

WE'RE ON MAP TO EASTERNERS

Both Rev. A. J. Montgomery and Dr. Foulkes Asked About Portland.

Rev. A. J. Montgomery, who was a delegate from the Portland presbytery to the general assembly at Kansas City, returned Saturday evening and resumed charge of his pulpit at the Third Presbyterian church. A number of interesting impressions were given by him as he talked over the convention.

"It was not," he said, "what could be called a speech-making convention. There were no great issues to come up at this time, and the program was mostly routine business so it did not interest the country at large as much as some other conventions. But it was a distinctly unanimous convention. Whatever was done was done with a degree of unanimity and harmony."

Portland Aided Seattle.
Seattle tried hard to get the assembly for the next meeting, and all of us from the northwest united our efforts with Seattle's delegates to that end, but Denver seemed to have a stronger pull. We were disappointed that no member from the northwest was appointed upon the new executive commission which has been appointed to take charge of matters during the interim from one assembly to the next. There are 15 members, and we finally for a representative. However, the Pacific coast was represented on the committee by Dr. John Wille, pastor of Los Angeles, president of the Occidental college, and I suppose they thought that came near enough to us.

"It was gratifying to see how many from the northwest attended the convention, some as delegates and some as visitors. Dr. J. V. Milligan, a Portland delegate, gave a talk on Sunday school work which was attentively listened to, and Dr. W. S. Holt, also of Portland, though not a delegate, talked on home missions."

Tremendous Kansas Rain.
"Personally I was most interested in the rains of Kansas. People in Oregon have never seen rain; they don't know what real rain is. But there is that city practically washed away and cut off from communication with the rest of the world, and still the people there would say to us, 'Out in Oregon you have rain 12 months in the year.' But it is gratifying to note the high regard in which the east holds Portland. Portland certainly is on the map for them now, and everyone asks interestedly about it. I noted the change since the last time I was east when no one knew of us. I think the Lewis and Clark exposition was the greatest advertisement the northwest ever had."

Dr. William Hiram Foulkes, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who has just returned from a trip east which included many of the principal cities, says that there is a growing conviction on the part of eastern people that the Pacific coast is the coming section of the country.

"Wherever one goes," said Dr. Foulkes, "on Pullman, in hotels, in dining cars, one is met with questions about the coast and Portland. Everyone who has visited this city seems to feel it in affectionate remembrance and to speak of it in highest terms."

"I bring to the church people a greeting from the former pastor, Dr. Hill in Chicago and Dr. Brown in New York. Both of them expressed their kindly feeling toward the Portland people. The sessions of the general assembly were of interest, but perhaps there is nothing new of public interest to tell and there are some points of information for the building committee, which sent me east, but those things must be given first to them."

NEW PERKINS WAS NOT WHAT OLD-TIMER EXPECTED TO FIND

The new Perkins hotel, which has recently been remodeled, is one of the old landmarks of Portland. For many years people have been coming to the city from all parts of the northwest and never thinking of staying at any other house.

An old man who hadn't been in Portland for many years arrived last night and as usual started for his accustomed haunt in the city at the corner of Fifth and Washington streets. The man boarded a streetcar at the passenger station and left it when the junction at Washington and Fifth streets was reached.

The old man—he was evidently a prosperous farmer—wandered into Fifth street looking for the old familiar entrance to the Perkins that he had known so many years ago. Not seeing the old signs the man retraced his steps into Washington street. Still he wasn't satisfied. He walked back and forth outside the hotel, the interior of which has been rebuilt, and finally came to the conclusion that he had got off the car at the wrong corner.

YESTERDAY WAS DAY OF THE KIND ONLY PORTLANDERS KNOW ABOUT

"And what is so rare as a day in June?" sings the poet, and whenever a writer wants to be particularly startling and original he quotes this line in speaking of the weather, and the sunshine, and the flowers, and the birds and the gay people and the general hilarity and joy.

But yesterday was a real one. No sham June day with an occasional bit of sunshine lighting the path, and a blossom peeping timidly out here and there, and people in hybrid or mongrel clothes, semi-summer and semi-winter, carrying the coats they had not the courage of their convictions to leave at home. Nor a sham June day with forerunners of August with the sun blazing hot all day, the flowers drooping listlessly on their stems, and the people lying panting under the warm shade of a warmer tree, waiting for the sun to go down.

No, this was a real, rare June day; a beautiful, lazy June day. Everywhere were roses, roses fragrant, roses rare." The sun shone merrily all day long, warming one to a nice gentle brown, not to a sizzling heat. An occasional fleecy cloud floated across the sky, just to remind one that the curtain could be drawn at any time the sun became too obnoxious. People walked about listlessly or lolled lazily and happily beneath the trees, enjoying the shade of a day just warm enough to make the trees "comfy." Of course if people wore those mongrel clothes they were a little uncomfortable, but every wise one knew that it was summer and a rare day in June and everyone wore his summer garb.

And the people moved to and fro in the parks, and wandered eagerly over the hillsides; or drifted lazily in row boats or canoes down the river; or chugged energetically up the river in a launch, or sailed coolly up and down the river in the gentle breeze. And one and all said "how beautiful are the roses! What a shame we didn't have the rose show this week!"

And everywhere was satisfaction, for this was a rare day in June.

FIRST CITY CONCERT IS WELL ATTENDED

Swings Squeak Accompaniment, as Crowd Listens Beneath Park Trees.

The opening municipal band concert in city park yesterday afternoon drew an immense throng. It is estimated that at least 15,000 people enjoyed the music, the beauties of the park and the exceptional scenery, from the high elevation.

Signor DeCaprio's band never appeared to better advantage, the music was solid, indicating more confidence among the performers than usually. A nicely balanced program had been selected, and it evidently pleased, because the immense audience grew continually till the strains of the last number had died away, and then quickly dispersed. The weather was fine, a trifle tropical perhaps, but the heat was not oppressive in the shade of the large trees. The park keeper had forgotten to oil the swings, and they creaked an accompaniment to the band, but it is to be hoped that this displeasing feature will be remedied in time for next Sunday's concert. In justice to the keeper, however, it might be said that they were not as squeaky as at times last season. Evening concerts in the smaller parks about the city will be given after the Fourth of July. In the meantime the Sunday afternoon concerts will be given at the city park.

Building Permits.
Miss Andrews, erect dwelling, East Fourteenth between Hancock and Tillamook, $3,500; G. W. Priest, erect two dwellings, East Sherman between East Thirty-fourth and Marguerite, $2,000 each; Rebecca Cheeseman, erect dwelling, Cambridge, corner East Sixth, $1,500; H. Wank, erect dwelling, Front corner Woods, $3,000; Seth Riggs, repair dwelling, 423 Market, $2,000; Robert E. Beat, erect dwelling, Kerby between Mason and Shaver, $2,000.

ODD FELLOWS HONOR DEPARTED MEMBERS

Dr. Luther B. Dyott Principal Speaker at Eulogistic Services of Order.

More than 200 members of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows gathered at their hall yesterday afternoon to pay homage to the memory of the departed brothers.

The program consisted of singing, music, addresses, Dr. Dyott being the principal speaker, and eulogies.

The eulogists were W. Y. Masters, P. G.; James Bell, P. G.; Byron E. Miller, P. G.; N. E. Coston, P. G.; H. Clausenius, P. G.; and L. Wilhelm, P. G.

P. W. Stewart, president of Ellison encampment No. 1, presided at the memorial exercises. On the speakers' platform were W. D. Scott, P. G., chaplain; Dr. Luther Dyott and M. Osvoid, P. G., secretary.

"America" was sung as a hymn to the departed ones, being followed by a prayer by the chaplain, and a short address by Mr. Stewart. Then the roll call of the dead members was read, followed by the addresses of the eulogists.

The committee in charge are as follows: Ellison encampment No. 1—H. M. Beckwith, P. G. P.; Charles Martram and P. N. Dunlap, Samaritan lodge No. 2—T. N. Reed, P. G.; L. A. Bergstrom, P. G.; and M. A. Zelle, P. G. Hasaio lodge No. 1—F. W. Stewart, P. G.; W. D. Scott, P. G.; F. P. Helm, P. G.; Henry S. Westbrook and H. H. Williams, P. G. G. Minerva lodge No. 1—Clairman, P. G.; B. Klots and P. Nielson.

CAMPBELL TO BE DIRECTOR AGAIN

School election will be held this afternoon, and the polls will be open from 2 to 6, in District No. 1, which includes the first 17 precincts of the city. The only avowed candidate for member of the board of education is H. C. Campbell. Mr. Campbell had decided not to run again for the position, as he felt it a sacrifice of business interests, but a petition was circulated bearing the signatures of hundreds of business men and leading citizens asking him to consent to stand again. As he is the only candidate in the field, his election today is considered certain. Women who are taxpayers are allowed the right of suffrage for school elections. Following are the polling places:

- Precinct No. 1, 440 Thurman street.
- Precinct No. 2, Atkinson school.
- Precinct No. 3, 245 Ash street.
- Precinct No. 4, Wells Fargo building.
- Precinct No. 5, 383 Third street.
- Precinct No. 6, 855 Corbett street.
- Precinct No. 7, 405 Hawthorne avenue.
- Precinct No. 8, 408 1/2 East Morrison street.
- Precinct No. 9, 1022 Belmont street.
- Precinct No. 10, 225 Union avenue.
- Precinct No. 11, 263 Russell street.
- Precinct No. 12, 1070 East Thirteenth street, Sellwood.
- Precinct No. 13, Arleta school.
- Precinct No. 14, Mount Tabor school.
- Precinct No. 15, E. Leaser's office, Portsmouth.
- Precinct No. 16, Woodlawn school.
- Precinct No. 17, 591 First street.

Convicted of Shoplifting.
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Centralia, Wash., June 15.—Mrs. Mary Baker, who was arrested a few days ago for shoplifting, was given a trial Saturday before Justice of the Peace Baker and a jury, and was found guilty of petty larceny, and sentenced to 10 days in jail and to pay a fine of $25 and the costs, amounting to $32. Her attorneys will appeal to the superior court.

TWO GREAT SPECIALS

We are offering EVERY DAY in the year the two greatest lines of clothing in the United States— At

10 Dollars

We show hundreds of suits—the equal of any suit sold elsewhere in the city at $15—Guaranteed in every way—Your money refunded if not satisfactory— At

15 Dollars

We show suits that are marked in uptown windows at $20 and $25—Come in and make us prove it.

WHEN YOU SEE IT IN OUR AD IT'S SO

MOYER

3rd and Oak
1st and Yamhill

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR AN

Scholarships in Leading Institutions

EDUCATION

Cash Awards and Liberal Commissions for All

The Journal Announces Their Third Annual Educational Contest

PROFITABLE EMPLOYMENT during vacation for any young person who is desirous of obtaining an education. Greater returns and better pay than any other work during vacation. If you have the will here is the way to attend the school or college of your choice. If you are working for an education, enter THE JOURNAL EDUCATIONAL CONTEST at once and secure a valuable scholarship together with money for incidental expenses. Any energetic young person of good character is eligible, and no one can afford to miss this liberal offer. TAKE HOLD AT ONCE!

To those who succeed in procuring subscribers to the Daily, Sunday and Semi-Weekly editions of The Journal, in this contest extending for a period of three months, will be awarded scholarships in the leading educational institutions of this city and state valued from $50 to $150. Besides the scholarships which will be awarded at the close of the contest, contestants will be allowed a cash commission on all new paid-in-advance subscribers as soon as they are verified. In addition to scholarships and cash commissions, sums of money will be awarded to those who finish in the lead.

SCHOLARSHIPS IN

Vocal and Instrumental Music, Colleges and Academies, Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Typewriting, in Single or Combined Courses, Telegraphy and Technical Branches.

NOMINATE A FAVORITE

Or several, if you like. If you nominate more than one, select your nominees from different localities.

Town.....Date.....

PUBLISHERS OREGON JOURNAL, PORTLAND, OREGON.

I nominate the following as suitable to enter your contest for scholarships and cash awards:

| NAME | AGE | ADDRESS | Name of School or College Wanted |
|------|-----|---------|----------------------------------|
| | | | |
| | | | |
| | | | |
| | | | |
| | | | |

(Any young person between the ages of 10 and 30 having good character is eligible to enter this contest.)

Nomination Made by.....

Whose Permanent address is.....

Whose Telephone (if any) is.....

Cut This Out and Mail to The Journal
Portland, Ore.
At Once

For further particulars and full details of Contest plan, call on or write Contest Manager, The Journal, Portland, Oregon