

TWO MEN SHOT IN SAILORS' ROW

Phillip A. Becker Resents Interference of Mates Who Protect Boy.

(Special News by Longest Leased Wire.)
San Francisco, June 27.—Phillip A. Becker, hostess's mate on the battleship Illinois, shot two other seamen in Roeder's cafe, 324 Market street, tonight, and in the stampede that followed his attempt at murder he and a boy companion escaped, but were arrested later and placed on the detinue book at the central police station, where he and his companion will be held until the fate of his victims is determined.
The injured men are H. A. Harris, hospital steward on the battleship Georgia, and B. J. Harvey, chief gunner's mate on the battleship Connecticut. Harris was returned to his vessel for treatment, while Harvey was retained at the Emory hospital. Harris and Harvey were passing the time in the saloon with a number of other seamen when Becker, who is 34 years of age, and Francis Gunning, 19 years of age, entered. The boy's appearance of Gunning, who was Illinois, attracted the attention of the other sailors as he went with Becker to the bar and ordered whiskey.
That a boy of such tender years should be treated to so much strong drink was not according to moral ideas of the men in the saloon. Chief among Becker's critics were Harris and Harvey, who insisted that the boy should not be allowed to drink. Roeder, the proprietor of the saloon, joined in the discussion and, reaching over to the half-empty glass standing in front of young Gunning, took it and poured the contents into a bottle.
The incident had almost been forgotten 20 minutes later, when the door opened and Becker, followed by Gunning, entered again. This time Becker had a revolver in his hand which he coolly pointed at Harvey and fired. There was a report, and a bullet entered Harvey's chest and lodged in the bottom of the skull at the roof of the mouth. A second shot sent a bullet into Harvey's arm, striking the bone and glancing through the skin. The third shot went wild, but the fourth entered Harris' left breast. The full extent of injury was not fully determined. No sooner did the shooting begin than the guests of the saloon began to look for safety behind the bar and such furniture that seemed to promise protection. By the time they began to gain a general realization of the situation, Becker and his young companion were found missing.
Detectives Graham and Fitzgerald were detailed as soon as the alarm reached the police station to look for the missing seamen and after half an hour's search located them at Golden Gate avenue and Franklin street.
When arrested Becker acknowledged his guilt, and declared as an excuse for his crime that the injured men had no right to "butt in" when he was treating his friend.

MORSE RAISED TO LIFE AGAIN

Rockefeller Assistance Puts the Deposed Ice King on His Feet.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
New York, June 27.—John D. Rockefeller Jr. has come to the front in Wall street the last few days as the reputed owner of the largest block of American ice outside of the holdings of Charles W. Morse.
Mr. Rockefeller is understood to have purchased this stock in the open market, some of it as low as $9 a share, last October. Its market price at that time was more than treble what it originally cost him.
Incidentally Mr. Rockefeller's campaign in ice is expected to put Charles W. Morse on his feet again and to reward him for the work last October in assisting in the practical slaughter of the Helms outfit.
There is some dispute as to the facts, but it is generally believed that the street that the speedy resuscitation of Mr. Morse has been due to the excellent support given to him by the Rockefeller family. Morse is planning to buy his ice holdings and reestablish himself in Wall street with an abundance of cash.

DEATH FOLLOWS CLOSE ON DRINK

Ranchman's Visit to Demi-john Is Fatal—Family in Terror of Lives.

(United Press Leased Wire.)
Redding, Cal., June 27.—Antone Dais, the wealthiest ranchman for miles around, lies dead at his home tonight as the result of drinking whiskey containing strychnine, and circumstances indicate that he was the victim of a conspiracy against his life.
The conspirators not only sought his life, but the lives of his children. It is the theory of the county authorities that about a month ago the members of the Dais family were all taken desperately ill after eating bread made from a sack of new flour. If the poison was not put in the demijohn of whiskey from which Dais took two drinks Friday night, dying two hours later, by some one who wanted to kill him, how did it get there? That is the question being discussed by those who are trying to solve the mystery.

MRS. FISKE TO GIVE TWO PERFORMANCES

• Owing to the great interest that is being shown in the coming of Mrs. Fiske in "Rosmersholm" to the Lyric theatre July 7, the management has arranged for Mrs. Fiske and the Manhattan company to give two performances of "Rosmersholm" in this city on the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, July 7, instead of the single evening performance that had been originally contracted for.

Massachusetts has a town of 800 inhabitants which desires to sell liquor. This is believed to be the highest license fee paid in the United States. The fee is nearly double the amount paid in Boston and other large cities.

CROWDS VISIT POLICE STATION TO RECOVER GOODS

Ever since the arrest of the daylight robbers the police station has frequently resembled a bargain counter with a gorgeous array of jewelry, souvenir spoons, pillow covers and post cards spread about. Every hour or so the owner of some of the articles stolen by Williams and Ferguson, the daylight rooming house thieves, comes to claim his property. Then the pile of stolen gold watches appears, and the owner claims his watch, first of course giving a description, which must tally exactly. For the first two days several of the watches reposed in a cigar ribbon pillow cover, which was also stolen.
Today, just one week after their arrival in Portland, Williams and Ferguson, who declare they began their startling career of daring crime because Williams happened to have a skeleton key in his pocket, begin their sentences of four years each in the state penitentiary.
They began to steal on Monday, on Wednesday they were arrested and confessed, Friday they were sentenced, and today the long term begins. In all they entered 75 rooms in a dozen different apartment houses.

ALASKAN GOLD FLOODS SEATTLE

Over Million Dollars' Worth of Dust Comes in by Boat.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Seattle, June 27.—The steamship Jefferson today brought more than a million dollars in gold to Seattle, the shipment being the first received from the interior by way of the Yukon river steamers this season. The Canadian Bank of Commerce received $275,000 and the Dexter-Horton bank got $389,000. The remainder of the amount, about $400,000, is owned by individual mine-owners.
Steamer King Good Trip.
The Jefferson also brought 125 passengers. She had fair weather for all but two days of her trip. The steamship lay in Skagway harbor for 12 hours waiting the arrival of the steamer Whitehorse. The latter boat got stuck on a bar before reaching her destination and it took much effort to get her off.
Monday promises to see heavy receipts of gold, the steamship Spokane with $1,510,000 is due in the morning and the steamship Victoria will probably arrive at the same time with another million. The steamship Humboldt is due at 5 o'clock with $20,000.

ENGLISHMEN WILL ERADICATE GRAFT

Capitalists to Purge Public Charities System of Spoils.

(Special News by Longest Leased Wire.)
London, June 27.—A complete reorganization of the administration of London charities has been undertaken by a number of the most powerful financiers in England, who have organized to eliminate waste and graft in the dispensing of charity to London's poor.
John Burns, president of the local government board; the Duke of Norfolk and Bedford, and Lord Rothschild and Alverstone are the most prominent men in the work. Lord Alverstone pointed out that $25,000,000 is administered in public charities in London annually, and that loose methods have created an immense boggy class. The idea is to form a closer union in the work and to destroy existing chaotic practices.

UNKNOWN MAN IS FOULLY MURDERED

Body Is Found in River by Two Young Boys—Robbery Appears the Motive.

Spokane, Wash., June 27.—Beaten over the head by robbers and thrown in the river was the fate of an unknown man sometime this morning. Not a scrap of paper was on his person to identify him; only the tell-tale condition of his battered features and the trail made by the body dragged to the river's edge, show the victim was assaulted. His pockets were turned inside out, his overalls unbuttoned and his coat and shirt displayed show that some one was searching for money. The body was found by three boys who were fishing.
They discovered a man's foot sticking out of the water and summoned the coroner. The unknown man was about five feet seven and a half inches tall, weight about 165 pounds, prominent thick lips, dark brown heavy hair, and smooth skin. He wore a white checked shirt and new overalls. The middle finger on the right hand is missing at the first joint. There is no clue as yet to the murderers.

Albany, Or., June 27.—The merchants of Albany plan to have an illumination on First street of a permanent nature that will be a decided Albany booster. It is planned to have a row of incandescent lights on each side of First and Second streets, the bulbs about three feet apart. Where the rows of lights cross streets it is planned to have a form an arch. They will be installed before the Fourth of July celebration.

Tallafaro was superintendent of the mine at the time of the accident. He was caught under a falling rock, and his body brushed almost to a pulp. He was 40 years old and was a member of the Woodmen of the World at Springfield.

SHOOTS WIFE BECAUSE SHE WOULD NOT GO BACK TO HIS HOME

Maddened because his wife would neither return to him nor give up their little daughter to his care, Chester G. Hallway, of Los Angeles, fired three shots into her body and she is now hovering between life and death.
After a chase of 100 yards across lots, Hallway, a slight dapper man, was overhauled by Patrolman W. P. Drugg. On his wife's death or recovery depends the seriousness of the charge which will be laid against him.
Registered under the name of Rogers, Hallway attempted to commit suicide last week by cutting his wrist in his room in the New Grand Central hotel. He admitted afterward that only a weak nerve had prevented his shooting himself.
The shooting took place at 5:50 last night in the home of Mrs. Hallway's brother-in-law, Charles Dawson, an employee of the streetcar company, living at 524 Rowland avenue, near East Eleventh, Vernon.
Hallway came from Los Angeles two weeks ago, he says. Last evening he visited the Dawson home in the latter's absence. Mrs. Dawson and the little daughter of Hallway were in the house together with Mrs. Hallway.
Out into the kitchen where the family was assembled Hallway marched. Here he demanded of his wife that she return and live with him, or at least surrender the child to him. Steadfastly she refused to have anything further to do with him.
Out came the revolver, and five shots flashed in quick succession. Three took effect in his wife's body and with a scream of pain and terror she sank to the floor. One bullet pierced her left breast, another entered the right shoulder and the third caught the right arm. Either of the first two may cause death.
Mrs. Dawson, the sister of the woman, yelled "murder" as Hallway dashed through the kitchen door. Patrolman Drugg saw a man running toward the brush on Alberta street and followed in pursuit, and called upon the fugitive to throw up his hands.
Hallway Runs.
Relying upon his start and the gloom of the evening Hallway continued to run. A second time the officer called, emphasizing his command by crying that he would shoot. At the third call Hallway, finding his pursuer gaining rapidly upon him, threw up his hands.
Accompanied by William Wise who was visiting the Dawson's next neighbor, D. F. Burdstone, at the time, Drugg brought his prisoner to the police station.
It had been said for a man, not for a woman," said Hallway, as the policeman produced the 32-caliber revolver with which he had shot his wife.
Mrs. Hallway was on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Charles Billington, in Oregon City and San Francisco. Her husband, Mr. Charles Billington, was called and Mrs. Hallway was removed to St. Vincent's hospital.

Mark Catlin Unhooks Him From the Top of Forty-foot Pole.

Iowa City, Iowa, June 27.—Henry Vaughan, a lineman, was saved from death this afternoon by Mark Catlin, the former university of Chicago football star and now director of athletics at the Iowa university. Vaughan was hanging unconscious by his safety belt at the top of a 40-foot pole, when Catlin climbed up and rescued him.
The man had come in contact with a live wire and when taken down his tongue had fallen back into his mouth. It took Catlin and two companions 20 minutes to revive Vaughan. He still lives.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Lebanon, Or., June 27.—H. E. Parrish, a farmer living four miles south of Lebanon, was seriously injured in a runaway and narrowly escaped death. He was driving a four-horse team Thursday and one of them broke their doubletree and Mr. Parrish lost control of them. He was thrown out and one of the wagon wheels struck him in the side, breaking two of his ribs, and both bones in the right arm just above the wrist. Australian Boys' Military Training.

All children in Australia are drilled, but the older boys are attached to the Australian military forces by means of the cadet corps. Almost every large school has its band of cadets, who wear neat khaki uniforms and are armed with light rifles, in the use of which they are frequently instructed.
Every year these boys have shooting matches, and the scores prove that among the youngsters there are many who have already become skilled marksmen.
