DAY SEES LIGHT OF DAY AGAIN

Reinstatement of Deposed Sleuth and Associates Liable to Get Into Court.

For the second time the case of Detectives Snow, Resing, Carpenter and Day threatens to appear in court, this time on the grounds that the executive board of the police commission in virtually recommending their reinstatement as patrolmen instead of plain clothes men is acting in direct contravention to the rules of the civil service commission in 1903, under which they qualified for service in the detective branch of Portland's police department.

The letter received by Chief Gritzmacher yesterday from the executive board stated in reference to the assignment of the detectives on patrolman duty: "The committee is of the opinion that on account of the rapid growth of the suburbs and the necessity for more police protection in the outlying districts especially, patrolmen are needed now more than plain clothes men."

After receiving the letter Chief Gritzmacher notified the four detectives to report for patrol duty this morning. They have not reported as yet. Even though they do not report for a week, they will not forfeit their prerogative, as they have a reasonable time limit in which to act. It is almost certain, however, that they will not accept the ultimatum laid down by Chief Gritzmacher.

Attorney R. E. Moody, counsel for the detectives, stated this morning that according to his interpretation of the law it is mandatory on the police authorities to reinstate the four detectives in the department to which they qualified and were appointed under the rules of the civil service in 1903. Under these rules the arms of the police department were divided into four classifications—captains of detectives, captains of police, detectives and policemen.

The executive board, in recommending the reinstatement of the four detectives as patrolmen, is acting on the rules of the civil service created in 1905, which, asserts Attorney Moody, are not applicable to the four detectives. Under the civil service rules of 1905, applicants for either detective or patrol duty were placed under one classification. After qualifying they were appointed at the option of the police commission to the detective or police force.

Attorney Moody contends specifically that as Detectives Snow, Resing, Carpenter and Day qualified and were appointed to their positions under the rules of the civil service of 1903, and that inasmuch as they have been found not guilty of the charges filed against them, and for which they have been under suspension, the police commission must reinstate them to the positions for which they qualified.

the psychological moment

There's a time for everything; a time to get up, to eat breakfast, a time for luncheon, dinner and a time for sleep. Between all these functions of life, there's a time to dress properly, and, strange to say, there's a proper kind of clothing to wear at each. But, if a man has not the proper clothing for the particular event in question, what shall he do? Remember, that now is the time to buy a tailor-made Summer Suit, wearable upon almost any occasion, for summertime is not so particular as winter. Try the Columbia Tailors this time.

NEW STREET CAR LINES OPERATED IN SAN FRANCISCO

Another Direct Connection Between the Ferry Station and the Fairmont Hotel. The operation of the Sacramento street cable car line adds another to the conveniences of the Fairmont hotel in San Francisco. Despite the fact that the hotel automobiles and carriages meet all trains and steamers, many people prefer to come up on the car. The new line gives direct service from the ferry to the hotel. It is rapid, taking less than eight minutes from the ferry to the hotel, and the new, big, green cars furnish ample accommodations. Strangers need only ask the inspectors for the Sacramento street or Fairmont hotel line, and they will be properly directed. The hotel is also served by direct service from Market street on the California street line, and by the cross-town Powell street line which transfers from all parts of the city. With the present service it is the most conveniently as well as the most superbly located hotel in the new San Francisco. The present management is the identical one which made the old Palace hotel famous, which is in itself a guarantee of superiority of cuisine and service.
