Water System Suffers From Vacuum Where Pressure Should Be—New Valves May Remedy Troublesome Conditions.

If the new air valves now being experimented with by the city water department should not prove effective in ridding water pipes of the air which has been the cause of the recent water shortage it is the opinion of an engineer who has investigated the system that the distributing system at the main reservoir on Mount Tabor will have to be torn out and replaced by an expensive substitute for the present system.

Experiments have been conducted for the past two weeks on the water system with a view to finding out the cause of the falling off in the supply from 6,000 gallons a minute to barely 4,000 gallons. It has been ascertained that the presence of air in the water is the cause of the trouble. The air is drawn into the pipes from the main reservoir on Mount Tabor. This air causes a falling of the pressure which normally should never fall below 10 pounds, but as conditions now are the low figure of seven or eight pounds, and in some instances the readings on the water gauges show a vacuum of six pounds.

Duplicate Necessary. To tear down the distributing tank at the main reservoir and install a new system would involve an expense which would have to be duplicated whenever the city decides to put in a second pipe line. It is suggested that a duplicate of the present system be installed and the present one could be remedied at the same time without additional cost.

One Remedy Suggested. However, it is stated by one who is thoroughly conversant with the situation that it is suggested at this time to prevent everybody from taking water at the same time.

To this fact more than anything else is attributed the shortage of water. Even if there were no air troubles it would be difficult to supply all the water that the people would consume between the hours of 5 and 9 when sprinkling is permitted.

The big feed pipe which supplies the water used by residents is capable of furnishing 8,000,000 gallons a day. Only 2,000,000 gallons a day are used. This, if evenly distributed, would make less than a total of 105,000 gallons an hour, but so great is the demand on the pipes during the spring months that more than double this amount is used in an hour. This is more than the pipes were designed to carry.

To relieve the congestion between the hours of 5 and 9, when so much water is used, many people advocate the use of a meter on each house. The meter, made by the water board, so that users of water who have meters may sprinkle at any hour of the day. This would reduce the amount needed by residents at these hours.

BUMPER WHEAT CROP EXPECTED THIS YEAR

Rain Fell at Times When Most Needed in Oregon Districts.

It is estimated by the traffic department of the O. R. & N. Co. from reports received throughout the inland empire, that the condition of the wheat crop at this time is even better than it was last year at the same period, and that there is every indication of a bumper crop of wheat in the grain areas of Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

In nearly every section of the interior country there has been a heavy rain at times when they would do the most good to the wheat crop. Sherman county prospects are excellent, and Gilliam county is in good condition. The lower row county crop is generally favorable but rain is needed in the northern portion. In late spring it is believed that the greatest wheat crop in the history of the state.

Few people—entirely too few—knew of this until last week, when we made the above announcement. Result, a store full of customers every day, and, naturally, "satisfied talking machine buyers" because they could, by coming here, intelligently make a choice and better choice, thereby avoiding future regret, etc. Small payments if you like.

The same can be said in the sale of records—thousands upon thousands were found here in stock, everything that needed all-completing lists up to and including the very latest.

No excuses, no waiting, you simply get what you come here, and, in the meantime, allow our clerks to run over a few of the latest New York hits for you—also other new music. It's well worth your time to visit Elgers Talking Machine Parlor, and you're welcome to come and stop up on the latest. Remember the place, Park and Washington.

If there is anything to the belief that the big things of this world are done by the big people, R. H. Thomson, city engineer of Seattle, is as good an exponent of the theory as could be found. For just as Mr. Thomson's six feet of height and 200 pounds of weight throw an ordinary man into insignificance so do his achievements in the pressure which normally should never fall below 10 pounds, but as conditions now are the low figure of seven or eight pounds, and in some instances the readings on the water gauges show a vacuum of six pounds.

Mr. Thomson was found in his apartment, the commercial club by a representative of The Journal just as he was going out to lunch with a party of friends and when asked for an interview, he consented to talk for a moment.

Transformed Streets. "For 16 years," said Mr. Thomson, "I have been engaged in transforming the most difficult streets in any city in the world into presentable, comfortable, safe and sanitary thoroughfares. I have made a close study of all classes and characters of paving materials with reference to their adaptability to Seattle streets. You must understand that paving the streets of a city means something more than putting down asphalt, Belgian blocks or some other material in a way that will resist wear and last for a reasonable length of time. A properly paved thoroughfare should give to the traveler over it a feeling of comfort and ease and impart the desire to live on such a street.

Europe is far ahead of the United States in the matter of beautifying the streets of its cities. I have visited all of the large cities of Europe and found that the most scientific methods employed by the cities in paving their streets. Everything is done with a single eye to permanence, comfort and beauty.

Blind and Deaf, Young and Old, All Called Before Jury

The third floor of the postoffice building, reminds one of an old man's home, an orphan asylum and an immigration office at a seaport city where aliens are landed in this country, all combined.

All day long these people, old and young alike, persons of dark skin and yellow skin as well, are gathered in the hall, patiently awaiting their call before the federal grand jury now in session.

Before the jurors have finished their task in the United States cases—seven indictments having already been returned—the postoffice and other government investigations which main, something like 200 witnesses will have been examined.

One of the witnesses who has been brought here by the government from Imatilla county is blind. This witness, named Mike, has heard of him in connection with the land fraud cases. Considerably more than 100 men and women have been here from Pendleton and vicinity for this purpose.

JUDGE QUOTES DOOLEY TO SHOW HIS POSITION IN KEADY CASE

The wisdom of Mr. Dooley of dialect fame was drawn upon in the circuit court yesterday by Judge O'Day to illustrate the application of certain instructions to the jury in the case of L. Y. Keady against the United Railways company. The court was explaining what is meant by reasonable care, and Judge O'Day quoted Mr. Dooley as follows: "The property of the Oregon Traction company is the United Railways."

"This might be illustrated by what Mr. Dooley said to Mr. Hennessey about a painter," said the court. "Mr. Dooley said that Mike was a painter and Hennessey wanted to know what he painted. 'Does he paint barns?' asked Hennessey. 'No,' he paints pictures of barns, and the pictures are worth more than the barns," answered Dooley. Judge O'Day's illustration caught the fancy of attorneys and jurors, who joined in a hearty laugh.

AFRICANS REWARDED FOR BIBLE STUDY BY STAMPS SAVED HERE

"Don't throw that stamp away. Give it to me. I want all I can get. Yes, I know it is canceled. That's why I want it. Save me all the canceled stamps you can. No, I am not trying to get up a collection on this country, more than any other person in the country. The stamps I gather are for missionary purposes."

Two cases were cited in one of the total sum claimed by Keady and the others for whom he sued being $44,800. Judge O'Day declared that in which the defendant may move for a new trial. An appeal will be taken to the supreme court.

COVE EXPECTS 500 TONS OF APPLES

An enormous crop of fruit is reported this year from the vicinity of Cove, Oregon, and much difficulty will be encountered in securing help sufficient to care for the crop.

Buckley's Arnica Salve Wins. Tom Moore, of Rural Route 1, Co. 1, near Clatskanie, writes: "I had a bad sore come on the instep of my foot and could find nothing that would heal it until I applied Buckley's Arnica Salve. Less than half of a 25 cent box was the day for me by affecting a perfect cure." Sold under guarantee at Sidmore Drug company's drug store.

Walter Lyon, secretary of the chamber of commerce of North Bend, is in the city. Discussing present conditions there he said: "Business is waking up on Coos bay. With the exception of the construction of residences and additions to manufacturing plants already started, which may be considered the result of the momentum attained in building work earlier in the year, there has not been until now many new enterprises started this spring. The arrival of June has seen the building of a hotel by a local company resumed. Contracts will be awarded at once.

Permanent street paving has at last started up in Marshfield and it has started in earnest. A contract has been let to an asphalt construction company for paving several blocks with asphalt and the completion of four blocks is promised by the fourth of next month. The plan has been drawn and bonds authorized for the erection of a new high school building and an additional street paving.

Kansas City is engaged in carrying out a comprehensive plan of paving, boulevarding and parking. The city is now on the bay for the purpose of starting work on an electric line. The road will start at North Bend and build in opposite directions. The road will extend toward Marshfield and Coquille, the county seat, and in the other direction it will head for Empire, Sunset bay and Bandon, skirting the bay and coast. Motor road builders have had an eye on the Coos bay country and the vote polled in the recent election has shown that the time is ripe, and if one does not build another will. Not only the bay country has been doubling its population in the past 18 months, but the country of Coos, as a whole, has more than doubled since the last election.

The large new mill of the Smith Lumber company is now getting under way, cutting 250,000 feet in a one-shift run, and factories to follow in its wake are being planned. Work has already started on a new saw and door factory and a site set apart for another shipyard.

Resumption of work on the Oregon & Western railroad from Drain would be a decided impetus to activity on the bay and it would seem that the company which has been collecting salaries for some time and let some one that is ready and willing build. But whether the road builds this summer or not, the Coos country never had a brighter outlook before it, and more activity than ever before is already in sight. The second southern Oregon district fair is to be held at Marshfield the last week in August and the Coos county people are putting forth strenuous effort to make it the biggest fair ever held in southern Oregon. Coos palaces and already being arranged for and horses are being collected and the race more rapidly than stable room can be provided. Coos bay will experience the biggest travel of summer outing parties, picnics and people in the history of its existence this summer."

All Run Down Again. "After leaving Missouri and stopping vital treatments—and I took them only two weeks—I again found myself running down, and when I happened to see the announcement of the presence of James Austin Larson in Tacoma, I was practically a physical wreck. As I have things taken two Telecon treatments and feel like a new man, I consider the treatment marvelous. It is so quick in results that the patient in started with the change in feeling that there any wonder that I should gratefully subscribe to the efficiency of this marvelous method of life to the benighted human body?"

Telecon No Guesses. "Permit me to explain. Telecon is the science of vibration. An example. Let there be mental derangement and harmonious vibration of the nerves of the body is disturbed. A great calamity will cause the vibrations of the human system to become harmful in sympathy. James Austin Larson, originator of the science of vibration known as Telecon, is a famous healer. He did me much good, a natural, when again suffering and unable to sleep I read in the Tacoma newspapers of the work of James Austin Larson and Telecon, the science of vibration. I was interested. From what I read I imagined that Telecon was not unlike the other treatment with which I was familiar, and I was not mistaken.

Treated by Mr. Neville. "I was treated by Mr. Neville, the associate of James Austin Larson, and I do not think I can say enough to give me the relief I sought. The action of the heart, which had been badly impaired, immediately became better and the first night after trying Telecon I slept like a child and awoke in the morning refreshed and in good spirits. After the second treatment, came home and a full day of hard housework and again slept well. For six years I was in Hot Springs, Ark., seeking relief in the healing waters. Nervous exhaustion has made of me a nervous wreck. My blood action was weak and I had run down in weight to a little more than 70 pounds. After leaving Hot Springs and taking the vital treatment under the direction of Dr. Carson, I gained rapidly, and soon added 20 pounds to my weight."

Battling Nelson Will Hunt Before Training

San Francisco, June 11.—Battling Nelson, who has just returned from a three weeks' visit to north coast cities, left today for Mendocino springs, near Livermore, where he will spend a week in hunting with Willie Britt.

Nelson is very enthusiastic over the reception which was accorded him in the north and says that he broke some records at the vaudeville houses where he appeared with his sparring partner, Jack Grace. After his training trip he will settle down at Millerton in training for his fight with Gammon July 4.
