Shad season is ended today.

Willamette River Fishing Is Closed.

The open fishing season along the Willamette river and its tributaries closed today and on that account there is likely to be a shortage in fish supplies locally during the next few days. The closing of the season along the Willamette has again brought forth agitation by the shad men against classing the Willamette slough as a tributary to the Willamette river. With the closing of fishing along the Willamette there is a like cessation of operations along the Willamette slough. Most of the shad marketed in this city comes from the latter stream and the closing of the river puts a ban upon shad operations. On this score the fishermen claim that the slough is in reality not a tributary of the Willamette river for at this time the driftwood from the Columbia comes down the slough as well as the main channel of the Columbia river. The United States government engineers are said to have classed the Willamette slough as a tributary of the Columbia but nevertheless the state of Oregon classes it as a portion of the Willamette river. Old-time steamboat men claim that the stream now called the slough was in reality the main channel of the Willamette river many years ago.

Catch Few Salmon in the Slough.

The present law closing the Willamette slough as well as the Willamette river for fishing on June 15 was not enforced until last season by former Fish Warden Van Dusen of Astoria. When the law was framed but a small amount of shad had been caught in the slough so there was no complaint because of its passage. In late years practically all the shad brought to market has come from the slough and the enforcement of the provisions caused much complaint last season and the next legislature will likely be asked to change the closed season. Only a small amount of salmon is caught in the slough and fishers argue that the opening of the stream would cut absolutely no figure in the protection of salmon.

Because of the high water in the Columbia the catch of salmon there has been cut down considerably.

Wheat Is Down Again.

California buyers are not so anxious to buy wheat in this market and the price offered is down another cent, making 2c for two days. Grain men are offering on a basis of 91c for bluestem track Portland or 89c for club.

The flour market remains very slow both locally and for export. The nibbling of the orient has not resulted in any orders for the larger mills but the smaller institutions are receiving a small amount of business. One of the Inland Empire mills is said to be working overtime in order to fill orders from the orient.

Strawberries Are Down Again.

Strawberries sold at lower prices in the Front street market today. The blowing up of a portion of the irrigation flume at Hood River had no effect upon conditions here for at this time of the season but a small amount of fruit is received from there. Local supplies are greatly increased. Front street is complaining of the action of some growers in selling lower to the retail trade than to the commission trade. Along the street today strawberries sold from $1.75 a crate down to $1, the latter for poor quality.

Brief Notes of the Trade.

Latest News of Oregon Crops

NORTHWEST WEATHER FORECAST.

Western Oregon and western Washington—Cloudy with probably showers tonight and Tuesday; southwest winds.

Eastern Oregon, eastern Washington and Idaho—Cloudy with probably showers tonight and Tuesday; cooler tonight.

William Forest of Russellville told The Journal this morning that the strawberry crop of that section is very fair—just about the same as a year ago. Blackberries look quite good for quality and excellent for a big crop. The crop of raspberries will likely be about the average.

Prospects for wheat are not as flattering as they might be in the Weston country, though if the prices remain good, the farmers expect an average year. It is likely that 35 bushels to the acre is all that will be received in most places on account of the unfavorable season. Land that had been yielding about 50 bushels in the best years will go about 40 this year, according to the present outlook.

La Grande, Or., June 15.—Unless unforeseen conditions arise Union county will enjoy another record breaking crop this season, both as to fruit and grain. Reports from all over the county indicate that both fall and spring sown grains are doing well and will make a good yield. Some few report that their fall grain might be in better condition, but believe that the present warm weather will bring it out in good shape. The fruit crop will be enormous.

Five days of warm bright sunshine, only five days, but those days have melted thousands of dollars into thin nothingness, mortgages and deficits in Umatilla county. Already a part of the wheat crop is beyond hope and a few more days of this continuous heat beating upon a dry and moistureless soil will encompass the destruction of more wealth than the country ever lost before in as short a time, says the Pendleton Tribune of Saturday.

Purl Bowman, in from his ranch only a couple of miles from town on the reservation line, yesterday said: "The wheat all through the southwest section of the belt is just about gone. The spring has been exceedingly dry but so long as the weather remained cool the wheat stood up well and gave indications of maturing. But the sudden change to the extreme heat of the past five days has simply burnt it up. The ground was dry, no moisture in it, and the heat has worked terrific destruction. Tall, nice wheat, standing as high as a man's hips, is now withered and rapidly falling.

"Rain? Yes, rain today or tomorrow or the day after might help the upper section but I am afraid the rest is gone. Anyhow, if any of the wheat crop of Umatilla county is to be saved there must be rain and that at once."

Mr. Bowman is one of the biggest wheat ranchers in the county and has made a fortune in the business and is a man who knows the conditions.

Frank Frazer, also a well known rancher, said yesterday:

"Wheat crops? There will be no wheat crop in the south and west and I am afraid there will be none in the upper district, not unless there is a big rain within the next day or two."

The seriousness of the situation can hardly be comprehended. It has been known for some time that there would be no wheat crop in the lower end of the county, along the edge of the belt, but then a failure in that section every year or two has always been taken for granted and as a matter of course.

On the other hand the coolness of the weather, giving great assistance to the growing wheat, has deceived many. The wheat stood high and green, looking fine, but down in the ground there was no moisture. Consequently when the cool weather ended suddenly and the usual heat came on the wheat simply could not stand it and went down under the thermal onslaught.

Purl Bowman says that field after field of wheat out in his section is already turning brown, drying up, burned up. For such as this there is no hope. Other fields are rapidly turning. Small hope for them. Some fields are still standing the dry heat but they will not hold out for many days without a rain. The rain must come and come at once.

DEMANDS LAWS FOR EXCLUSION

League Wires Demand That Plank Provide Direct Legislation.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, June 15.—Resolutions demanding the exclusion of oriental laborers from the United States by direct legislation and not by diplomatic exchange between nations, were wired to the resolutions committee of the Republican national convention today by the Asiatic Exclusion league. The resolutions are strong and call for quick and effective action by congress. In addition to the resolution, letters have been sent to all candidates of both parties asking for their views on Asiatic exclusion. The resolution will be brought to the attention of the Denver convention.

LEWIS WARNS MINERS TO PREPARE FOR FIGHT

National President Urges Defense Fund to Back Up Wage Demand.

Scranton, Pa., June 15.—Timely warning to the mine workers of the anthracite field on the expiration of the three-year agreement next April has been given by National President Lewis in the current issue of the United Mine Workers' Journal. He says:

"If, on the 1st day of April, 1909, the miners of the anthracite field are in a position to invite a reduction, then do not be surprised if it is offered, and the acceptance or rejection will devolve upon the men.

"They will have to act on a proposition which they can avoid by acting now. History shows there has never been a war between nations of equal fighting power unless it was when one or the other was thought to be unprepared or had miscalculated the strength of its adversary. The same thing is true industrially.

"Anthracite miners have the situation in their own hands by maintaining a solid organization with a strong defense fund behind them. They place themselves in a position to hold this year's scale, the same as the bituminous miners for the next agreement.

"By neglecting their opportunity, by refusing to ally themselves with the organization of their craft, they invite and seek an invasion on the scale now paid, and it may take another hard fight to hold it, and even then, not be able to. All of which would be rendered unnecessary by maintaining their union.

"Let the motto of all miners be to organize, educate, agitate for a retention of this year's scale."

POLICE PHOTOS ON SUSPICION BARRED

New York Court Punishes Policeman for Ignoring Order Not to "Mug" Suspect.

New York, June 15.—A sentence of 30 days' imprisonment and a fine of $250, imposed upon Police Captain Kuhne of Brooklyn for photographing Frank Jenkins for the police records, was affirmed today by the appellate division of the supreme court.

Mr. Jenkins was president of the Williamsburg Trust company of Brooklyn, until last fall, when he was arrested on criminal charges growing out of the closing of the trust company.

An order of court directing Captain Kuhne not to photograph Mr. Jenkins was served upon the captain, but Jenkins was seized while walking with his wife and, despite her protests, was taken to headquarters and photographed. For this Captain Kuhne was charged with contempt of court.

LOVES HER CHILDREN.

Mrs. Bernard James, wife of a military attache of the British embassy in Washington, who places her nursery above her social duties and found time to wheel a perambulator through the parks. She set a good example for a number of Washington society women, who never had bored themselves by taking their children for an airing, immediately did the stylish thing and exercised with the baby carriage before them.

WED 45 YEARS AFTER BROKEN ENGAGEMENT

Five Years Ago Helpmates of Joseph Busby and Mrs. Sarah Borton Died.

Edgewater Park, N. J., June 11.—A marriage of much interest in this section was solemnized at Riverside today, when Joseph Busby was married to Mrs. Sarah Borton, of Pittsburg, Pa. The wedding was the outcome of a romance of 45 years ago, when the pair, then in their teens, exchanged love assurances at the old Coppertown school house. They made plans for their wedding, which failed to occur at that time, the young folk having quarreled and the engagement being broken off.

Miss Sarah Evans, Mrs. Borton's maiden name, left this section and went to Pittsburg, where she married Mr. Burton. Busby, failing to effect a reconciliation, married six months later a Miss Vansciver, of Beverly.

Both Mrs. Borton and Busby lost their helpmates five years ago. Mrs. Borton came back to Coopertown to visit her old home town.

It was there she again met the sweetheart of her school days. The old love rekindled, and the pair, not having seen each other in 45 years, were again the lovers of their childhood days.

Squire Zeigler, of Riverside, performed the ceremony. The squire said that it was one of the most romantic marriages he had ever performed.

They are spending their honeymoon at their little cottage at Edgewater Park.

FALLS 50 FEET DOWN PRECIPICE; STILL LIVES

Man Goes Over With Horses and Wagon and Only Suffers Two Cuts.

Yonkers, N. Y., June 15.—James Liddins, 45 years old, of Goytesville N. J., had a narrow escape from death this afternoon on the palisades opposite Yonkers, when he fell 50 feet down the steepest part of the precipices.

Liddins was engaged in moving a load of furniture from a house at the foot of the palisades.

To reach the top of the palisades Liddins' wagon and team had to climb up a steep and narrow road. He was half way up the mountain when the outer wheels of the wagon skidded and slipped over the edge of the road, hurling the horses, man and furniture down the deep sides of the mountain. Two helpers found Liddin lying on the beach with two deep cuts on his head and scratches all over his body. His clothes were torn to shreds. The horses were standing in the shattered wagon with hardly a scratch.

HOUSE THE NEEDY IN MONKS' CELLS

Interesting Experiment Tried in Old Carthusian Monastery Near Montreuil-sur-Mer.

Paris, June 15.—An interesting experiment is to be tried at what formerly was a Carthusian monastery at Neuville, near Montreuil-sur-Mer. This monastery now belongs to a local benevolent association which has furnished the rooms vacated by the monks last year and about 100 employes of the Northern Railway company were allowed to pass a holiday there rent free. This year two-thirds of the space is to be set aside for railway employes, while the remaining third is to be placed rent free at the disposal of a certain number of needy and deserving artists, authors and scientists who may be appointed by the societies which officially represent French art, science and letters.

The beneficiary will have lodging free, but for food he must look out for himself. Interest is felt as to how such a mixed colony will agree.

BOY SENT TO SEA BY COURT

Youth Who Robbed Saloon Must Sail Before Mast For Ten Years.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Oakland, Cal., June 15.—Raphael Scott was sentenced to ten years at sea by Superior Judge Ogden today. Scott, who is 19 years of age, admitted robbing a saloon and, on Probation Officer Ruess' reporting that Scott was apparently unable to withstand temptation, Judge Ogden decreed he must go to sea so as to be under constant discipline and away from the devious paths of cities.

Captain Canty, a friend of Scott's family agreed to see that the court's conditions were fulfilled.

CLOTHES OLD, SEEKS DEATH ON FLYWHEEL

Was Once Rich and His Tattered Raiment Seemed a Disgrace.

Philadelphia, June 15.—After making two attempts to take his life by ordinary methods, Henry Kline, 61 years old, of 907 Buttonwood street, stole into the engine-room of the Philadelphia Warehouse & Cold Storage company, at Noble and Beach streets, yesterday morning and cast himself into the whirling spokes of a great 16-ton flywheel.

Ignorance of machinery led the man to choose the side of the wheel on which the spokes were going upward, and, though he received a severe blow on the head and was thrown forcibly away, his injuries were not fatal. Had he chosen the other side, he would have been crushed to instant death.

Two days ago he attacked himself with a knife and cut his breast severely. On a promise not to make another attempt on his life he was released by the police of the Tenth and Buttonwood station. Previous to that he had tried to hang himself in his lodging-house.

Kline came of a well-to-do family in Rostock, Mecklenburg, and had been educated at Bonn, one of the greatest German universities. Until a few years ago he had lived extravagantly, with servants and horses, on money sent to him from Germany.

Later he became a bookkeeper in the Tasker woolen mills, and some time ago he lost that position. He was proud, and his tattered coat and worn shoes worried him.

"I am ashamed of myself with these clothes," he told Mrs. Hoffmeister, with whom he roomed. "I don't want to live any longer."
