HOP PROSPECT

Folly to Attempt to Forecast Crop Just Now-Old Yards Are Dying.

By Hyman H. Cohen. Hop crop prospects are so badly mixed in Oregon this season that it would be folly at this time to endeavor to give picking money every cent of this will be lost.

The boosting efforts of some dealers who are long on old hops and are therefore making an effort to put the market temporarily to a figure where they can unload, and the talking of higher prices by the short sellers, who must have a larger picking in order to make money, has caused many a grower in this state to borrow money on his farm in order to put his crop in better shape. Each of these boosters is doing his part simply for his own personal interest and each will keep the grower from getting any share of whatever boost they may put the market to.

Latest News of Oregon Crops

NORTHWEST WEATHER FORECAST. Western Oregon and western Wash-ington—Fair tonight. Tuesday fair and warmer. Easterly winds. * Eastern Oregon, eastern Washington and Idaho—Fair and warmer tonight and Tuesday.

Large crops of wheat and grains of all kinds for the season of 1908 are the reported prospects from every portion of this section of the Willamette valley, and farmers throughout Line and Benton counties are extremely optimistic over the situation, which they consider in Oregon this season that it would be folly at this time to endeavor to give an estimate of what the production would be at the time of harvest this fall.

Every visit to the hop fields shows the situation even more mixed than the previous visit. The one condition that can be correctly forecast at this time is that the old yards will produce but a mominal crop this season. Every vest there is a decreasing production in the elder yards of the state. Most of them have years ago outgrown their useful ness as producers and should have been replaced with new vines if a good production in either quality or quantity was expected.

Take the yards in the vicinity of Wilsonville that have been set out for 15 cor perhaps is years and you will find but a third production this season. It some parts of the Champoeg and Butterville scotions some of the oldtimers will not give even this amount, and as investment the yards are at present each of the Palouse country is very encouraging and prospects are that it will not be the coming season.

Sore Appeared.

Sore Appeared.

Three months later the sores appeared on the right arm and then on the feet. The patient sought consultation at the Hotel Dieu with Dr. Dieulafoy, one of the most celebrated practitioners in France.

The physician studied the case thoroughly. He was forced to reject one hypothesis after another until one day in the course of an examination he noticed that the sores were similar to those made by potash burns. He pited the patient with questions, and accused him of causing the sores himself. The patient met the insimation at first with indignant denials, but finally confessed the truth. Under the dominion of an impulse too strong for the will to overcome he had made all the sores himself with potash. The same impulse forced him to submit to amputation.

Remarkable Case. flew away when the time arrived to put up the money for a theatrical venture. Barry is suing for four weeks salary at $50 a week, and $20 incidental expenses.

While waiting for the case to be tried Barry said he was tired of having outsiders butting in under the pretense of backing a company, and, after they had become acquainted with the chorus girls, refusing to supply the promised cash.

Barry testified that he had met Mr. Handy in the apartments of Ellen Page. a chorus girl, living in Seventieth street. As a result of this meeting Handy told him that if he could obtain an acceptable theatre and hirs a stock company at reasonable rates that he, Handy, and a few friends would back the project.

Barry said that some time last Janvary he supplied an acceptable and a few firms and a few friends would back Bemarkable Case.

Dr. Dieulafoy said that this was one of the most remarkable cases of simulated disease that he had ever noted. Many patients imitated disease for the sake of the pleasure it gave themmorphinomaniacs, slocholics, and the like.

In the present case, however, no pleasure was attendant upon the imitated disease. The patient suffered terribly from the wounds, and stood the suffering heroically. The successive treatments which he was forced to undergo were costly and tedious, as well as painful. In fact, the case was so strange that there was no word exactly to describe it. To find a suitable one Paul Bourget and the doctor together then evolved the word "pathomime," the project.

Barry said that some time last January he submitted an estimate of expenses for running the stock company, which included $50 a week for himself as manager, and that Handy agreed to it. He arranged to lease theatres in Cleveland, Newark and Albany, but in each case Handy offered some objection. One excuse was that his Anna Gould's Prince Demands That Newspapermen Leave Pair Alone.

(United Press Leased Wire.) Dover, Eng., June 22.—Mme. Anna Gould and Prince Helie de Sagan, who arrived here today, were indignant when informed that the fact that they traveled across the channel as "Mr. and Mrs. Thompson" had led to the report that they were already married. They denied emphatically that they had been married and resented the "absurd reports" that have been circulated about them continually.

porta" that have been circulated about them continually.

The famous pair were coy and shy when asked when and where they intended to culminate the wedding which has been impending so long while the civilized world has waited with bated breath. They rather hinted that, as a matter of fact, they intend to be married very soon, but, as the prince caid:

"Why should lovers not be permitted to arrange their love affairs without interference by the vulgar press?"

It is understood the marriage will take place in London in a tew days.

LEAVE LEMONS IN SHOWCASE ROBBED OF GOLD WATCHES

(United Press Leased Wire.) Chico, Cal., June 22 .- J. W. Harvey. who owns a jewelry store here, never could see anything in the lemon joke, and when he found an unusually fine specimen of the fruit at the door of his store today he only looked bored. Inside he found another of the citrus variety greeting him from the top of his safe. Harvey began to see more in the lemons than he ever had before and rushed over to a showcase where he was acqustomed to leave some jewelry for display purposes.

Another lemon! As the inventory showed that more than $250 worth of rings and watches had been taken by Harvey's necturnal visitors. There is no trace of the thieves. could see anything in the lemon joke,

GARDEN HOSE PUTS FIRE OUT INSTANTER

Armsby Packing Plant Saved by Quick Work-Fire Undoubtedly of Incendiary Origin.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal) Vancouver, Wash, June 22.-By good luck the plant of the Armsby Packing company in this city escaped being destroyed by fire last night. The blaze, which was put out before it had done extensive damage, was started by an incendiary. A week ago a Northern Pacific boxcar was set on fire, and it is believed the same person did both jobs. The fire department was called shortly after 9:30, and when the apparatus reached the packing plant the flames had been almost extinguished. A garden hose run from a house near by had done efficient work. An examination of the premises showed that a pile of shingles had been saturated with ocal oil, and close to this stood two cans of oil. luck the plant of the Armsby Packing
