DYNAMITERS KILL FIVE IN SAN FRANCISCO

GRAFT SYMPATHIZERS COMMIT AWFUL DEED

Brother of Former Supervisor Gallagher Alleged to Have Been Object of Fiends' Diabolical Plot—Chief Biggy Orders Every Detective in City on Case.

The dead: JOHN SWEENEY, grocer. MRS. JOHN SWEENEY, his wife. ELLA SWEENEY, 9-year-old daughter. BABY-DAUGHTER OF B. S. DISSEMEYER, 1 year old. Among the badly injured are Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Dissemeyer and Fred Sweeney.

San Francisco, June 29.—There is little doubt that the explosion at Chenery and Dimond streets, which killed four people and probably fatally injured another early today, was the work of dynamiters, who twice blew up property belonging to James L. Gallagher, the former supervisor, who turned state's evidence in the graft prosecution.

The property blown up today was leased by Antone Dissemeyer to T. J. Gallagher, brother of the former supervisor, and S. F. Johnson, who conducts the saloon. The property adjoining the wreckage on the other side is owned by the United Railways company.

T. J. Gallagher has been acting as a bodyguard for his brother since the repeated threats have been made against his life. In the Ruef-Schmitz administration T. J. Gallagher was the head of the commissary department, a lucrative position, and the feeling has been bitter against him for his stand with his brother in the prosecutions. It is understood that T. J. Gallagher also has received threats recently.

John Sweeney, the grocer who conducted the grocery store adjoining the saloon conducted by Johnson, and was killed with his wife and daughter, appears to have been the victim of a plot of which he was not the object.

Dissemeyer, who lived in the building, whose baby daughter was killed and whose wife is perhaps fatally hurt, also has no connection with the Gallaghers further than that he leased the property to T. J. Gallagher.

The body of John Sweeney was blown 50 feet through a window at the rear of the grocery.

Blown Through Window. The 25-year-old son of Sweeney was blown through a window and 50 feet into the yard at the rear. He was severely injured. The fronts of both grocery building and the saloon were blown clear across the street.

Fire quickly followed the explosion and the wreckage was practically consumed before the department got the flames under control.

All the injured and dead except the Dissemeyer baby. When it was missed a hurried search resulted in its being recovered, but when it was found so badly that it died.

The police who investigated the case made a report that the explosion was caused by gas, but this was disposed of by the statement of Dissemeyer that there was no gas connection in either case. The police then said the explosion was caused by gasoline and kerosene stored in the grocery. They say there is no trace of dynamite. Others, however, believe that the terrific destruction could have been caused only by dynamite.

B. S. Dissemeyer, who was able to leave the hospital after having his injuries dressed, said: "I have no enemy of any kind in the world, so far as I know, and can assign no possible reason for the attack on my life and property."

Awakened by Shock. "I was awakened by the terrific shock, which tore away the front part of the building. At first I ran out into the street, but when I did not find my wife there, I turned back and, rushing into the wreckage, I found my wife lying on the kitchen floor, where she had swooned. I carried her to the street."

"In making my way, I was badly burned about the hands, face and shoulders and wonder that I was not more seriously injured, as I had on nothing but my night clothes."

"John Sweeney must have died instantly. Sweeney's wife and daughter, Ella, also must have been killed by the first shock."

Dissemeyer said there was no gas connection in either building and that the explosion could not have been caused by gas. He is firm in his belief that it was the work of dynamiters.

District Attorney Langdon today requested Chief of Police Biggy to put the whole detective force at work on the latest dynamiting outrage, believed to have grown out of the graft prosecution. This order was obeyed.

Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Heney said: "This is the most dastardly outrage yet perpetrated by the agents of graft."

Dynamite Expert at Work. Chief Biggy this afternoon detailed Frank McManus, a dynamite expert, to work on the case and four detectives are gathering all the information obtainable that may lead to the discovery of the dynamiters.

Everyone who was in the neighborhood of the property at the time of the explosion is being examined and a list of names is being kept. McManus would not say what opinion he had formed, when asked this afternoon, but will make his report to Chief Biggy tonight.

Chief Biggy said: "I will ferret this thing out and find who is responsible for this outrage. If it is within the realm of human possibility, I will put as many men as are needed on the case."

Vigilantes Threatened. The entire city is shocked by the dynamiting outrage and it is the consensus of opinion that the same people that blew up Gallagher's house in Oakland last April and later blew up two vacant houses belonging to him in the same city, are responsible for today's explosion.

There is talk of a vigilance committee and the police would doubtless have difficulty if the guilty should be caught. The fiendish ingenuity that guided the dynamiters has completely baffled the police in every case the explosion has taken place at night and absolutely no trace of the criminals has been left behind.

That the men are experts in their work is a foregone conclusion, for none of the three jobs has been bungled.

CAPITAL STATE BANK NOW BANK OF IDAHO

Boise, Ida., June 29.—The Bank of Idaho, succeeding the Capital State bank, which suspended last January, opened its doors today. The reestablishment of the old bank is continued for the present, but will be taken over by the new institution.

"CANNED SERMONS" WHILE THE PASTOR GOES ON VACATION

Chicago, June 29.—Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones of All Souls church has introduced a novelty which is the topic of discussion among ministers of this city today. He promises to give his congregation "canned sermons" during the summer months, having his gems of ministerial thought reproduced by phonograph, while he sits at ease on the cool veranda of a summer resort.

Rev. Jones' idea will be adopted by a number of ministers here, and may become popular throughout the country, as he has offered to furnish records to his brethren at a nominal cost.

BRYAN LEADERS FORECAST RESULT

It Will Be the Nebraskan on First Ballot, With 703, They Say.

Denver, Colo., June 29.—Bulletin—Mayor James Dahlman of Omaha, personal representative of William J. Bryan, today announced his authoritative prediction that Bryan will be nominated on the first ballot by the Democratic national convention, with at least 703 votes. This is the first official statement from the Bryan headquarters that the Nebraskan's friends are so sure that they are willing to announce the result in advance. They have predicted it before, but never with the present air of finality.

THAT'S NOT ALL FOR BARNETT

San Francisco, June 29.—According to Assistant District Attorney William Herz Cook, W. J. Barnett, convicted of having embezzled the Colton securities, the loss of which caused the wreck of the California Safe Deposit & Trust company, will be tried on several more indictments if he appeals his case to the supreme court.

ASYLUM MATRON IN DESPERATE BATTLE WITH CRAZY WOMAN

San Francisco, June 29.—Matron Ellen Sweet of the detention ward of the Central Emergency hospital is hovering between life and death today as the result of a fierce fight with Maud Torchie, an insane woman, Sunday. The lunatic is raving quite today and it is thought she may die.

The matron went into the crazy woman's cell in answer to a summons and locked the door behind her with no thought of danger. The crazy woman sprang upon the matron from the bed and pinned her to the floor with the first blow.

ENGINE AND CARS PILE INTO DITCH

Three Dead and Many Injured When Limited on Santa Fe Railroad Plunges Through Bridge Near Winslow, Ariz.

Structure Had Burned and Engineer Did Not Notice Until Too Late—Gave Long Shriek of Whistle, Then Death.

Winslow, Ariz., June 28.—With a prolonged shriek of the whistle, indicating that the engineer had seen the death trap too late, the California Limited No. 3, westbound on the Santa Fe railroad, traveling at terrific speed, ran into a burned bridge a few miles east of here late last night, and plunged with fearful force into the dry bed of an arroyo.

Three lives were snuffed out and 40 persons injured, many of them seriously.

The dead: ENGINEER CURRIN. FIREMAN THOMAS. L. PARTRIDGE, passenger, Redlands, Cal. Among the seriously injured are: W. Kleckner, Los Angeles. B. F. Taylor, Los Angeles. J. B. Dame, Pasadena, Cal. F. Grieger, Pullman conductor.

The wreck occurred just east of Hardy, which is 12 miles from here. The train was on time and running at more than 50 miles an hour when the accident occurred. The fire that burned the wooden trestle work of the bridge had not died out and there was no glare of flames to warn the engineer of the impending danger.

The huge engine was almost completely buried in the sand, and the three front cars of the long train, driven on by the force of the heavy Pullmans behind, were completely demolished and piled in a heap of splintered wood and twisted iron and steel on top of the locomotive.

The escape of the clerks in the mail car from sudden death a miracle, as the coach was crushed to a shapeless mass of splinters, the roof flying clear of the structure.

Aid came to the injured within an hour after the accident, when a wreck train, which had been up at Winslow, reached the scene. The injured persons, together with all of the passengers, were taken to Winslow as soon as possible, where they were placed in railroad's hospital and given every care.

SILENCE MAINTAINED REGARDING CHARGES

Boise, Ida., June 29.—While some time has elapsed since the removal of Ruel Rounds from the office of United States marshal for Idaho, no charges have yet been divulged by the administration as reasons for the ousting.

Senator McEwen, who is in charge of the contemplated removal of Mr. Rounds, told the president of the Idaho delegation at Washington knew nothing of the proposed move on the part of the president. It is said Senator Borah pronounced the attorneyship to more than one party, and that there are letters and telegrams to prove this, in the possession of citizens of Idaho.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS--UNCLE S.

But the Columbia Fishermen Ignore the Order and Trouble Brews.

Astoria, Or., June 29.—Unless the unexpected happens there will be startling developments in the case of the two men who are obstructing the sealing ground on Sand Island, leased by the Columbia River Packers association, from Colonel W. S. Roosevelt. It is stated that the rights and privileges which go with the lease of the sealing grounds will be upheld even if federal troops have to be called.

McGowan & Sons, cannery men at Astoria, are said to be hiring the two fishermen who are causing the trouble. These latter have been notified by the federal authorities to pull up their nets and leave the grounds in undisputed possession of the lessees.

If they disobey the order drastic action by the government is expected. It is reported that the two are armed and that they fire their rifles whenever a fishing boat hoves near them, frightening the fishermen. Mr. Elmore stated today that they were ready to start sealing in the morning but will wait for the federal authorities to act.

REACTIONARIES READY AT LISBON TO SPILL REPUBLICAN BLOOD

Lisbon, June 29.—Fearing an outbreak of terrorism, the government troops are today arresting dozens of leaders of the Republican movement and the guard about the royal palace, and all public buildings has been reinforced.

The demonstration by the Republicans followed a remarkable speech by Alphonse Costa, in which he suggested that King Manuel abdicate the throne and declare a Republican form of government. The speech was followed by great excitement throughout the city.

DECLARES CHURCH IS FADING AWAY

San Francisco Pastor Says It Never Did Cut Very Much Figure, Anyhow.

San Francisco, June 29.—Rev. M. C. Smoot, until yesterday pastor of the Second Unitarian church here, is today making arrangements to go on the lecture platform and the congregation of the church is preparing to sell the property and disband.

Smoot preached his last sermon yesterday and his scathing arraignment of present day theology is the talk of the city today. He said the church of today is far behind the times and is daily becoming more insignificant in the life of nations. It was Smoot's doctrines that led to his rupture with his congregation.

There is little room in the church for original thinking, said Rev. Smoot in his sermon. "No matter how much they may disclaim it, the different denominations are founded upon certain sets of religious doctrines. In the nature of the case, absolute liberality is a figment of the imagination. The churches are doing some good but they are filling a diminishing place in the life of communities. The church has always followed in the wake of economic and scientific discovery, and has never, to any great extent, led in moral or economic reform."

Carnivorous Steam Woodsaw.

BRYAN IS BALKING AT T. TAGGART

There Will Be New Chairman of National Democratic Committee if Commoner Can Bring About Change in Program.

Mayor James C. Dahlmann of Omaha Said to Be Prospective Candidate's Choice—Situation Has Developed Much Discussion.

Denver, Colo., June 29.—If William Jennings Bryan can bring it about, there will be a new chairman of the Democratic national committee to succeed Thomas Taggart, of Indianapolis.

Mayor James C. Dahlmann of Omaha, is said today to be Bryan's choice for the head of the committee and manager of the campaign. It is reported on the best authority that even if Taggart is reelected, Bryan will not permit him to manage the campaign but will appoint his own manager and force Taggart to confine himself strictly to committee affairs.

This phase of the situation has developed much discussion. It is known that Taggart desires to succeed himself and it is generally expected that there will be a fight.

It was a notorious fact that during the campaign in 1904, Chairman Taggart was a figurehead at the headquarters in New York and was hardly consulted in the formulation of plans.

Bryan intends to make the greatest campaign of his career and is particularly anxious to have a manager with whom he is closely acquainted and with whom he can keep in close touch.

Bryan, it is pointed out, has had experience in the operation of campaigns and has his own distinct ideas about what should be done. Dahlmann is a man who apparently would fill the bill, from the point of view of the Nebraskan.

HIS LAST DAY AS WAR SECRETARY

Taft Closes Up Affairs and Wright Catches What Tips He May.

Washington, June 29.—Secretary Taft is at his desk at the war department, cleaning up the things that need his personal attention preparatory to his resigning tomorrow. He passed a busy day, signing hundreds of papers and getting things in shape for his successor, General Luke E. Wright, who will take charge July 1.

General Wright spent the day with the secretary, getting an idea of his new duties.

Mr. Taft is preparing to go to Hot Springs, Va., to spend the summer months.

One Day Later

William Allen White's special to The Journal bearing on the Democratic convention at Denver will start Monday, July 6, and Sunday, July 5, as was first contemplated.

Mr. White's sidelights on the convention will be exclusive to The Journal and will be a valuable part of the splendid lead wire reports that The Journal will procure for its readers.

Arrangements have been completed for a leased wire from Denver to Portland, relayed at San Francisco, where the regular leased wire of the United Press will pick up its regular communication service and forward it to its northwest clients.
