Intimate They Have Joker Concealed in Sleeve and That Secretary Will Not Have Easy Time When He Hunts Nomination.

Roosevelt's "Crown Prince" Decides That He Does Not Want His Running-Mate From Either the Extreme East or West.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
By John E. Nevins.

Chicago, June 16.--After a lengthy conference, the "allies" today are defiant, declaring they have gained a strategic advantage. Mysterious whisperings continue and there is much mystery, but they refuse to give the least hint of what their new plan is.

Everything they can possibly think of is being done to bolster up "confidence," in the hope that they may be able to impress some of the lukewarm Taft adherents with their statements that "it is not all over yet." But the "allies" are licked and nobody knows it better than their leaders.

Senator Hemenway of Indiana and Representative J. Francis Burke of Pennsylvania admitted that there was little chance of doing much.

The "allies" will make their hardest fight on the Alabama contests. Major F. C. Bryan, who has charge of their case, said today that he had new evidence in the Alabama cases to submit to the credentials committee, but would not say what it was.

That the "allies" have something up their sleeves is clearly indicated by their actions and their continuous conferences. Whatever it is, however, few think it will be of any permanent effect on the outcome.

It is certain that a fight will be made before the credentials committee, which probably will remain continuously in session from 4 o'clock this afternoon until a report is completed. The contests will be consolidated no far as possible to expedite the work.

When the delegates assembled, Senator Dewey of New York slipped into his seat unnoticed. It was the first time in many years his arrival at a national convention had not been greeted with cheers.

An operator in the press reservation was busily occupied working a telegraph instrument connected with the office of the president at the White House. There were other wires leading to the offices of Secretary Taft and Secretary Cortelyou.

It was rumored just as the convention opened that Senator Borah of Idaho had prepared a speech nominating Roosevelt for a "second elective term." When Borah arrived, he denied that he had any such purpose.

"I was asked to present the name of President Roosevelt," said Senator Borah, "but I refused to do so officially. No friend of the president will nominate him, knowing that he does not want it. If any friend of Roosevelt places his name in nomination, the action would be misconstrued and the president would be accused of connivance with the nominator in doing about such a result. In my judgment the president will absolutely dominate the convention and there will be no Roosevelt stampede."

Julius Fleischman, former mayor of Cincinnati, entered the hall bearing a blue banner in which was a picture of Secretary Taft. The banner aroused little enthusiasm in the hall, and the reception was quite as blue as the banner itself.

LAND-HUNGRY MEN MAKE EASY MARKS

Attorney-General Joins in Warning Against Oregon & California Locators.
Salem, Or., June 16.--People from every other part of the United States as well as from every section of the state of Oregon continue to write the attorney-general for advice regarding the possibility of acquiring a prior claim to quarter sections in the Oregon & California land grant. Timber sharps are offering to locate anybody on a quarter-section of this valuable land for all kinds of prices, and many people are biting.

The people must learn that no attorney or timber cruiser or company of either, says Attorney-General Crawford, can locate any person on a quarter-section of this grant for either $100 or $50.

CLACKAMAS VOTE ABSTRACT LOST

While New Abstract Is Being Prepared, Proclamation of New Enactments Must Wait.
(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)
Salem, Or., June 16.--The abstract of the count in Clackamas county which was mailed to the secretary of state has been lost. According to the county clerk at Oregon City, the abstract was mailed Monday, June 8, but it has never reached the secretary of state. All the other counties' abstracts are now in, the last, that from Harney county, having arrived yesterday. The county clerk of Clackamas county will probably be compelled to prepare more sheets for the June election before the results can be obtained and the laws passed at the election be proclaimed by the governor.
