WEATHER REPORT

The high area overlying the Oregon coast last evening is moving slowly inland. Cloudy skies, however, generally prevail this morning over Washington, Oregon and Idaho. Light scattered rains fell over the first named state and along the coast of Oregon. Over the southwestern portion of the country the weather was generally clear. A depression of moderate character is central this morning about North Platte, Neb., and moderate rains have fallen during the last 24 hours over Wyoming and the Dakotas. An extensive high area overlies the southeastern portion of the country and fair weather generally prevails east of the Mississippi river, though light rains occurred in localities.

The indications point to fair weather over this forecast district tonight and Tuesday. It will be warmer tonight over eastern Oregon, eastern Washington and Idaho and warmer Tuesday over the entire district.

THE RIVER.

The stage of the river at Portland will be 20.6 feet on Tuesday morning and 20.4 feet on Wednesday morning.
