

TRAILS RESERVES

Supervisor Sherrard to Open Roads Across Cascades—Connect With Santiam Into Central Oregon—Build South From Detroit.

Hunters, trappers, outing parties and travelers generally will be interested in the improvements contemplated by Supervisor T. H. Sherrard of the Cascade North and Bull Run forest reserves. Mr. Sherrard has built about a hundred miles of trails through hitherto inaccessible portions of the great Cascade forests.

Starting at Cascade there is a trail about 15 miles long into the forest. From here a 30-mile path will be cut through the dense thickets to the summit of the range where it will connect with a trail running north and south on the ridge of the range. This trail will connect with the Santiam road across the mountains into central Oregon.

Build South From Detroit. Another trail is to be built south from Detroit on the Corvallis & Eastern to connect with the Santiam road. These new routes through the tangled undergrowth will save travelers across the Cascades more than a hundred miles of roundabout journeyings which they have hitherto had to make in crossing.

In addition to the building of these trails other improvements including the erection of five new ranger headquarters are to be made at a total cost of $6,000. The government work will be greatly appreciated by the people who live in the wilds of the Cascades and others who find it necessary to travel on horseback over the mountains.

The forests of Oregon are perhaps the roughest and most impassable of any in the world. The only way to cross them has been by roundabout and inconvenient routes, forcing the traveler to plunge into the heart of the woods and make his slow and tedious way through them if he wanted to go directly across. Sometimes travelers taking this route have been lost and never heard of.

Three Hundred in Service. Few people realize what an immense task the forestry inspection service has to patrol the great forests under their charge nor how well the little band of trained woodmen do this work. Acting Chief Inspector M. L. Erickson of district No. 6, comprising Oregon, Washington and Alaska, is at present in charge of the office at Eleventh and Morrison streets.

Mr. Erickson says the redistributing of the forests into his charge will greatly increase the efficiency of the inspection service. Heretofore the forests of Oregon and Washington have been divided into large tracts of 4,000,000 acres as a unit for one man to supervise. It has been impossible for one man to do this successfully. The forests have been subdivided under the new method into tracts of 1,000,000 acres. The new inspector will be in charge of each of these tracts.

During the summer months 18 rangers will be detailed for this service. As there are about 30,000,000 acres of timber lands in these states the working force of 18 rangers and inspectors will be more than 300. This is more than double the number formerly provided. The new regime takes effect July 1.

SIX-STORY CONCRETE ON EVERETT STREET

Labbe Heirs Plan a New Building on Corner of Eighth.

The Labbe heirs are having plans prepared by a local architect for a six-story reinforced concrete building to be erected on the quarter block at the northeast corner of Eighth and Everett streets. The building is to be completed by January 1, 1909, and is already under lease to the Blumauer-Frank Drug company, who will occupy it as warehouse and salesroom. It is to be equipped with electric elevators, sidewalk elevators, freight chutes and other modern accessories necessary to a modern business house, and will cost approximately $50,000.

CROP CONDITIONS IN WEST LOOK BLUE

Darius Miller, first vice-president of the C. & N. railroad and in charge of freight traffic, came to Portland yesterday in his private car, on a trip of inspection of the coast. He makes this trip once a year, and is informing himself on crop prospects and general traffic conditions.

The outlook west is not giving much promise of crops this year. In considerable part of the corn belt the weather has been so backward and wet that the corn and other crops have been held back beyond recovery. The corn in the Missouri river valley is but one or two weeks ahead of the turning yellow. Much of it has been under water. The grain is in high condition in many places. It is too late to replant, and many of the farmers are not expecting half a crop.

LOGANBERRY BUSH COVERS CITY LOT

Mrs. A. Spindler, of 469 East Ash street, says she has the largest loganberry bush in the northwest. The big plant almost covers a 33-foot lot and hides a large woodshed from view. The berries, Mrs. Spindler says, are so long they almost cover the breadth of a saucer.

NOT MEDICINE.

Mr. W. J. Van Damme, 125 Morrison street, city—Dear Sir: I have had kidney trouble for several years, and of all the remedies that I used none of them helped me. Noticing your ad in The Journal I tried one bottle of your tea, and felt better, and have since used two more bottles and I now feel completely cured.

I think your "Kidney Cure Tea" is wonderful, and I heartily recommend it to my friends and the general public.
