DITCHER WRIGHT PERNOIL GOES TO TWILIGHT GAMES

Red Bats in Two Runs and Makes Winning Score in the Ninth.

Oh, how I worship Redhead Wright! Godzooks, if he should die, I'd fall unconscious with a fright. And best it to the victor— Van's Vapo-rage.

Young Mr. Wright's striking curves, and Conroy's disastrous error in the ninth allowed Van Halgren's bunch to carry off its second successive victory at Vaughn street yesterday. It was a case where Wright won his own game. Tex Garrett's trenchant asphyxia was not working right, but even then the Athenians could barely lift the horsehide over the Beaver line.

Portland was outwitted more than anything else. A good example of this occurred in the fourth inning, when two doubles and a single by Van Halgren, one run for Beaverdam. Garrett capped the assisting honors, for he drew seven of the Beaver's eleven.

Portland started the scoring—bee, slugging a brace of runs across the plate in the second inning. Slattery hit for two bags, the longest made by any visitor, but Hogan struck out. Slattery moved to third on Altman's single and Cook filled the bases on the dangerous slugging of Slattery and Hogan.

Angels Win in Fourteenth. San Francisco, June 12.—Los Angeles made it three in the fourteenth inning yesterday and won from the Seals 5 to 3. The team played a great game in the field. The score: LOS ANGELES.

The fighters are to make 122 pounds each. The fight will be at 8 o'clock and Jeffries will be the referee. PERNOIL GOES TO TWILIGHT GAMES BY CHURCH NINES

Bloomfield Also Slated to Stay Behind—Mac's Future Beaver Line Up.

When the Portland baseball team goes south Sunday night it will leave two members of its pitching staff—Henry Pernoil, the Grants Pass southpaw, and Bloomfield, the California buster, both of whom will probably be sold to the Northwest League. It is now near the middle of the season and Manager McCredie has decided to carry out his re-arranged plan agreed upon several weeks ago.

Mac's Future Lineup. Manager McCredie has definitely decided that his future lineup will be as printed above. The best hit oppo- nent of the regular lineup will be Ote Johnson, who will fill the vacancy caused by Pernoil's absence until a new pitcher can be secured.

Ryan will supplant Johnson at third base, Ruddy's natural position. Ryan is a better all round player than the Viking, according to Mac's way of thinking, and his more consistent hitting enables him to play the regular position. This will place the big manager in his old position at right field and will give the team the advantage of his terrific hitting powers.

Johnson was formerly a pitcher and a good one. Within a few weeks he will be back in his old form and able to foot the best of them. Mac also intends to use Ote as a general utility man, for the swiftness of his feet and his hot propo- sition in the league when it comes to playing any position.

I feel compelled to let Pernoil and Bloomfield go, remarked Mac last night, "because they have done me practically no good this season. Pernoil is not fast enough for Class A baseball as yet. Two years of association with him having clearly shown this to be true. The only team in the league he has anything on was Los Angeles, and then only at rare intervals. I am going to let the judge dispose of Henry and I think we can find him a nice berth in the Northwestern league. There are a couple of teams after both boys, but Aberdeen has been inquiring about Pernoil for several weeks. Bloomfield has been absolutely of no value to the team. A year with a pitcher who has not been in the top of good. One of the Northwestern teams wants him and he will probably go.

THIS IS GARRETT.

It is not often that the small man has a chance to make good as a baseball pitcher in a first-class league, but Tex Garrett of Texas, is one of the few who have broken over. Yes, Jess Holmes would know it in a flash when he saw one of Garrett's spitballs. If they don't resemble the crook of a long horn, then fishes don't swim. Jess has been playing baseball only a short time, but he has mastered all the fine points of the "twirling art." Jess was born in Stevensonville, Texas, and his first professional experience was with the West Texas outlaw league, in the Dublin team. Then he went to Dallas in the Texas State league for a couple of years. He was the third pitcher on the winning list, the other two having gone into the big league. Jess will be 23 years of age in February. He is the "silent man" of the ball team. He refuses to chatter like some of the players and is enthusias- tic over nothing unless it be how Sam Houston smashed the dickens out of the Mexicans or Davy Crockett's last stand in the ill-fated Alamo. Jess will tell you these tales by the yard. Another single one, girls.

BILL HAYWARD WILL CHEER DANIEL KELLY

Oregon's Famous Trainer Leaves for East to Select Gymnasium Apparatus. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) University of Oregon, Eugene, June 12.—"Bill" Hayward, Oregon's well known trainer, accompanied by Mrs.

last arrived, and the racing season is in full swing. Nothing is more impor- tant than to prevent this being one of the most successful race meetings ever held in the west. The stakes at Overland Park are being filled with fast horses from Oklahoma, Texas and other parts of the south. The program completed for the meeting is an excellent one. During the 31 days of racing more than $75,000 will be distributed in stakes and ap- prizes. The Grand Circuit sweepstakes for 3-year-olds, foals of 1908, is the big event of the opening day.

Hayward and Bill Jr. leaves tonight on an extended trip to New York and other eastern points to select apparatus for the new gymnasium, which will proba- bly be started in the near future. As he is leaving on very short notice, his plans are as yet incomplete, but he hopes to be able to take a trip to London to witness the Olympic games and to cheer Dan Kelly. At any rate, he will meet Kelly before the team leaves Gotham. He has had to call off the interclass track meet, which was to have occurred this afternoon, on account of lack of interest due to "exams" and the fact that many of the students are already leaving the university, having finished their examinations.

NO CONVICT ROAD WORK THIS SEASON

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Olympia, Wash., June 12.—Convict road work will be abandoned this year by the state highway commission be- cause of the backward spring. An attempt has been made to get a camp in readiness for 30 convicts to work on the Snoqualmie Pass state road on the shores of Lake Keechelus in Kit- titas county, but the snow has lingered so long that it has been found impossible to get lumber to the site. It would be the middle of July before the camp would be in readiness and the season would then be too short to insure economical working of the convicts.

CHANGE CHARTER FOR CITY'S GOOD

East Siders Appoint Committee to Take Up Sug- gestions of Thomson. At the meeting of the North East Side Improvement association last night, Judge M. G. Munly presiding, several important committees were appointed to look after various matters. First among these was a committee to appear before the council to work for certain necessary revisions of the city charter in order that street improvements as outlined by City Engineer Thomson, of Seattle, in his lecture here Thursday may be commenced. These revisions of the charter are desired to take effect no later than October 15.

The standing committee on street rail- way franchises was authorized to con- sider the proposed extensions of franchises on the east side. The committee has several suggestions to make in the interests of the people for whose benefit the track extensions are to be made. A motion was adopted that the mem- bers of the association cooperate with the Federated clubs of the east side in the movement to extend and improve Grand avenue. A modification of the plans in view by the clubs, however, is suggested. This is to make Union ave- nue the continuation of Grand avenue from Hancock street to the Columbia River. In this way the necessity of cut- ting a street through 14 blocks on the other side of Hancock street would be obviated. The expense of putting the street through these 14 blocks would be nearly $300,000, and for that reason the extension of Grand avenue farther than Hancock street would hardly be feasible. A committee was appointed to suggest this amendment to the Grand avenue proposition to the Federated clubs, and also to cooperate in all other con- sidered street improvements on the east side.
