The battleship New Hampshire left today for Colon with 375 marines, who will be landed to begin duty at once on the eastern coast. An unconfirmed runor is affoat today that one or more vessels of the Pacific fleet will be de-tached from the squadron and sent at once to Panama with marines to pro-tect government property on the Pa-cific slope of the isthmus. It is admitted that the total number of marines to be sent to Panama is over 1,500 and that more may be sent if re-ports during the next few days are not more reassuring. The cruiser Prairie with 10 marines and a complement of bluelackets ar-rived at Colon yesterday, and the marines were detailed to patrol duty. They will be used at the polling places the or the sent set marines.

the part of the natives of French Inco-China to wage a warfare sgainst the French for national liberty has thrown the Europeans living in the outlying ports of Indo-China into a panle. The plot was discovered through the arrest of a native doctor and two co-compirators of Sarawan, a town of An-nam. Documents found on them showed the conspiracy to be well under way. It involved the simultaneous upris-ing of the natives of Annam and Ton-quin, a French possession in the north-west part of French Indo-China, who were to be aided by the Chinese rebels of Augunnan. Native priests were ac-cused of inciting the troops in many places to join. At scores of towns throughout this region there are only a few French residents and their mas-sacre was planned. The documents found prove that the mative garrisons at Bacninth, imme-diately north of Hanoi, still further north, were to mutiny in the night, mur-der the French of this command, seize the airms and animunition and take to the hills. Learning of the plot the French au-thorities arranged a trap for the con-spirators but through a blunder the leaders got away.

The values are segregated as follows: Northern $59,000,000, O. R. & N. $16,000,000. These figures will be submitted to the railroad companies and they will be given 10 days in which to present ar-guments showing any errors on the part of the commission. Immediately following the expiration of the 10 days the railroad commission will begin the work of segregating the value of the railroad commission will begin the work of segregating the value of the former finding will be based a decision as to whether or not the rates now in existence are giving the railroad property. Valuations are yet to be fixed upon the minor roads, but most of the pre-ilminary work has been done, and ft is expected the smail roads will add $25,-000,000 to the value of railroad proper-ty in the state. In addition the com-mission, has fixed $25,000,000 as the value of property owned by the rail-roads but used for commercial pur-poses. The findings so far completed have roads but used for commercial pur-poses. The findings so far completed have been submitted to the tax commission, which will now begin the work of de-termining the assessable value of rail-road property. The tax commission, it is expected, will follow the railroad mission's figures closely, but will fix the assessed value at about 60 per cent of the true value, as other property is assessed on that basis. Such action would put the assessed value of all railroad property in Washington at about $125,000,000 or about trebis what it was last year.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Pendleton, Or., June 10.—A 10-inch sun, requiring three O. R. & N. flat-cars to transport it, altracted consider-able attention at the depot while the train was in the yards. It was a mod-ern, disappearing gun and intended for use at one of the forts at the mouth of the Columbia. The barrel, or can-non proper, was on one car and lacked only a few inches of extending the entire length, while the other two cars were used to transport the carriage and mountings. The annual recital of Professor W. J Peck's vocal class will take place at Woodmen's hall, corner East Sixth and East Alder streets, June 26. at 8:15 p.m. The following pupils will appear:

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Blue River, Or., June 20.—The work of general development has made good progress the last year in this district, and many large ore bodies have been opened up carrying good values. While some of the larger properties have not been in constant operation the past win-ter, the indications are that all will be active in the near future. A number of arastras have been installed in the district for temporary use, which are proving most satisfactory to their own-ers. For the past record of the Blue River mining district as one of the best gold producers of Oregon one has but to refer to government reports as proof. *

Washington, June 20.—After having been set up for a target for 13-inch juns and whitehead torpedoes, the mon-itor Florida has had her name taken away from her. It was announced by Acting Secretary of the Navy Newberry today before he left on his summer va-cation, that the monitor will hereafter be known as the Tallahasse. It has al-ready been decided that the new battle-ship of the Delaware type will be called the Florida. The boats are anchored off the foot of East Pine street and attract little attention now, except from people passing over the bridges. The two craft carry about 40 men all told.
