OAKS SLAUGHTER ONE OTE JOHNSON

13 Timely Bingles Gleaned Off Beavers' Makeshift Pitcher Tells Story.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, June 20. — Thirteen hits, nine of them in the fourth and seventh innings, tell the story of the Beaver Johnson's defeat in yesterday's game. Portland hit hard enough to win most any game with good pitching by their own twirler, but Johnson was not equal to the occasion and the Beavers lost.

Neither team could make anything in the first three innings and Portland was the first to score. In the fourth they fell on Killian for four hits, which, together with two bases on balls and Eagan's error, gave them four runs. Oakland came back in their half of the inning, however, and by dint of some hard hitting scored five runs. The fifth gave them one more, and in the seventh things broke with a vengeance. Four hits, one of them a two-bagger by Eagan, making four runs. The score:

NEGRO CHAMP 10 TO 7 CHOICE OVER DANE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, June 20.—The odds in the Gans-Nelson fight, scheduled for July 4, have dropped a point and the champion is now a 10 to 7 favorite over the Dane. This is not what the ringside price will be as Gans' followers have not yet come through with much coin, and it is freely predicted that the negro will be a 10 to 3 favorite on the day of the fight. Both sides are showing much interest in the betting.

Neither fighter did much heavy work today. Both are saving up for the last week before the big event, when boxing and indoor work will be relied upon to put them in condition.

Gardner Looks Favorite.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, June 20.—Betting is unusually heavy on the fight between Kyle Whitney and Jimmy Gardner, the welterweights who are to fight at the Coliseum here a week from tonight. Money is being wagered on both little boxers at even prices and there seems to be plenty of it on both sides. Whitney's backers showed signs of weakening today and it is thought that Gardner will be a ringside favorite at odds of 10 to 8.

PACKY WORKING HARD FOR WELSH

Stockyards Wonder Will Be in Superb Condition for the 25-Round Mill.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Los Angeles, June 20.—Freddie Welsh and Packy McFarland are the centers of attraction in the pugilistic world right now, and when they meet on the Fourth of July in Jim Jeffries' big arena at Vernon, fight fans all over the country will eagerly watch for the result of the battle.

To all intents and purposes the boys will fight for the lightweight championship of the world. Joe Gans, who retains the title at present, is getting into the Methuselah class every day, and almost any time some good, strong young fellow with plenty of heart and lots of speed and cleverness will come along and cop the old master. Either McFarland or Welsh is considered capable of doing it, should the chance come, and it is highly probable that the winner of the July 4 mill will have the honor.

While the fans throughout the country do not know very much about Welsh, there is no denying the English boy's class. Little by little he has forged to the front in the lightweight ranks, and on Decoration Day he showed so much speed and cleverness in disposing of Phil Brock that Jeffries immediately recognized his worth and signed him with McFarland.

The English lad has been in the swat business a few years, but most of his time was spent around Philadelphia and through the east in six-round affairs. These slowly but surely developed the speed and science in him, and when he came west to go over a longer route Freddie was fully able to handle himself and his opponents.

McFarland "Nursed" Along.

Since he hooked up with Harry Gilmore Jr., as his manager, McFarland has been cleverly "nursed" along with a view to making him champion of the world. He was gradually sent to the front, and not until the last few months was he allowed to tackle anything of importance in the lightweight line. But beginning with a meeting with Freddie Welsh over the 10-round route in Milwaukee he was sent against the top notchers, and nothing but the English boy stands in his way to the title of white lightweight champion of the world.

So now the issue is to be faced squarely, and whoever is returned victor either through Jim Jeffries' verdict or a knockout punch administered his opponent, will be proclaimed champion of the whites and clearly in line to succeed Gans.

Welsh is attracting more than his share of attention through his peculiar methods of training. He has located his camp at Venice of America, the noted resort on the Pacific ocean, a few miles from Los Angeles, and there he and his staff of training partners entertain large crowds of summer visitors daily. Freddie is a great lover of the water, and each morning he takes a long swim straight out to sea, sometimes accompanied by his sister Kate, who is also an expert paddler.

McFarland's camp is located at Jack Doyle's South Side club, and the stockyards wonder goes through a hard grind there every day. He is nearly down to fighting trim, and each man promises to enter the ring in superb condition.

MEADOWS TRACK IS OPENED TODAY

Sugarmaid and Extre Nous Public Choices for First Big Handicap.

Seattle, June 20.—The summer meeting of the King County Fair association starts at The Meadows this afternoon for the annual 73 days' meeting, and a card of six races is presented. It is doubtful if ever on the coast a higher class of horses has been represented on a daily program and is a favorable augury of what will be presented at The Meadows this summer.

The opening handicap is, of course, the feature of the afternoon's sport and nine speedy performers are carded to start. The field is an evenly matched one and a stirring contest is sure to result. The public choices for the race will probably be Sugarmaid and Entre Nous.

There has been a change of officials since last year and some of the best known racing men in the country will have charge of the track. Martin Nathanson is the handicapper and secretary and has occupied the same positions on some of the best known tracks, the track at Oakland, California, being the last one he was connected with. The judges here this summer will be E. C. Hopper, who filled the same position at Oakland; Mr. Nathanson and Robert Leighton, who were in the stand here last year.

The abolishing of the poolsellers who formerly preyed on the women in the grandstand is a move that will meet with favor, and it is the intention of the track management to discourage as much as possible any betting among the women patrons.

ANTI-RACING WAVE SWEEPING COUNTRY

Louisiana and Colorado Follow New York — Kentucky Gets Busy.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

New Orleans, June 20.—Racing interests received another body blow this afternoon when the lower house of the legislature passed the Locke anti-race track gambling bill, which is similar to the new law in New York. The anti-racing men say they will have three votes to spare when the bill comes up in the senate Monday.

The racing men, however, claim they have won over a majority of the senate and assert confidently that the measure will be killed. They are making a bitter fight because with the present law in New York, they think that the Louisiana tracks will be much more important.

Overland Races Stop.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Denver, Col., June 20.—There were no races at Overland Park yesterday, and it is unlikely that there will be any more races here this season. The police have been directed to arrest anyone caught laying a wager on the races and the bookies are not anxious to buck against the determined spirit abroad.

An appeal has been taken from the decision of Judge Carlton M. Bliss, who, sitting in the district court, has held that race track gambling is a crime under the laws of the state. Judge Bliss stayed the dismissal of the writ prohibiting justices from issuing warrants but he held that police officers could proceed without writs and no one seems anxious to face a trial for the sake of betting. It is predicted here that the racing game has been permanently killed.

Declare Against Bookies.

Lexington, Ky., June 20.—Bookmaking was given a body blow yesterday, when the State Racing commission refused to allow the establishment of the old booking system. They insist on the Paris mutual system as the best.

EASTERN OREGONIANS BET $2,000 ON GAME

Enterprise, Or., June 20.—While there is no league connection with the Wallowa and Enterprise ball teams, and there is no professionalism attached in any manner, the national game has become so exciting in this section of the state that tomorrow a ball game is to be played between these two teams for a purse of $2,000.

The Enterprise team issued a challenge to play any team in the county for a purse of $1,000 and immediately put up $500 as a forfeit. The bluff was called by Wallowa. Players were at once chosen by each side and now the two teams are practicing.

But the purse of $2,000 promises to be a mere bagatelle for the towns are crazed over the game and people are betting their individual money in a way that makes an election or a horse race look small.

NEW STREET CAR LINES OPERATED IN SAN FRANCISCO

Another Direct Connection Between the Ferry Station and the Fairmont Hotel.

The operation of the Sacramento street cable car line adds another to the conveniences of the Fairmont hotel in San Francisco. Despite the fact that the hotel automobiles and carriages meet all trains and steamers, many people prefer to come up on the car.

The new line gives direct service from the ferry to the hotel. It is rapid, taking less than eight minutes from the ferry to the hotel, and the new, big, green cars furnish ample accommodations. Strangers need only ask the inspectors for the Sacramento street or Fairmont hotel line and they will be properly directed. The hotel is also served by direct service from Market street on the California street line, and by the cross-town Powell street line which transfers from all parts of the city.

With the present service it is the most conveniently as well as the most superbly located hotel in the new San Francisco.

The present management is the identical one which made the old Palace hotel famous, which is in itself a guarantee of superiority of cuisine and service.
