leadership of the anti-saloon forces. He was born in Iowa 43 years ago. He attended college at Monmouth college, Illinois, graduating in 1887. In the year of his graduation he won in the Illinois state oratorical contest. Afterward he attended and graduated from Xenia Theological seminary, Ohio, in 1891. His first pastorate was at Little York, Illinois. From this work he was called to the work of synodical evangelist in the synod of Iowa. For seven years he was pastor of the United Presbyterian church at Indianola, Iowa; from this work he was called to the pastorate of the Albany church, which he has served for the past seven years.

The Albany church is the oldest of that denomination in the west and recently celebrated its fiftieth anniversary. During his pastorate the church has been most prosperous and is in excellent condition financially.

During the past seven years the church has paid off a debt of $5,000, installed a pipe organ costing $3,000, made $1,500 worth of improvements on the church building and raised over $1,000 per year for missions, until last year, when this was increased to $2,000.

He is a trustee of Albany college and a member of the Albany Commercial club.

Mr. White will preach the baccalaureate sermon at O. A. C., June 14, at Corvallis.

YAMHILL AWAITS OFFICIAL COUNT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

McMinnville, Or., June 6.—Yesterday was a holiday here on account of the pioneer picnic, so that interest in the election results was not paramount. Nothing new as to the count will transpire until after the official count. This, however, will not materially change the count as already reported.

MEANS LONGER TIME IN OFFICE

Amendment Bringing Elections in November Will Affect County Officers.

By virtue of the decision of the voters of Oregon in adopting an amendment to the state constitution changing the time of the biennial election from June to November, the state and county officers elected last Tuesday will have their terms extended five months. Sheriff Stevens, County Clerk Fields and the others elected for two-year terms will serve until December, 1910, and receive a handsome little addition to their respective stipends.

Hereafter the primaries will also be moved along and will take place about the middle of September, instead of in April. This will make the Oregon election time correspond to the voting season in most of the other states of the union. Only a few of the far eastern states and two or three of the southern are still out of step with the great majority in the time of holding elections.

The chief argument in favor of the change was that expense will be saved and that less expenditure of energy will be required on the part of all concerned. Against this reasoning it was pointed out that every four years there will be a commingling of national and state campaigns, which many voters regard as undesirable, tending to confuse the issues and to impede the clear settlement of state questions on their merits.

But the voters have spoken by a decided vote, and the June election has become a thing of the past. Oregon's next general election will be in November, 1910.

DOCTOR PROSTRATED BEFORE DRUGSTORE

Dr. W. C. Belt Not Expected to Survive, Reports the Good Samaritan.

Dr. W. C. Belt, who ran for joint representative in the Republican primaries, and whose office is on Russell street, was taken violently ill in front of W. C. Cable's drugstore, 255 Holladay avenue, last evening about 7:30 o'clock, and was not expected to survive the night at the Good Samaritan hospital, to which he was removed in a Red Cross ambulance.

Although several expert Portland physicians examined him last night, no specific opinion was given out as to the man's ailment.

When he first convulsed in a prostrate heap in front of the drugstore his face took on a variety of hues. The same condition prevailed at the hospital up to a late hour last night.

Dr. Belt walked into Cable's drugstore about 7 o'clock last night. At that time he appeared normal, mentally and physically. He remained there a few moments, conversing with Dr. M. B. Marcellus, who chanced to be present, and then walked away. The druggist, Mr. Cable, says he purchased no drugs.

About 20 minutes after leaving the drugstore he was noticed in the near vicinity, staggering uncertainly. Apparently he was making an effort to regain the drugstore. When immediately opposite it's front door he collapsed in a heap. Since that time he has uttered no word. Physicians at the Good Samaritan hospital last night made futile efforts to reach his family. He has a wife and several children.

KING WOMAN MUST FACE MURDER CHARGE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Seattle, June 6.—Mrs. Madeline King, who has confessed that she cut her husband's body into small pieces and made a bonfire of the dismembered corpse, was held for murder in the first degree at her preliminary hearing today. Mrs. King declared she found her husband dead in his chair and remembering the years of ill treatment she had suffered at his hands flew into a rage and mutilated the corpse. She denies that she murdered him.
