GUILTY ON ALL COUNTS

Hyde and Schneider Convicted of Every Charge Made Against Them — Benson and Dimond Held to Be Not Guilty.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, June 22.—(Late afternoon dispatch.)—After having been out since Friday noon, the jury in the Hyde Benson land fraud cases this afternoon returned a verdict of guilty against Frederick A. Hyde and Joost H. Schneider on all counts and not guilty in the cases of Henry A. Dimond and John A. Benson on all counts. It has taken more than four years to reach the conclusion of the case. The first indictments were returned against the four men February 7, 1904, but the trials did not actually begin until last April.

The men were charged with conspiracy to defraud the government out of valuable timber lands by use of the "dummy entry" system of enrolling fictitious names.

Dimond was an attorney for Benson and was held not to have had any guilty knowledge of the transactions. Benson made his defense on the ground that he did not purposely do anything fraudulent in connection with making entries. The jury returned its verdict at 3:40 o'clock. The members were polled as to every count in the indictment with respect to Hyde and answered guilty every time. The first count charges unlawful conspiracy and the other counts charge conspiracy to defraud the government of the United States.

The jury was unanimous on all counts.

MOB THREATENS SEATTLE COPS

Drunken Miners at Renton Attempt to Take Prisoners From Officers.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Seattle, Wash., June 22.—With cries of "down with the sheriffs" and "take the prisoners away from them, boys," a howling mob of men, women and children surrounded Special Deputy Sheriff C. B. Peyton and Deputy Leighton at Renton yesterday afternoon as the officers were taking six saloon keepers to Seattle for violating the Sunday closing law.

Egged on by a score of drunken coal miners, the mob pressed closer and closer to the deputies and had not the officers exhibited a cool disregard for the threats of the mob, it is probable that bloodshed might have resulted.

When Peyton and his men were aboard a special train the mob gave a prolonged yell of derision and did not disperse until the train left the coal town.

This morning the six saloon keepers pleaded guilty to charges of selling liquor on Sunday and each was fined $75.

PAYMASTER OUSTED BY ADMIRAL DAYTON

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, June 22.—It was announced today at the navy department that the courtmartial held in San Pedro last week in the case of Paymaster Eugene D. Ryan, pay inspector of the Pacific fleet charged with conduct unbecoming an officer, has rendered a verdict of not guilty and that Rear Admiral John H. Dayton, commanding the Pacific fleet, and Acting Secretary of the Navy Newberry have disapproved the verdict of the court.

Ryan has been detached from duty and ordered home to Virginia to await orders.

The officer was accused of misconduct while the fleet was in San Francisco bay. He was charged with having gone aboard the flagship West Virginia in an intoxicated condition and showed disrespect to Admiral Dayton.

RUEF SUBMITS LIST OF NAMES FOR BOND

(United Press Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, June 22.—Abe Ruef, indicted ex-boss, who has spent the past year in jail, today submitted to District Attorney Langdon the list of the property holders and the amount of bonds they have subscribed for his bail, which he had hoped to have accepted by the court some time this week.

The list of bondsmen submitted by Ruef contains the names of many prominent politicians here. The total bonds put up is $840,000 and the total amount of property owned by the bondsmen is over $3,000,000.

Langdon and Ruef engaged in a spat over the names of Ruef's father and sister which appeared in the list. The district attorney holds that these bonds are not acceptable. He will examine the list and announce his decision some time this week.

MOORISH TREASURES FOUND IN PORTUGAL

Lisbon, June 22.—Great excitement has been caused at Serra Daire, in southern Portugal, by the discovery of an underground Moorish stronghold, which is said to be rich in treasure.

The stronghold consists of a very extensive series of underground passages and chambers, including living quarters, stables and storehouses, and it was undoubtedly constructed at the time that the Moors were being hard pressed by the Portugese who held the northern portion of the country.

Hundreds of skeletons have been found, and a great store of ancient weapons, including daggers, swords and scimitars, many of which are studded with precious stones.

Great stores of gold and silver coins have also been found and large numbers of people are working feverishly day and night.

CAMERON GIVES UP TO JUSTICE

Traction Magnate Returns After Year as Fugitive to Answer for Bribery.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Pittsburg, June 22.—C. C. Cameron, president of the Pittsburg Tube City Railroad company, who has been a fugitive from justice for over a year after having pleaded guilty to a charge of bribery, walked into court at noon today and surrendered himself.

Cameron, whose face used to be familiar about the hotel lobbies and in political club life here, was but a shadow of his former self. He looked thin and emaciated and said that he could no longer live the life of a hunted man.

Cameron was indicted over a year ago for bribery in connection with the granting of a franchise for his company to enter Pittsburg. He pleaded guilty to the charge, although many political friends came to his aid and offered assistance to him if he would fight the case. He was released from jail under heavy bail put up by his friends, and when the time came for sentence he was nowhere to be found. Officers have hunted all over the United States for the man since that time, without avail. He was accused of having offered $70,000 to city councilmen for the passing of the franchise.

IDENTIFY MAN WHO FIRED SHOT

Deputy Sheriff Arrests Italian Who Fired Shot Into Crowded Boat.

A party of excursionists from Portland were put in peril yesterday at Martin's Bluff by a frenzied Italian, who fired into them as the steamer Capital City was leaving the dock and wounded John Watts, a deckhand. Women and children were crowded on the bow of the boat and it is probable that some of the passengers would have been shot had the Italian had more than one cartridge in his revolver.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Beatty was a passenger on the boat, and his prompt action enabled him to land the guilty man behind the bars of the jail at Kalama, Wash., before the night was many hours old. Beatty was able to identify the man, who gave the name of John Monoca, and several citizens of Kalama have also recognized him as the one who drew the revolver.

The shooting was the outgrowth of merrymaking by the departing excursionists, which was resented by a gang of Italian laborers. Fifty or sixty Italians are employed in railroad construction near Martin's Bluff, and they had gone to the boat landing to see the Portland picnickers leave. At the landing there was much "jollying" and exchange of repartee between those on shore and those on the boat. Some one on the boat playfully threw an onion among the Italians.

This was the signal for an angry outcry and one of the men whipped out a 32-caliber revolver, which he fired into the boat. The result was a panic and scurrying for cover by the passengers. It was not known for some time that any one was hit, when it was learned that a deckhand had been shot through the muscles of the left arm.

Deputy Sheriff Beatty suggested turning back at once, but the captain of the boat thought it best to proceed without exposing the boat to a possible fusillade from the shore. Accordingly Beatty was taken to St. Helens and landed, where he secured the aid of Sheriff White of Columbia county. They proceeded in Dr. Cliff's glass motor boat to Kalama, where they picked up Sheriff Kirby and a deputy, driving thence to Martin's Bluff. The officers arrived at 7:30 and at once began a search for the man who fired the shot. After much difficulty he was located and identified. He was then taken to the Kalama jail.

A message from Kalama this afternoon announced that Monoca will be prosecuted to the extent of the law.

GERMANY CALLS FOR EXTENSIVE LOANS

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Berlin, June 22.—It is officially announced that the government will call for subscriptions to a loan for 181,000,000 marks, ($45,000,000). The Prussian minister of finance has explained to the diet that the government hopes to cover the deficit of $110,000,000 with a loan of $60,500,0000 and the remainder with new loans. It is believed that the government has been disappointed in some of its expectations but the Prussian state bank has announced that the loan has been favorably placed. In the discussion of the budget, Bebel made a notable speech in which he declared himself in favor of superseding the standing army with a national guard, since the army is always a provocative of war.

The socialists have organized such tremendous manifestations that the police have been armed with revolvers and given strict orders to repress with severity every attempt to subvert public order.

MULDOON MAY GET CHANCE AT BILL TAFT

(United Press Leased Wire.)

New York, June 22.—"Billy" Muldoon, famous trainer, who "put Secretary Root over the jumps" last year, at his health camp in Westchester county, today is working out a plan for training William H. Taft for the presidential race.

"You see I've got to make a special schedule for Mr. Taft," said Muldoon. "None of ready-made, cut-out-in-advance plans will fit him. He is too big for them. Besides that I want to give him the right sort of training to meet his opponent and I would like to be dead sure that it is going to be Bryan before I start in. Then I will know just what to do."

It is not settled that Taft is going to the Muldoon camp, but he is expected for a week or so, at least, before the campaign starts in earnest.

CHECK FORGER AT WORK AT ROSEBURG

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Roseburg, Or., June 22.—A man giving his name as Charles Carroll is wanted here on the charge that he farged two checks in the name of Albert Abraham, each for $16.50. He disappeared Saturday. He was in town three days. He is tall, slender, of dark complexion, and wore a dark checked suit and stiff hat. Both checks were on the First National bank.

FALLING RIVERS TAKE FLOOD MENACE AWAY

All dangers of a flood are now past as a result of the melting snow in the mountains. The upper Columbia and Snake rivers are falling and the Willamette is expected to be down four inches lower tomorrow than today. This morning the gauge in the harbor showed 20.3 feet above zero.

SECURING JURY IN BOOTH TRIAL

Motion to Dismiss Indictment Is Overruled in the Federal Court.

The motion of counsel for J. H. Booth to have the indictment and charges dismissed was overruled by Judge Wolverton in the United States circuit court this afternoon and the task of selecting a jury to try Booth on a charge of accepting bribes while receiver of the land office at Roseburg was begun.

The motion of Judge Webster was made Saturday. There were 15 objections which questioned the sufficiency of the indictment against his client. They were practically the same as were filed in the demurrer to the charges which were overruled by Judge Hunt, of Montana, more than a year ago.

Tracy C. Becker, special assistant to the attorney-general, and John McCourt, United States district attorney, will have charge of the case for the government. Booth is represented by Judge Webster and Dan Malarkey.

The jury in this case is to be selected from 75 veniremen whose names were drawn in the circuit court last week. The Booth case is the first to be tried in the April term of the federal court.

CHURCH BODIES AGREE TO UNITE

Portland Pastors Will Report Favorably to Conference on Union.

There was a union meeting this morning of the United Evangelical church and the Evangelical association at the First English Evangelical church, East Sixth and Market streets. The session was given over entirely to the consideration of the proposed organic union between the two bodies. There was no opposition to the union and there was much show of good fellowship in the meeting.

The body of Portland ministers voted to report favorably to the bi-state conference of Oregon and Washington, which will meet later in the summer and will consider the matter. Their report will then be sent to the general conference which will place the matter in the hands of a commission for final decision.

The representatives from the Evangelical association this morning agreed to lend its moral support to the Dallas college which is now under the rule of the United Evangelical church. Steps were also taken toward arranging a union camp meeting for the two churches in August. It will extend over 12 days and will be held at the Jennings Lodge place on the way to Oregon City. This is expected to promote the feeling of union.

Officers of the conference were elected as follows: President, Rev. A. A. Winters, United Evangelical church; vice-president, Rev. Theodore Shauer, Evangelical association; secretary, F. B. Culver, Evangelical association; treasurer, Dr. C. C. Poling, United Evangelical church.

ICE TRUST CHARGED RESTRAINT OF TRADE

(United Press Leased Wire.)

New York, June 22.—The four indictments found against the American Ice company, known as the ice trust, were made public today by Recorder Goff. They charge misdemeanors on "contracts made in restraint of trade."

RUMORED MORGAN BOUGHT PLANT

Multi-Millionaire Reported to Have Purchased Westinghouse Company.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Pittsburg, June 22.—An unverified report is current at McKeesport today to the effect that the Westinghouse Electric company at East Pittsburg has been purchased by J. Pierpon Morgan for $40,000,000. Nothing definite can be learned from the officials of the Westinghouse company regarding the report.

PARKER TO ANSWER CHARGES NEXT WEEK

Baker City Banker, Indicted for Perjury, to Be Arraigned.

J. H. Parker, vice-president of the First National bank at Baker City, in which United States Senator Levi P. Ankeny is president, who was indicted by the federal grand jury on a charge of perjury, will come to Portland next week and be arraigned in the United States court before Judge Wolverton.

Parker is out on $3,000 bail, having been released by a United States commissioner at Baker City after he was arrested by a deputy marshal. It is claimed that Parker swore falsely to several affidavits and otherwise perjured himself in connection with his endeavors to secure certain rights to a mining claim in Baker county.

The complainant before the grand jury was Fred Wunder, an old miner, who had located on the claim in question and who claims to have qualified with the requirements of the law. Parker, it is charged by the government agents, swore that there were no improvements on the land. Parker is said to be wealthy. Wunder is a poor man.

GOOD BEAR HUNTING IN THE CORNUCOPIA

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Baker City, Or., June 22.—That the mountains of the Cornucopia range are still the home of bruin and his family is proved by a recent visit to that section by W. R. Carl and Tom Parker. The boys made two trips into the mountains and as a result have twelve fine bear skins, and two live cubs for their trouble. They saw at least twenty bear and shot two or three which they did not get because a rain fell after they shot them and prevented them from tracking them further. They succeeded in getting some black bear, silver tip, and several the color of a bay horse, being a cross between a cinnamon and a grizzly.

ELECTRIC COMPANY GIVEN MORE TIME

The reciprocal demurrage clause of the state railroad commission law was suspended today by the railroad commission for 30 days, so far as it applied to the operation of the Oregon Electric company. The action was taken after a hearing had by the commission and on the application of the management of the company. Because of the fact that the road has not as yet been able to secure all of its equipment and therefore can not furnish all the cars needed as soon as called for the commission deemed it to be fair to the company to allow it 30 days in which to secure the remaining part of its rolling stock.

AT 105 TELLS HOW TO LIVE

Grandma Graham Connecticut's Old Woman, Says Work and Retire Early.

Norwich, Conn., June 22.—If you want to live to a good old age listen to the advice of Miss Anne Graham, the oldest woman in Connecticut, who, surrounded by a large number of friends and well-wishers, celebrated her one hundred and fifth birthday.

"Do plenty of hard work, go to bed early, consider carefully what you eat, and you will live to be as old as I am," she told a friend who had called to congratulate her. Then she described her present daily habits in a manner that left no doubt as to her wonderful preservation.

"I get up at 6 o'clock in the morning and have my breakfast an hour later. This is usually meat, potatoes, a hard boiled egg, and, of course, bread and butter. Then nurse reads to me three chapters of the New Testament, and I take a nap for an hour. At noon I am ready for my dinner, and this is my most substantial meal. After that I have another nap, and at 5 o'clock have a supper of toast and tea. An hour later I go to bed and sleep the clock around without any trouble."

But Gran'ma Graham, as she is affectionately known, dislikes men. This dislike became deep seated with her 49 years ago. She had worked hard all her life as a cook, when she had a delusion that men were searching for her for the purpose of doing away with her. This delusion has remained to the present day. Despite this, however, the old woman thinks a whole lot of herself, and whenever she expects visitors, even of the male sex, she titivates herself up, puts on her best apron and cap, and receives in state.

She was born in the north of Ireland, her mother dying just 12 weeks later. Her father then enlisted in the army and died on the battlefield, although in what war Gran'ma Graham can't just remember. Her paternal grandfather, William Graham, then took charge of her, and she immigrated to this country with him in 1841. They went to Buffalo and later to Albany, but in 1851 finally shifted to Norwich, where she has been ever since. For 40 years she acted as cook at the Norwich almshouse, and then met with an accident, fracturing her hip. In June, 1897, she became an inmate of the Sheltering Arms, and has been there ever since.

Gran'ma Graham likes her cup of tea, drinking three or four cups every day. It was in this refreshing beverage that she proposed a toast to her guests. It ran:

Here is health, wealth, meat and meal,
To every well wish and shield,
That Satan may rock them in a creel,
That don't wish us all weel.

Last December, while going down a flight of stairs, she tripped over a rug, fortunately breaking no bones. Since then she has not been out of her room without having assistance. Her hearing is remarkably good, and she is an interesting talker. Her eyesight is wonderful for her age, and she often reads a story from a magazine. Newspapers she has no use for, her chief book being the New Testament. Until quite recently she attended every Sunday the church service which is held in the home, walking by herself to the place of worship. Altogether this remarkable old woman, unless something unforseen occurs, looks good to celebrate one or two more birthdays.

LOGGER DROWNED IN NORTH UMPQUA

(Salem Bureau of The Journal.)

Roseburg, Or., June 22.—Arthur Fulk, a logger, recently of Crellin, Md., was drowned in the North Umpqua river Saturday evening, about 30 miles east of here, while making a log drive. He was employed by the Christner & Watkins Lumber company. He was riding a log over the rapids after breaking a jam of a thousand logs. The body has not been found.

BISHOP PADDOCK FOR CHURCH UNITY

Delivers Sunday Sermon Before Y. W. C. A.—Late Arrivals at Seaside.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Seaside, Or., June 22.—The unfavorable weather which has attended the opening days of the convention of the Young Women's Christian association at Sargent's Seaside house has not dampened in the least the ardor and enthusiasm of the 150 leaders and delegates in attendance. On the other hand, an atmosphere conducive to the earnest consideration of the many vexing questions connected with the Christian life has been developed.

The Bible and mission study classes have settled down to regular work.

The regular Sunday morning sermon was preached by Rev. Robert Lewis Paddock of eastern Oregon. The large tent on the golf links was filled to the doors with the delegates and visitors from Seaside.

In the course of his sermon Rev. Paddock took up the question, "What Is Religion?" He said that Christ attempted to show what religion was by applying it to everyday life. He said people should go to church in all humility, recognizing their sins. People who did not go either did not have the ambition to become better or they did not appreciate their real condition.

Appeal for One Church.

Bishop Paddock then made a strong appeal for one church, showing that much more could be accomplished by united effort than is being done at the present time. He said people should not criticise others who choose to worship in a different way from their own, for one way might be more helpful to one person than another. If the churches were banded together many towns where now there are two very poor churches of rival sects, with ministers starving, could be served by one strong church. Rev. Paddock concluded by drawing a very forceful argument for personal work from the story of the paralytic who was let down through the roof by his comrades. The sermon yesterday morning was conceded to be the strongest address so far delivered at the conference.

Social and Recreation Matters.

Saturday afternoon the 150 young ladies gathered around the large fireplace in the sitting-room of the hotel and toasted marshmellows. This informal gathering enabled the delegates to become better acquainted and to form personal friendships which could be accomplished in no other way.

Two special walking committees with Miss Pearl Chandler and Miss Helen Hutchinson as chairman, have been formed for the purpose of leading groups of girls on tramps over Tillamook Head to Elk creek and Cannon beach. Each afternoon is devoted to these tramps, no classes or meetings being held at that time. The different delegations have arranged their exhibits of posters, pictures, etc., on the walls of the lobby and parlors of the hotel.

List of Late Arrivals.

Those who have arrived at the conference since the opening are as follows: Fannie F. Cook, Hallie S. Haywood, Lois A. Bie, Margarete Ford, Lyle Ford, Tacoma; Katherine C. McMillen, Portland; Naomi Williamson, Eugene; Lucile Halwick, Ida E. Glenn, Gertrude Link, Tacoma; Mrs. Louis Ely, Gertrude Bymer, Marguerite Shick, Ekka L. Helser, Moscow, Idaho; Ella Walter, Spokane; Maverne Templeton, Lillian Elder, Forest Grove; Mary E. Bartlett, Pullman, Wash.; Natalie Soules, May Northington, Mary Stembough, Olga Johnson, Spokane; Mary Lyman, Dayton, Wash.; Ruby Porter, Prescott, Wash.; Mrs. J. F. Abbott, Portland Grace Johnson, Frankfort, Ind.; Mrs. Jessie M. Honeyman, Portland; Robert L. Paddock, eastern Oregon; Jessie M. Calkins, Eugene; Isalene Shaver, Portland; Thoresa Worthington, Maude Sullivan, Lewiston, Idaho; Clara Allen, Ashland, Or.; Ola McKeen, Lewiston; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Brooks, Oakland, Cal.; May Greenman, Bellingham, Wash.; Jeane Hurley, Tacoma; May Willard, Lewiston, Idaho; May Pope, McMinnville; Mrs. E. B. McNaughton, Portland.

ELECTIONS IN GERMANY

Social Democratic Party Making Whirlwind Campaign in Effort to Elect Officers to Prussian Diet —Issue Franchise Reform.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Berlin, June 22.—Excitement prevails today in all sections of the city preliminary to the general legislative elections which are to be held tomorrow. The social democratic party is making a whirlwind campaign in an effort to elect more members to the Prussian diet and push the consideration of franchise reform that Chancellor Von Buelow has steadfastly refused.

The socialists elected three members from Hanover June 3, and the second ballot may add another representative from their ranks. Heretofore no socialist has ever sat in the Prussian diet.

Women and children of the workingmen's quarters are actively campaigning today for the election of the social democratic candidates and the chiefs of the party are claiming six out of the 12 districts in Berlin as sure, with the possible addition of two or three more.

The diet is the stronghold of conservatism and the loyalists have not ceased to wonder at the result of the Hanover elections. The franchise is based on a property qualification at present and the government has successfully resisted all demands for reform.

START WAR TO KILL RACING

Seattle Ministers Unite in Crusade to Abolish Gambling at Track.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

Seattle, Wash., June 22.—The ministers of Seattle are preparing to wage a campaign against horse racing and bookmaking at The Meadows, which they hope will result in having the next legislature abolish pool selling in this state.

Dr. F. J. Van Horn, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, sounded the first gun last night when he preached on "73 Days of Racing, Robbing and Ruin."

The matter will be discussed this afternoon and evening at the meeting of the Methodist ministers.

ASQUITH DESIRE FAIRNESS TO ALL

England's Premier Presents His Views of Law Governing Liquor Licenses.

(United Press Leased Wire.)

London, June 22.—Premier Asquith has presented in the house of commons a project of law touching the concession of licenses for the sale of liquors. It is the principal measure before parliament in the present session, since it touches vast interests, as well in the amount of capital as in the number of population concerned in the sale. Establishments now holding licenses represent a capital of £25,000,000, while 2,000,000 persons are engaged in the business.

Asquith declared in the name of the government that all efficacious reform in this matter should aim at two principal points—viz., progressive reduction of the excessive facilities now granted for the retail sale of intoxicating beverages, and the gradual acquisition of the monopoly of the sale of liquors, guarding always a proper consideration of the interests compromised in the traffic of alcoholic drinks.

"The attainment of these ends," he said, "will be reached through an obligatory reduction in the number of licenses within a given time, determined by a uniform scale, making this reduction in all the country and basing it on the density of the population."

In the cities it is puroposed to permit one saloon for each 750 of the population, and in the rural districts a saloon for each 400 persons. It is estimated that in this way 30,000 licensed places for the sale of intoxicants will be suppressed, being one third of what now exist in the kingdom.

SIGNED HIS WILL IN LIFE BLOOD

Smith, Suicide, Dying, Let Fall His Ensanguined Hand on 13-Word Testament.

Pittsburg, June 22.—"I, John Smith, say that all I have got is for my mother."

Such is the brief will, signed with John Smith's mark, the print of his blood-stained hand made the moment before he expired, which the probate court held to be good and valid today. By this brief testament Smith's mother inherits about $2,000.

Smith, despondent for some reason or other, shot himself near the heart at his home, Bowerton, this county. Just before the end came he told the friends around his bed he wished to leave everything he owned to his mother. He grasped the 13 words the will contains and they were written hastily. But Smith was too weak to sign his name, even to "make his mark" when someone thrust a pen in his dying grasp. With a last desperate effort he placed his hand over the mound in his breast, then dropped it, ensanguined, on the sheet of paper.

Oliver Cruise, Joseph Perlich, W. Boneck and Casper Klein signed the strange will as witnesses and told these facts in court today.

Unarmed.

Unarmed I go to meet the fray
Of toil and trial from day to day;
A heart to love, a lip to sing—
And over all God's wardering wing.

Unarmed I go to face my fate
Of greed and grind, of sin and sate,
Because around me, like a shield,
His love is on the battlefield.
