

STREET WORK AGAIN BLOCKED

Dissenters Win in Killing Contemplated Improvement to Albina Avenue.

Property-owners on Albina avenue are torn in twain by a dissension which has arisen respecting the kind of street improvement to be laid on the thoroughfare, and the matter was finally disposed of by the street committee of the city council yesterday afternoon by denying two petitions of the divided property-owners calling for crushed rock and bitulithic improvements respectively.

Headed by J. H. Nolte, a large number of property-owners living on one end of the contemplated improvement sought to secure a bitulithic improvement. Nolte represented to the committee that the people wanted nothing but the best in the way of a street improvement and suggested the crushed rock proposition of his neighbors. Nolte said that he represented the wishes of a majority of the property-owners and that the councilmen should grant the prayer of his petition.

Equally vehement for crushed rock were the dissenters, and they gave as their reason for not wanting to establish a more costly improvement at this time the fact that sewers and gas mains are yet to be laid in the street and to put in a hard surface pavement would be to work a great hardship on the property-owners, and furthermore would result in the tearing up of the pavement when the sewers and mains are installed.

They wanted the councilmen to grant the prayer of their petition on this ground, and said that when the time came they would be willing to install the hard-surface pavement. The committee discussed the proposition with the property-owners and decided to deny both petitions and then asked them to come in with petitions covering separate areas—one on which crushed rock is desired and one for the bitulithic pavement. Inasmuch as there is a district half a mile long to be paved, the decision is deemed the most feasible solution of the proposition, although Nolte objected, saying that he would not draw up another petition because the one he presented yesterday signified the wish of the majority of the property-owners who would be affected by the improvement.

WILLIAMS SCHOOL GAINS IN CONTEST

Closing Week of Voting for The Journal Library Is Spirited.

The closing week of the library contest is getting very lively, Williams Avenue school gaining over 200,000 since the last publication. The contest will close next Wednesday and it looks as if some remarkable gains and heavy voting will continue through the closing days. Western Bell club continues with their lead and will no doubt make a good showing at the final. Votes continue to pile in heavily each day and a great many changes may take place before the winner is announced.

STUDENTS' OPERETTA PLEASINGLY GIVEN

Blanchet Institute Graduates Present Clever Dramatic Production.

Students of Blanchet Institute were the entertainers at a commencement play, and exercises in the Hellig theatre last evening, some interesting musical numbers and recitations preceding the offering of the Forest Bell, a dramatic operetta of unusual worth. The plot takes place in a German forest, and in a hunting scene. It is the story of a quarrel between the Prince Percival and Alexis, the son of the gamekeeper. The threatened trouble is averted by Alexis hearing the ringing of the forest bell, symbolical of conscience. Parts of the operetta were well taken by students of the institute, John T. Driscoll, Aloysius J. Hyland, Robert E. Driscoll and George G. Kelly being particularly good. Many of the students demonstrated that they are the possessors of pleasing and well trained voices, and the music was all well rendered. Archbishop Christie presented certificates to Carl F. Meyer, Robert H. Driscoll, Joseph W. Doyle, Jennie C. Hurley, Herbert F. Wartenfelder, John E. Weber, Raymond C. Curtin, John J. McGraw, Frank P. McHenry, Frank J. Gaynor, Eugene F. Hamer. These students will continue a higher course in the Christian Brothers' new college.

St. Petersburg authorities have issued an order forbidding the students of the coast corps to read "Sherlock Holmes" and other stories of a similar character.

THOUGHTFUL OFFICER SAVES MANY BUGS FROM AN UNTIMELY DEATH

Officer John Golts, the daylight inspector of the north end, made an arrest yesterday. It was an arrest extraordinary. Officer Golts nipped in its incipency a bug-poison venture. D. G. Cottella, the promoter, was hauling in Portland's sunshine swathing customers when arrested. His stock consisted of 12 bottles, containing liquid of an azure blue labeled "poison," one table and a chair. The table occupied a conspicuous position in the middle of the sidewalk on Burnside street between Second and Third streets.

The table served as a background for the artistic display of the 12 bottles, also as a rest for Cottella's feet. Terminating the 45 degree stand of Cottella's recumbent lower limbs the owner sat in his chair, leisurely scanning the pages of a novel, and deaf to the complimentary remarks of inconvenienced passersby. He protested volubly against the officer's intrusion in spite of which Golts was constrained to do his duty. At police headquarters Cottella said his vacation was that of a palmet. His embarkation into the bug-poison venture was the result of much thought on the easiest way to realize a little ready cash.

ST. JOHNS ON FENCE BETWEEN WET AND DRY

Judge Gantenbein to Temporarily Settle Vexed Question.

The question of wet or dry for St. Johns will be passed on by Judge Gantenbein in the circuit court next Wednesday, when he will rule on the motion of the drys to dissolve the injunction restraining the county court from declaring the result of the local option vote so far as it affects precinct No. 91. Argument in the matter was finished yesterday afternoon, the attorneys on each side citing precedents for the court's consideration.

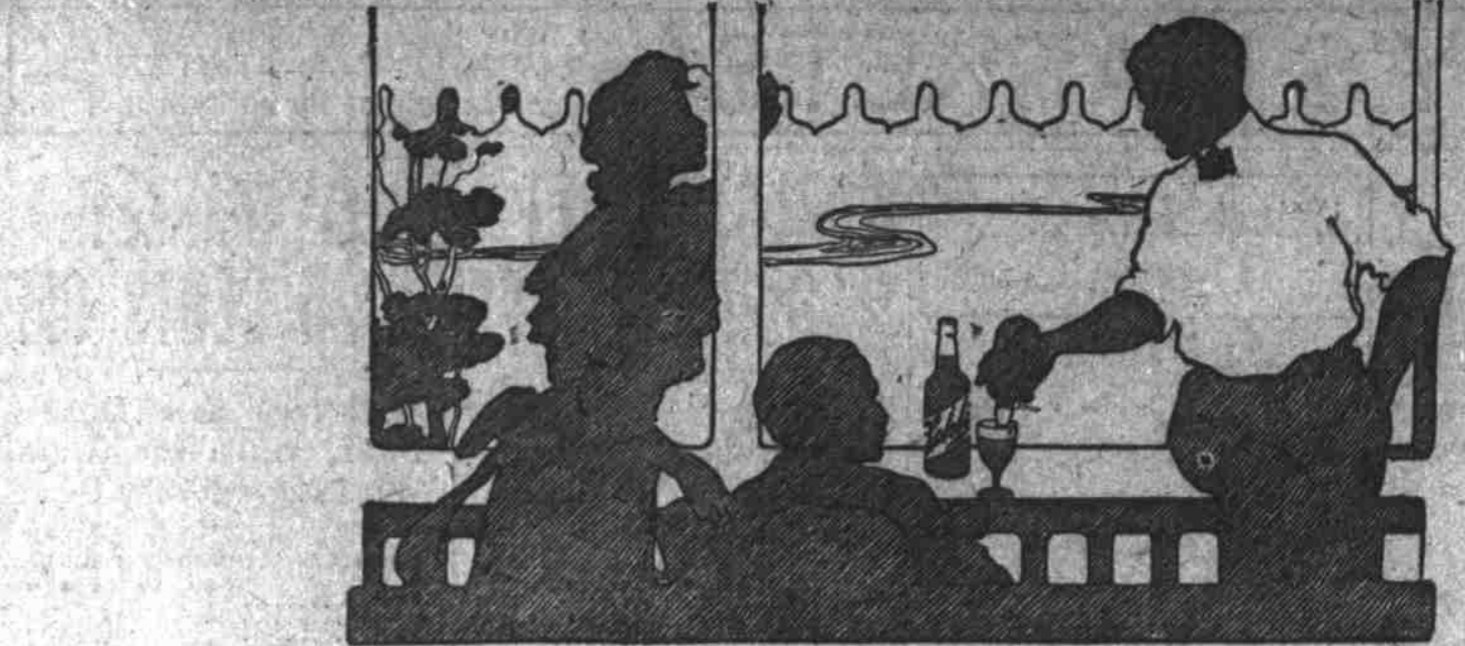

The hope of the drys is being concentrated on the motion to dissolve the injunction, for if this is granted the saloonmen are out of court. It is predicted that the saloonmen will make an effort to keep in court in some form, and try to maintain a temporary injunction while the case is being fought through to the supreme court, thus allowing the doors of St. Johns' refreshment palaces to swing without interference for many moons to come.

THE ALCOHOL in beer is a trifle—only 3½ per cent. The effective ingredients are barley and hops—a food and a tonic. Pure beer is both good and good for you.

In Germany, Holland, Sweden, Denmark and Austria beer is the national beverage. Nearly all people, of all ages, drink it.

And all the world envies their sturdy strength. Every doctor knows how beer benefits. If you need more strength or vitality he will prescribe it.

But be careful to choose a pure beer, else you get harm with the good. And select a beer well aged to avoid biliousness.

The way to be sure is to order Schlitz. We go to extremes in cleanliness. We even filter the air that cools it. We age it for months. We sterilize every bottle.

Schlitz has no after effects.

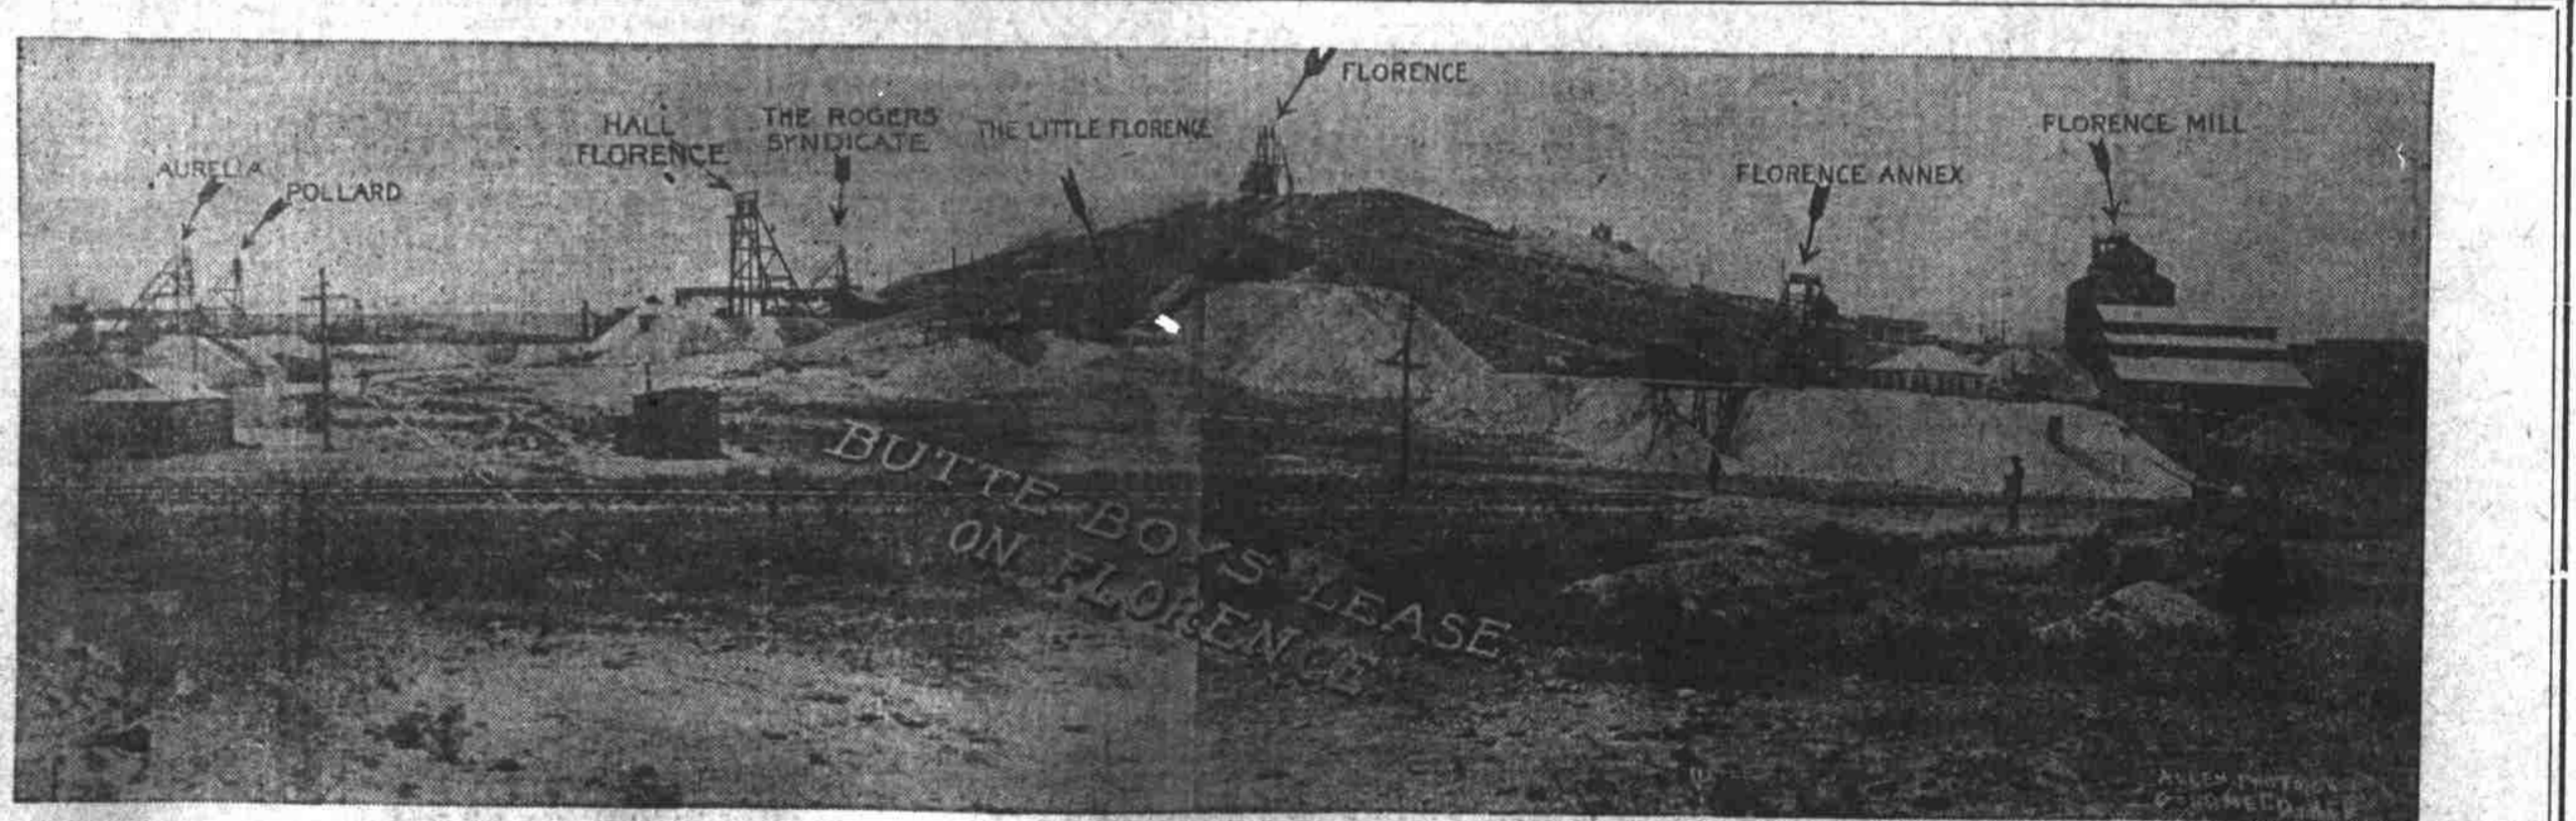

Ask for the Brewery Bottling. Common beer is sometimes substituted for Schlitz. To avoid being imposed upon, see that the cork or crown is branded Schlitz.

The events of the week will come to an end Wednesday with the graduation exercises, followed in the evening by the commencement ball.

Walla Walla at A. Y. P. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Walla Walla, June 20.—The Walla Walla County Development league has organized preparatory to the arrangement of the work for an exhibition representing the county at the Alaska-Tukon exposition. It was decided that Walla Walla county would not erect a building, but would make an exhibit in the general building. Committees were appointed and Walla Walla county is out for the premiums.

THE ABOVE OUT SHOWS THE LOCATION OF THE BUTTE BOYS CONSOLIDATED MINING CO. LEASE ON THE FLORENCE PROPERTY, AND A FEW OF THE ADJOINING PROPERTIES.

Below Are A Few Figures that Will Interest the Rich or Poor.

Goldfield produced $12,000,000 in eight months.
The Consolidated has produced $15,497,250.91 to June 4.
Florence, $3,000,000.
Little Florence, $2,250,000.
The Hayes & Monette Lease paid in dividends $3,000,000.
Goldfield mines have paid in dividends $7,517,000.
The Mohawk produced in 13 months $7,666,840.92.
The ore reserve in sight in a few of the mines is:
Consolidated, $33,750,000.
Mohawk, $25,000,000.
Combination, $5,000,000.
Little Florence, $3,000,000.
Rogers Syndicate, $2,000,000.
There are dozens of other producers that we could mention if space would permit.
There are seven mills in camp and being constructed. With a daily capacity of 1,000 tons, should they average only $40 per ton, it would mean $40,000 per day for Goldfield, or $14,800,000 per year. At $100 per ton it would reach the enormous sum of $36,500,000 per year.
Then how about the thousands of tons being shipped to smelters? These figures are from only a few of the producers. Do you wonder at us being enthusiastic? After turning these facts and figures over in your mind a few times, take a glance at the top of this advertisement and ask yourself, "Do I want stock in the Butte Boys Consolidated?" We will await your answer. But don't wait too long. Tomorrow might be too late. The Butte Boys now own outright nine full claims, two leases, as shown above, with the use of the Annex shaft, which is now down to a depth of 500 feet, and equipped with a 50-horsepower electric hoist and modern mining machinery. We adjoin the famous Little Florence, and have over half of the Annex lease. The Little Florence and Florence Annex are too well known to need any further mention than just their names. We also have a two years' lease on the Night Hawk. "It's a bird." We will show you a cut of it in a later issue of this paper. If there are any Missourians in this city we want to show them what we have got, as well as to tell them.

We are working a double shift on the Butte Boys mine at Red Mountain, seven days in the week on the Night Hawk and have done 22 feet crosscutting on the Florence lease. We will put all the miners to work we can handle in a few days on a crosscut from the 500-foot level and push work with all possible speed.
