TODAY'S MARKETS

Look Out for a Sharp Advance in Hop Contracts or Old Hops on Paper—It's a Plan of the Shorts to Force Cultivation

HALF CENT RISE IN WOOL PRICE

Sales in the Valley Are Being Made Generally at 12 1-2c a Pound.

Produce market features:
Wool market doing better.
Wheat down another cent.
Flour market remains quiet.
Strawberries are quoted lower.
Canlaloupes have good sale.
Tomato prices are lower.
Poor local cherries coming.
Fire damages storage eggs.
New potatoes selling down.
Car peaches find slow sale.
Hop contracts to be boosted.

Wool Market Doing Better.

Because of the steadier tone in the eastern wool market, conditions in the Willamette valley are a trifle better and most purchases at this time are being made at an advance of ½c from former figures. While a short time ago buyers were unwilling to purchase valley wool over 12c a pound, they are now freely offering 12½c for anything except the very coarse grades. There is a like improvement in the tone of the eastern Oregon and Idaho markets; late sales showing somewhat higher price ranges than first transactions. The dealers seem more anxious to do business than heretofore for with industrial conditions improving in the east, there is very sure to be a somewhat better tone and demand for wools.

Wheat Down Another Cent.

The local wheat market is down another cent a bushel today. The season is practically ended so far as buying in this territory is concerned. Practically everything has been cleaned up at primary points, the trade here knowing of but three or four fair sized lots remaining in the hands of producers. There is no California business at all.

Hop Contracts to Be Boosted.

Hop contracts on the coming crop are to be boosted in the very near future if the present plans of the short sellers do not miscarry. They are now planning to excite the growers by talk of very good price prospects for the coming season and in the meantime they will help their own cause along by buying a contract here and there in scattered sections. But few contracts will be taken at these advanced values, the only aim of the shorts being to boost the price sufficiently in order to force more thorough cultivation and preparations for harvest. No business is reported locally at this time.

The New York Producers Price Current gives the following report of the situation:

"Locally the same conditions have prevailed. In New York state we hear of the sale of some very low grade hops at 2½c, with better goods selling around 5@6c. Crop reports from all sections of New York state continue excellent, and the vine is way ahead of normal growth and in an exceptionally healthy condition, which should produce a crop of both fine quality and large quantity, should favorable weather continue. Coast reports show a decided improvement, as hot weather has at last set in. Should the weather there continue hot and forcing a big improvement in the yards is looked for. England and the continent report the crop in all sections making good headway and in a healthy condition. Business with brewers is reported as practically at a standstill for the moment, and all dealers report their trade as heavily stocked up."

Fire Damages Storage Eggs.

While nothing definite regarding the actual damage to butter during the fire at Daniel's cold storage plant on Front street yesterday, it is stated that the smoke did considerable damage to the eggs located there and this will probably throw a large amount of storage stock upon the market in the near future. Adjusters are now at work to find the actual damage.

Egg market is steady along Front street at the moment and prices are holding as quoted by The Journal.

Poultry market continues slow with liberal arrivals. No change in price at the moment.

Creamery butter market is steady, supplies and demand being equal at the moment.

Brief Notes of the Trade.

The first full car of peaches of the season arrived in this morning but found but slow sale because of the very liberal arrivals by express heretofore. Sales at 90c@$1.00 a box.

Tomatoes are lower with larger supplies.

A large amount of poor cherries is arriving from local points and sales are slow. Better quality soon expected.

New potatoes are down again and today's sales are at $2.

Strawberries were in good supply along the street this morning with transactions around $1@1.25, although one or two small lots were sold a fraction higher.

Canteloupes which arrived yesterday are finding a good sale at first-quoted figures.

Latest News of Oregon Crops

NORTHWEST WEATHER FORECAST.

Western Oregon—Cloudy with probably showers tonight and Thursday, warmer Thursday; southwest winds.

Western Washington—Cloudy with probably showers tonight and Thursday; southwest winds.

Eastern Oregon, eastern Washington and northern Idaho—Cloudy with possibly showers tonight and Thursday.

Southern Idaho—Cloudy with probably showers tonight and Thursday.

Returning grain men, who have visited the grain fields of the inland empire of late are generally of the opinion that the wheat crop will not be as heavy as a year ago, although some sections will produce more. It would take more than ordinary weather conditions from this time forth to bring out a bumper yield.

According to R. H. Weber of The Dalles cannery, work on the cherry crop is about to begin at his institution. He predicts a big crop.

Cherries of the Kentish variety are coming into market in large lots just now, says the Lewiston, Idaho, Teller. At the Weber fruit packing plant the cherries are being packed for shipment.

A. G. Roberts of Blackfoot, is in the city on business, says the Boise Capital News, and is an enthusiast over the raising of potatoes in the upper Snake river valley. He has the figures to show that their production pays better than raising sugar beets, besides providing labor for white workmen instead of Japanese as the sugar industry does.

At 30 cents a hundred potatoes can be made a more profitable crop than sugar beets and with far less labor. Blackfoot for several years has had the contract for supplying the Oregon Short Line and Union Pacific systems with potatoes, furnishing between 40 and 60 carloads annually.

Hundreds of carloads are shipped from Blackfoot, Idaho Falls and points on the Yellowstone park branch each year, finding market in Salt Lake, Denver, Omaha, Kansas city and other eastern and southern points, many carloads being shipped to Texas cities.

He expects potatoes to bring a big price this year in Idaho, as the Greely, Colo., crop has been practically ruined, and Idaho will be called upon to supply the great market that the Greeley section has been supplying for many years.

Pendleton, Or., June 17.—The prospect for a good wheat crop in Umatilla county is as good as it is anywhere in Oregon or Washington. The wheat is not as good as it was last year, however, but there wil be a good crop, notwithstanding the complaints from different sections of the northwest.

In the Eureka Flat country the big wheat district of eastern Washington, and in the Palouse country, complaints of dry weather are being made constantly, but there will be an excellent crop in both those sections just the same, say those familiar with the conditions.

In the big wheat district in the vicinity of Weston, Athena, Adams and thereabouts, the prospects for a crop are good, and about the usual tonnage will be hauled.

New York, June 17.—The stock market was largely professional in the early dealings, of which much short covering was in evidence, and some buying by traders for long account in expectation of a strong close on the favorable outlook at the Chicago convention. However, the rise was checked in the early afternoon by rumors from Chicago and by passing of the "Big Four" dividend and Lake Erie & Western preferred dividend. This action was a complete surprise to Wall street, resulting in the throwing over of stocks by the traders and creating a rather weak market generally toward the close. Fair buying took place on the recessions.

MINERS BUSY IN BOHEMIA

Locating New Ground, Developing Ledges and Building Roads.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Bohemia, Or., June 17.—A. P. Churchill is packing in supplies and has commenced development work on his President group of seven claims. Some very good ore has been opened and all work done shows up well.

He has a very promising copper and gold property in his President group. He owns several other groups and has interested Roseburg parties in some of his holdings.

On the Royal Flush group, owned by Portland capitalists and others, Mr. Tom and some helpers are doing development work and show some good ore. John Crowley of Portland is principal owner.

Development work is progressing on the Twin Rocks property, owned by Illinois and Oregon capitalists. A crosscut tunnel is in 200 feet and will soon cut a ledge of proved richness. The managers expect to cut this ledge within 20 feet more, then they will drift on the ledge and block out ore.

W. H. Shane is doing development work on the Pittsburg group, owned by himself and others. He is building a trail to connect with the Glenwood trail and county road. All this trail is on an even grade, none of it over 20 per cent. It is a pleasure to go over this trail after traveling some that are 20 per cent grade and some even worse. People in this camp are beginning to see the advantage of good trails and wagon roads.

Mr. McCabe is doing some location work on a new find and says he has something good. He will soon pack in supplies and commence development on his Rock creek property. He will build a trail on a good grade from his property down Rock creek to Steamboat creek, to connect there with the wagon road that comes up the Steamboat from Roseburg. He hopes to see Roseburg improve this road, as a good many people in camp would buy supplies there if there were an outlet.

S. J. Brund is getting along nicely with his wagon road contract and hopes to have the road completed soon, so that ore can be hauled over it. This is the road Mr. Hard is building from the Vesuvius to his Utopian property, where he has blocked out considerable high-grade ore. This ore is free milling and Mr. Hard will haul it to the Vesuvius mill for treatment. He will also commence hauling base ore from his Oregon-Colorado property soon. This ore will be concentrated and the concentrates shipped to Tacoma for smelting.

Foremost on the program will be the big parade in which numerous bands, floats and military and civic organizations will be in line with the thousands of uniformed traveling men.
