

WHY MUST THE BIG REBEL ARMY

General Uprising Against Persian Monarch May Be Expected in Few Days—Battle Looked for Any Minute Near Teheran.

Political Prisoners Taken From Beds and Shot Down in Streets—City Declared to Be in State of Siege—Legations Filled.

St. Petersburg, June 25.—(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)—The situation in the northern provinces is critical.

In the south, Prince Zill-E-Sultan is reported to be gathering an army to march against the shah's troops. The prince is friendly to Great Britain and is at the head of a strong organization.

Today dispatches state that a general uprising against the Persian monarch may be expected in a few days and that the powers may be forced to intervene.

Teheran, June 25.—The shah today ordered the execution of the prisoners captured in the uprising of yesterday and the day before, and wholesale arrests are being made following an order for the death of all participants in the riots.

Early today the shah's troops began the work of arresting prisoners, and in many cases the leaders of the Abolmohammads and other political clubs were shot without trial. Eager to obey the orders of their monarch, the Cossacks in some cases the houses of the revolutionists were broken into and leaders taken from their beds to be killed.

The shah is in complete control in the city itself, although he is expecting trouble from the north and south, where troops are mobilizing to assist the revolt at the capital.

According to foreigners and disinterested parties the first shot in the riot opened the parliament houses was fired by the Cossacks. The Cossacks had surrounded the parliament buildings and demanded that the revolutionists surrender to them. A number of persons whose arrest the shah had ordered. This request was met by shots and bombs and several soldiers were killed before they fired a shot. Then artillery was brought up and the parliament houses demolished. An imperial order issued last night declared Teheran in a state of siege. The shah gave orders for the barracks to reopen or be demolished and the shopkeepers timidly opened their doors.

The city is far from quiet today, however, and more serious trouble is expected before night. The British legation is filled with refugees and the Cossacks are again looting the city. Although the shah has given strict orders that no foreigners are to be killed, the general feeling here is that foreigners are unsafe and trouble is looked for. Great Britain and Russia have signified their intention to keep their hands off the row unless the situation becomes more serious.

RAILROAD FIGHTS FOR LAND OPTION

Suit Involving Big Timber Grant Goes to Second Trial.

Ukiah, Cal., June 25.—By a decision handed down by the state supreme court one of the longest and bitterest legal battles in the history of the state has been practically ended and attorneys for both sides are today making arrangements for the final trial of the case according to directions given in the decision.

The suit involves title to 1,100 acres of the redwood forest lands and was brought against capitalists interested in the Northern Pacific Railroad company. These men obtained options on the land ahead of the railroad and when the road came to George and Halsey McGowan, who owned the land, refused to sell. They obtained judgment in a suit in a lower court on the ground that the general public policy for tracts to be secured in advance of the railroad. The supreme court reversed this decision and ordered the case for retrial on purely technical grounds.

FIFTEEN LIVERYMEN AWARDED CONTRACT

San Francisco, June 25.—The liverymen today are rejoicing over a new situation in the city. When the board of supervisors opened bids for the furnishing of livery for the city, there were found to have been 15 bids with the same price. After considerable discussion in which charges of collusion were made it was decided that the price was fair and an order was passed granting the contract to George and Halsey McGowan, who owned the land, refused to sell. They obtained judgment in a suit in a lower court on the ground that the general public policy for tracts to be secured in advance of the railroad. The supreme court reversed this decision and ordered the case for retrial on purely technical grounds.

EUGENE BUYS HERSELF FOOD

Portland Business Men Are Royally Entertained at Varsity Town.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Eugene, Or., June 25.—Never has there been in the history of this state and probably will never be again in several years to come a demonstration, marked with such genuine good will and fellowship, as that which occurred in Eugene yesterday afternoon. Nearly 500 of Portland's representative business men came, saw and were shown. Every wish to show Eugene to the business men. Every object was fulfilled and in the manner in which each was accomplished was a revelation to the Portlanders.

The occasion was threshold in its object. The Southern Pacific wished formally to dedicate its new depot, the finest between Portland and San Francisco; the University of Oregon wished to show its gratitude to Portland for the generous vote on the university appropriation; the Eugene Commercial club wanted to show Eugene to the business men. Every object was fulfilled and in the manner in which each was accomplished was a revelation to the Portlanders.

Especially are the citizens and business men of Eugene to be congratulated for the promptness with which everything on the program was pulled off. There was not a hitch anywhere, and instead of being a few minutes behind the schedule every event was started a few minutes ahead.

The Southern Pacific conducted a splendid excursion. Each seat in the four coaches was supplied with newspapers and magazines. Ice cream was served to the passengers—not one dish but all the guests could eat. Before the train reached the line that marks the boundary between Eugene and Astoria a host of girls and young women appeared and pinned a fresh Lane county rose on each visitor. The train arrived in Eugene at 10:55, five minutes ahead of time.

Promptly on its arrival the ceremony of the opening of the still uncompleted depot began. Dr. D. A. Faine was the presiding officer, and introduced W. W. Cotton, who in an able address, told the people of Eugene and Lane county that the success of the future of their city and county depended upon their cooperation in building up the whole state of Oregon as well as their own city.

"Portland can't grow unless Oregon grows," said Attorney W. W. Cotton, "and Portland can't grow unless you grow; you can't grow if Portland doesn't grow, and you can't grow unless Oregon grows."

Following Mr. Cotton came J. P. O'Brien, general manager of the Harriman lines in the Pacific northwest. He was presented with a mammoth golden key with which to open the depot for inspection. The key was larger than Mr. O'Brien, consequently he was compelled to relinquish the honor to a bigger man.

Then it was that the Portland chorus sang a song. The members had been drilling all the way up in empty baggage car especially provided by Mr. O'Brien. The song was composed by C. C. Chapman and the chorus was drilled by Herman Wittenberg. The singing was excellent. Here is the song:

"A Lane county drink we are willing to buy
What is it they drink when a county goes dry?
Hallelujah! We are thirsty!
Hallelujah! We are ready to drink kerosene."
Eugene."

These words were sung to the tune of "Old Hundred."

The surprise of the day followed the opening ceremonies at the depot. To the surprise of the city, a large quantity of fresh trout on the university campus such as only can be caught in the tributary to the Willamette. Following the luncheon served on the campus, during the course of which Governor Chamberlain, F. E. Beach, Congressman Hawley, E. H. Friendly, Tom Richardson and a host of others made short informal addresses, came the graduation exercises of the University of Oregon in Willard hall. Degrees were conferred upon 61 delegates.

The thirty-second commencement at the University of Oregon is one that will be long remembered in the annals of the state institution. Above everything, the feature of the day was the address at the commencement exercises by Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart of the department of history, Harvard university. Dr. Hart has been in Oregon just 18 hours and seemed to have been greatly impressed. His theme was the practical man and the book man and the place of each in the world. The discussion was masterly.

Later, at the banquet given the business men by the Eugene Commercial club, Dr. Hart spoke again. He seemed deeply impressed by the unusual gathering of great city's business men on the visit and he honored by a toast to the institution. Dr. Hart was most impressed, however, by the apparent wealth and prosperity of the west, manifested as he stated, by the high contentment and its well-dressed population.

The banquet was the final event on the program of the day's entertainment. It was altogether informal, and nearly all sat at the tables in the rooms of the Commercial club. To the entertainer, manager of the Commercial club and director of its publicity work, is due great credit for the success of this affair. His "wireless" services were rich with good things and kept the company supplied with original, humorous messages from all the distinguished men in the country.

If some speaker undertook to occupy the floor too long a wireless was received from William McMurray at Chicago requesting that the special start from Eugene promptly on time, and the speaker had to sit down. Bryan telegraphed he could not be present as he had heard it was a 22 dinner and he drew the line at 11. Mr. Roosevelt was "de-lighted" with Eugene's generosity and was sorry he could not be on hand. He signed "R. R." and said as the other "E." would be there he guessed they could get along alright. There are only two "T. R.s" the other is Tom Richardson.

Toasts were responded to by C. S. Williams, president of the Eugene Commercial club; Tom Richardson and Dr. L. L. Whitson of Eugene. C. G. Chapman sang some of his choice songs. The President P. L. Campbell spoke, also Dr. Hart of Harvard. Governor Chamberlain was called as was Congressman Hawley and S. H. Friendly of Eugene. F. E. Beach and E. O. Potter of Eugene were called upon. Dr. Faine was toastmaster.

As the last toast was performed with a "Eugene cocktail" made with kerosene and a cherry, the band on the street struck up a tune and the business men formed for the final march to the depot. At 7:15 the train departed for Portland.

FAMILY OF FIVE ALL DRANK COFFEE FROM INFANCY.

It is a common thing in this country to see whole families growing up with nervous systems weakened by coffee drinking.

That is because many parents do not realize that coffee contains a drug—caffeine—which causes the trouble. "There are five children in my family," writes a Iowa mother, "all of whom drank coffee from infancy up to two years ago."
"My husband and I had heart trouble and were advised to quit coffee. We did so and began to use Postum. We now are doing without medicine and are entirely relieved of heart trouble. Caffeine causes heart trouble when continually used as in coffee drinking."
"Our eleven-year-old boy is a weak digestion from birth, and yet always craves and uses coffee. When we changed to Postum he liked it and we gave him all he wanted. He has been restored to health by Postum and still likes it."
"Long live the discoverer of Postum!" Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pica. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Williams, president of the Eugene Commercial club; Tom Richardson and Dr. L. L. Whitson of Eugene. C. G. Chapman sang some of his choice songs. The President P. L. Campbell spoke, also Dr. Hart of Harvard. Governor Chamberlain was called as was Congressman Hawley and S. H. Friendly of Eugene. F. E. Beach and E. O. Potter of Eugene were called upon. Dr. Faine was toastmaster.
