

Western Bell Club Successful in Newspaper Contest Just Closed.

The Journal herewith presents the final score in the library contest. After a strenuous two days in counting the votes, the final shows that the Western Bell club, composed of telephone operators of Portland, is entitled to the handsome library, Williams Avenue school and Multnomah camp made a remarkably strong run and polled in an extremely large vote the last day, but the friends of the telephone girls came forward with a deluge of many thousands of votes.

If the properly authorized person will call at the circulation department of The Journal the library will be turned over to him.

INDIANA TO SEND FINEST CATTLE

Best Breeds of One of Greatest Livestock Firms Exhibited Here.

Crouch & Sons of Lafayette, Ind., one of the greatest livestock importing firms in America, owners of more livestock herds than any other concern in the United States, have notified the management of the Pacific National Livestock meet to be held here the third week of September that they will probably be represented by no less than 50 individual exhibits.

This concern was the foremost eastern exhibitor during the livestock exposition of the Lewis & Clark fair in 1915, having at that time more than 40 animals on parade in the show ring, and a big majority of them were blue ribbon winners.

This announcement has been received with great enthusiasm by the Country club and Livestock association people for the reason that they have been trying to interest the great fancy stock breeders of the east in the show to be held here, and this is the greatest encouragement so far received.

Crouch & Sons have about 20 livestock farms in various states of the union, and the advice received intimates that the best bred stock from each and all of them will be sent to the Pacific coast to be displayed in the various shows in the Pacific northwest circuit this fall.

Crouch & Sons are not only leading importers, with many agents in the foreign livestock raising centers, but they have some of the finest stock farms in America. Their specialty is Belgians, Percherons, Clydesdales, and more particularly German Coach horses. The average of 40 horses shown during the Lewis & Clark fair was regarded as one of the finest displays ever made on the Pacific slope. A representative of these leading livestock importers will be in Portland within the next month, and will arrange for a general display during the September meet.

WETS AND DRYS MEET, DRYS WIN

St. Johns' Conflicting Opinions Get Into Court—Local Option Favored.

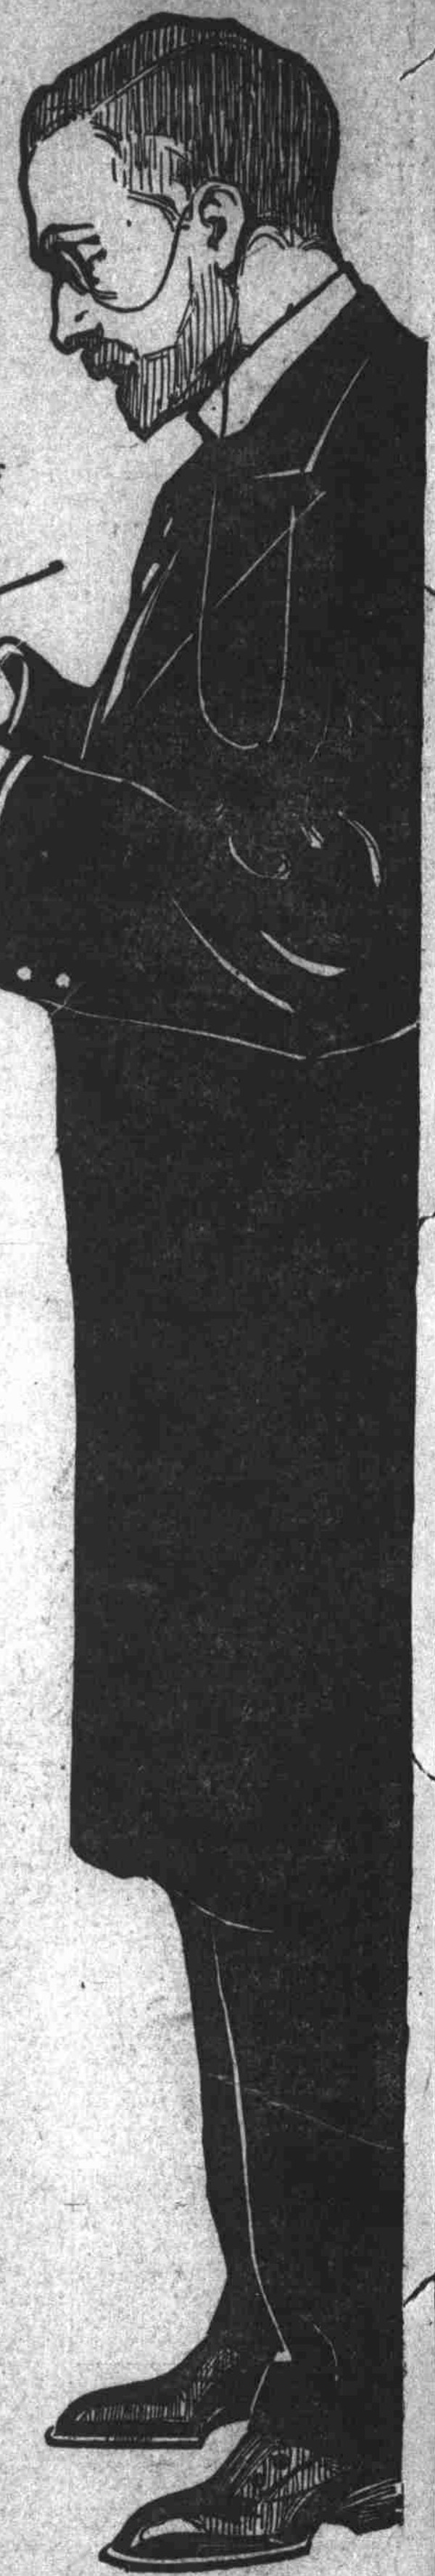

Another clash of the wets and the drys of St. Johns took place in the circuit court before Presiding Judge Gantenbein yesterday afternoon, and again the drys were victorious. After the temporary injunction restraining the county court from banishing the saloon from precinct 31 was dissolved a few days ago the liquor interests decided to go ahead with their suit for a permanent injunction.

They were met promptly with a demurrer from the prohibition side, of which A. Kling Wilson is senior counsel in court. Yesterday afternoon was the time set for argument on the demurrer. The argument was all one sided, E. E. Coover and J. Couch Flanders making brief but earnest pleas upholding the view that the local option election was illegal because precinct 31 was joined with 30 and 32, comprising the city of St. Johns. Wilson made no reply, nor did E. W. Montague, who appeared for the first time as an attorney in behalf of the prohibitors. Wilson said he would speak if the court desired to hear any reply to Coover and Flanders, but Judge Gantenbein ended the suspense by saying that he saw no reason to change the view he took in the argument for dissolving the temporary injunction.

The demurrer was thereupon sustained, and the liquor interests will appeal at once to the supreme court. In addition, a St. Johns saloonkeeper, is the plaintiff, asking the court to interfere to prevent the holding of his election under the local option vote of June 1.

Why the Doctor Gives His Patients Schlitz Beer

Nurse: "Why is it, Doctor, that you use Beer instead of malt extract?"

Doctor: "Schlitz Beer, Nurse. Because I have found that my patients assimilate it better and that there are no ill effects. Have you found anyone under your charge who did not benefit from it?"

Nurse: "No, Doctor. While some patients at the Hospital where I was before were sickened by malt extract, I have never noticed such result from Schlitz Beer here. Even those just recovering from an operation retain Schlitz Beer. Often it is the only food they can take."

Doctor: "It is the best nourishment. The care given its brewing, even to cooling it in filtered air, makes Schlitz Beer so pure that no harm can come from it. Schlitz Beer, too, has a richness in food value, greater than I have found in any other beer, due to the barley, hops and yeast used."

Nurse: "Why is it, Doctor, Schlitz never causes biliousness?"

Doctor: "Because Schlitz is thoroughly aged. Fermentation is completed at the brewery, not in the patient's stomach. The final step after bottling and sealing is the sterilization through which it is impossible for any germ to exist."

Nurse: "My patients seem to enjoy the taste of Schlitz."

Doctor: "Yes. Even old world brewmasters have complimented Schlitz on its full rich flavor, proving the goodness of all the materials."

Nurse: "If Schlitz Beer is such a benefit to the sick it ought to be good for the well."

Doctor: "It is. And if those who are well would drink more of it we would have fewer anaemic patients. We would have less stomach trouble and nerve disorder. In every way the use of Schlitz promotes health."

Ask for the Brewery Bottling. Common Beer is sometimes substituted for Schlitz. To avoid being imposed upon, see that the cork or crown is branded Schlitz.

WANT LABOR MAN ON CHARTER WORK

At the weekly meeting of the Portland Federated Trades Council last night a committee composed of T. A.

Sweeney, H. H. Delameter and H. G. Parsons was appointed to confer with the city council and endeavor to have a labor representative appointed on the committee to draft the city charter. In the matter of the Saturday night closing the council voted a monthly contribution to help maintain a central publicity bureau for systematic agitation. A letter making this request has been sent to all the organizations, some 200 in number which may be supposed to be interested in this movement. If all the other organizations respond as the Trades Council has, a liberal sum will be provided for this purpose. The Diamond Workers' union announced that an excursion will be given

July 25 on the Joseph N. Teal. Dancing and refreshments and a musical program will be attractions. The Plumbers' union also announced an excursion on the same boat July 12 to Washougal.

There is no lull in the snake campaign stage upon the country school of Miss Florence Archibald, whose classroom was recently invaded by a big snake and her whole family. Miss Archibald was forced to dismiss her class while she went after a monster pine snake which had crawled into the classroom. The attacks of the snakes and other creeping and unlovely things are frequent to Miss Archibald's schoolhouse, which has seen its best days. Within a cemetery of the house in a cemetery which is patrolled by snakes.
