Sprinting is not one of the requirements laid down by the civil service commission for applicants to Portland's police force. Officer C. F. Hunter, however, unlimbered his running joints last night to such good advantage as to vindicate any aspersions on the speed proclivities of Pertland's bluecoats. Eakin Pasburg grew riotous in a rooming-house on Pourth street. He kicked an unoffending dog down two flights of stairs with such force as to snuff out its life flame. The landlady yelled for help. Officer Hunter arrived. After a struggle he dragged Pesburg to a near by patrol box. While turning in a call for the wagon the prisoner broke loose. Then ensued a foot race in which the policeman was victor, but not until six city blocks had been covered.

Residents of Mount Tabor, Montavilla and Center Addition will probably soon ask the city council to build a new fire station on Mount Tabor far enough up on the heights that the engine will run down grade to any of the three districts it will cover. The only fire protection at present afforded in this district is that furnished by the station at Sunnyside which is so far away as to be almost valueless. Fire Chief Campbell is in favor of building the new station.

One of the unique figures among the ploneers is Captain Thomas Mountain, veteran steamboat commander on the Columbia and Willamette rivers. He came to Oregon in 1841 as a sailor and has been one of the best known men of the state ever since. Captain John Kelly, one of the first of the Indian fighters, also registered today. He came to Portland in 1856.

The Ploneer association expects to see at least 1,100 names enrolled before tomorrow noon, up to which time the registration continues. Last year therewere 1,250 pioneers in attendance at the early reunion, but the ranks of death have claimed many and many more have become too feeble to attend.

Additions to Collection.

Additions to Gollection.

All arrangements have been completed for the entertainment of the pioneers and the program will be carried out in detail. Several new features have been added to the Oregon Historical society's collection that will prove of interest to the pioneers. One is a large picture of John M. Shiveley, who was the first postmaster appointed west of the Rocky mountains. Shiveley was appointed at Astoria in 1847, and was well known to many of the pioneers who will be in attendance at this week's reunion.

Another picture that will prove of especial interest at this time is a group picture of the three men who formed the first Masonic lodge west of the Rocky mountains. Accompanying the picture is the original notice sent out to all Masons then living in the Oregon territory. The men were Joseph Hull (1845), William P. Dougherty (1843), and P. G. Stewart (1843). These men called a meeting as follows:

"The members of the Masonic fraternity in Oregon territory, are respectfully requested to meet at the City hotel, in Oregon City, on the 21st inst., to adopt some measures to obtain a charter for a lodge."

The notice was signed by Hull, Stewart and Dougherty and was dated February 5, 1846.

Many pleasing features have been arranged for the aged pioneers and their families and everything is in readiness to accord them a royal reception while in the city. The public is cordially invited to attend all the meetings, save the banquet, which has been prepared exclusively for pioneers.

Address by Judge George. The literary program of the associa-tion will be given tomorrow afternoon The literary program of the association will be given tomorrow afternoon at the encampment tents, corner Davis and Tenth streets. Judge M. C. George will give the annual address, and Mayor Lane will make the address of welcome. Parson's orchestra has been engaged to furnish music of the program. Mrs. M. L. T. Hidden will recite a poem, "To the Pioneers," and Mrs. Julia Ramsey, Miss Van De Mer and Miss Newgent will sing solos.

The annual dinner will be served in the Armory at 4:30, and a business session will be held afterwards. The old-timers will then adjourn to the tents again.

also claimed by the state, were heard by Judge H. L. Benson of the First judicial district in County Judge Webjudicial district in County Judge Webter's courtroom yesterday afternoon. Judge Benson chanced to be in this part of the state, and as Portland is convenient for the attorneys a stipulation was entered into that the argument might be heard here, saving the attorneys a trip to Lake county.

Attorney-General Crawford contends that the description of the land in the original deed is too indefinits to be valid, and asserts that the land could not be sold until surveyed and a patent issued from Washington. He declared that except for small sections—the tract is not swamp land, but requires irrigation, and for this reason he argued that the proofs of the Warner Valley company were fraudulent.

The company's attorney argued that the land was of swampy character when it was flied on, having since been reclaimed. He asserted that the state secured a good this in 1860 and had the right to sell it in 1870, when me deed was made to W. A. Owens through whom the company bases its claim. The testimony has shown that Owens did not pay the money for the land for some time, but the company asserts that he did so as soon as the government land officials were ready to accept the coin.

Originally the sult argued yesterday

ment land officials were ready to accept the coin.

Originally the suit argued yesterday involved 20,000 acres acquired by the Warner Valley Stock company, which the state is seeking to recover. Judge Benson narrowed the field to 5,22s acres, heiding that action concerning the remainder has been barred by the statute of limitations.

Judge Benson took the case under advisement.

One Little Jar.

Only once during the course of the day was there the slightest rift-in the lute, and that was over the adoption of the order of business and later over its interpretation by the chair. The committee on order of business provided in its report that two delegates be elected from the state at large, two from Multnoman county and four from the body of the state. Turner Oliver of La Grande and Dave Sears of Marion county, both objected to making Multnoman county "a little state within itself."

After some discussion Judge A. S.

nomah county a little state within itself."

After some discussion Judge A. S. Bennett of The Dalles moved to amend the order of business by making it four delegates at large and two from each of the congressional districts. This was done by the convention. Later the question arose in the election of congressional delegates as to whether the whole convention should vote for the delegates from each district, or whether the counties in the district should vote for the delegates from that district. The question provoked much debate, but it was at last ruled by the chair that owing to the action of the convention, the whole convention would have to take part in the voting.

Chosen by Acclamation.

The convention first took up the election of four delegates at large, and selected M. A. Miller of Linn, R. D. Inman of Multnomah, W. F. Matlock of Umatilla, and J. O. Booth of Josephine. The alternates selected by the convention for the delegates at large were chosen by acclamation and were Dr. D. L. Henderson of Clatsop, John Manning of Multnomah, James H. Beeman of Jackson and J. D. Slater of Union.

Following the election of delegates at large the selection of delegates from the First congressional district was undertaken. Dan J. Fry of Marlon and L. M. Travis of Lane were elected to these positions, their alternates being J. E. Hedges of Clackamas and Seth Riggs of Polk.

UNDER ADVISEMENT

Ownership of Huge Tract in Lake County Involved in Suit.

Arguments on the claim of the Warner Valley Stock company, to 5,223 acres of Lake county land, which is also claimed by the state, were heard by Judge H. L. Benson of the First to selection of delegates from the Second district the prefitest fight of the convention was sprung. Multnomake delegates to the convention felt that the county was being crowded out of its share of the honors and went in determined to put two men in the national convention. D. M. Watson and C. K. Henry, both of Portland, were put in nomination, while eastern Oregon came to the fore with Colonel W. F. Butcher of Baker City. The fight waxed warm and perspiring orators began to extoll the merits and qualifications of the different men in nomination.

In the midst of the oratory Colonel Butcher arose and in one of the precitiest speeches of the day withdrew his name from before the convention, and asked that the unanimous vote of the gathering be cast for the two Portland men. His request was greeted with prolonged applause. The alternates for the Second district were then chosen, the S Portland After Places.

Presidential Electors. Presidential Electors.

The last business of the day was the election of four presidential electors. E. S. J. McAllister of Multnomah, Sam White of Baker county, O. P. Coshow of Douglas and Bernard Daly of Lake were put in nomination and were elected by acclamation. The convention then authorized Chairman Sweek of the state committee to fill any vacancies which might arise in the electoral ticket, and after instructing that Bryan be notified of his indorsement by the convention and that the delegation had been pledged to him, adjourned.

Departure

The cost of interments has been greatly reduced by the Holman Undertaking company.

Heretofore it has been the custom of funeral directors to make charges for all incidentals connected with a funeral. The Edward Holman Undertaking company, the leading funeral directors of Portland, have departed from that custom. When casket is furnished by us we make no extra charges for embalming, hearse to cemetery, outside box or any services that may be required of us, except clothing, cemetary and carriages, thus offecting a saving of $25 to $75 on each funeral.

AT THE THEATRES

"Lovers' Lane" at the Baker. There are some very inushable scenes in Ciyde Fitch's play, "Lovers' Lene," in which the Baker stock company is pleasing large audiences all this week. One of them is where Skillig, the village "opry house" manager and bill poster makes the mistake of advertising the old folks' concert with pictures of burlesque girls in tights.

Professional Races-The Oaks. Roller skating enthusiasts of the city will have an opportunity to see some fast and fancy work at the big Caks rink tonight when a series of professional races will be run between some of the best and fastest skaters in the state. Great preparations have been made for the events, which will be interesting.

Grand's Bill.

From the dancing Glessons to "The Seamstress" there is not a feature on the new program at the Grand which is not worth the price of admission. The Glessons have the best act in the dancing line on the vaudeville stage. George O'Ramey is a singing comedian who is making a hit. "Brown's Vacation."

Laughter and song are-found at the Star theatre. The home of musical comedy is presenting "Brown's Vacation" this week, the best of all the attractions which have been given by the Armstrong company. There is a laugh in every line.

"Held by the Enemy" Tonight. The finest theatrical attraction in the city this week is "Held By the Enemy," as presented at the Lyric by the famous Blunkall-Atwood company, the most popular stock organization that has ever visited this city.
