

NEW CONTESTANTS ENTER JOURNAL RACE

The Journal's third annual scholarship contest is growing keener every day. Its very attractive cash awards, in addition to the scholarships and cash commissions are getting together a large number of clever young people in competition that will make it a very exciting event in the lives of these ambitious students.

G. Adrian Smith.

Among the early entries is G. Adrian Smith, 147 Curry street, a youth of 16 summers, who has spent a baker's dozen of them in the Rose City. He is a son of H. W. B. Smith, a traveling man, and was born in Long Beach, Wash., through no fault of his, however, and he doesn't regret the change over the river where clever boys are afforded such excellent opportunities as the Oregon Journal gives. Young Smith is a hustler, this The Journal can vouch for from his demonstration as a carrier. That he will keep his competitors guessing is a foregone conclusion. Aspiring to be a mechanical engineer, he looks with envious eyes on the complete course in that line in the International Correspondence School of Scranton, valued at $112, and will bend his energies on securing that scholarship. He attends the Holman school and is in grade ninth B, where he is well liked by fellow scholars, who will work loath and hard for him among their parents to secure votes for their companion. Young Smith's progress in the Oregon Journal's scholarship contest will be watched eagerly as he is well known by a large number of people.

As in other metropolitan cities there is a bee hive of Smiths in Portland, but it is safe to say that G. Adrian will be the king bee of 'em all during this harvest time. The contest manager's advice to all other scholarship contestants is—watch Smith.

Those who intend to work for scholarships with their accompanying cash awards, should lose no further time in hustling for votes. Every day citizens are placing their orders for The Journal direct through The Journal office with regular carriers. Hundreds of these could be secured by clever boys and girls all over the city. Remember the subscriptions determine the votes. The longer the term of subscription the larger the number of votes. Study the conditions of the contest and register them well. By thoroughly understanding the contest boys and girls will be able to make a more intelligent and a more effective canvass.

OFFICE CUTUP TELLS REMARKABLE STORY OF GREELEY'S POTATOES

Greeley, Colorado, where the potatoes come from, where they grow to such an extent that they have to be moved about with the aid of hand trucks, is represented in Portland today by Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Graham and Harry S. Shaw and wife, who are at the Hotel Portland.

Greeley ships hundreds of carloads of potatoes every year to every state in the Union and abroad as well. One of Europe's long sails is to send to Greeley for its potatoes. Spuds from Greeley also go to the Orient, and Australia and, in fact, almost everywhere. Every one in Greeley raises potatoes just like every one in the Hood River district raises fruit of some kind or other. Potatoes is all they talk about in Greeley—everything depends upon the potato crop. In other parts of the country it makes no difference to Greeley people as long as the potato crop is hard in other parts of the country. Land is so valuable in the vicinity of Greeley that not long ago the foot-hills in that part of Colorado were utilized to grow potatoes. The scheme worked successfully until the potatoes began to reach their maturity. Much of the crop on the hills was lost, however, owing to the fact that the potatoes grew to such enormous sizes that they rolled over the sides of the hills and down the hill and were dashed to pieces.

AT THE THEATRES

Collier at Hellig Tonight.
The attraction at the Hellig theatre, Fourteenth and Washington streets, to night and tomorrow night at 8:15

Close of Season Next Week.
Hoyt's "A Bunch of Keys" will close the season of the Baker stock company. It is a comedy of the fun and nonsense which takes place in and around a hotel, and is a clever satire on the ways of hotelkeepers. It will open next Sunday matinee.

"The Henrietta" at the Baker.
"The Henrietta" is one of the most interesting high class plays on the stage, and the Baker stock company is giving excellent performances of it this week to a decidedly large audience. It is by Bronson Howard, author of such other noted successes as "Shenandoah," "Aristocracy," etc.

Nothing but Features.
There are none but features on the vaudeville program at the Grand. It is the best vaudeville show sent here, and it is the road show of Sullivan & Cordine. The top liner is the Okito family of Chinese magicians, a beautiful act.

Star Musical Comedy.
Only a few more performances remain of the musical comedy, "Charlie's Uncle," at the Baker theatre. This is the last of the attractions which the Armstrong company will present in this city.

Casting Act Coming.
The Elton-Polo troupe, America's greatest casting act, will be the unusually strong headline attraction which will come to the Grand next week. This will be only one of eight big features especially collected for the Sullivan & Cordine road shows.

"A Gentleman Convict" at Lyric.
Tonight there will be a repetition of the splendid performance of "A Gentleman Convict," which the Lyric stock company is giving at the Atwood stock company is giving at the Lyric this week. It is one of the most thrilling plays of its kind ever presented here.

"A Hero in Rags" Next.
The next attraction at the Lyric will be that sensational comedy drama, "A Hero in Rags." It has strong roles for every member of the cast, while the situations are thrilling in the extreme. There is a vein of amusing comedy and the heart interest never flags. First performance Monday night.

Collier's Matinee Tomorrow.
A special price matinee will be given at the Hellig theatre, Fourteenth and Washington streets, for the distinguished actor, Robert Mantell, who will present the following plays at the above theatre next Sunday night, June 28, in the brilliant comedy, "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary."

Seats Selling for Mantell.

FULLY NOURISHED

Grape-Nuts is Perfectly Balanced Food.

No chemist's analysis of Grape-Nuts can begin to show the real value of the food—the practical value as shown by personal experience. It is a food that is perfectly balanced, supplies the needed elements of brain and nerves in all stages of life from the infant, through the strenuous times of active middle life, and is a comfort and support in old age.

"For two years I have used Grape-Nuts with milk and a little cream for breakfast. I am comfortably hungry for my dinner at noon. I use little meat, plenty of vegetables and fruit, in season, for the noon meal, and if tired at tea time, take Grape-Nuts alone and feel perfectly nourished.

"Nerve and brain power, and memory, are much improved since using Grape-Nuts. I am over sixty and weigh 165 lbs. My son and husband realize how I had improved, are now using Grape-Nuts.

"My son, who is a traveling man, eats nothing for breakfast but Grape-Nuts and a glass of milk. An aunt over 70, seems fully nourished on Grape-Nuts and cream. "There's a Reason," Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Well-Being," in page.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

CHRONIC STOMACH TROUBLE

Another Case in Which the Tonic Treatment Was Successful After Other Methods Had Failed.

A very delicate stomach requires easily digested food by nature never intended that the food should be digested before it is eaten. The stomach must be strengthened to perform its own work and what it needs is not food already digested but a tonic. The process of digestion is controlled by the blood and nerves, and medical science has produced no better digestive tonic than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This is shown by the statement of Mrs. Amos Rogers, the wife of a prosperous farmer of Sycamore, DeKalb county, Ill. She says:

"I was a sufferer with stomach trouble for many years and was only able to eat a few scraps of food. I tried all kinds of medicines and the most skillful doctors but they did not help me. One doctor said I had cancer of the stomach; another ulcer, and others said it was my heart."

"During a visit to relatives at Oxford, N. Y., I was surprised to find the great benefit they had received from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began to take them myself. At the end of a few weeks I was eating solid food and feeling better than I had in years. I had forgotten what refreshing sleep was until after using the pills, but now I sleep well every night and my general health has been good and I always keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house."

The pills are guaranteed to be safe and harmless to the most delicate constitution. They contain no morphine, opiate, narcotic or anything to cause a drug habit. They do not act on the bowels, but they actually make new blood and strengthen the nerves, and you want good health you must have good blood.

Every desiccated should have a copy of our free diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat." It contains much useful information. Send for a copy.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent postpaid, on receipt of price, to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

THE PLAY

Hellig—"Caught on the Rain."
By J. F. S.

The spirit of the farcical waxed strong and mighty within the breast of William Collier when he sat down to write "Caught on the Rain," which he presented at the Hellig last night. Yes, indeed. For he wrote himself out a part wherein he plays a bashful and modest youth, one not given to the ways of the world, shrinking shyly from exhibiting his light. "Bashful Mr. Collier! But doubly funny, because he has been heard them you know them. That's not to say that you don't want to repeat the experience. Usually you do. If you go to more than one Collier farce you have to. Every character in the play talks Collier, that sort of snappy language that he and his have made so familiar. There are 17 speaking parts in the farce, and the speaking is all done in Collier. Given the Chinaman when the mad boy pulls his queue lets loose a string of Collierisms. They're Chinese, but they have the true Collier ring and accent. There's no mistaking it.

This time he is Dick Crawford, mining engineer, of ability. He is the best in the Rocky mountains. But he can't stand women—leastwise not the woman of Hellig, namely, the girl of the life of you, you can't blame Dick. Any one might be somewhat nonplussed by the ladies. Usually you do. If you go to more than one Collier farce you have to. Every character in the play talks Collier, that sort of snappy language that he and his have made so familiar. There are 17 speaking parts in the farce, and the speaking is all done in Collier. Given the Chinaman when the mad boy pulls his queue lets loose a string of Collierisms. They're Chinese, but they have the true Collier ring and accent. There's no mistaking it.

The most delicate part of a baby is its bowels. Every element that it suffers with attacks the bowels also, and especially in the infant. McGee's Baby Elixir cures diarrhoea, dysentery and all derangements of the stomach or bowels. Sold by Skidmore Drug Co.

COFFEE

It is a mistake on the part of a housewife to buy poor coffee; it isn't good for anybody.

Your grocer returns your money if you don't like Schilling's Best; we pay him.

clusion of your club they sit on the doorsteps until you come down. If it thunders they cling to you. If it rains they throw their arms about you, even though it pours happens that you have never seen them before. They're rather breezy.

For instance, consider Muriel Mason, the lovely daughter of one Helena's magnates. Muriel has a sister Violet, who's been sent to finishing school. Muriel never has. Besides Muriel is free and untrammelled, speaks her own will, says whom she will marry, and yet is married, and does marry, the engineer. Violet walks like an energetic camel, poses, and falls to the lot of Bryse Forrester, who isn't much of anything but fashionable. Clearly Muriel is the one to engage your attention. Time immemorial has decreed that it be thus. And Mr. Collier hasn't neglected the teachings of time immemorial in any of the comedy. Muriel has a ranch, which, strange to say, is tied up until she becomes of age, or—yes, you won't have to be told—marries. Dick has to save the ranch to raise vegetables for his mine crew, so they won't strike. Muriel confuses Dick with some one else. Both fall in love. They kiss each other roundly two dozen times, and the curtain descends upon Mr. Collier.

And yet it's funny, and you laugh at the old Collierisms in the good old way. Mr. Collier himself is entertainingly slipshod. He has talked more vulgarly in this than in others of his vignettes. His company is a strange mixture of the old and the new. Muriel Mason, makes you wonder if she isn't somebody's relative—else why is she here? "Laurel and Yod" does marry, in the most beautiful creature, positively stunning when you meet her face to face, and dresses delightfully. Her eyes, the arch of her brows, and her forehead, are wonderful. When she stands before the center of the stage and gazes over the audience you begin to see visions of Martine Elliot turning green. And when she talks you fold your hands in silent prayer that she may cease. Mrs. Helena Collier-Gerriek, sister of William, is so good that you wonder at her being carried along as a relative. For her lover performance in the last act is most entertaining. Albert Perry is good as Maxwell, the minor owner, and Dick's partner and John Saville was his usually excellent self in the part of Mr. Mason.

Scientifically and in costumes, it is the usual delightful Frohman production. The country club act is the best, the ham and egg breakfast feature being so true to life as to cause many a dismal twinge throughout the hearts of the audience. "Caught in the Rain" will be at the Hellig the rest of the week, and Mr. Collier has enough friends in Portland to insure his filling the theatre.
