JOSEPHINE COUNTY IS TEARING DOWN JAIL AT ANCIENT COUNTY SEAT

Old Jackson County Jail at Kerby; Old Office of Clerk at the Right.

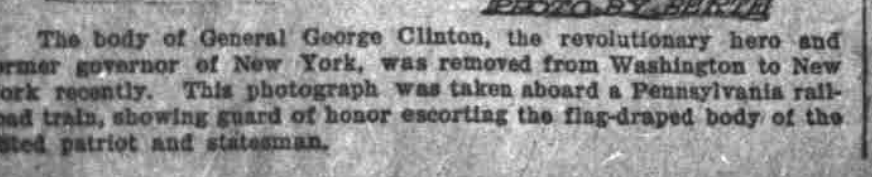

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Grants Pass, Or., June 20.—The old jail and the old clerk's office at Kerby, the first county seat of Josephine, which will be torn down to make room for modern structures, are among the very oldest landmarks in Oregon. The jail was built in the later fifties, following the organization of Josephine county. It is a wooden structure of two stories, or rather of two sets of cells one above the other. Light and air were admitted only through narrow and heavily barred doors and windows. The jail sheltered some very bad men during the rough-and-ready days of half a century ago, and was the scene of several desperate jailbreaks. A sheriff in those circuitous days, when old Kerby town was the chief city of southern Oregon and boasted a population of almost 2,000 men and contained half a score of saloons, dance halls and gambling places, had conferred more than 200 years ago, when the county seat was removed from Kerby to Grants Pass.

WON'T OBEY MOTHER'S WILL; SHE LEFT HIM $1

Reading, Pa., June 20.—Judge Bland adjudicated the account of Charles M. East, executor of the estate of Sarah Martin, late of Boyertown, this county, today. Mrs. Martin died on March 25, 1908, and by her will left her son, Harry Martin, $1 in money, bequeathing the balance of her estate, $1,025.56, to Charles M. East, a friend. The son filed an objection to the execution of a tombstone on the grave of one of her grandchildren, Charles Martin, for $1, who, his mother directs in her will, shall be buried on his lot in the Fottstown cemetery. On account of this objection it will not be put.

IN FAVOR OF TWO-CENT CABLE

Father of Penny Postage Will Work for Lower Telegraph Toll. London, June 20.—Now that penny postage between England and the United States is an accomplished fact, John Henkle Henton, M. P., intends to devote his energies to a reduction of telegraph rates between England and the continent, an inevitable sequence to which, he believes, would be a corresponding reduction in transatlantic cable rates. Mr. Henton suggested that the British and American governments should jointly acquire the property and rights of the existing cable companies at a fair valuation, establishing a state of monopoly in cable communication. The Atlantic cables as they exist have a carrying capacity of 300,000 words per annum. At the present prohibitive rate of 10 shillings or 25 cents a word, only 3,000,000 are sent. If they were used to their full capacity, Mr. Henton has no doubt that the rate of a penny would be a remunerative rate.

The body of General George Clinton, the revolutionary hero and former governor of New York, was removed from Washington to New York recently. This photograph was taken aboard a Pennsylvania railroad train, showing guard of honor escorting the flag-draped body of the noted patriot and statesman.

CARTRIDGE ON TRACK; BULLET HITS OLD MAN

Car Explodes Rifle Charge—Ball Penetrates Victim's Brain. Philadelphia, June 20.—Struck by a bullet from a cartridge exploded by a trolley car last night, Charles E. Price of Wernock and Master streets is in St. Joseph's hospital in a critical condition. Mr. Price, who is 70 years old, was sitting on his front doorstep when the accident occurred. He was supposed to have put the cartridge on the track. It was about 10:30 o'clock when a car going west on Master street passed over the cartridge. There was an explosion which startled the neighborhood. When the motorman stopped the car to make an investigation of the damage, the groans of Mr. Price were heard. At St. Joseph's hospital it was found that the bullet had entered his head through the right eye and is lodged in the brain. The patient was unconscious and therefore unable to give any assistance to the police in detecting the miscreants.

BABY OF 25 MONTHS WEIGHS 110 POUNDS

Also Remarkable in Sleeping Fourteen Hours a Day and Rarely Crying. New York, June 20.—Interest on the east side, which produces many wonderful things, has turned during the last few days to a 25-month-old baby weighing 110 pounds. This little girl's name is Adeline Gutilla and she is a record breaker in more ways than one. Daniel Gutilla, the father of the baby, says she sleeps for 14 hours a day, and though she is only two years and one month old, she rarely cries. She never has a tantrum, and she is a taller and came here from Springfield, Ohio, about two weeks ago. Adeline came into the world weighing a little more than 10 pounds, but she grew rapidly. Many physicians have examined the child, but they have been at a loss to account for her enormous weight. Last winter Adeline won a prize at the exposition held at Jacksonville, Fla. She was judged to be the heaviest, brightest and cutest. And she is still growing.

ENGINEER FALLS OUT; EXPRESS RUNS WILD

Train Dashes Along for Seven Miles Before Fireman Misses His Mate. Omaha, Neb., June 20.—Plunging around sharp curves, through cuts and across bridges at 50 miles an hour without an engineer in the cab, a Burlington express train, St. Joseph to Omaha, ran wild for seven miles this morning near Council Bluffs. The engineer, E. Starling, had fallen from his cab and lay unconscious by the side of the tracks. Fireman Jackson did not know that the locomotive was running wild. Several other cars were taken with undiminished speed and there was no whistle. As the train dashed through Hentons the fireman missed Starling. He leaped to the throttle lever, shut off the steam, and brought the train to a standstill. The train ran back seven miles, and there the engineer was found unconscious beside the tracks. He cannot explain how he came to fall out of the cab.

BLIND DOG AN APT PUPIL IN TRICKS

Letitz, Pa., June 20.—John T. Hackman, of Brunsville, two miles from here, has a blind dog which he has taught to do many tricks difficult for a dog with its sight. Hackman's dog jumps and jumps with as much alacrity and confidence as any ordinary dog. One of the remarkable things the dog will do is to jump over a fence until recently, when age interfered, the dog would run along the path leading to his owner's house and, at full speed, leap over a fence more than three feet high. Never once did the animal touch a pail. The dog is 15 years old and now somewhat stiff in the joints. It has been blind from the time it was a puppy.

SOUVENIRS ARE USED IN WALLS

Pennsylvania Man Has the Most Unique House in the World. Philadelphia, Pa., June 20.—In Lebanon county Pennsylvania, lives a farmer by the name of Tighman Fogel, and he has erected one of the most novel houses ever conceived. It is the only one of its kind in the world, the walls are imbedded thousands of souvenirs collected in all parts of the globe. These souvenirs consist of all kinds of stones, pebbles, wood, shells, medicine bottles, glassware of every description, plain, colored and fancy; chinaware, plain and fancy; some very some otherwise. For instance, he'd take a glass pitcher and stick it into the soft cement so that only the handle protruded. Then he would take another pitcher, whether of glass or china, and stick it in sideways. He would take a pitcher or cup and insert it sideways so that the handle would be in the cement and the other half would be in the air. On the north and south sides of the house there are huge squares of cement filled in with all kinds of rock, some of them three times the size of a man's bureau drawers, which he brought all the way from Kansas. Other specimens came from other western states, and he says that these souvenirs in the cement blocks represent practically every state in the Union.

ENGINEER FALLS OUT; EXPRESS RUNS WILD

Train Dashes Along for Seven Miles Before Fireman Misses His Mate. Omaha, Neb., June 20.—Plunging around sharp curves, through cuts and across bridges at 50 miles an hour without an engineer in the cab, a Burlington express train, St. Joseph to Omaha, ran wild for seven miles this morning near Council Bluffs. The engineer, E. Starling, had fallen from his cab and lay unconscious by the side of the tracks. Fireman Jackson did not know that the locomotive was running wild. Several other cars were taken with undiminished speed and there was no whistle. As the train dashed through Hentons the fireman missed Starling. He leaped to the throttle lever, shut off the steam, and brought the train to a standstill. The train ran back seven miles, and there the engineer was found unconscious beside the tracks. He cannot explain how he came to fall out of the cab.

POLICE PALBEARERS FOR FUNERAL OF CAT

Chippewa Falls, Wis., June 20.—If Mrs. Cora Van Dine's invitations are accepted a detachment of police will be palbearers and trustees of Police R. S. King will deliver a sermon at the funeral of her pet Angora cat, Mrs. Van Dine has bought a beautiful Angora cat, and everything will be done at the funeral in accordance with the custom at human funerals. The cat was a present of Mr. Van Dine to his wife, and she prized it highly. When it became ill a physician was called in, but despite his efforts the feline expired.

RULER HONORS CHIMNEY SWEEP

Stockholm, June 20.—King Gustav has addressed a personal letter to a chimney sweep, Nils Augustus, who is lauding him as "the bravest man in all Sweden" and decorating him with the Golden Order of Merit. The "bravest man in Sweden" is being cared for in the city hospital and the king's own physician calls to see him twice a day. After his recovery the young man will enter the service of the palace, the king having promised him an easy and honorable post. This is how Nils, a young fellow of 22, achieved the king's respect and the rewards in store for him? The sweep and a boy helper were sweeping the chimneys of a theatre. By mistake the boy entered a chimney connecting with the boilers, and there got wedged. Nils, hearing the boy's cries, discovered his plight and, rushing down to the boiler-room, plunged through the furnace fire and worked his way up the chimney, with the flames reaching his feet. When Nils reached the suffocating boy he used his head for a ram and, collecting all his force, dislodged the boy. Thus he saved his life and his upward climb, pushing along the boy with his head and shoulders until they reached the roof. When the rescuers came they found Nils' clothes and hair burned off, his feet and legs charred and his hands burned to a crisp. Nils was able to use his hands and feet again. "Very well," said King Gustav, "we will use him for decorative purposes. He is an ornament to the human race."

DYING MOTHER PLANS HER SON'S WEDDING

Fond Parent's Funeral Follows Boy's Marriage Within an Hour. Scranton, Pa., June 20.—At 9:30 o'clock in the morning Miss Loretta Kirst and Joseph Rader, both of South Scranton, were married at St. Mary's church. An hour later the mother of the bridegroom was buried. A wedding and a funeral in the same family within the hour is unusual, but such was the desire of the dead woman. Elaborate plans had been made for the wedding, and they were still under way when she was taken ill. Realizing that she would not recover, the mother planned the wedding to be performed and at the time originally set. From her sickbed the mother planned many of the details of the marriage.

PASTOR SAYS WOMEN OF FLOCK MAY DRINK

New York, June 20.—Dr. Emil A. Maury of the Dutch Reformed church, at Central avenue and Sherman place, Jersey City, recently received an anonymous letter, attacking certain women in the congregation, whom the writer had watched for two years. The letter said that they frequented a saloon a block away from the church. "Thank God," said Dr. Maury in an address before the congregation, "I have not the least doubt that the women named in it enjoy a saloon, do so to obtain food as well as drink on their way home from a society meeting. I see no harm in it, for this city is patronized by respectable people." Dr. Maury said, further, that if the writer of the letter should resign as a pastor, he would be promptly accepted.
